A Terrible Mistake.

The Walla Walla Statesman, of Washington Territory, is responsible for the following:—

We hear the story of a Justice of the Peace who was called upon the other day to try a case in which a lady was the complainant. Now, it happens that the aforesaid Justice has a weakness for "bucking at faro," and had passed the whole of the previous night in this pleasant pastime. Under these circumstances he appeared upon the bench with eyes swollen and more asleep than awake. The case was duly opened, and the examination of the lady witness proceeded with at some length, when the Justice was observed to yawn "powerfully," and at last yielding to the influence of the drowsy god, sank down in his chair, but before giving away entirely made a desperate rally and sung out, "Here, Charley, take this case and mark game until I get something to liven up," and then slinking away was heard to whisper "Them's my chips on the four-spot!' It is scarcely necessary to say that the Sheriff adjourned Court over until the Justice was duly refreshed.

The Tombs Police Court.

"May the blessings of Heaven rest on your head, Judge Hogan?" said Patrick McGowan's wife, pleading for his discharge. "Sure the poor bairn ment no harum when he hit me. I was the sole cause of the trouble. That's true, yer Honor. He shouldn't have takin' anything; but it's only wance in a while that he does take a drop too much, and it was myself made him this time. When the holy season of Lent came on, sez I to him, last Shrove Friday, 'let us fast from beer when we can't fast from mate.' He did think that he couldn't give up the sup after his dinner; 'but,' sez I, 'we'll try. So I went out and got lashins of beer so as he could have a molly meldrum of it. He drank every drop, and got a little beyant himself, and struck me wid the stool; but yer honor dear, plaze let him out, and I'll pray ever and always for you.

A Few Figures About San Francisco.

Population, 165,000; area, 36 square miles; wharf frontage, 10 miles; paid in tariff duties last year $8,000,000, internal revenue $5,000,000; coinage by her mint since its establishment, $321,000,000; public schools, 87, cost $700,000 a year, and accommodate 20,000 children; private schools 63; deposits in savings banks, $35,000,000; debt, $3,500,000; annual expenses, about $2,750,000; streets paved with wood 10 miles, with cobble stones 23 miles, with planks, 35 miles; steam fire engines, 10; police, 104, costing $160,000; expended for street improvements in 15 years, $10,500,000; shipments of tea east by railroad in September and October, 7,500,000 pounds; sewerage and improvements contemplated; too many wooden buildings; and pretty much determined to build a bridge across the bay, so as to bring the railroads into the town.

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shoss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 KEARNY STREET. Kean and Forrest.

During one of Edmund Kean's visits to this country Edwin Forrest, then a boy of eighteen or nineteen, was leading-man at the Albany, New York, Theatre. Forrest had never seen the great tragedian, and when, therefore, it was made known to him that Kean was coming to Albany for a week, the young actor trembled at the mere thought of playing with him. The play was announced, "Othello," Kean as the Moore and Forrest as Iago. Mr. Forrest called to see Kean on the day previous. After some preliminary flourishes, Kean said: "Young man, I'm going to do you a great favor," and stepping to a table he took up an old faded book. "This is my stage copy of "Othello." You will find everything marked in it. Now, good day; but stay, what will you drink? Nothing? Well, I will. Please ring that bell. Thank you. I will see you to-night.

The theatre was more than crowded that night. It was literally packed. Seats had brought enormous prices at auction, and the house overflowed with humanity. Nor was was it a quiet audience. They yelled, howled, fought, and even shot at each other, but when Kean appeared the tumult was immediately quelled. He carried everything before him. Forrest never played better, and was frequently encouraged during the evening by Kean, who in stage whispers would say to him: "Capital! Excellent! Well done, sir!" At the close of the third act Kean approached Forrest, and said:

"Where were you born?"

"In Philadelphia."

"In Philadelphia! I am going there. I will act there, sir. I will make your fortune, sir—your fortune, for you are an actor—a real actor.

Kean did go to Philadelphia, and while there was given a dinner. Kean was, of conrse, toasted, and, after replying in the usual terms, said: "I met a very extraordinary young man in Albany the other day. His name is Edwin Forrest. He was born in Philadelphia. He did Iago to my Othello and made the best Iago I have played with for years. I tell you, cherish that young man. Watch him, for he will yet be the greatest actor on the American continent." Forrest shortly afterwards played in Philadelphia. This time the seats for his Othello were sold by auction, and Kean's prophecy has been fulfilled to the letter.

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. O

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A Good Advice, Free of Charge.

Do you want a good and well-fitting shirt, or good flannel and merino underwear? For everything in the line of gents' furnishing goods, go to the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, 320 KEARNY STREET, BETWEEN PINE AND BUSH. Shirts ready-made in every style, and made to order. H

Health Before Wealth.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Take Counsel.

If you wish to invest in real estate, it will be wise to take counsel of men of experience, such as King & Hart, business agents and real estate brokers, 121 Montgomery street, opposite Occidental Hotel. Persons of limited means will be found favorable opportunities for investment. Purchasers and sellers of real estate are not charged for advertising. This firm also undertake the collection of rents. TO THE POOR AND RICH.—Any one in need of a truss, shoulder-brace, etc., can find such at cost price at 626 Sacramento street, on account of retiring from this branch of business. Also a Nelson & Doble's trilling machine, below cost. BI

"The Bohemian Club."

At a meeting of this club held on Friday evening in the editorial rooms of the Examiner, the members were informed that some of those who had expressed their intention of joining wished now to withdraw in consequence of the name. They were a little "scared" of the name "Bohemian." The sense of the meeting was taken by a motion that in order to conciliate these Philistines, the name of the society should be changed to one more prosaic. This was voted down unanimously, not one voice being raised in its favor. Twenty one persons were present at the first meeting and eighteen good men and true gathered together at the second, After having decided that the name, "The Bohemian Club," should be adhered to and that the club should be conducted in such a manner that it should be deemed an honor and a privilege to be admitted to it, the meeting reported back the constitution to a committee with instructions to so enlarge its provisions as to admit all Bohemians on equal terms with the Bohemians of the Press. Thus the Club will be composed not alone of journalists, but artists, actors, musicans, dramatic authors and all those whom it was proposed at first to admit only as honorary members can join as active, working members. This is as it should be. Intellect will be the qualification required of candidates for admission, and the Bohemian Club will be composed of choice spirits, the very salt of San Francisco society.

A Consolation.

Glancing one evening over the small audience in attendance at the Grand Opera House, from the back of the auditorium, Mr. Fisk observed: "Well, there, is one consolation—all the seats wont wear out at the same time at this rate."

At the Cliff House.

The season at the Cliff House may now be said to be fairly open. Saturday is the day for the fashionable people, and last Saturday the road was crowded with fast teams. On Sunday all classes flocked to this delightful resort, and Captain Foster's popular hostelry was crowded all day long by those who owned teams, and also those who went out by the cars and the comfortable omnibuses running every hour, to enjoy themselves at the sea-side.

An Old Friend.

The New York Season among other sweet—sickly sweet—"Society Items," has the following:

James A. Crow, of Buanoridge, Motthaven, gave a reception on Monday, the 5th inst., at his elegant residence. The elite of North New York were well represented.

So Jim Crow is in Buanaridge is he? The elite of North New York naturally "turned about and wheeled about and jumped Jim Crow" at the reception.

Health and Pleasure.

Metropolitan Theatre.

In spite of the rain last night a good audience assembled at the Metropolitan Theatre to witness the production of "The Winning Hand," a new and original drama in five acts by W. S. Johnson of this city. The author evidently has a good idea of dramatic effect; the play abounds in striking situations, the language is good and some of the characters are well drawn. The chief fault in the piece is the thinness of plot and a lack of probability in some of the scenes and incidents. The Court room scene so utterly violates all probability that it should be remodeled before it is played again. There is, as is the case in all first attempts, too much talk. A really serious fault in the play is bringing into such unpleasant prominence the love of Mrs. Horace Allen, a married woman with husband still alive, for Bob Thorne. This may do in France, but breach of the seventh commandment is not allowed to be a fit subject for a drama on the American stage. It is rather unnecessary too. Mrs. Horace Allen might do all she has to do as the broker's sister slighted by Bob Thorn, instead of his wife. Too much credit cannot be given to the management for the excellent manner in which the piece was placed on the stage and all engaged in its representation for playing their parts so well. George Hinckley and E. Bishop, the machinists of the theatre, achieved another triumph in the scene representing the burning of a house. This was represented most vividly and drew immense applause. As to the acting, James M. Hardie was excellent in the various phases of the character of Bob Thorn; the talented Miss Henrietta Osborne did her best with the ungrateful part of Mrs. Horace Allen; T. E. Jackson as Joe Dorkey, one of the boys, was the life of the piece and kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter; J. H. Vinson threw a great deal of character into his impersonation of Ebenezer Longbow, a Down-East farmer apt to be picked up for a flat but speedily dropped for a fraud; Harry Colton as the indoors villian, Mr. Jenkins, was very good; J. Crowell as Hugh Madigan, the out and out, out of doors throat cutting villain, gave a very even piece of acting, and John Woodard as an indefinate, indeterminate sort of villain called James Anderson, adopted himself to the chameleon-like changes of the character with much skill; Miss Fanny Young had to do the interesting heroine of the love scenes, Clara Morton, and with the help of a gorgeous blonde head of hair did extremely well; Mrs. Sue Foster can act very well but she must speak louder; J. H. McCabe, W. Simms, Pierpont Thayer, and others had very little to do but played their respective parts well. Miss Josie Langley made her appearance again on the stage of the Metropolitan in the soubrette part of Jane, which she played very prettily. The applause which this piece drew last night, and the loud call for the author proved that there was much in it that was pleasing to the audience. It will be repeated to-night, at the matinee on Wednesday, and until further notice.

California Theatre.

"The Octoroon" is firmly established as a standard play; it is far too bright, original and sparkling to be allowed to remain long on the shelf. It was played last night at the California Theatre. Chas. Wheatleigh's Salem Scudder is one of the very best impersonations of a Down-East Yankee ever seen on any stage, representing as it does a live man and not an absurd carricature of a type of character. Though he was suffering terribly from hoarseness last night, the artistic excellence of his acting was fully appreciated by the audience. Miss Rose Evans read the part of Zoe with charming pathos Miss Ellie Wilton was capital as Paul; W. A. Mestayer worked up the villainy and agony in the character of Jacob McClosky most powerfully; J. C. Williamson's Uncle Pete was one of the best representations of an old darkey ever seen, good enough to have made Charley Howard tremble for his laurels had he witnessed it; and all the other characters were well played. "The Octoroon" will be presented again to-night. To-morrow night the performance will consist of the play of "A victim of Circumstancer," and a new local sketch entitled "Stocks," which is we learn from the pen of Col. W. H. L. Barnes, author of "Solid Silver."

Alhambra Theatre.

The new programme presented at this place of amusement last night was in some respects even more attractive than the one that preceeded it. Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, Harry Stanwood, the wonderful Heywood, and all the performers gained tremendous applause for their efforts to amuse. Billy Emerson surpassed himself in the act of "The Drum Major," and the burnt-cork farce of "Julius or the Michievous Nigger," which concluded the evening's entertainment, was received with shouts of applause and laughter. The same excellent bill will be played to-night. The house was crowded again last night.

Bella Union.

Samwells and Montague excite great admiration by their graceful and daring feats; the negro farce of "The Rival Hotels," played by Kelly, Bree, Thompson, Marsh, Samwells and Taylor, goes off screamingly; M'lle Marie Gaugain's original pas seul is much admired; Miss Josephine and Marie Zoel have made a decided hit in their double clog; and "Ulf the Minstrel," which concludes the performance is a very clever composition, and ends with a beautifully arranged transformation scene.

Theatre Comique.

Ned Ward, always a favorite with the patrons of the Theatre Comique, has once more joined the company and excites much laughter by his delineations of Dutch character. Frank Mortimer is as popular as ever in his character sketches; Eva Silva charming in ballads; Sally Thayer amusing in comic songs, and, altogether, a lively entertainment is given.

Italian Opera.

Signora Adelina Franchel will make her second appearance in opera in San Francisco on Friday evening at the Metropolitan Theatre, in the role of Lucrezia Borgia.

Handel and Haydn Society.

This society, which has been for months past constantly rehearsing the oratorio of "Elijah," will shortly produce this grand work. A chorus of a hundred and fifty voices and an orchestra of forty-five pieces will take part in it. The names of the vocalists will shortly be announced.

John Wilson.

This veteran circus manager has returned from an extended tour in Mexico and the Sandwich Islands. He will have the direction of a large circus troupe which is to be organized for the coming season.

A Little Boy's Letter about Keno.

A little fellow from Boston, who has been visiting in Cheyenne, writes back to his friends in Boston:

The first night after I came to Cheyenne, Cousin Jim took me to see an institution which the people says "Keno." They have them here instead of lectures. It's a funny thing. A lot of men sit around tables studying arithmetic on little cards. A man sits up in a corner on a sort of a pulpit, and whirls a thing around that looks like a sugarbowl. He lets some little round white balls come out of the bottom, which looks like lumps of sugar. He has a little blackboard at his left which he uses to teach the class. When the exercises commence, every chap pays his tuition, and commences his lesson. Then the teacher begins to give out the sums, and the scholars put kernels of corn on the figures to remember them better. Pretty soon one fellow cries out, 'Ke-no!' and the rest all say 'sugar,' or words to that effect. There is lots of corn scattered around on the tables, so you need not be at all surprised when I tell you that sometimes men get 'corned.' When a fellow gets two corns in a row, it is called a 'case,' and if he gets corned, he is called a 'hard' case. When a man loses all his tuition, he is said to be 'busted,' and he can't go to that school any more. The same legislature that gave women the right to vote, made a law that men should go to the keno—I don't like keno—the tuition is too high. TOMMY.

N. B.—They give gold prizes here to the best scholars, the same as they do in Boston.

Sharp.

The Chicago Post claims to have on its editorial staff a lady of extraordinary abilities. The editor says he "never knew any one who could write with equal ease upon so singular a range of topics with information so exact in detail." Whereupon an envious contemporary asks the Post why it never publishes any of her articles?

Suspicious.

A Georgia darkey, to whom Senator Sumner's supplementary civil rights bill was explained, characterized it as a trap to kill fool niggers. "You see, sah, some fool nigger will go to the Pulaski House an' jiss set hisself down by a white man; an' de white man will jiss fro dat ar nigger out ob de window an' break his neck."

Coming Troubles.

The following congratulatory telegram was received from Cincinnati by a wedding party in Nashville: "Congratulations on your nuptials. May your future troubles be only little ones."

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

Guileless.

In a French court recently as a witness was about to give his testimony, the advocate remarked:—"I wish to remark to the court that this witness is entitled to entire confidence, as he has not had time to consult his lawyer.

A soldier was sentenced, for deserting, to have his ear cut off. After undergoing the operation he was escorted out of the Courtyard to the tune of the "Rogue's March." He then turned, and in mock dignity, thus addressed the musicians: "Gentlemen, I thank you; but I have no ear for music.

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

Kissing in the Dark.

Gentle reader, did you ever—I desire not to be personal, but—did you ever kiss a girl in a railroad tunnel? I never did; but, if the truth must be told, I've wanted to awful bad. Not that I have any idea that gobbling a chaste salute within the dark and narrow confines of a tunnel renders a kiss more delicious than if stolen or taken with full permission anywhere else; but it is the novelty of the thing. It is the darkness; the rank burglary; the calculation as to time; the sudden assault; the desperate defence; the acute agony of the skirmish line of hairpins; the carrying of the outer work; the fierce struggle at the scarp; the glorious sweetness of the surrender, and then the condemnable meanness, afterward, of the victory; then hurried repair, and the impossible attempt to appear placid and all serene before the other passengers. I tell you there's a short lifetime passed in the kissing of a girl in a tunnel!

Another of Muffington's.

Jones has just recovered from a dangerous illness. Muffington meeting him the other day, congratulated him. Jones said, "Yes, I had a close call. I was at the point of death when Dr. Hale came in and saved me." "Of course, then," remarked Muffington, "you considered him Hale fellow well met."

A Profitable Crop.

Our farmers will find the giant red mangel wurtzel beet a most profitable crop to grow. E. E. Moore, 425 Washington street, San Francisco, has imported seed which grows roots of over a hundred weight each. Stock-raisers throughout the State should turn their attention to this crop.

Take Counsel.

If you wish to invest in real estate, it will be wise to take counsel of men of experience, such as King & Hart, business agents and real estate brokers, 121 Montgomery street, opposite Occidental Hotel. Persons of limited means will be found favorable opportunities for investment. Purchasers and sellers of real estate are not charged for advertising. This firm also undertake the collection of rents. Minstrels Eastward Bound.

Cheyenne, February 27, 1872.

Dear Figaro:—As to our stay and results in Virginia City you are already fully cognizant, as I am aware per Figaro Feb. 2d, for which many thanks, which I will repeat if you will send me a copy of that date. Virginia City is a good show town if you strike it during the early part of the month, while the people have plenty of money, as all the miners, citizens, etc., receive pay at that time. People very skeptical and good critics, and very fond of a show entirely void of any trait of vulgarity. We were a success there. Next to Carson—a splendid show town with good facilities—amusement-loving people, smart little theatre, a very appreciative audience, our show was unusually well attended by the female population, who always on worthy occasions turn out en masse. Next to Reno by rail and coach, a very tedious and expensive route. Reno is not a very good show town, although favored with one of the coziest and most completely stocked and fitted little theatres I ever saw, and I've seen several. Everything complete except gas. Capacity about 500. Now as to the patronage; they have an amateur minstrel company here which is well patronized. They would not pay $1 to see a show, so we had to lower rates, while a vast concourse of anxious and economical amusement seekers, were crowded around the door. We had a good house. Agents would do well here to reduce to writing all contracts. No town large enough or worthy of a full show until you arrive at Corinne, as there are no facilities for a good party, no stages, scenery, etc. Hold, I go too fast. Unionville, a mining town about 20 miles from Mill City, has a neat theatre, and is a good show town, reached by stage, fare $4 per head, baggage 3 cents per pound extra. Corinne is a good show town but money is very scarce and population decreasing constantly. On the 15th we opened, as you are aware, at Salt Lake for 6 nights at the Salt Lake Theatre, exclusively controlled by Mormons, the manager being a son-in-law to old Brigham. Mr. Clausen, business manager, is a shrewd, exacting, advantage-taking coon, and it behooves agents to be concise and particular in all dealings at this theatre. The arrangements are intricate and box returns complicated if not closely attended to. A word to the wise is sufficient. A total abstinence from local allusion is a noteworthy item here to performers, as the feeling here between Mormon and Gentile is red-hot. Printing here is exorbitant. The Review and Tribune are Gentile and good papers. Business good. Capacity of theatre at local prices about $1,200, jam full. We made a big hit and left the town with the good wishes of many friends.

Off for Ogden to open on the 23d. Poor show town—poor theatre—cold and cheerless—poor hotel accommodations—population, Mormon, and mostly gallery patrons at 25c., children free—well taken advantage of. Mr and Mrs. Carter have this theatre and perform twice a week, but poorly patronized; a pity for them as they are really good and worthy artists, and entirely out of place in Ogden. Done very good business here as we are were a novelty; but would not advise shows generally to stay long. By the bye, I omitted to mention a change in our affairs at Salt Lake: we re-organized. We engaged here three vocalists, a primo tenor, contralto, and tenor secundo, and we can challenge the world for a quartette, made complete by Mr. M. Ainsley Scott. After several other changes we started for Laramie, Wyoming, to open on the 26th. Met Tom Maguire on his way to San Francisco. I advertised the company, billed the town extensively to the astonishment of the people, and had to jump the town without showing, as we were engaged for Cheyenne to open on the 27th. The train with the party became snow-bound over twenty-four hours and got into Cheyenne just in time to open last night (27th). Laramie is not the town it used to be, but is a smart place of about 1,000 population: poor theatre. Hotel accommodations exorbitant, first-class, and second-class horrible. Glad to have met with accident preventing fulfilment of even one night in Lamarie, and sorry for the people, who are courteous and hospitable.

At Cheyenne, after a jump of over 500 miles from Ogden, on a good road, kind and obliging officials (the U. P. R. R.) not at all like those on the C. P. R. R., crop close and discourteous. Opened here to a good house amid a terrible storm. We continue five nights with a constant change of programme. A word as to this place. It is a cozy little theatre, capacity about 350, well patronized by an amusement-loving population of about 3,500; two newspapers, one weekly. The Weekly Tribune is a good paper of good standing; the daily, a small, no account paper. The Leader, charging monstrously for printing as they have the only job office in town, and they never even deign to notice a show or visit a show-shop, and are, therefore, noncommittal on amusements. Hotel accommodations elegant and reasonable. I am doing well and have great hopes. I will keep you posted as to our movements. Don't neglect to send me continually your excellent little Figaro for file. I frequently see it in my travels. It is more than equal to many newspapers and is read with pleasure by all.

All the party with whom you are acquainted, myself included, send regards and good wishes—those not acquainted regret it, but send regards. Remember me kindly to all and believe me; Yours truly,

Matt Leland,
Agt. Purdy, Scott & Fostelle Minstrels.

Bigamy.

The editor of the Wilmington, Del., Statesman says:

Bigamy is the most absurd and least profitable crime which a sinner can commit; and yet, though almost certain of detection and punishment, it seems to be upon the increase in all parts of the country.

That editor is a married man; we'll bet two-and-a-half on it. How strongly he speaks of the "absurdity and unprofitableness of bigamy!" The bigamist has his excuse in this, that he considers marriage a good thing and one cannot have too much of a good thing. As to the certainty of detection that's all nonsense. There are two hundred and fifty bigamists in San Francisco who are not even suspected.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

alifornia Theatre.

In consequence of the severe hoarseness of Mr. Wheatleigh, "The Octoroon" was played last night with the following changes in the cast: Salem Scudder, J. C. Williamson; Uncle Pete, W. A. Mestayer; Jacob McClosky, E. N. Thayer; Capt. Katts, Stephen Leach. All performed their parts well, W. A. Mestayer in particular exciting much laughter by his wonderfully comical impersonation of Uncle Pete. To-night the Irish drama of "Arrah-na-pogue" will be presented with Miss Rose Evans in the character of Arrah Meelish, in which she made such a hit a short time ago; J. C. Williamson as Shaun-the-Post, which he plays to perfection, and H. Coad as Michael Feeny. To-morrow evening the new comedy, "A Victim to Circumstances," and the local sketch, entitled "Stocks," will be produced.

Alhambra Theatre.

There is no change in the state of affairs at this house—not an inch of standing room after eight o'clock and the entertainment unanimously voted the best of its kind ever given in San Francisco or anywhere else. Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, Harry Stanwood, the wonderful Heywood, the Reynolds Brothers, and all the others appear in an immense programme.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The new and original drama of "The Winning Hand" attracted another good house last night. The burning house is an immense sensation. Last night Geo. Hinckley took the part of Ebenezer Longbow at short notice in consequence of the indisposition of Mr. Vinson, and played it very well. This play can be continued but a few nights longer in consequence of the engagement of Miss Major Pauline Cushman, "The Scout of the Cumberland," who will make her appearance on Saturday evening. "The Winning Hand" will be played at the extra matinee to-day, and again this evening and should draw a full house on each occasion.

Bella Union.

The extravaganza of "Ulf, the Minstrel," is full of pretty melodies and an attractive ballet b M'lle Gangain, Marie Zoel, Minnie Fillmore, Maggie Brewer, Maggie Knight and Fanny Garretson, is a pleasing feature in the piece. It will be preceded to-night by a good first part and varied interlude, consisting of ballads, dances, gymnastic feats and Ethiopian farces.

Theatre Comique.

A capital entertainment will be presented at this place of amusement to-night as may be seen by referring to the programme on our first page. Ned Ward, Frank Mortimer, Johnny Kelly, Miss Blanche, Sally Thayer, Mike Quinn, Nellie Leonard and Fanny Webster, appear in the first part, and Eva Silva, Carrie Willis, Miss La Forrest, Henry Stewart, and others in the interlude. The burlesque of the "Losing Hand" concludes the evening's amusement.

Italian Opera.

On Friday night Signorina Adelina Frenchel will appear in the role of Lucrezia Borgia in the delightful opera of that name, and will, we feel confident, achieve a great success. Miss Viola Pomeroy will make her first appearance in Italian opera, and play the role of Maffio Orsini.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Worse than the Three Dark Days.

We are sorry to learn from a Hindoo astronomer that "During the present year a blazing meteor will pass by the earth, and in the short space of twenty-four minutes destroy all vegetation, and kill millions of people." Now that looks bad for the Call and Chronicle folks, who hold such a rankling, worldly, envious spirit towards each other. If the meteor should come blazing along this way, we don't think that even the Cali's "circulation" would save it, though the Chronicle's cheek might. We could meet it with Christan resignation, but the Call and Chronicle's condition is not a safe thing to bet on.

Theatrical Music.

Our orchestras might surely mend their ways. They rejoice, at present, in the performance of the most backneyed and inappropriate music; and they play as a rule execrably. Their usual repertory consists of about six overtures, three sets of quadrilles and four waltzes. It must sometimes happen that all the orchestras in London are at the same moment occupied in playing the same pieces of music. No connection is ever maintained between the nature of the play and the character of the music. "La Dame Blanche" does as well for Othello as for the "School for Scandal;" Offenbach intrudes upon Shakspeare, and Mozart introduces a sensation dramatist. And then the noise! No wonder that audiences carry away headaches from theatres. Surely those must have been pleasanter times when violins and theorbos and harpsichords constituted the orchestra. With monster bands have come monster instruments, for creating the greatest possible amount of noise. The small orchestra imitates the large. So in theatres little bigger than drawing rooms obstreperous drums are beaten and pantomic trumpets blare, greatly to the torture of the audience. Some reform in this matter is urgently needed.—Dicken's "All the Year Round."

Chinese Proverbs.

The ripest fruit grows on the roughest wall. It is the small wheels of the carriage that come in first. The man who holds the ladder at the bottom is frequently of more service than he who is stationed at the top of it. The turtle, though brought in at the area gate, takes the head of the table. Better be the cat in a philanthropist's family, than a mutton pie at a king's banquet. The learned pig didn't learn its letters in a day. True merit, like the pearl inside an oyster, is content to remain quiet till it finds an opening. The top strawberries are eaten first. He who leaves early gets the best hat. Pride sleeps in a gilded crown; contentment in a cotton nightcap.

A queer old gentleman being asked what he wished for dinner, replied "An appetite, good company, something to eat, and a napkin."

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

PRESENTIMENTS.

You call me sweet and tender names,
And softly smooth my tresses,
And all the while my happy heart
Beats time to your caresses.
You love me in your master way,
I answer—as you let me;
But ah! there comes another day,
The day you will forget me.

I know that every meeting hour
Is marked by thoughts I bring you,
I know there dwells a subtle power
In the old songs I sing you.
I do not fear the darkest way
With those dear arms about me;
Ah! no—I only dread the day
When you can live without me.

And still you call me tender names,
And softly smooth my tresses;
And still my happy answering heart,
Beats time to your caresses.
Hush!—let me put that touch away
And clasp your hands above me,
So—while I ask to die that day,
The day you do not love me.

You need not check the thoughts that rise
With darkness wrapped about them,
For gazing in your earnest eyes
My heart can almost doubt them:
Yet hush my whispers as you may,
Such chidings do not fret me,
Ah! no—I only fear that day,
The day you will forget me.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Restored.

Two very remarkable cases of spine complaint have come under our observation. The parties referred to—Mrs. E. A. Perean and daughter, of Seventh street, Oakland. The former being afflicted with spinal complaint and dyspepsia, and the daughter with a weakness of the spinal column to wasting away of the system. Both are now enjoying very good health after a few months treatment by Dr. Darrin, the great magnetic healer, at 128 Kearny street. BG

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

Snow Bound.

Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, and the other artistes newly engaged at the Alhambra Theatre, were delighted when they were thawed out on the plains. It is pleasant to be thawed out. Everyone thaws out at McMahon's Saloon, 318 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra. Old Cutter whisky, Bamgardner whisky and Chicken Cock, are splendid to thaw out on. P. J. McMahon, formerly proprietor of the Russ House Saloon, is a connoisseur in whiskies. Q

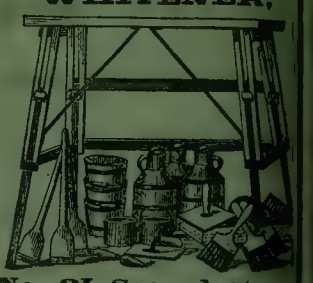
DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE



N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the success treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Look Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST resulted in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers, alifornia Theatre.

In consequence of the severe hoarseness of Mr. Wheatleigh, "The Octoroon" was played last night with the following changes in the cast: Salem Scudder, J. C. Williamson; Uncle Pete, W. A. Mestayer; Jacob McClosky, E. N. Thayer; Capt. Ratts, Stephen Leach. All performed their parts well, W. A. Mestayer in particular exciting much laughter by his wonderfully comical impersonation of Uncle Pete. To-night the Irish drama of "Arrah-na-pogue" will be presented with Miss Rose Evans in the character of Arrah Meelish, in which she made such a hit a short time ago; J. C. Williamson as Shaun-the-Post, which he plays to perfection, and H. Coad as Michael Feeny. To-morrow evening the new comedy, "A Victim to Circumstances," and the local sketch, entitled "Stocks," will be produced.

Alhambra Theatre.

There is no change in the state of affairs at this house—not an inch of standing room after eight o'clock and the entertainment unanimously voted the best of its kind ever given in San Francisco or anywhere else. Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, Harry Stanwood, the wonderful Heywood, the Reynolds Brothers, and all the others appear in an immense programme.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The new and original drama of "The Winning Hand" attracted another good house last night. The burning house is an immense sensation. Last night Geo. Hinckley took the part of Ebeneezer Longbow at short notice in consequence of the indisposition of Mr. Vinson, and played it very well. This play can be continued but a few nights longer in consequence of the engagement of Miss Major Pauline Cushman, "The Scout of the Cumberland," who will make her appearance on Saturday evening. "The Winning Hand" will be played at the extra matinee to-day, and again this evening and should draw a full house on each occasion.

Bella Union.

The extravaganza of "Ulf, the Minstrel," is full of pretty melodies and an attractive ballet b M'lle Gaugain, Marie Zoel, Minnie Fillmore, Maggie Brewer, Maggie Knight and Fanny Garretson, is a pleasing feature in the piece. It will be preceded to-night by a good first part and varied interlude, consisting of ballads, dances, gymnastic feats and Ethiopian farces.

Theatre Comique.

A capital entertainment will be presented at this place of amusement to-night as may be seen by referring to the programme on our first page. Ned Ward, Frank Mortimer, Johnny Kelly, Miss Blanche, Sally Thayer, Mike Quinn, Nellie Leonard and Fanny Webster, appear in the first part, and Eva Silva, Carrie Willis, Miss La Forrest, Henry Stewart, and others in the interlude. The burlesque of the "Losing Hand" concludes the evening's amusement.

Italian Opera.

On Friday night Signorina Adelina Frenchel will appear in the role of Lucrezia Borgia in the delightful opera of that name, and will, we feel confident, achieve a great success. Miss Viola Pomeroy will make her first appearance in Italian opera, and play the role of Maffio Orsini.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Worse than the Three Dark Days.

We are sorry to learn from a Hindoo astronomer that "During the present year a blazing meteor will pass by the earth, and in the short space of twenty-four minutes destroy all vegetation, and kill millions of people." Now that looks bad for the Call and Chronicle folks, who hold such a rankling, worldly, envious spirit towards each other. If the meteor should come blazing along this way, we don't think that even the Call's "circulation" would save it, though the Chronicle's cheek might. We could meet it with Christan resignation, but the Call and Chronicle's condition is not a safe thing to bet on.

Really Lazy.

A Sixth Ward (Danbury) negro, whose indolence is quite pronounced, ties his fish line to his dog, and when there is a bite the only exertion he is required to make is to kick the dog.

Theatrical Music.

Our orchestras might surely mend their ways. They rejoice, at present, in the performance of the most hackneyed and inappropriate music; and they play as a rule execrably. Their usual repertory consists of about six overtures, three sets of quadrilles and four waltzes. It must sometimes happen that all the orchestras in London are at the same moment occupied in playing the same pieces of music. No connection is ever maintained between the nature of the play and the character of the music. "La Dame Blanche" does as well for Othello as for the "School for Scandal;" Offenbach intrudes upon Shakspeare, and Mozart introduces a sensation dramatist. And then the noise! No wonder that audiences carry away headaches from theatres. Surely those must have been pleasanter times when violins and theorbos and harpsichords constituted the orchestra. With monster bands have come monster instruments, for creating the greatest possible amount of noise. The small orchestra imitates the large. So in theatres little bigger than drawing rooms obstreperous drums are beaten and pantomic trumpets blare, greatly to the torture of the audience. Some reform in this matter is urgently needed.—Dicken's "All the Year Round."

Chinese Proverbs.

The ripest fruit grows on the roughest wall. It is the small wheels of the carriage that come in first. The man who holds the ladder at the bottom is frequently of more service than he who is stationed at the top of it. The turtle, though brought in at the area gate, takes the head of the table. Better be the cat in a philanthropist's family, than a mutton pie at a king's banquet. The learned pig didn't learn its letters in a day. True merit, like the pearl inside an oyster, is content to remain quiet till it finds an opening. The top strawberries are eaten first. He who leaves early gets the best hat. Pride sleeps in a gilded crown; contentment in a cotton nightcap.

A queer old gentleman being asked what he wished for dinner, replied "An appetite, good company, something to eat, and a napkin."

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. c

PRESENTIMENTS.

You call me sweet and tender names,
And softly smooth my tresses,
And all the while my happy heart
Beats time to your caresses.
You love me in your master way,
I answer—as you let me;
But ah! there comes another day,
The day you will forget me.

I know that every meeting hour
Is marked by thoughts I bring you,
I know there dwells a subtle power
In the old songs I sing you.
I do not fear the darkest way
With those dear arms about me;
Ah! no—I only dread the day
When you can live without me.

And still you call me tender names,
And softly smooth my tresses;
And still my happy answering heart,
Beats time to your caresses.
Hush!—let me put that touch away
And clasp your hands above me,
So—while I ask to die that day,
The day you do not love me.

You need not check the thoughts that rise
With darkness wrapped about them,
For gazing in your earnest eyes
My heart can almost doubt them:
Yet hush my whispers as you may,
Such chidings do not fret me,
Ah! no—I only fear that day,
The day you will forget me.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE GREAT RADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of the CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs. Lock Hospital, and spend a year with its wards, and refresh himself of all the new methods of treatment of the celebrated institution, and then give the benefit of his life to the alleviation of the afflicted mankind. He is again located at his old quarters, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for nearly a previous his practice as a SPECIALIST has been crowned in the cure of all cases brought under his notice. Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

The Stokes Trial.

The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette has a most forcible way of putting things. The following is strong enough:

That entertaining farce, the trial of Stokes for the murder of James Fisk, Jr., drags its slow length along. There is just enough forbearance on the part of the District Attorney, and of complaisance on the part of the Judge, to give the whole thing the appearance of a well-managed plot to rob the gallows of its just prey. Mr. Graham, the principal counsel for the assassin, bullies them both in a manner that either shows them to be the veriest curs that ever betrayed justice for a bribe, or makes them the most forgiving and long-suffering of Christian gentlemen. Delay after delay is made. The aristocratic prisoner is taken to court with the most tender care that his ears shall not be saluted with the execrations or the coarse vituperations of the mob; and he is considerately shown to a sitting-room, where he puffs his high-flavored cigar and peruses the morning papers. Patrick Mulligan and Thady Flaherty are not so tenderly used when awaiting their trial for murder. No sitting-room for them. No clay pipe, with modest navy plug, is permitted to flavor the air that floats through the halls of justice. Patrick and Thady are handcuffed, and placed in the prisoners' box to be stared at and commented upon by the idle who are attracted to the court-room. What a difference it makes when the hair is well oiled and dressed, when the moustache is elegantly curled, when the handkerchief is daintily perfumed and the form well clad. The stain of blood is seen on the coarse and knotted hand of the vulgar criminal, but Jouvin's or Alexandre's best hide all. And yet it is a truth we hold to be self-evident that all men are created free and equal! Perhaps we hold that all men are equal when free; but when in durance wealth and social position carry them up to a higher level than those who are only their equal in crime.

Not Far.

"Sir," said an irate little gentleman, of about four feet eleven inches, "I would have you know, sir, that I have been well brought up!" the other looked down on him. "Possibly," he said, "but you haven't been brought up far."

Horrible.

A temperance editor, in calling attention to an article against ardent spirits in one of his papers, says: "For the effects of Intemperance, see our inside."

Scared by a Camel.

At the Cork (Ireland) Quarter Sessions recently, an action was brought by Jeremiah Batty, a laborer, against Thomas Batty, a circus proprietor, to recover £15 damages, alleged to have been sustained by a camel which had broken loose. The plaintiff deposed that on the Friday evening before Christmas he was sitting at the door of his house, when a "queer thing" came up; he did not know what it was; he thought it was the devil; it had a long neck, big legs, and a hump, ever so big, on its back; he screamed out, but could not stir, he was so frightened; it put its long neck and its two fore paws in and crushed him against the side of the door with its shoulder; it got in a couple of feet inside the treshold and left the print of its paws there. Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell:

Q—What did you think it was?

A—The divil.

Q—I believe you had been talking about him?

A—Maybe I wor.

Q—But were you?

A—I wor.

Q—What put him into your head that you were talking about him?

A—Faith, I can't tell you, sir.

Q—But what sort of a thing was it?

A—My God, sir, his neck was as far as from this over to that (pointing 15 feet).

Q—Had he anything on his neck?

A—O, faith, he had a hump on his back ever so big, and he had long legs, and eyes, and a mouth.

Q—Do you see anything in court that you can compare him to?

A—Faith, thin, I don't, I am sure. Whin he kem in the door I would have given all the world to get him out of my sight.

S—Did you get up off the chair?

A—No, I did not; a better man than me could not do it.

Q—Did you attempt to shove him out?

A—I did not try to shove him out, for I was afraid of my life of him; I was not able to work for four days, for I got a pain in my heart.

The plaintiff's wife described the position of her husband sitting at the door. She added:

All at once I heard him giving a bitter screech out of him. I looked down and I saw the animal blow with his neck stretched in as far as he could. "Pray to the Almighty God," says I, "for it's nothin' good. Pray to the Lord to resave our sowls," and thin I fell in a faint.

Q—Did you ever see the like before?

A—O, wisha, I didn't, sir. The boys about the place took the thing away afterward.

Q—What is it that you were talking about when the camel came to the door?

A—My husband was blaming me for being out too long, and he was talking about ghosts and the divil. Whin I looked out and seen the animal, says I, "it's the divil that's here now, surely."

Q—Is your husband in the habit of talking about him?

A—Well, sir, he is. He is too often in his mouth, as I've tould him afore this.

Q—Don't you think it was a just judgment on him that the devil should make his appearance to see after him under these circumstances?

A—Wisha, I suppose so, sir. He was after calling on him too often, and it was serving him right.

Q—Has he been talking about the devil since?

A—Indeed no, sir.

His Worship considered that the plaintiff was injured, and gave a decree for £3.

A Happy Exchange.

Le Bien Public says that on the recovery of the Prince of Wales the English aristocracy intend to present him with a silver casket of the value of $30,000. Albert Edward had a narrow escape of getting a casket of another description.

Shameful.

The Bohemian Club is insulted. Some envious, sneering, voluble little cuss is going around the town making fun of it and saying "It isn't a club, it's only a collection of penholders." How can you make a club out of a dozen pen-holders? The wretch!

An Illinois cat, recently deceased at the age of 24, was made the subject of long and impressive funeral ceremonies.

It takes just twelve hundred dollars' worth of lace to trim a velvet cloak properly, in New York style.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The ever-popular drama of "Arrah-na-Pogue" was presented last night in excellent style. Miss Rose Evans was delightfully natural as Arrah Meelish; J. C. Williamson was Shaun the Post himself, and was the recipient of enthusiastic applause; H. Coad gave an original representation of Michael Feeny; the barn-door jig by E. J. Buckley and Miss M. Chambers, as usual, brought down the house, and altogether the piece gave general satisfaction. To-night the striking drama of "A Night of Terror," never before played in this city, will be presented with a strong cast.

Metropolitan Theatre.

There is more dramatic art in the play of "The Winning Hand" at present running at the Metropolitan Theatre than in any of the other original productions which have been brought out at this house. The situations are striking, and each act ends well. As this sensation drama must be withdrawn after Saturday's matinee in consequence of engagements made by the management, those who wish to see it must go at once. It will be played this evening. Miss Pauline Cushman will appear on Saturday evening in the play of "Oyathia, the Gipsy Queen." Miss Cushman bears the title of "Major" for services rendered the Government in making a famous ride by night, imparting valuable information thereby.

Alhambra Theatre.

The people of San Francisco always have money enough to enable them to patronize a first-class entertainment, and that given at the Alhambra Theatre at present has never been equalled for variety and excellence. J. H. Milburn's fame is world-wide; Fayette Welch is a great favorite; Harry Stanwood sends the audience into roars of laughter by his dry jokes; Heywood is a wonderful and most charming singer, and Emerson is—Emerson, the most popular performer in the profession. One must go early in order to obtain even standing room.

Bella Union.

The performance at the Bella Union Theatre presents an endless variety of popular acts, gymnastic feats, ballets, songs, double clog dances, banjo solos, and other features. "Ulf, the Minstrel," a very clever extravaganza, winds up the evening's amusement and sends the audience home well pleased.

Theatre Comique.

There is a little of everything in the entertainment given at this house—music, song, dance and farce. All engaged in carrying out the programme do their best to please, and succeed. The list of attractions for to-night appears on our first page.

Italian Opera.

To-morrow night the opera of "Lucretia Borgia" will be presented at the Metropolitan Theatre, with Signorina Adelina Speranza, the new prima donna, who made such a successful debut last week, in place of Signorina Franchel, in the title role. Those who have not yet secured seats should do so at once. We anticipate that Signorina Speranza will create a veritable sensation in the role of Lucrezia.

Birthday Presentation.

Tuesday, the 5th inst., being the birthday of Sam Wetherill, treasurer of the Alhambra Theatre, he was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a very handsome rosewood cane with massive gold head and quartz setting, with an inscription setting forth that it was the gift of the members of the Emerson Minstrels, as a token of their

New Operatic Talent.

Signor Catalani, a young and gifted tenor, and Signorina Luigia Bernardi, prima donna soprano, arrived on the Alaska, from South America, where they were favorably noticed by both the Spanish and English papers. It is rumored that they will inaugurate an operatic season at Maguire's Opera House, and on the other hand it is said that satisfactory inducements have been tendered them by manager Bianchi, to appear in conjunction with his troupe at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Not So.

Both the Call and the Chronicle announce Col. Barnes's new play, "Stocks," and "The Victim of Circumstances," as being the bill at the California Theatre to-night. For fear that the public may become the victim of circumstances, we willl state that this bill has been postponed until Monday evening in consequence of Mr. Chas. Wheatleigh's hoarseness, and Boucicault's stirring drama of "A Night of Terror" will be played instead.

Explosion of a Mince-Pie.

Dr. Overholt, of Shakopee, lost a little boy three years old last Christmas day, by the bursting of a mince-pie, which his mother was conveying from the oven. "The pie being surcharged with steam—having no vent in the crust—exploded, throwing a considerable quantity of the scalding contents about the little unfortunate's face and neck, burning him so badly as to throw him into convulsions, resulting in death." Ought there not to be mince-pie inspectors as well as boiler inspectors after that? FIGARO has never asked an office at the hands of his fellow citizens before, but he thinks that he could be induced to accept this position, notwithstanding its evident danger.

A Terrible Warning.

The Boston Journal tells of a physician in that city who says he has a patient in charge married at 14, and who at 37 had been the mother of 25 living children, and never more than one at a birth. This ought to be given as wide-spread a circulation as possible in order to deter men from marrying young girls of fourteen. A man has no right to marry a girl of fourteen. We hope when anyone does so she will have 25 babies, and then run off with another man leaving him to take care of children.

Will be Dirty.

Of course all the papers are loud in their praises of Governor Booth for the strength of mind he displayed in vetoing the street-sprinkling bill to lay the dust in San Francisco. San Francisco is like an independent dirty-faced boy, who won't have his face washed but will be just as dirty as he pleases. We couldn't half enjoy our beautiful breezes if there were no dust to blow in our faces.

Brutality.

A Connecticut clergyman wishing to ascertain how long it would take to read the Bible through, read it aloud to his wife in fifty-nine hours and thirty minutes. That woman will never open the Bible again as long as she lives and will probably sue her husband for divorce.

Scientific.

An industrious and determined mathematician is calculating the chances for a repetition of the Chicago conflagration. All the progress he has made thus far is to ascertain that there are 10,000,000 cows in the United States. His next computation will be on the subject of kerosene lamps.

Change of Diet.

We did not receive our usual theatrical letter from our Melbourne correspondent by the last Australian steamer, but we learn from our contemporaries that the New Zealanders are luxuriating on Italian Opera. The world advances, and missionaries no longer disappear mysteriously there.

Make Your Home Beautiful

By adorning its walls with pleasant pictures in beautiful frames. W. A. KOLLMYER, dealer in pictures, and mirror and picture frame maker, 640 Washington street, just below Kearny, will, at a wonderfully small cost, transform the dullest looking room into a bright, cheerful budoir. A

The Stylish Hat Store.

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

UNTO DEATH.

O, ofttimes in the twilight
I am sitting silently,
When the glory of the sunlight
Leaves its impress in the sky;
And a low voice seems to whisper,
With passion in each breath,
"I will love thee, love, for ever;
You may trust me unto death!"

And I live upon the echo
Of that passionate refrain:
And my hope is firm and steadfast
I shall hear it once again.
Though years may pass and vanish,
And life grow worn and cold,
I am waiting the reutterance
Of those pleading words of old.

It may be an illusion,
A myth, a fancy bare;
But it keeps my heart from breaking,
And my life from much despair.
And as long as life shall linger
Comes the echo of each breath,
"I will love thee, love, for ever;
You may trust me unto death!"

—Tinsley's Magazine.

Very Satisfactory.

"Subscriber" writes to the Call to immortalize a thoughtful carrier of that paper who always puts it where the rain cannot get at it. He assures the Call that he always finds it as "dry" as he could possibly desire.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Restored.

Two very remarkable cases of spine complaint have come under our observation. The parties referred to—Mrs. E. A. Perseau and daughter, of Seventh street, Oakland. The former being afflicted with spinal complaint and dyspepsia, and the daughter with a weakness of the spinal column to wasting away of the system. Both are now enjoying very good health after a few months treatment by Dr. Darrin, the great magnetic healer, at 128 Kearny street. BG

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

Snow Bound.

Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, and the other artistes newly engaged at the Alhambra Theatre, were delighted when they were thawed out on the plains. It is pleasant to be thawed out. Everyone thaws out at McMahon's Saloon, 318 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra. Old Cutter whisky, Bumgardner whisky and Chicken Cock, are splendid to thaw out on. P. J. McMahon, formerly proprietor of the Russ House Saloon, is a connoisseur in whiskies. Q

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life retirement; but the constant applications from sufferers everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, and spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for many years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST was unequalled in the cure of all cases brought under his notice. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,
Challenge Soap Co.,

Teaching Children.

Education does not commence with the alphabet. It begins with a mother's look; with a father's nod of approbation, or a sign of reproof; with a sister's gentle pressure of the hand, or a brother's noble act of forbearance; with a handful of flowers; in green dells, on hills and daisy meadows; with birds nests, admired but not touched; with creeping ants, and almost imperceptible emmet; with humming bees and glass bee hives; with pleasant walks in shady lanes; and with thoughts directed in sweet and kindly tones to beauty; to acts of benevolence; to deeds of virtue, and to sense of all good; to God himself.

The Suffrage Question, Again.

The tyranny of women when clothed with the imperial purple of the right of suffrage has been fully illustrated in the Territory of Wyoming. At Cheyenne, a female justice of the peace has taken advantage of the little brief authority to give her offending husband a severe lecture when he was not in a position to escape or talk back. This Woman Suffrage theory will not do. It becomes too dangerous when put in practice.—Ex.

Don't be Mean.

We are glad to learn that there is a good foundation for the hope that the present Legislature will not stamp itself as the meanest that ever assembled, by passing Wheaton's school bill reducing the salaries of the lady teachers, who are paid little enough now.

A Wyandotte lover committed the horrible mistake of kissing his intended mother-in-law in the dark. It is supposed he has fled to Canada.

"Where have you been since the cow kicked?" is a delicate way the Chicagoans have of referring to the late calamity.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shloss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 Kearny street. Life.

Every one who mixes with the world cannot but be convinced, by facts that come within his knowledge, that life is a monstrous disappointment, and death the only portal to peace. There is not a day passes in which virtue does not sell itself for bread, in which the good are not persecuted, and the weak trampled upon. Tragedies as red as any history, or fiction, ever painted are being played every day; and faces you admire mask with smiles an inward torture worse than the agony of the rack. Who has realized the fulfilment of his early hopes? Whose life has not its mortifications, its better concealments, its studied evasions, its wild uneasiness, its wrestlings and defeat? But we do not represent life. We represent the fairest portions and the highest level of it. Beneath us is the great mass of humanity, and they writhe and moan and weep, they toil, and starve, and fight and curse, and die. The world goes rolling on as heedless of those who fall as the gale in Autumn is heedless of the leaves stripped from the trees, the branches it wrenches away, or the flowers which perish by its breath.

Highly Important from England.

Among the many important despatches by cable is the following: "London, March 5th. Young Grant, the President's son, yesterday visited both Houses of Parliament." We await with anxiety further information as to the movements of Young Grant. We want to know if he has been to Madame Tussaud's Wax Works and to the Zoological Gardens. Wales isn't well enough yet to run round with him and show him the sights, which is perhaps all the better for Young Grant as Wales is rather fast and might lead him into bad company. Young Grant is, we will venture to say, quite a lion in certain circles in England, and some of the stupid Britishers think he is heir apparent to the Presidency. The Atlantic cable is a great blessing. If it were not in existence we should not be able to know in such a short space of time that Young Grant visited both Houses of Parliament.

Corners.

Corners have always been popular. The chimney-corner, for instance, is endeared to the heart from the earliest to the last hour of existence. The corner-cupboard; what stores of sweet things has it contained for us in our youth—with luxuries its shelves have groaned for manhood! A snug corner in a will; who ever objected to such a thing? A corner in a woman's heart; once get there, and you may soon command the entire domain. The corner in the Temple of Fame; arrive at that, and you become immortal. Be one in forming a "corner" in the grain or stock market, and you become rich.

A Growl at the Girls.

The trouble with the girls of the present day is that they run too much to extremes. Their chignons are too big and their feet are too small; they wear too much silk in their trains and too little in their corsages; they know too much at fifteen and too little at fifty. The "happy-medium" is one of the "lost arts."

Played Out.

The Duc de Persigny's tomb simply bears in French the family motto: "I serve," which laconically tells the story of his life.

A very good motto during life, but not to put on a tomb-stone, "I serve"—to feed worms.

Twenty markets for horse-flesh have just been opened in Paris.

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simprins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Waru's shirt store)."

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

COME.

Come to me when the earth is fair
With all the freshness of the spring,
When life fills all the liquid air,
And when the woods with music ring;
When all the wakening flowers rejoice,
And birds remind me of your voice.

Come to me when the summer's heat
Is strong the breeze of spring to kill;
When gardens with perfume are sweet,
And when the languid noon is still;
Come when the open buds disclose
The glory of the full blown rose.

Come to me when the summer fades,
And all the rose's sweets are dead,
When autumn robes the saddening glades
When purple heather turns to red;
Come to me when the wrinkled leaf
Fall like the tear of constant grief.

Come chiefly when all warmth is lost,
When autumn to stern winter yields;
Come when the bitter edge of frost
Shrouds all the verdure of the field;
Come when all else is dark and drear,
Thy presence than is doubly dear.

Very Natural.

The Alta is very naturally down on that lause in the Civil Service Reform bill which provides that the recipient of office "shall read, write and speak the English language correctly." It says of the English language: Its orthography is in a very mixed condition, and its pronunciation is capricious and scarcely admits of a law.

Very "mixed," in the Alta.

Absurd.

The Irish claim all popular favorites as being descended from natives of the Emerald Isle. They are welcome to Marshal McMahon, of France, but we deny that the real name of M'lle Marie Gaugain, the danseuse is Molly Geoghan.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To night the beautiful opera of "Lucrezia Borgia" will be given with Signorina Adelina Spezanza, who made such a highly successful debut in San Francisco on the 1st inst., in the title role. Signor Bianchi will appear as Gennaro, Signor L. Contini as Duca Alfonso, and Miss Viola Pomeroy will make her first appearance in Italian opera in the character of Maffio Orsini. The box sheet gives evidence that there will be a very large attendance.

Alhambra Theatre.

Crowds flock nightly to the Alhambra Theatre and those who do not go early stand very little chance of getting even standing room. Miburn's selections from his repertoire are received nightly with tremendous applause: Harry Stanwood's banjo solos and funny stories are immensely popular; Fayette Welch is firmly established as a favorite; Heywood's wonderful singing is the general topic in all circles, and Billy Emerson shines brighter than ever. The full performance will be given at the matinee to-morrow.

California Theatre.

The melodramatic play of "A Night of Terror" was presented last night. Miss Rose Evans did some capital acting as Pauline, and Henry Edwards played the part of the gentlemanly villain, Count Horace de Beauzeval, capitally. The play drew much applause, and Miss Evans was called before the curtain at the end of the second act. The evening's performance concluded with Charles Mathews's most popular farce of "Cool as a Cucumber," in which Owen Marlowe played Plumper very well indeed, awaking pleasant recollections of the great original. The same bill will be played to-night. The usual matinee performance will be given to-morrow.

Bella Union.

Among the many popular features of the programme which has delighted large audiences during the present week are M'lle Marie Gaugain's very pretty pas seul entitled "Vivian's Melodies;" Miss Ella La Rue's original banjo soles, which are repeatedly encored; the double clog dance by the pretty and vivacious Miss Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine, one of the most talented jig and clog dancers in the profession; the mid-air feats of Samwells and Montague, and the extravaganza of "Ulf the Minstrel," which terminates the performance.

Theatre Comique.

Frank Mortimer in character sketches; Ned Ward in comic songs and Dutch specialties; Eva Silva in popular ballads; Kelly and Stewart in double song and dance; Mike Quinn in banjo solos and negro acts; Miss Blanche in fancy dances; the pioneer actress and vocalist, Sally Thayer, in comic songs, and a number of other favorites will appear to-night.

Metropolitan Matinee.

A matinee will be given at the Metropolitan Theatre to-morrow and the highly sensational drama of "The Winning Hand" will be performed for the last time.

Miss Major Pauline Cushman.

On Saturday night, Miss Major Pauline Cushman, known during the late civil war as "the scout of the Cumberland," will make her first appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre in the romantic drama of "Cynthia the Gipsy Queen."

Untrue.

We find the following going the rounds of the press:

Parepa-Rosa has taken out of a hair-cloth factory an Irish girl whose voice is said to be magnificent, and has placed her under the best possible tuition. She is expected to become a prima donna.

We cannot find any foundation for this story, and believe it to be "made out of whole cloth"—hair cloth at that.

The Local Reporter on Hamlet.

A writer in an English magazine presents what he conceives might have been a criticism of "Hamlet" by the local newspaper on the morning after its first appearance. We quote it as something curious:

The author has not departed from this time-honored, if not particularly honorable custom, of building his house upon foundations laid by others. Indeed we might almost say that he has rather refurnished an old Danish house that done much in the way of architecture. Every schoolboy knows the story on which Hamlet is founded. We shall not delay our readers by instituting a comparison between the ancient narrative of Amlet and the play that has been concocted therefrom; suffice it to say Mr. Shakspeare, of whose faults timidity and respect for his predecessors are not two, (as his brother dramatists can certify,) has not, to our minds, made the fable more dramatic by his innovations, while he has certainly lost some strong points which seemed to lie patent to him. But a writer is sometimes the best judge of his own strength, and Mr. Shakspeare may have felt that his own style, with its conceit and prettiness, was fitted to illustrate a milder scene than the rough one when he has not very adroitly hewn his ideas. The taste of the day to which he prudently appeals, with a philosophical disregard to posterity, is so effeminate, that a fashionable playwright need not be hardly treated for seeking to please those who are too cynical to be awed, too self-satisfied to be instructed, too indolent to be elevated.

An Invitation to the Pope.

The New Age wants the Pope to come here. It says:

He will find his safest retreat in some Protestant country, where he may launch his thunderbolts like skyrockets. The world will only be amused at the pyrotechnic display, and will never think of getting angry. If his Holiness would settle in San Francisco, he would learn more of the actual condition of public opinion in one year than he has during the whole of his Pontificate.

If his Holiness were to settle in San Francisco what a howl would be raised by the Protestant churches! We believe the New Age makes that suggestion with a mischievous desire to see a jolly row.

Unreasonable.

The New York Mail has an article headed "A Strange Story—A Young Man at his own Funeral," just as if anybody could be so unreasonable as to get up a young man's own funeral for him and then deny him the privilege of going to it.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

The Stylish Hat Store

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager, C

A Dangerous Ordnance.

England is constantly experimenting in, and adopting, all kinds of improvements in field batteries, while our own country, in that respect, remains comparatively stationary. The last experiment in a new style of ordnance, called "a mule battery," is reported as follows in the Manufacture and Builder for December:

The Ordnance Select Committee recently made an experiment in firing a mountain howitzer strapped on the back of a mule. The mule, the leaded gun, the committee, and several "big wigs," attracted by the novelty of the experiment, went to the trial ground at Woolwich to witness the firing. The mule was backed up into position, so that the muzzle of the gun, pointing over his tail, was aimed at an earthen mound. The committee decided to fire by means of a slow match and it was prepared and lighted. Hitherto the mule had taken rather a sleepy interest in the proceedings. Somehow, the fizzing of the match upon his back caused him first to prick up his ears, then to lay them back, and finally begin to turn around. The committee was thunder-struck, and skedaddled in all directions; the Secretary threw himself flat on his face. There was a moment of agonizing suspense—then bang; the shot went ricochetting away in one direction, while the wretched mule turned a complete somersault in another.

Mr Kee Pin sued Yong Sue in the 15th, District Court yesterday and it wasn't for breach of promise, or divorce either, but simply to recover damages for goods unlawfully seized by the heartless Sue.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

THE GREAT EradicATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs. Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST rested in the care of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "Honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

Change of Occupation.

Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson, who has recently been called to Christ Church, New York, at a salary of $10,000, was formerly a table waiter at a boarding house in Cleveland, Ohio. We should not wonder if his former occupation were sometimes evident by his sermons. We can imagine his delighting to preach on such subjects as the Last Supper, the Bread of Life, the Loaves and Fishes, and the importance of learning to labor and to wait. We hope he is never as irreverent as Spurgeon, the notorious sensation preacher of London, who once addressed his congregation as follows "You'll willingly pay sixpence a pound for mutton and here I offer you the Lamb of God for nothing."

Stilted Talkers.

"Who," says the Saturday Review, "can enjoy a chat with a man who always talks of women as females, and of man as individual; with whom things are never like, but similar; who never begins a thing, but always commences it, and does not choose but elects; who does not help, but facilitates; who does not supply, but caters; not buy, but always purchases; who calls a beggar a mendicant; with whom a servant is always a domestic, where he is not a menial; who does not say anything, but states it, and does not end but terminates it; who calls a house a residence, in which he does not live, but resides; with whom place is a locality; and things do not happen, but transpire?"

Another Lawyer Dramatist.

If San Francisco boasts of Col. W. H. L. Barnes, lawyer and dramatist, Salt Lake has her Thomas Fitch. The Footlights of the 27th ult. says:

The theatre goers and the public in general will be glad to learn that Hon. Thomas Fitch has turned dramatist and has written a drama especially for this theatre, entitled "Old Titles," it introducing local scenery and local topics. It is well written, and those who have heard the manuscript read prophesy a great success for this production.

Our Little Bill.

An English paper thinks our demand on Great Britain for damages in the case of the Alabama and the other Southern cruisers, somewhat extravagant. It says: "Altogether, we can scarcely expect to get off for less than five hundred millions sterling. We don,t exactly see where the money is coming from, unless we could induce the Americans to accept Ireland, the Canadas, and a slice of India in part payment at a reasonable figure."

The Bohemian Restaurant.

Some weeks ago we published from a French paper some account of Dionchau, whose restaurant was the resort of the Bohemians of Paris, Murger was one of his customers, and Spiridion, the Paris correspondent of the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette, gives the following particulars concerning him:

"To get bread and meat is sometimes an unsolvable problem in a great city like Paris, especially to a man who brings nothing but brains to market. When poor Murger was dying, he turned to the rubicund nurse by his bedside, and, recalling the hardships of his own life (you know, Death commonly forces memory to disgorge all its accumulations before it is forever effaced), asked her, "Did you ever know what 'twas to fast?" Gifted as he was, he knew the pangs of hunger; for 'tis only gifted people who are damned to these involuntary fasts. It seems strange, and yet nothing is more natural, that people who have only arms at their service should never know what 'tis to want roof, bread and meat, while others who have great intellect go for years without a sufficiency of either.

When you remember this difficulty which brains find in getting bread in Paris, you may understand the yeoman service rendered literature. He was an eating-house keeper who gave obscure brains bread and meat on credit. His refectory was one of the queer places of Paris. When I first saw it 'twas one winter's afternoon. I had been attending Ampere's lecture in College de France, when a young fellow I had known at the Imperial Library asked me if I would join them. There were about fifteen young men in all. Poor Henry Murger was the head of the crew. Poor Charles Barbara, who committed suicide while delirious with cholera, was another. Several others, who are still alive and in possession of reputation swelled the throng. The street lamps had just been lighted. A haze filled the atmosphere. It was at least two miles from the College de France to Dinochau's; the former is in the Latin Quarter, the latter is in the des Martyrs, almost at Montmartre. You had to traverse Paris to go from one to the other.

WHAT A STRANGE FATE

poor Murger's was! He brought two eating houses into vogue, and was himself almost always starving. He made a baker in Rue Dauphine wealthy by praising the bread to be found there at 10 P.M. The whole Latin quarter went to Cretaine's to get his "butter-bread," and many a time I have seen a larger crowd on the sidewalk than were already in the shop. Cretaine got rich, for he gave no credit. Dinochau died poor, for he not only gave credit, but he lent money. He was proud of his literary customers, and there was more than one famous literary man and artist who would have starved but for Dinochau. It is said his books show $40,000 debts due his estate by literary men and artists. When Murger died, Dinochau proved $300 or $500 debts against him, and received it in due time.

Dinochau did not let everybody enter his entresol; unless one held a pen or a brush there was no admittance except to petticoats intimate with literary men or artists. Dinochau did an excellent business until the siege began. During the siege there were no hackmen, and indeed no restaurants, He lost a good deal of money—I don't know how—during the siege and La Communo. His heart became diseased. He went to la Maison Dubois (that private hospital where Murger and Barbara and many another literary man and artist has died), for he had never married, and there he breathed his last, friendless and poor. 'Tis the custom, you know, to cast aside baskets when the vintage is over. No creditable custom!

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shloss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 Kearny street. BI

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The Boy.

A "pome" is going the rounds of the Press which commences as follows:

Where are the boys?
Where have they gone with their restless feet?
Out in the orchard or down the street?
Storming the woodland for blossoms fair?
Or robbing the meadows of treasures rare?
Where are the boys?

They are in a five-cent lager beer cellar playing seven-up, out with their "girls" at Hayes Park, sparring for drinks at a corner grocery, putting a head on a Chinaman, loafing round the street corners making insulting remarks on women who pass, stealing sacks on the wharves, under restraint at the Industrial School.

Long are the shadows across the vale,
Twilight has come with her visage pale:
Where are the boys that they haste not home?
Where do they wander—whither roam?
Where are the boys?

Locked up in the calaboose drunk, out in the street howling serenades, "putting up a job" on a blind apple-peddler, doing nothing but mischief and going to the devil as fast as they can. The "Unions" won't allow them to be apprenticed to trades, so the boys have to pick up a living the best way they can. Nice boys, our San Francisco boys, and it is not to be wondered at.

WHO'S YOUR FRIEND!

[A DEDICATION FROM A DEAR FRIEND.]

Why, Nolan, the Boot and Shoe man of great renown,
Whose Boots and Shoes are the best in all this town.
A wonderful impression he has made,
Since he began to push along his trade.
Once on a time he used to wait for a chance,
But finding that the world approves of spirit,
As well as character, worth, and merit,
He pushes his trade along with Grant's zeal,
Makes Boots and Shoes that wear like steel.
His unremitting efforts have at length increased
His means and his commercial strength.
His Boots and Shoes the best that can be bought,
And very cheaply sold, and as they ought.
He sells them for cash, the only plan,
That ever can make the rising man.
You have asked us who's your friend,
And we have told you all
His motto, Large Returns and Profits Small.
At his establishment, we wish to mention,
You'll meet with civility and strict attention,
Besides a saving which ought to please
All lovers of good Boots and Shoes in times like these.
But where to find him, through the week,
Is at his well-known place, No. 11 Third street.

Can be found only at No. 24 Geary street, near the junction of Market and Kearny streets, where he will be happy to meet his old Patrons and such of the public as may need his valuable services. The Doctor is the most experienced physician now on the Pacific coast in the treatment of Long Standing and Chronic Complaints. The remedies he uses are entirely vegetable, and of his own discovery; they are unknown to any other physician.

To Females the Doctor would say that the last three years have added greatly to his knowledge of diseases and irregularities incident to the sex.

In all consultations the utmost privacy will be observed.

Dr. Josselyn is prepared to make special contracts to cure for a stated price, the cure to be warranted or no charges to be made for service Prices moderate. Office hours from 9 A.M. to P.M. Persons residing at a destance or those who may have objections to a personal interview can consult the Doctor by letter. Always describe the symptoms thoroughly and be careful to direct

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

ITALIAN OPERA.—The Metropolitan Theatre was crowded last night when the opera of "Lucrezia Borgia" was performed with Signorina Adelina Speranza in the title role, Signor Bianchi as Gennaro, Signor L. Contini as Duca Alfonso, Miss Viola Pomeroy as Maffio Orsini and M. Roncovieri as Gubetta. Signorina Speranza sang and acted charmingly. In the first act Signor Bianchi gained a round of applause for "Di Pescatore" and both he and Signorina Speranza received the honor of a call before the curtain. Miss Viola Pomeroy as Maffio Orsini, did not show any particular talent for Italian opera, and can scarcely be called a success. Signor Contini sang and acted very well as Duca Alfonso. Signorina Adelina Speranza true artiste and admirable singer as she is, is not quite equal to the last act, but displayed power which surprised everyone. Tuesday night will be the great triumph of the season. The delightful opera of "Un Ballo en Maschera" will be presented with an immense cast, a new tenor, two prima donnas, and Signora Bianchi taking part in the representation. Signor Catalini whose arrival we made mention of in Thursday's issue, will play Ricardo; Signorina Adelina Speranza, Amelia, and Signorina Luigia Bernardi the prima donna who arrived the same time as Signor Catalini, has kindly consented to take the role of Oscar. Ulrica be played by Signora Bianchi. Every care will be taken in rehearsal, and the opera will be presented in unexceptional style.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—This afternoon the exciting drama of "The Hidden Hand" wi be played for the last time. To-night Miss Major Pauline Cushman, of whose daring exploits and hair-breadth escapes as a spy in the Union army during the late civil war we read wonderful accounts in the papers, will make her first appearance in the romantic drama of "Cynthia the Gipsy Queen." Miss Major Pauline Cushman is said to be thoroughly original, and her style of acting to be unlike anything ever seen before. She will be ably supported by Jas. Hardie as Ishmael, T. E. Jackson as the Kinchin, Miss Maggie Moore as Starlight Bess, and the other members of the company appropriately cast. The same play will be performed to-morrow evening.

THE ALHAMBRA.—The merit of the entertainment given by the wonderful Emerson Minstrels, J. H. Milburn, Fayette Welch, Harry Stanwood, Heywood, the Reynolds Brothers, Harry Norman, S. Holdsworth, J. Robinson and others with the unequalled Billy Emerson at their head, is best proved by the fact that every night this week the Alhambra Theatre has been packed full, and hundreds have been unable to obtain admission. The rush still continues. The full programme will be performed at the matinee today, again to-night and to-morrow evening. On Monday, there will be an entire change of performance, and the latest Eastern sensation will be produced.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The usual matinee performance will be given to-day. This evening the sensational drama entitled "A Night of Terror" in which Henry Edwards and Miss Rose Evans do some admirable acting, will be given for the last time. The performance will conclude with the very amusing Irish farce of "Paddy Miles' Boy," in which John. O. Williamson is particularly good as Paddy Miles. On Monday Charles Wheatleigh will make his reappearance and the comedy of "A Victim of Circumstances," will be presented; to be followed by the new local sketch entitled "Stocks," another production of Col. W. H. L. Barnes, showing how he was in danger of losing his solid silver.

BELLA UNION.—There is so much merit as well as variety in the performance given at this theatre that all who visit it must be pleased. The ballet since the engagement of M'lle Gaugain has become quite a feature in the entertainment. To-night the grand ballet de action from "Robert le Diable" will be produced with no less than fourteen dancers; quite a good ballet troupe for San Francisco. The names appear on our first page. Eugenia Gerretta will appear in Living Statues; Mathews in a statue clog; Maggie Knight in comic songs; Ella La Rue in banjo solos; Fanny Garretson in a ballad, other performances will be given and Miss Zoel and Miss Josephine, who look so attractive and dance so well together will do another double song and dance, "The Girl with a Flowing Switch." The entertainment will conclude with the melodrama of "Jack Robinson," the cast of which appears on our first page.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—An entirely new bill will be presented for the delectation of the Saturday night night patrons of this house. Frank Mortimer will appear in new sketches; Ned Ward in new acts; Miss Blanche in fancy dances; Kelly and Stewart in song and dance; Sally Thayer in comic songs; Eva Silva in ballads, and to crown all Madame Gassyniger who is expected to create quite a sensation, is to put in an appearance to night.

BENEFIT OF SIGNOR MANCUSI.—On Thursday evening Signor E. Mancusi will take a benefit at the Metropolitan Theatre and present the very popular opera of "Crispino e la Comare." Signor Mancusi will appear in his great role of Crispino; Miss Mary Wadsworth will make her debut in Italian opera on this occasion and play the role of Annetta, and Signor Bianchi will appear as Il Contino. The merit of the beneficiaire and the popularity of the opera will ensure a good house.

CLIFF HOUSE.—Thousands of persons sought health and enjoyment by visiting the Cliff House last Sunday. The road is in magnificent condition, and after a spin along the beach, good appetite is sure to welcome the capital viands, always to be obtained at the Cliff House restaurant department.

GEO. RYLAND'S ORIENTAL CIRCUS.—George Ryland is preparing for the coming tenting season and has engaged the following artists, who will arrive on or about the 1st of next month: The Magilton Brothers, Herbert Williams, clown and comic vocalist, Charles Smith, clown and variety performer.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

ROBERT CRAIG.—This eccentric comedian, character actor and burlesque performer, of whom we hear most favorable reports from the Eastern press, is due here on Tuesday under engagement to the management of the Metropolitan Theatre.

MORE TALENT FOR THE ALHAMBRA.—Add Eyman, Ethiopian comedian and great in sketches of local character will start to morrow from New York under engagement to the management of the Alhambra Theatre. Thomas Maguire has fully proved the value of the old axiom, "If you want a thing well done, do it yourself." Instead of depending on agents in New York to send him artists he went himself and saw the best performers in the variety business in all the chief cities in the United States. He knew who would suit the taste of the people of the Pacific Coast and made engagements with them. His success has been perfect. J. H. Milburn, Fayette Welch, Harry Stanwood, and the wonderful Heywood have crowded the Alhambra Theatre to overflowing every night and there is no sign of the rush to see them decreasing. Each one of them is a favorite. If Thomas Maguire, the pioneer manager of the Pacific Coast, cannot please the public, then no one can. We have no doubt the other artists whom he has engaged and who will follow one another in rapid succession will prove equally popular with the bright constellation now shining at the Alhambra Theatre.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, the Grand Opera House was closed on the 26th ult., to rehearse the grand spectacle of "Lalla Rookh," written by Joseph C. Foster...."Julius Cæsar was still running at Booth's ...."The Veteran" was drawing crowded houses at Wallack's. .."Marriage" was having a good run at the St. James's Theatre....At Wood's Museum Charles T. Parsloe and his pupil, Sniffle, (what a stage name!) were playing in "Out at Sea," a new drama by Mr. Charles Morton....A little French comedy and vaudville company, under the management of M. Jaignet, plays once a week, at Robinson's Hall, No. 18, East Sixteenth street. "Humpty Dampty" at the Olympic....At the Fifth-avenue Theatre, "Divorce"....The farewell performances of Miss Nilsson in America commenced at the Academy of Music, New York on the 4th, in the opera of "Mignon"....The San Francisco Minstrels have a burlesque on the Delsarte system of acting and Bret Harte's Heathen Chinee, illustrated by Backus....Bryant's Minstrels burlesque, "The Veteran"....At Tony Pastor's, the Western Sisters, Sidney Franks, Hen Mason, and many others appear. "The Veteran's Divorce" is the latest novelty....At Niblo's Garden, Mrs. John Wood and her London burlesque company were to appear March 4th in "La Belle Sauvage" (Pocahontas reconstructed.") If the mails come to hand to-night we may say something about it another column....At the Bowery, "Buffalo Bill" with E. T. Stetson in the title role proved a success....At the Union Square Theatre, M. W. Fiske, appeared in F. C. Burnand's burlesque extravaganza entitled "Richard the Third; or, a new Front to an Old Dickey." It was too English to suit, the jokes being incomprehensible to any but Londoners.... Signor Francis, a Juggler and balancer created a sensation at the Theatre Comique. The Worrell Sisters, Kitty O'Neil, and many others were there ....At the New York Circus, Charles W. Fish, who was in San Francisco some time ago, is the bright star of the arena.

Strakosch Italian Opera Troupe, Boston, 19th two weeks; thence New York, March 4th. Subscriptions for their second Boston appearance larger than ever before. Miss Nilsson lately found an additional infatuated lover in Providence. He is a middle-aged manufacturer named Reed, and reported to have made a fortune. He attempted to gain admittance to the beauteous Nilsson's room at the hotel, but without success, and then contrived to place himself behind the scenes near her dressing room. He was at first mildly reasoned with, but refusing to leave, police officers were called, who removed him to a lunatic asylum His lunacy is said to simply be a monomania on the subject of the lady in question.

Manning's Minstrels, having quitted their recently-leased Michigan-avenue Theatre, Chicago, on the 15th ult., owing to light business, have been travelling. Opened at Louisville, 19th, for 5 nights; Lexington, 24th, Cincinnati, 25th, for a short season; thence to St. Louis, thence to Chicago again. Tom Feley, the billiard man, is now one of the managers. Sam Myers is now building a new theatre for the company on the South side of the city, which is to be finished by May.

G. W. Moore, Ethiopian, and one of the Christy's Minstrel managers in London, will shortly arrive on a visit to the United States.

Harry Palmer, of Niblo's Garden, sailed for Europe, taking with him Ben Sherwood, his machinist, that he may study the mechanism of sundry spectacle pieces in London, and Paris, with a view to improvement here.

An absurd and malicious report was spread a week or two ago, that Mrs. J. L. Williams, of the Little Nell Troupe, and mother of Little Nell, was partially deranged, and placed in the Hartford Insane Asylum. It was utterly untrue. Mrs. Williams has called at the Mercury office to deny the statement, and in excellent health. She considers that the story originated simply in a desire to injure her daughter's prospects.

The New York Mercury says of Junius Brutus Booth, so long a member of Maguire's Opera House in this city, and at present lessee of the Globe Theatre, Boston:

Booth's Theatre adorned "Julius Cæsar" 19th and during the week with a new sensation. J. B. Booth, an elder brother of Edwin Booth, replaced Lawrence Barrett as Cassius. He has not appeared in this city for seven years, and was heartily welcomed. Mr. Booth is rather a tall, rotund gentleman, in his early fifties, with crisp gray hair and a bald ring on his crown. His features are regular and handsome, and his smile pleasant. As Cassius, however, he compared unfavorably with Lawrence Barrett, who had given the part close study, much character and admirable elocution. In him was presented the honest but discontented and irascible Cassius to the life. In the part as portrayed by Mr. Barrett's successor was seen only the amiable and rotund Mr. Booth, giving his own individuality, and displaying an elocution inappropriately rapid, colloquial in tendency, and lacking in dignity.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Mercury, writing about the Arch-street Opera House, says:

Sam S. Sanford opened here for one week, playing for Sanford's benefit 22d. The first part remains the same; Wm. Sweatman is the favorite. Sweatman has several offers, but until the California trip is definitely settled, future engagements will not be announced. Jos. Norris and C. S. Fredericks are also good people, useful, and have the respect of the public and profession. Those interested are in a beautiful state of uncertainty regarding the proposed California trip of the troupe. The profession desire facts, and shall have them as they transpire. Will they go?

If they come to California and give a really good variety show they can coin money. Let them come, but beware of bringing any dry timber in the company.

The Boston Express says that the Julia of Miss Carlotta Leclercq, in "The Hunchback," is incomparably the finest that has been witnessed by the present genteration of theatre goers.

Watts Phillipps' new play of "On the Jury," will shortly be produced at the Walnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia.

Jem Mace, the pugilist, showed in connection with a dramatic company, under a Mr. Marbury, at West Meridan, Conn., 27th. "A Woman's Life," "Tom and Jerry," and "The Persecuted Dutchman" were the the pieces played.

The California, Atlantic and Pacific Circus are now in the neighborhood of Corsicana, Texas, and will be in St. Louis before April 1st. Among the company are A. Lehman and Mrs. Polly Lehman riders, and H. O. Lee and three boys, gymnasts and riders, of from ten to fifteen.

Jule Kent, clown, is to grin with Lent next season,

S. H. Sudworth in "Pomp," Albany 26th, one week.

Lydia Thompson Troupe, Galveston, 26th, to March 2d.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers, Walnut, Philadelphia, 26th one week.

Joe. Jefferson, Boston, March 4th; Louisville, April 2d, four nights, under R. E. Miles.

Oliver Doud Byron, Chicago, March 4th, two weeks.

Lotta, St. Louis, March 4th; Kansas City, 18th

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Berlin has had an "emotion" as a French paper informs us. There has been a scandalous affair at the Theatre Royal. For sometime past, M'lles Mallinger and Lucca, have disputed the favor of the Berlin public. For some reason or other the engagement of Mallinger was not renewed. Furious at this, she accused her rival of being the cause of it. The public in order to show itself opposed to its Emperor (who owns the theatre) one evening when "Les Noces de Figaro" was played, hissed Lucca furiously when she appeared the Emperor being present at the time. They say that Lucca, making it worse, is the mistress of a member of the Court. Lucca was evidently moved, and was on the point of breaking down, but she recovered herself. Some nights after (at Berlin they give "Les Noces de Figaro" as an opera comique), one of the characters addressing Cherubini, says: "Well, what do they do here?" To which Lucca exasperated by the treatment she had received, but calm, replied: Ici, on fait des cachonneries aux actrices (Here they are beasts in their treatment of actresses). A terrific storm arose in spite of the presence of the Emperor. The public demanded and obtained an apology of the singer. This was not all, on leaving the theatre, Lucca found the street filled with an angry crowd who recommenced the manifestations against her, which they had shown inside the theatre, and followed her home hissing savagely. On the other hand, bouquets in showers were thrown into the carriage of Mallinger.

We have news from London up to the 10th ult. The London theatres which had been drawing well for weeks, had still farther improved their business through the opening of Parliament. No change had occurred in the programmes beyond that the new operetta of "Ganymede and Galatea" had been produced at the Gaiety, together with Clement Scott's drama of "Off the Line," and the extravaganza of "Thespis," in which J. L. Toole was the feature.....At the Strand, Craven's "Meg's Diversion" had been substituted for the "Post Boy." Emily Pitts was soon to be a member of the company.....At the St. James, Edmund Gondinet's drama of "Christiane," lately popular at the Theatre Francais, was brought out recently by Raphael Felix's French company.....Mrs. John Wood took a farewell benefit at the Adelphi on the 8th, prior to departing for America. "Notre Dame" was given, as usual, after which Mrs. Wood followed in "Jenny Lind," giving imitations of leading opera-singers of the day. Edward Arnott and Lionell Brough volunteered in the play, and Herman Vezin, J. C. Cowper, Frederick Maccabe, Howard Paul, G. W. Moore and daughter, and Mrs. Billington gave a series of recitations and songs. The extravaganza of "Little Snowwhite" concluded the entertainment. Mrs. Wood was to return in three months. A complimentary farewell breakfast was to be given to her prior to departure, at Willis's Rooms, on the 15th, by literary and artistic admirers. Charles Reade was to take the chair, and Ben Webster the vice chair.

John Poole, an old dramatist, and author of Paul Pry, died at Kentish Town, in the London suburbs, on the 5th, aged eighty-seven.

Camilla Urso, the lady violinist, is in Paris, and proposes soon returning to London.

Just Arrived.

C. E. Bradley, late with the Dobson Brothers, of New York, (champion banjoists,) will give instructions on the banjo at the pupil's residence, and forfeit $100 if the most stupid person cannot play a perfect tune in ten minutes by his new and simple method. Address Bradley, Figaro office. I

San Francisco Gentlemen.

It is generally observed by Eastern visitors that San Francisco gentlemen are remarkably well dressed. Those most noted for their taste procure their shirts, cravats and underwear of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third streets, Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store). I

San Fancisco Belles.

The San Francisco ladies are noted through out the world for the magnificence and luxuriousness of their flowing locks, and it is a well-known fact that the most of them are supplied by the renowned Felix Pyat, dealer in hair, 424 Kearny street, and 804 Washington st.

Restored.

Two very remarkable cases of spine complaint have come under our observation. The parties referred to—Mrs. R. A. Pereau and daughter, of Seventh street, Oakland. The former being afflicted with spinal complaint and dyspepsia, and the daughter with a weakness of the spinal column to wasting away of the system. Both are now enjoying very good health after a few months treatment by Dr. Darrin, the great magnetic healer, at 128 Kearny street. BG

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy display in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

Snow Bound.

Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, and the other artistes newly engaged at the Alhambra Theatre, were delighted when they were thawed out on the plains. It is pleasant to be thawed out. Everyone thaws out at McMahon's Saloon. 318 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra. Old Cutter whisky, Bamgardner whisky and Chicken Cock, are splendid to thaw out on. P. J. McMahon, formerly proprietor of the Russ House Saloon, is a connoisseur in whiskies. Q

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

The Stylish Hat Store

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. Go to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street (the second hat store below Kearny), and examine the large stock of the latest styles of hats. E

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 317 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

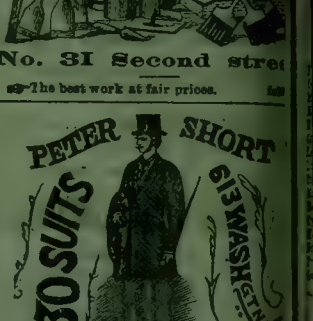
DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE



N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and three ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, has determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life retirement; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, London, which it here wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in that celebrated institution, and thus give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST reached in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

MISS MAJOR

PAULINE CUSHMAN

KNOWN IN THE WAR OF THE REBELLION AS

The Scout of the Cumberland

The eventful career of MISS CUSHMAN in the Secret Service of the United States during the War of the Rebellion is well known to the world. Her high minded and deeply patriotic devotion to the flag of her country, her ignorance of fear while passing the rebel lines, her unswerving duty and obedience of purpose while defending the nation's honor, her capture by the rebels, her unfailing nerve in receiving the death sentence from the rebel Military Court, and her timely rescue by the Union troops in Tennessee—are facts that have made her name celebrated over the land, and crowned her with the title of the "Second Joan of Arc." Since the war MISS CUSHMAN has been an actress and lecturer, attracted thousands upon thousands to listen to the recital of her remarkable and thrilling exploits, and to witness her superior delineations of character. Her personal magnetism is extraordinary, and none can see her without delight and wonder. As her stay in San Francisco will be brief, our citizens should not lose the opportunity of recognizing one who has played so important a part in our country's annals

LETTER FROM SACRAMENTO.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

SACRAMENTO, March 8th. 1872.

DEAR FIGARO:—After a long silence, I beg leave to post you as to the doings of amusement caterers of this burgh.

The Metropolitan Theatre, under the indefatigable management of Joseph Proctor, has been doing a splendid business with the two late sensational plays from the Metropolitan of your city, to wit: "The Red Pocket Book" and "Early California." The first named held the boards until Wednesday, when it was withdrawn, and Bausman's play was produced. It attracted a large and fashionable audience, and proved a great success. It is placed on the stage in a superior manner, and is rendered doubly attractive by the introduction of the mechanical effects and properties used in the piece when performed under the Bert management of your city. By many the play is considered superior to "The Red Pocket Book," and it will prove as great a success as that drama. The cast of characters is in able hands, and all are admirably sustained. Mrs. Bates plays Orletta very well. Jennie Mandeville, Mrs. Stewart, and Mrs. Edmonds in their several impersonations, appear to good advantage. Edmonds as the villain excels (no offense); Lehman is in his glory as Uncle Charley, while Crosbie and Coggswell in the respective characters of Tim and Tripletopper, surpass all their previous efforts. Another feature of the play, is the introduction of Charley Rhoades, the celebrated banjoist and vocalist, who appears in his specialties, and is thrice encored every night. "Early California" is announced for performance until further notice.

The Varieties, under the management of Seth Hormley, does a fair business. Cherry Bell, Lizzie Harmon, M'lle Forrestelle the strong, and Johnny Campbell, are the principal attractions.

W. J. Coggswell, the popular actor of the Metropolitan Theatre, will be the recipient of a benefit next week. The gentleman has a host of friends here, and will doubtless have a crowded house.

Mr. Charles Wheatleigh will appear here at the conclusion of his engagement at your California Theatre. ."

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from hi own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

OAKLAND.—On Monday, "Milky White" was performed by John Maguire's dramatic company at the Academy of Music, and Charles Vivian appeared in characteristic songs. On Wednesday night "Caste" was produced. The Oakland News thus sums up the result of the first week of Mr. Maguire's venture:

"Last Monday evening—the first night—$500 was taken in at the door, and every part of the house was crowded. The second night the receipts were $200. The matinee receipts on Saturday were about $30, and as the only expense at the matinees is the gas, this was so much gain. Saturday evening the receipts were about $100; and summing up the whole week, after paying all salaries and expenses, we believe Mr. Maguire has made some $200.

We are glad to hear such a good account. If Mr. Maguire is careful in paying all his bills as fast as the money comes in, there may be a prosperous future before him in Oakland. There will be a matinee performance to-day, and another in the evening. Charles Vivian will appear on both occasions.

SACRAMENTO.—On Thursday, Joseph Proctor's troupe at the Metropolitan Theatre appeared in "Ambition, or the Tomb, the Throne, and the Scaffold." On Tuesday evening "The Red Pocket Book" was played for the last time, and Wednesday evening the drama of "Early California" was presented with all the original effects from the Metropolitan in this city. Charley Rhoades, the popular banjo player, who we are glad to learn has recovered from his late dangerous illness, sang "The Days of '49." "Early California" will be played until further notice.

MARYSVILLE.—Grace Greenwood lectured at the theatre on Monday evening. On Wednesday evening a complimentary benefit was given to Prof. Hugo L. Mansfield by the Amateur Dramatic Club. "Ingomar, the Barbarian," was performed. The Standard says the Marysville Amateur Minstrels are to make their first appearance some time next week.

STOCKTON.—Mrs. L. J. L. Adams, the Oriental and European traveler, delivered the first of three lectures on "The Holy Land and Egypt' on Wednesday evening. She had a good audience.

RED BLUFF.—Grace Greenwood is announced to lecture on "The Heroic in Comm on Life," at Roley's Hall, this evening.

PORTLAND, O.—"Rosedale" was played nine nights and was succeeded on the 21st ult. by "The Lancashire Lass," with G. B. Waldron as A Party by the Name of Johnson. The spectacular drama, "Massaniello," was played on the 26th and 27th ult., and promised to have a run. We have no advices from the variety performers, Aline La Favre and others, who went up from here.

DENVER, COL.—Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps appeared at the Denver Theatre on the 28th ult., in "East Lynne." The Cricket Varieties was open with Add Weaver, Joe Woods, and company of female minstrels.

SALT LAKE, U. T.—Purdy, Scott and Fostelle's Minstrels, made their last appearance at the theatre on the 21st ult. On the 23d Mrs. Matthieson, a vocalist "from the principal concerts of Copenhagen," made her first appearance and sang "Home Sweet Home," after "Jessie Brown" was performed by the dramatic company; the Footlights says she has a very sweet voice. Phil. Margetts reappeared on the 26th ult., in "Randall's Thumb." On the 29th "Paul Pry" was performed, and on the 29th "Toodles." A new local drama written by Hon Thomas Fitch and entitled "Old Titles," was underlined for early production.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Dr. D Virgil Gates gave an entertainment consisting of readings and mitations at Piper's Opera House. Amelia Dean's Minstrels with Charles Vincent and others arrived on Tuesday and were to open on Thursday night.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up MRS. E. SHLOSS's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 KEARNY STREET. BI

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. *

Make Your Home Beautiful

By adorning its walls with pleasant pictures n beautiful frames. W. A. KOLLMYER, dealer in pictures, and mirror and picture frame maker, 640 Washington street, just below Kearny, will, at a wonderfully small cost, transform the dullest looking room into a bright, cheerful budoir. A

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. A New Thing in Oysters.

Joe Giusta, 105 California Market, fronting on Summer street, serves freshly opened oysters at gentlemen's residences at any hour requested on Sunday mornings. Leave orders and get Giusti's fresh opened oysters to eat on Sundays, not the stale ones opened on Saturday.

Dr. Abernethy.

The delicious Green Ginger Brandy invented by the famous Dr. Abernethy of England is the best, most agreeable and safest tonic. Chenery, Souther & Co. are the sole agents for San Francisco. All first-class saloons keep it. G

WHO'S YOUR FRIEND!

[A DEDICATION FROM A DEAR FRIEND.]

Why, Nolan, the Boot and Shoe man of great renown,
Whose Boots and Shoes are the best in all this town.
A wonderful impression he has made,
Since he began to push along his trade.
Once on a time he used to wait for a chance,
But finding that the world approves of spirit.
As well as character, worth, and merit,
He pushes his trade along with Grant's zeal,
Makes Boots and Shoes that wear like steel.
His unremitting efforts have at length increased
His means and his commercial strength.
His Boots and Shoes the best that can be bought,
And very cheaply sold, and so they ought.
He sells them for cash, the only plan,
That ever can make the rising man.
You have asked us who's your friend,
And we have told you all:
His motto, Large Returns and Profits Small.
At his establishment, we wish to mention,
You'll meet with civility and strict attention,
Besides a saving which ought to please
All lovers of good Boots and Shoes in times like these.
But where to find him, through the week,
Is at his well-known place, No. 11 Third street.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

A large and fashionable audience greeted Chas. Wheatleigh last night, when he made his reappearance. The three-act comedy of "A Victim of Circumstances" is one of the best and most lively pieces produced in California for many a day. It is from the French, and is not spoiled in translating. The plot is good and the situations are extremely funny. It is long since the California Theatre rang with such hearty peals of laughter as were heard last night, and it was real fun the audience were laughing at—not buffoonery and grimaces. Charles Wheatleigh as the unfortunate Mons. Bonneford, who meets with Virginie (Miss Rose Evans) in a pastry cook's shop, pays her bill for her, she having left her purse at home, and is ever after persecuted by letters and telegrams from her, was extremely good, and Miss Rose Evans as the mischief-loving Virginie did some excellent comedy acting. Henry Edwards as M. Delaroche, her husband, was splendid; Mrs. Judah was immense as the mother-in-law of Mons. Bonneford, Miss Ellie Wilton very nice and interesting as the loving Aime, Fred Franks amusing though a little heavy as Camanche, Mrs. C. R. Saunders very good as Babette, and altogether the comedy went excellently well for a first night. Col. W. H. L. Barnes' "local sketch" of "Stocks; or, Up and Down," was as bad as the first piece was good. A two-act farce is an abomination, and a farce founded on "business" must be a very dreary affair. This was not the worst of it: the author had the bad taste to represent every member of the Stock Board in the play as a rascal and a swindler. "Stocks" is not a success, and if Mr. Wheatleigh were to give us one of the charming little comedies which compose his repertoire (say the ever-popular "Bull in a China Shop") in place of "Stocks," we are sure the public would be pleased.

Alhambra Theatre.

Everything went screamingly at the Alhambra Theatre last night. The house was thronged as usual. J. H. Milburn made a succession of hits in his songs; Fayette Welch and Billy Emerson caused roars of laughter in the act of "Who Died First?" Heywood's new ballads were well received; the Reynolds Brothers gained a double encore for their song and dance composed for them by Geo. Evans, entitled "She Loves us both so Well," and the new sensation of "Sweet Cider" proved an immense success. Billy Emerson fairly bringing down the house by his wonderful grotesque dancing, and Harry Stanwood and the Reynolds Brothers doing extremely well. The same bill will be played to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Verdi's grand opera of "Un Ballo en Maschera" will be produced with Signorina A. Speranza as Amelia, Signor C. Cataiani, a new tenor from Milan, as Ricardo, Signora Bernardi, from the theatres of Turin, as Oscar, in order to strengthen the cast, Signora Bianchi as Ulrica, Signor L. Contini as Renato, Signor Roncovieri as Samuel, Mons. Charles as Tom, and Signor Semprani as Usher. With such a cast as this and the chorus and orchestra under the direction of Signor G. Speranza, the opera must prove a grand success. The debut of a tenor and also a prima donna on the same night will prove an extraordinary attraction, and those who do not secure the few seats still remaining unsold this morning can scarcely hope to find very eligible ones on going this evening.

Miss Pauline Cushman.

This actress appeared last night in the role of Cynthia at the Metropolitan Theatre, and will repeat her performance of that character to-morrow evening. Her engagement cannot be extended beyond the present week as Robert Craig, the favorite comedian and character actor, is engaged to appear on Monday next.

Bella Union.

Ella La Rue's banjo solos; the beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable," by M'lle Marie Gargain and others; Maggie Knight in sailor's hornpipe and comic songs; Miss Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine in their very pretty double dance, "The Girl with the Swinging Switch," and many other acts by the talented company make up a lively entertainment, terminating with the lively melodrama of "Jack Robinson," in which E. Montague as the monkey causes much fun.

Theatre Comique.

Mike Quinn and his banjo, Frank Mortimer in character songs, Ned Ward in negro and Dutch impersonations, Miss Blanche in her attractive dances, Kelly and Stuart in eccentric double terpsichorean acts, and many others, will appear this evening in a great programme published on our first page.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Very Abusive.

Down South to call a man "mean enough to go to the legislature" is a climatic insult; but Chicago goes 'em "one better" in the utterance of the one simple but expressive expletive, "Alderman!" Chicago has three or four Aldermen in jail at present, and more who ought to be there.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Lions and Lion Taming.

Whatever is the reason, says the London Daily News, the forest lions are more intelligent and tamable than those born in confinement. The lion-tamer begins by getting the feeding of them into his own hands and so gets them to know him. He commences feeding them from the outside of the den, then ventures inside of one at a time, always keeping his face to the animal, and carefully avoiding any violence, which is a mistake whenever it can be avoided, as it rouses the dormant devil in the beast. Getting to handle the lion, the tamer begins by stroking him down the back, gradually working up to the head, which he begins to scratch, and the lion, which, like a cat, likes friction, begins to rub his head against the hand. When this familiarity is well established, a board is handed in to the trainer, which he places across the den and teaches the lion to jump over, using a whip with a thong—not for the purpose of punishment. Gradually this board is heightened, the lion jumping over it at every stage; and then come the hoops, etc., held on top of the board to quicken the beast's understanding. To teach the animal to jump over the trainer the latter stoops alongside the board so that when the lion clears one he clears the other, and half a dozen lessons are ordinarily sufficient to teach him this. To get a lion to lie down and the tamer to stand on him is more difficult. It is done by flicking the beast over the back with a small tickling whip, and at the same time pressing him down with one hand. By raising his head and taking hold of his nostril with the right hand and the under jaw and lower lip with the left, the lion, by this great pressure on the nostril and lip, loses greatly the power of his jaws, so that a man can pull them open and put his head inside the beast's mouth—the feat with which Van Amburgh's name was so much associated. The only danger is lest the animal should raise one of his fore paws and stick his talons in, and if he does, the tamer must stand fast for his life till he has shifted the paw.

The Difference.

An exchange indulges in the following sensible reflections regarding ladies' headdresses at the theatre: "If a man were to take his seat at any place of public gathering or amusement and keep his hat on he would be hissed, or hustled out or handed to the police. But women, night after night, go with the most preposterous pile of rigging on top of their heads, and keep the men dodging the never-quiet pile, and never giving one moment's clear view of the stage. Perhaps it would be well to revive the old Puritanic text: "Top knot, come down."

Fond Mother.—"John, do look at that child; it has your watch in its mouth, and will swallow it!"

John.—(who is a bachelor brother-in-law,) "Oh, don't be the least alarmed; I've got hold of the chain, I'll get it back again.' (Tableau.)

'Tis Ever Thus.

A ferocious dog attacked a Fayette county, Ind., lover and drove him from the premises and presence of his "ownest own." The course of true love is subject to such ripples,

A New Thing in Oysters.

Joe Giusta, 105 California Market, fronting on Summer street, serves freshly opened oysters at gentlemen's residences at any hour requested on Sunday mornings. Leave orders and get Giusti's fresh opened oysters to eat on Sundays, not the stale ones opened on Saturday.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where J. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

WHEN THE SULTAN GOES TO ISPAHAN.

BY T. B. ALDRICH.

When the Sultan Shah-Zaman
Goes to the city Ispahan,
Even before he gets so far
As the place where the clustered palm-trees are,
At the last of the thirty palace gates,
The pet of the harem, Rose-in-Bloom,
Orders a feast in his favorite room,—
Glittering squares of colored ice,
Sweetened with syrup, tinctured with spice,
Creams, and cordials, and sugared dates,
Syrian apples, Othmanee quinces,
And wines that are known to Eastern princes;
And Nubian slaves, with smoking pots
Of spiced meats and costliest fish,
And all that the curious palate could wish,
Passed in and out of the cedar doors;
Scattered over mosaic floors
Are anemones, myrtles, and violets,
And a musical fountain throws its jets
Of a hundred colors into the air.
The dusk Sultana loosens her hair,
And stains with the henna-plant the tips
Of her pearly nails, and bites her lips
Till they bloom again,—but, alas, that rose
Not for the Sultan buds and blows!
Not for the Sultan Shah-Zaman
When he goes to the city Ispahan.

Then at a wave of her sunny hand,
The dancing-girls of Samarcand
Float in like mists from Fairy-land!
And to the low voluptuous swoons
Of music rise and fall the moons
Of their full, brown bosoms. Orient blood
Runs in their veins, shines in their eyes:
And there, in this Eastern Paradise,
Filled with the fumes of sandal-wood,
And Khoten musk, and aloes and myrrh,
Sits Rose-in-Bloom on a silk divan,
Sipping the wines of Astrakhan;
And her Arab lover sits with her.
That's when the Sultan Shah-Zaman
Goes to the city Ispahan.

Now, when I see an extra light,
Flaming, flickering on the night
From my neighbor's casement opposite,
I know as well as I know to pray,
I know as well as tongue can say,
That the innocent Sultan Shah-Zaman
Has gone to the city Ispahan.

A Religious Dodge.

Those wicked persons who receive religious tracts and then cast them away or devote them to base uses, have been circumvented in Rhode Island by an eccentric individual, who has precepts from Scripture and touching appeals to the sinful printed upon the back of new bank notes. There is no danger that tracts circulated in this way will meet with despiteful usage.

Just So.

Boston papers say that New York wives when enraged against their spouses, call them Custom House frauds. Lest anyone should not see the point of this we will explain that it is because they evade the payment of duties.

A Missouri editor advertises to take corn in pay for his paper. Prefers to have it in a liquid state, but will take it in the ear if he can't get it otherwise.

Restored.

Two very remarkable cases of spine complaint have come under our observation. The parties referred to—Mrs. E. A. Pereau and daughter, of Seventh street, Oakland. The former being afflicted with spinal complaint and dyspepsia, and the daughter with a weakness of the spinal column to wasting away of the system. Both are now enjoying very good health after a few months treatment by Dr. Darrin, the great magnetic healer, at 123 Kearny street. BG

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the success and treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST ranked first in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and success treatment and moderate charges to all."

Fourth Night of the Sensational Actress,
MISS MAJOR
PAULINE CUSHMAN
KNOWN IN THE WAR OF THE REBELLION AS
The Scout of the Cumberland

The eccentric career of Miss CUSHMAN in the secret service of the United States during the War of the Rebellion is well known to the world. Her high-minded and deeply patriotism, her strength of devotion to the flag of her country, her high sense of duty which governed the rebel times, her unswerving duty and steadiness of purpose while defending the nation's honor, her rapture by the rebels, her startling nerve in receiving the death sentence from the rebel Military Court and her timely rescue by the Union troops in Tennessee are facts that have made her name celebrated over the land, and crowned her with the title of the "Second Joan of Arc." Since the war Miss CUSHMAN has, as an actress and lecturess, attracted thousands upon thousands to listen to the recital of her remarkable and thrilling exploits, and to witness her superior delineations of character. Her personal magnetism is extraordinary, and none can see her without delight and wonder. As her stay in San Francisco will be brief, our citizens should not lose the opportunity of recognizing one who has played so important a part in our country's annals.

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!

THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. MELLATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.

Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the beneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.

The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

May be So.

The Marysville Standard of the 9th has the following:

Jas. F. Bowman, the California letterateure, is at present connected with the San Francisco Call. Bowman is a lively journalist and a dramatic author of no mean talent.

We don't know how Bowman will like to be called a "letterateure;" it seems horrible. As the Standard informs Bowman that he is "a dramatic author of no mean talent," it "behooves" him at once to develope this talent of which he is evidently unaware as he has not yet written a play. We are sure Bowman can write a play if he tries, and the Standard says he is a dramatic author without knowing it.

Fisk a Bird Fancier.

Fisk must have been a lover of canaries. There was an auction sale of the canaries, two hundred and fifty in number, belonging to the late financier, in New York on the last day of February. They were mostly bought as souvenirs and the sale realized near $3,000. Who would have thought that Fisk ever found time to keep a canary ranche?

High Praise.

A Western editor whose heart has warmed to one of his advertising patrons, thus commends his manly traits of character:

He is as full of life and activity as George Francis Train, as indomitable as Andy Johnson and as persistent as a life insurance agent. He is a firm believer in the power of the press, and makes a liberal use of printer's ink.

"Is not Horace Greeley a college-bred man?" asks a correspondent. "No, sir; he is a Graham bread man."—Rochester Democrat.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Cerville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Modern Paragraphing.

Some genius has invented the following manner of stating a fatal occurrence. It is a delicate way of putting it, and reads much better than to say, "He died in the most horrible agonies." We get the whole story, and our sympathies are not unnecessarily shocked:

A man in New Hampshire the other day ate fifteen dozen raw oysters on a wager. The silver trimmings alone on his coffin cost twelve dollars and thirty-five cents.

John Smith, in Nebraska, said he could handle a rattlesnake the same as a snake charmer. The churlishness of the undertaker in demanding pay in advance delayed the funeral four days.

A circus rider in Texas tried to turn three somersaults on horseback the other day. The manager sent back to New Orleans for another somersault man.

A man in New Jersey wouldn't wait for the cars to reach the depot, and jumped off. His widow has sued the life insurance company.

Few men would attempt to dry gunpowder in the kitchen stove. A man in Canada did. His afflicted family would be glad of information as to his whereabouts.

In Massachusetts, the other day, a man thought he could cross the track ahead of a locomotive. The services at the grave were very impressive.

A man in New Orleans warned his wife not to light the fire with kerosene. Her clothes exactly fit his second wife.

A boy in Detroit disregarded his mother's warning not to skate on the river, as the ice was too thin. His mother don't have to cook for as many as she did, by one.

Make Things Even.

In view of the frequency with which the plea of insanity is put in by murderers in extenuation of their crime, would it not be well to try them by an insane jury who would be mad enough to find them guilty, and to let them be defended by insane lawyers who would be idiots enough to cease quibbling their clients out of the hangman's noose when found guilty? The joke would then be perfect on all sides.

The Idea.

A visionary newspaper, writing of the honeymoon, is trying to persuade young married people that it is better for them to stay quietly at home, and not go wandering off on exhibition. As if any bride would forego the blessed privilege of leading her prize around with a blue ribbon tied to his neck in a hotel or other public places where brides most do congregate.

Doctored Diplomas.

Our Philadelphia exchanges say that the legislative inquiry into the bogus medical and surgical degrees, issued in that city, has elicited the facts that great numbers of men in this country and in Europe have been supplied, and are practising under false authority—that is, killing without the authority of regular diplomas.

Not Posted.

"We shall not be open to-morrow," said a Parisian shop-keeper to a Yankee customer, "because to-morrow is Ascension-day." "Ah!" said the American, "can you tell me from whence does the balloon go up?"

Necessary.

An exchange says: "A society for the prevention of cruelty to children in the shape of exposure from the bare arms, shoulders, and legs, which the vanity of mothers delight in, is about to be established in Boston.

A butcher in Iowa puts a gold dollar in every fifty pounds of sausage meat. It isn't the first time we have heard of currency in sausages.

Bret Harte plays a vigorous game of seven-up.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. X

Make Your Home Beautiful

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Mellican Chickey.

When the English troops appeared at the Bogue forts the Chinese troops left most precipitately. On being asked why they did so, one of them replied, "How can Chinaman stay when Englishman come in?" No hab got room for two piecy men; number one man come in, number two man go out." Another was asked about a tall, thin man, with a nose like that of the American eagle. "Where belong that gentleman?" was the question asked. The reply was, "Me no savey, but me can tell what fashion he make look see. One talle man; no too muchee stout; hab got one nose all same that Mellican chickey."

Ambiguous.

A lady being asked her husband's occupation, said he was engaged in "finishing." It was subsequently ascertained that it was a term in the Penitentiary to which she had referred.

Too Kind.

A Poughkeepsie dry goods clerk, who last Summer saved from drowning the cook of a canal boat, has received a letter from her father, stating that "as ye saved the gal, she's yourn." The clerk demurs.

Song of the car conductor: "A heart bowed down by weight of 'whoa!'"

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

Every night the same state of things exists at this theatre, down-stairs and up-stairs thronged to suffocation. J. H. Milburn is the most original and versatile of character performers; Harry Stanwood the most amusing of banjoists; Fayette Welch the funniest of end men; Heywood is a perfect marvel of a vocalist, and Billy Emerson the veritable Black Prince of peaformers. "Sweet Cider" has proved a great hit, and the new programme is excellent throughout.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Miss Major Pauline Cushman appeared last night in the part of Carlo, who assumes the character of of Asmodeus in the play of that name, and made a dashing little devil as well as a very good-looking one, and was frequently applauded for the vim with which she played. She was well supported by James M. Hardie, Harry Colton, T. E. Jackson, Miss Fanny Young, and others of the Metropolitan Theatre company. The evening's entertainment ended with the petite comedy of "The Married Rake," and the Major's military experience served her in good stead in her impersonation of the gallant young Cornet Fitzherbert. James M. Hardie as Mr. Flighty was very amusing, Miss Fanny Young capital as Mrs. Flighty, and Miss Josie Langley was a bewitching little chambermaid and played the part of Susan Twist in the most piquante manner imaginable. To-morrow evening, Miss Cushman's benefit, and her last appearance but two.

California Theatre.

The comedy of "A Victim of Circumstances" as performed at the California Theatre by Charl s Wheatleigh, Miss Rose Evans, Henry Edwards, Mrs. Judah, Fred Franks, Miss Ella Wilton, Mrs. C. R. Saunders and others, is pronounced by all who have witnessed it the greatest treat in the dramatic line they have enjoyed for some time. To be followed by Mr. Charles Wheatleigh's great specialty, "The Debutante, or, A First Night," Achille Talma Bufard, Charles Wheatleigh.

Italian Opera.

To-night the beautiful opera of "Il Crispino e la Comare," always a favorite in San Francisco, will be performed for the benefit of the popular baritone, Signor Manousi. The occasion will be signalized by the debut in Italian opera of Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, a lady well and favorably known in musical circles in Marysville, who will undertake the role of Annetta. Signor Manousi will appear in his inimitable characterization of Il Crispino, and Signor Bianchi will take the role of Il Contino. The box office for the sale of reserved seats will be open this morning, and those who wish to be present will do well to make an early application as there is sure to be a very large and fashionable audience on this occasion.

Bella Union.

After a capital first part, an interlude is given in which Eugenia Gerretta appears in "Living Statues;" Maggie Knight in comic songs; Ella La Rue in banjo solos, and the really beautiful ballet of Robert le Diable by M'lle Gaugain, Carrie Chapman, Fanny Garreteon, Marie Zoel, Minnie Fillmore and a host of others appear. Other entainments are given, and the performance concludes with the attractive melodrama of "Jack Robinson."

Theatre Comique.

Kelly and Stewart are very amusing in "Sweet Cider;" Fanny Webster's sweet ballads are very popular; Miss Blanhoe is pleasing in fancy dances. Sally Thayer causes roars of laughter by her comic songs, and Mike Quinn, Frank Mortimer Ned Ward, and others are good in their respective specialties.

In Town.

Charles MacEvoy, the proprietor of the original MacEvoy's Hibernicon, which has acquired such fame in the Eastern States, and a pirated edition of which was shown here some time ago, has been in San Francisco a couple of weeks past. His panorama will arrive early in April and will be put on exhibition.

Robert Craig.

This popular comedian and character actor will arrive by the overland train this evening. He comes under engagement to Manager Bert of the Metropolitan Theatre, and will make his first appearance on Monday evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

A Stitch in Time.

A young lady, who made her debut in society some few years ago, had her trousseau made at the time, thinking some one might ask her in marriage, and if the trousseau were in readiness it would save time and bother. She is still in a state of single blessedness, and is afraid her articles are too old-fashioned to be of any use in the future. She now scoffs at the proverb about "the stitch in time."

The man who can be nothing but serious, or nothing but merry, is only half a man.

A comic illustrated political weekly is projected at Chicago.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Lever Buckle Suspenders,

At $1 per pair—25 per cent. cheaper than elsewhere. Jewelry Styles.

Silver Jewelry will be much worn for Summer toilettes, as it is light and airy looking; nothing could be more appropriate for the season with its gossamer costumes.

Some of these earrings and broaches in silver filagree work are dainty and delicate enough for a fairy's palace, and if they do not really enclose these aerial creatures, they cannot at least fail to lend a charm to beauties of more substantial mould.

For engagement rings, the sapphire and the ruby are now contesting the popularity of the diamond. The sapphire signifies love, and the ruby fidelity.

When gems are chosen and worn for their signification rather than for their value in gold, it is a sign of real taste and love for the beautiful.

Wedding rings are now made double, that is severed but still united—which style of ring is surely apropos to marriage.—Washington Critic.

Infantile Coquettes.

In Germany, maidens of eighteen play demurely with paper dolls; among us, girls in their tenth year sport with dolls of flesh and blood. As soon as they fairly escape from the swaddling bands of babyhood, and the mysteries of high chairs, rattles, and crackers and milk; long before pianofortes have become myths, and the nursery an infant Tartarus—our young misses imbibe with surprising aptitude the language of coquetry, and learn with wondrous rapidity to giggle, to ogle, and to leer.

Raising the Wind.

The costly and beautiful collection of fans belonging to the wife of Louis N. Bonaparte is offered for sale in London. Many of them are exquisitely painted by first-rate artists, and are richly adorned with precious stones Their sale would seem to indicate that Louis is in need of money, and that these toys are to be devoted to their legitimate purpose of raising the wind.

Pugnacious.

The Cape Cod folks are spouting about a whale recently seen there.

The Stylish Hat Store.

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. Go to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street (the second hat store below Kearny), and examine the large stock of the latest styles of hats. K

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff. and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

THE WATCH OF THE RED MR.

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

Wrinkled and brown as a bag of leather,
A squaw sits moaning long and low;
Yesterday she was a wife and mother,
To-day she is rocking her to and fro,
A childless widow, in weeds and woe.

An Indian sits in a rocky cavern,
Whetting a flint in an arrow head;
His children are moving as still as shadows,
His squaw is moulding some balls of lead,
With her round face painted the battle red.

An Indian sits in a black jack jungle,
Where a grizzly bear has reared her young,
Whetting a flint on a granite boulder,
And his quiver is over his brown back hung,
And his face is streak'd and his bow is strung.

An Indian hangs from a cliff of granite,
Like an eagle's nest built in the air,
Looking away to the east, and watching
The smoke of the cabins curling there,
And eagles feathers are in his hair.

In the belt of wampum, in battle fashion,
An Indian watches with wild desire:
He is red with paint he is black with passion,
And grand as a god in his savage ire,
As he leans and listens till stars are afire.

Sombre and sullen and sad, the chieftain
Looks from the mountain far into the sea;
Just before him beat in the white billows,
Just behind him the toppled tall tree,
And chopping of women, knee buckl'd to knee.

President and Stockholder.

Two newsboys, says the Commercial Bulletin, were standing before a cigar store, when one asked the other, "Have you got three cents?" "Yes." "Well, I have got two cents; give me your three cents, and I will buy a five center." "All right," says No. 2, handing out the money. No. 1 enters the store, procures the cigar, lights it, and puffs with a great deal of satisfaction. "Come now, give us a pull," says No. 2, "I furnished more than half the money!" "I know that," says the smoker, "But then I'm president, and you, being only a stockholder, you can spit."

San Francisco Gentlemen.

It is generally observed by Eastern visitors that San Francisco gentlemen are remarkably well dressed. Those most noted for their taste procure their shirts, cravats and underwear of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third streets, Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store). I

San Francisco Belles.

Restored.

Two very remarkable cases of spine complaint have come under our observation. The parties referred to—Mrs. E. A. Pereau and daughter, of Seventh street, Oakland. The former being afflicted with spinal complaint and dyspepsia, and the daughter with a weakness of the spinal column to wasting away of the system. Both are now enjoying very good health after a few months treatment by Dr. Darrin, the great magnetic healer, at 128 Kearny street. DG

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT EradicATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in that celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST results in the cure of all cases brought under his care The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

CHALLENCE

Emollient Ferruginous Soap!

THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.

Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.

The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

How To Retain A Good Face.

A correspondent has some good ideas on the importance of mental activity in retaining a good face. He says: "We were speaking of handsome men the other evening, and I was wondering why K. had so lost the beauty for which five years ago he was so famous. 'Oh, it's because he never did anything,' said B.; 'he never worked, thought or suffered. You must have the mind chiseling away at the features, if you want handsome middle-aged men." Since hearing that remark, I have been on the watch to see whether it is generally true—and it is. A handsome man, who does nothing but eat and drink, grows flabby, and the fine lines of his features are lost; but the hard thinker has an admirable sculptor at work, keeping his fine lines in repair, and constantly going over his face endeavoring to improve, if possible the original design.

Apt Illustration.

The New York Independent speaks with deserved censure of the untenable claim set up at Geneva for "consequential damages" by our Commissioners, and suggests the following illustration:

"A cow breaks into my garden. My wife takes up a stick, chases her, and falls, so as to break her leg. Is this and any other consequence of the mishap to be charged to the neighbor's cow? Suppose my wife got mad, and swore at the cow, and the Church disciplined her, is this also to be put to the cow's account?" Indeed, the principle of consequential damages seems to us so absurd that we do not care what our Government does in the matter.

"The Corner Stone."

This New York publication devoted to Masonry, Literature and theatrical news comes to us with a new head and otherwise improved. It is proud of its new head and apropos of it has the following: "Not requisite. To put another head on our "theatrical mirror" of 'Frisco, FIGARO, which has two already.

A Failure, Sure.

A young lady, says the New York Mail, is to make her appearance on the stage in a few months, and is said to be an actress of no common ability. She is the daughter of a clergyman, strange to say, and connected with one of our prominent families, and with considerable fortune also.

The Central Park of the Pacific.

Oakland has shown its enterprise in establishing a theatre and now one of the most beautiful pleasure gardens ever seen is to be opened there. For years past the grounds surrounding the residence of Captain Badger an old citizen of this State and well known in the mercantile marine circle and to business men generally, have been the admiration of all passers by. They front on Boston street and are partly in Oakland and partly in Brooklyn township. These grounds will be opened to the public on the 5th of April under the title of "Captain Badger's Grand Central Park." A magnificent skating pavilion has been built and numerous other attractions will be added from time to time. Among the attractions are a menagerie of rare animals, a gymnasium and others enumerated in an advertisement in another column. From its natural beauties developed by art, its advantageous situation and many attractions, the Central Park will probably be the spot chosen by the most fashionable associations of this city for their annual picnics. While it presents all the beauties of places farther in the country, and is really a rural retreat, it can be reached without the drawback of a long and wearisome ride by rail, the trip from San Francisco to this little paradise, situated in the garden county of Alameda, occupying only 40 minutes by boat and rail. Entertainments of various descriptions will be given. Kohler's famous concert band, comprising the celebrated cornet players, the Kohler Brothers, and the first musical talent of the city, is engaged for a series of open-air concerts and music for picnics,

Popular Fallacies.

That you can receive one dollar a day spend two and get rich.

That to do a man a favor and then refuse another won't make him twice as mad as if you had refused him the first.

That when a man presents you with a hound pup that the gift will cost you nothing.

That when you buy on credit, knowing very well you can't be able to pay, it is not stealing.

That next year the taxes are to be lighter.

That every other man is bound to die except you.

That if you have a good cause in love, war or law—pitch in—you are bound to win.

That when you buy a horse he will be certain to turn out as represented.

That if you always say what you think, you will win the regard of the entire community.

A Youthful Barnum.

We take the following from the Virginia City Enterprise of March 6th: "An ingenious youth of some nine seasons, to whom is sometimes intrusted the care of a younger brother, yesterday led his youthful charge to a paint shop and proceeded to decorate him according to his idea of a Sioux brave as he should be. He then exhibited his work of art upon the street as the infant son of Spotted Tail, and succeeded in attracting an admiring audience wherever he appeared with his show. A neighbor to the new Spotted Tail Family happening along, put an end to the performance and hustled the whole menagerie off home. The youthful showman then had an interview with his mother, since which time he looks for a cushioned chair when about to seat himself.

"Superior," is the favorite Boston feminine word of commendation, and is applied equally to a bonnet or a sermon; a painting or a pie.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. I

Society Journals.

The Washington Critic says:—Society journals do not prosper. Our Society, the chief of them all, has had a precarious existence. It did well for awhile, but the nobodies who at first were delighted with the appearance of their names in print soon tired of that novelty, and withdrew their support. Those who moved in high society objected to such publications, and it received no encouragement from them. From time to time various disclosures were made which caused strange suspicions as to the kind of society some of the attaches of the journal took most kindly to, and the paper suffered in consequence. It joined its fortunes after many changes of management, with those of the Season, but the partnership was of short duration, and Our Society is again "paddling its own canoe." It will buffet the waves awhile yet, but must ere long meet with a perfectly natural fate.

Unkind Cuts.

Bauseman's play of "Early California" had a few hundred pages of fine writing cut out of it before it was produced at the Metropolitan Theatre in this city, and it was treated in the same unmerciful manner in Sacramento, it seems from the following which we clip from the Bee:

"Early California" was played last night for the last time. Bausman who wrote a drama called "Early California," was present, but the "Early California" that he witnessed was so spare of the good fat literary capon with which he had lined it, that he didn't recognize it as his first born.

Genius.

Genius, like a lark, is very apt to despise its post upon the earth, and wastes its time in fluttering and quavering among the clouds; but common sense is the humble fowl which picks up the barley corns and fattens at leisure.

The U. P. is open but uncertain.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up MRS. E. SHLOSS's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The comedy of "A Victim of Circumstances," of which we have spoken in terms of high praise as being one of the best plays produced in a long time, will be presented again to-night. "Stocks" has been removed, and the play of "The Debutante," in which Charles Wheatleigh appears in one of his very best impersonations—that of Achille Dufard—is presented in its stead, to the general satisfaction of the public. The usual matinee performance will be given to morrow.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night is the last night but two of the engagement of Miss Major Pauline Cushman, and is set apart for her benefit. She will present the comic drama of "Asmodeus," and the petite comedy of "The Married Rake," which gave such general satisfaction on Wednesday evening. Major Cushman will on this occasion appear in full officer's uniform, and if called on for a speech will doubtless comply with the request. There will be a matinee to-morrow, and in the evening a new Irish drama will be presented in honor of St. Patrick's Eve.

Alhambra Theatre.

Every feature in the programme presented at this popular theatre is so good that it is hard to particularize one as being better than the other. The music, under the direction of Geo. Evans, is delightful; Harry Norman's fine voice is heard to advantage in the sentimental ballads in the first part, and Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch on the ends keep the audience in a roar of laughter by comic songs and jokes. J. H. Milburn is so original that the public cannot weary of him; Harry Stanwood has some new funny story every night, and plays the banjo like an angel would if angels ever played banjos; Heywood's beautiful voice is admired by everyone, and the programme is excellent. The Reynolds Brothers appear in "Sweet Cider" with Emerson and Welch, and also in an original song and dance. The full programme as performed in the evening will be presented at the matinee to-morrow.

Italian Opera.

Signor Mancusi had a splendid benefit last night at the Metropolitan Theatre, the house being thronged by one of the most fashionable audiences of the season. The opera given was "Crispino e la Comare." In Crispino Signor Mancusi is heard and seen to immense advantage, the music suits his voice, and his acting is capital, he received great applause last night. Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, who made her first appearance in Italian opera on this occasion in the role of Annetta made one of the most successful debuts ever known in the history of the lyric drama. The debutante has many natural advantages, a full sweet voice—not very powerful but sufficiently so for the role she assumed—a sweetly expressive face, graceful carriage and is above all a born actress. These are great advantages but would not be enough of themselves to secure the success of a debutante in Italian opera. Miss Wadsworth's success is largely owing to the fact that she worked hard and patiently and rehearsed her part until she knew it perfectly and when she appeared she trod the stage as an artiste in that role, mistress of the situation, instead of depending on a pretty face and sweet voice to "carry her through." The audience appreciated this at once and a tremendous burst of applause—honestly earned applause—followed the canzonet which Annetta sings on making her appearance on the stage, and similar tokens of appreciation and showers of bouquets were lavishly bestowed on her throughout the opera. Signor Mancusi was in excellent voice and sang and acted splendidly; he was ably supported by Mons. Charles and Signor Roncovieri, and the quartette in the third act was enthusiastically eccored. Signor Bianchi was very good as Contino del Fiore, singing and acting with even more than usual spirit. Mrs. Geo. T. Evans sang the role of La Comare very faithfully. The opera was very smoothly rendered throughout. Ernest Reiter, the conductor, kept the orchestra well in hand, and worked like a Trojan to ensure the success of the opera, which, in consequence of his efforts, and those of all engaged in its representation, was one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Bella Union.

The stirring melodrama of "Jack Robinson," which proved so popular during the week, will be played for the last time to night, as an entirely new bill will be presented on Saturday night. It will be preceeded by a capital first part, and an interlude comprising the beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable," with M'lle Marie Gaugain as Leonora, Miss Carrie Chapman as Robert, and twelve other characters by the ladies and gentlemen of the company; a variety of negro acts, comic and sentimental songs, banjo solos by Ella La Rue, and other performances specified on our first page.

Theatre Comique.

Mike Quinn and his banjo keep the audience in hearty good humor; Frank Mortimer is very clever in character songs; Fanny Webster and Sally Thayer are old favorites; Ned Ward is very amusing in his Dutch specialties, Kelly and Stuart are capital dancers, and company and programme suit the public well. A new bill will be presented on Saturday night for a St. Patrick's Eve entertainment.

M'lle Aimee.

Maurice Grau, agent of M'lle Aimee, the famous opera bouffe artiste, left New York last evening for San Francisco to make arrangements for season in this city.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Stage Novelties.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the Washington Critic says:

I notice that the Black Crook, as performed at Niblo's, in New York, possesses several novel features—among these is an enflated elephant, appearing as large as life, formed of the thinnest rubber and as light as a feather—which is balanced on the little finger of one of the performers. The snake dance is a fearful spectacle. Sarzi, a young danseuse of rare beauty, each evening appeared with a live anaconda entwined around her neck. The reptile has of course had its fangs removed and is heavily drugged before being removed from its box—but the idea is so horrible and the dread of a sudden recovery so imminent in the mind of Sarzi that, while she is apparently perfectly calm and composed while performing her graceful evolutions, she is said to swoon as soon as she retires from the audience. Such demonstation should be prohibited by law, as well as the trapeze and the introduction of wild beasts, but our people are fond of excitement, and often delight in having their feelings wrought up to the eighest pitch of intensity, even at the risk of the lives of the performers.

This is a very pretty yarn about Sarzi fainting! By the by the snake with which this Sarzi, danseuse, first appeared, has just died, so it appears that it was in more danger than she was. She appears now with a new snake which wears a muzzle.

Important Decision.

The Supreme Court of Maine has finally decided that an oyster is a fish. We hope this will be an extinguisher upon those wretched controversalists who have hitherto declared that an oyster is a bird, and to the other idiots who have hitherto declared that it is allied to the tomato family, or is identical with cheese, or who have traced a resemblance to the monkey-wrench or persisted that the oyster and the goat have much in common. This decision also smashes into flinders that absurd declaration of Agassiz that the oyster is a marine acephalous mollusk of the lamellibranchiate order. For it is not; it is a fish.

A New Industry.

A new branch of American industry has been developed in Augusta, Me. You first find out where your room-mate's parents live and then telegraph them that he died in a fit, and that you will mail the body on receipt of $15. A photograph taken of the the youth laid out for burial adds to the effectiveness of the dodge.

They don't keep any whisky for sale in Greeley, Colorado, but they have a medicine for rattlesnake bites, which is quite as good, and it has a very large sale.

The Stylish Hat Store.

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. Go to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street (the second hat store below Kearny), and examine the large stock of the latest styles of hats. E

What Cheer Laundry

Is the best laundry in San Francisco

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 837 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarta's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

Select Employment Office.

It is a well-known fact that Haste & Paddock are doing the largest Employment Business in this city, and the secret of their succe lies in their prompt attention to the requirements of their Applicants. The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. E

AFRAID.

BY HOWARD GLYNDON.

After singing, silence: after roses, thorns;
All the blackest midnights built o'er golden morns;
After flowering, fading; bitter after sweet;
Yellow, withered stubble, after waving wheat.

After green, the dropping of the shriveled leaf,
Like the sudden lopping of some dear belief;
After gurgling waters, dry, unsightly beds;
After exaltation, lowly-hanging heads.

So I shrink and shiver at your proffered kiss,
Knowing pain must follow on the heel of bliss
Knowing loss must find me sleeping on your [illegible]
Leave me while you love me— this is surely best;

—Like a blushless flower left upon its stem,
Sweetening the thickness of the forest's hem;
Like a hidden fountain never touched of lips;
Like an unknown ocean, never sailed by ships—

Thus I shall be fairer to your untried thought,
Than if all my living into yours were wrought.
Hearts' dreams are the sweetest in a lonely nest
Leave me while you love me—this is surely best

—Appleton's Journal.

Sole Prints.

This is good on a much-abused word. It is from the Boston Post: "An Augusta, Ga. ghost wears No. 10 shoes. The most incredulous scoffer must acknowledge that here is an unquestionable instance of a sole revisiting the earth."

A rose bush trained on one of the walls of the Cathedral of Hildesheim, in Germany, has a stem a foot thick; half a dozen of its branches cover the entire side of the church; its age is unknown, but documents exist proving it to have been there nearly 1,000 years ago.

A disgusted female says;— "No women indulge in the dirty habit of wearing trains in the street but those whose pedal extremities cover a large amount of real estate."

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. San Francisco Gentlemen.

It is generally observed by Eastern visitors that San Francisco gentlemen are remarkably well dressed. Those most noted for their taste procure their shirts, cravats and underwear of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third streets, Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store). I

San Fancisco Belles.

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,
Challenge Soap Co.,

The Legislature.

The Sacramento Union has the following flattering description of "the assembled wisdom of the State," and their doings: "Not one speech has been delivered or written this session which deserves to be remembered a week." It further says:

Some of these insulting egotists are worn-out miners, indolent mechanics too lazy to work for a living, or small lawyers who have read up in their profession just enough to know that it is easier to make sophistry succeed in politics than before a learned court, or cross-road politicians, or persons who sought the office for the money they thought was in it. No king in practice ever showed a greater contempt for his subjects than these creatures have declared by voice and vote for the people who set them up as law-makers. It would be dishonoring common intelligence to search for motives in the cases of most of them. Cowardice and natural servility of mind are too plainly the ruling motive in most cases. In some, we fear, still worse ones.

Checking Enterprise.

The boys of Canada do not fall far behind their Yankee neighbors in enterprise and business capacity. A company of juveniles in Toronto have carried on a profitable business for some time by capturing dogs on the street and restoring them to their owners when liberal rewards could be obtained for so doing. They have kept a yard in which they had thirty or forty canine prisoners all the time. Their establishment having been discovered, the authorities of the city, who are evidently old fogies, have broken it up, to the great discouragement of enterprise in the rising generation.

A Confirmed Reprobate.

A pious but uneducated Judge closed a sentence with the following touching reproach: "Prisoner at the bar, nature has endowed you with a good education and respectable family connections, instead of which you go prowling around the country stealing ducks."

St. Patrick's Day.

Our fellow-citizens of Irish birth, are jubilant over the fact that all public offices Post-office, Custom House, Mint, etc., will be closed on the 17th. All the stores will be closed, also because it's St. Patrick's Day and because—because—it's Sunday.

Too Popular.

Richard Lovell Edgeworth said to his daughter one day, "Maria, I am growing dreadfully popular; a man cannot be good for anything who is very popular."

The Washington Star announces that all the little girls in Philadelphia are having their dolls vaccinated.

For the past week the town has been flooded with cards and pieces of paper bearing on them the single word "Jukes." They were everywhere, in the saloons, in the theatres, and even in the Churches. Of course everyone was puzzled. All knew it must be intended to advertise something or somebody, but what or who? This was the question. The majority of people decided that these cards were issued by the spirited management of the Metropolitan Theatre and that "Jukes" was the name of the first character in which Robert Craig was to make his appearance. Others said "Jukes" was the name of another new play by Col. W. H. L. Barnes, but none guessed right. Now the mystery is explained and "Jukes" are for sale at all the drug stores, cigar stores, and variety stores in the city. "Jukes are diminutive squares of black aromatic paste highly recommended by the London doctors for the use of singers and public speakers and also used to destroy the smell of tobacco and liquors, and renders the breath sweet. "Jukes" have been so cleverly introduced and are really so desirable in many cases that they are sure to find a ready sale.

Advice to Husbands.

Settle as much money upon your wife as you can, for her second husband, poor fellow! may not have a sixpence.

Unlikely.

Mr. Bierce has been elected President of the Colorado Agricultural Society, says a Denver (Col.) exchange. This accounts for the valedictory of the Town-crier last week. We would rather think, from his long association with the News Letter, that it was a narrow Gauge Railroad Company or a Beet Sugar Factory that he was about to become President of—particularly as the perquisities of the two latter would not be inconsiderable.

News from Abroad.

The following from a New York paper will be news to a good many people in San Francisco, but it may afford a hint to some enterprising female out of employment. Such an establishment as that described would pay for a time:

A woman in San Francisco has opened a billiard saloon. The room is handsomely fitted up and the tables, ten in number, are of the Phelan and Collender make. The markers and bartenders are also women, and the establishment boasts a large patronage. The proprietress is young and pretty and handles the cue deftly herself.

Who Ganymede Was.

One of the jury in a recent criminal case in New Orleans was the proprietor of a beer saloon. The counsel in the case was describing to them the character of Ganymede. The saloon keeper was very much interested and listened attentively. His earnestness caused the counsel to ask, "Do you understand me?" "O yee," said the juryman, "Ganymede was a sort of beer-jerker."

A Boozy Boston Boy.

Good, virtuous Boston does all that could reasonably be expected to induce her children to walk the path of purity, but naturally they seem a very depraved set, and in spite of all her efforts they are about as badly behaved as other folks. A small boy about four years old was picked up in the street there the other day in a state of intoxication worthy of a full-grown and well trained man.

The projector of a new paper at Atlanta, Ga., having declared that he will "condemn the wrong and applaud the right," the Era says the task will keep him about as busy as a school boy with a hornet in his trousers.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Place to Buy.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. X

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. H

An exchange thus describes the editor of the Tribune: "Mr. Greeley has a style, if he is phrenologically a failure. To see him walk is not to realize the poefry of motion; but to see him bow is to be won at sight. He hitches up his little nose, he opens with a partial smile his pleasant mouth, he pokes his head a little one side, he gives a preliminary flop with his hand, and in the dear, childlike way of the infant orator, jerks his polished old head and makes a bow. I deny his worst enemy to whom he makes that bow to accuse him of anything wherein there is guile. He is as innocent as a Saddle Rock oyster. He puts on no airs; he blows his nose mildly in a red silk handkerchief, and begins to talk naturally and unaffectedly. The cheers of the public, with whom he is a great favorite, fall unnoticed upon his ears."

No Doubt of It.

A lot of wealthy New York epicures have chartered a vessel for the purpose of keeping her cruising about in the tropics with a cargo of wine, which she is to carry there for a year to improve its character, both from the effects of the temperature and the motion. It will be port wine after she gets back into the harbor.

Very Pretty.

The Oakland News says: "Brandreta's pill factory at Sing Sing was totally destroyed by fire February 26th." We suppose from this that Brandreth has been appearing in opera and has Italianized his name. "Brandreta" sounds well.

Strong Argument.

The Lafayette Courier, defending its railroad route map from the attacks of the Indianapolis papers, loftily answers that Lafayette is "nearer the coal fields, nearer the ore, and nearer Heaven" than the other place (meaning Indianapolis.)

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started The Bivalve oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became the fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. Spreen is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. The Bivalve is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shloss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 Kearny street. BI

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—A St. Patrick's Eve entertainment has been prepared for to-night at this theatre. A new Irish drama entitled "St. Patrick's Eve; or, Kathleen Mavourneen," will be presented with Miss Major Pauline Cushman as Kathleen; James M. Hardie as Terence O'Moore; Miss Maggie Moore as Kitty O'Lavery; Samuel Piercy as Black Rody; T. E. Jackson as Bill Button Cap, and the other parts in good hands. The performance will conclude with the petite comedy of "The Married Rake." To-night is the last but one of the engagement of Miss Pauline Cushman. There will be a grand matinee performance to-day. On Monday, Robert Craig the popular actor from Boston, will make his first appearance.

THE ALHAMBRA.—Those who would not miss any of the fun presented by the splendid band of minstrels performing at the Alhambra Theatre should visit this popular place at least once a week, for change is the order of the night, and Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Fayette Welch, Harry Stanwood and Heywood present new songs, new dance, new character acts, new jokes and new ballads in such rapid succession that the variety is unceasing. The fine programme which has thronged the Alhambra to overflowing every night of the present week will be presented at the matinee to-day, this evening, and for the last time to-morrow evening. On Monday evening, Miss Milburn, protean artiste and character vocalist of the same style as J. H., only prettier, will make her first appearance, and an entirely new programme will be presented.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—A great bill will be presented to-night, no less than three pieces constituting the evening's amusement. The sparkling comedy of "A Victim of Circumstances," which has given such general satisfaction, will be played and will be followed by the comedietta of "The Debutante," and the roaring farce entitled "Paddy's Mischief." The usual Saturday's matinee will be given to-day. "On the Jury" will be presented on Monday. The plot of this play, which was put in type for our present issue, has been crowded out by the pressure of new advertisements, will then appear.

BELLA UNION.—Extraordinary attractions are offered at this theatre to-night. Everyone has seen burlesques of "The Forty Thieves," but the production of the original drama will be a novelty. It will be presented to-night in fine style. Previous to this there will be a grand tight rope ascension from the back of the stage to the top of the boxes by Miss Ella La Rue, who is famous as a rope-walker all through the United States; the beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable" by M'lle Marie Gaugain, Miss Carrie Chapman, and corps de ballet will be presented again; Miss Fanny Garretson and Miss Minnie Fillmore will sing sweet ballads; Miss Marie Zoel will present a neat little clog dance; Chris. Mathews will appear in song and dance, and altogether a great Saturday night bill will be given.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—A great St. Patrick's Eve entertainment will be given at the Theatre Comique to-night, and many celebrating the eve of the festival of their patron saint will drop into this home of mirth and minstrelsy to be amused by Mike Quinn and his banjo, laugh at the comic songs of Sally Thayer; enjoy ten minutes with Frank Mortimer, the character vocalist, and pleased by the various acts, songs and dances presented by Ned Ward, Carrie Willis, Miss Blanche, Kelly and Stuart, and others.

ROBERT CRAIG.—On Monday this eccentric comedian, character actor and burlesque artiste, who has a brilliant record at the Arch street Theatre, Philadelphia, Boston Museum, and other Eastern Theatres, will commence an engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre, in a bill in which he made his last appearance in Boston, and which was spoken of in the highest terms by the press of that city. It consists of the farce of "The Widow's Victim" in which Mr. Craig's imitations of Barney Williams, James Wallack, and the late Charles Dickens, are said to be perfectly marvellous. In the burlesque we hear of Mr. Craig as the rival of A'Beckett, Hall, and Bishop. The burlesque of "Don Juan" localized to suit this community, will be placed in rehearsal at once. A season of comedy and burlesque will be most acceptable to the patrons of the Metropolitan Theatre after the sensational dramas which have formed the staple entertainment for some time past.

PACIFIC HALL.—The Demosthenic Literary Society will give an entertainment at Pacific Hall on Tuesday evening, March 19th, for the benefit of their Literary Fund. Joaquin Miller will deliver his last lecture prior to his departure for Europe, and a musical entertainment will be given by M'lle Helen C. Dingeon, M'lle C. M. Chevallier, Mr. Charles W. Dungan and Mr. Augustus Wells.

BILLIARD MATCH.—A grand contest for the Silver cue, $500 and the championship of the Pacific Coast, will take place between John F. B. McCleery, present champion, and Wm. W. Wait, at Platt's Hall on Thursday evening, March 21st. The contestants have daily practice games at Jacob Strahle & Co's warerooms on Market street, and much interest is felt in the coming match.

UPRISING OF THE PEOPLE.—To-night the people of San Francisco will meet in solemn conclave at Platt's Hall to indignantly protest against the outrage threatened to be perpetrated on them by the Federal Government in giving the Central Pacific Railroad Company possession of Goat Island. Stands will be erected outside the hall for extra speakers.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—This evening performance and skating. On Sunday grand equestrian and trained dog and monkey performance. A trained buffalo will also appear. A musk deer is on exhibition. Skating and grand concert. Last Sunday over 8,000 people visited this popular place.

MORE TALENT.—Manager McCullough will return on Sunday, the 24th. He has not been idle during his short stay in the East. He has engaged the famous Majilton Troupe and Signora Ventura, premiere danseuse, whom he will introduce in a spectacular play after Lent is over.

CLIFF HOUSE.—The Summer has fairly commenced and the bright sunny days we are enjoying will send everyone out on the road to the Cliff House, where they will find the best of cheer provided by Captain Foster, the most genial of hosts.

M'LLE AIMEE, THE OPERA BOUFFE PRIMA DONNA.—Maurice Grau, agent of M'lle Aimee, the famous opera bouffe artiste, left New York on Thursday evening for San Francisco to make ar-

TOUR OF THE EMERSON MINSTRELS.—On the 26th of May the splendid company at present playing at the Alhambra Theatre, under the title of "The Emerson Minstrels" will close their performances and will go East to make a tour of all the principal States of the Union, bringing up finally in New York; where Thomas Maguire has engaged Lina Edwin's Theatre, in which they will play a season. We anticipate that their tour will be one constant succession of triumphs, and shall be glad to chronicle their success. With such a company there is no fear of "the Napoleon of the Stage" finding a Moscow in any city, and "The Emerson Minstrels" will in New York prove formidable rivals to the San Francisco Minstrels, though New York is of course large enough for both. The public of San Francisco need not fear that they will be left without due provision for their amusement during the absence of their favorite troupe, for Mr. Maguire has arranged to supply their place with a variety company from Philadelphia made up of the very cream of the profession, who will appear at the Alhambra on the 27th of May.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York amusements continue much the same as at our latest dates received last Saturday. Mrs. John Wood at Niblo's in "La Belle Sauvage;" the Worrell Sisters at the Theatre Comique; "Divorce" at Fifth-avenue; "Humpty Dumpty" at the Olympic; "The Veteran" at Wallack's; Julius Cesar at Booth's; Jule Kent has joined the New York Circus; Kelly and Leon arrived on the 1st; "Buffalo Bill" runs at the Bowery "Lalla Rookh" at Grand Opera House on the 11th.

We have Chicago dates up to the 8th. Oliver Doud Byron was playing in "Across the Continent" at the Academy of Music. Ole Bull gave concerts on the 6th and 7th. "John Garth" was running at the Globe, and Arlington's Minstrels were playing a sketch entitled "After the War" at the West Side Opera House.

In Boston, "Magnolia," a scenic spectacle was running at the Museum. Little Nell in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was followed at the St. James' by Miss Caroline Richings in "The Enchantress." The Black Crook with original scenery from Niblos Garden, New York, and the company, was produced at the Boston Theatre on the 4th. The Howard Athenæum has the "Black Rook," with Hughy Dougherty, James Collins, and others.

The Washington Critic of the 4th, says:

Mozart's grand opera of the "Marriage of Figaro" will be the initial performance by the Parepa-Rosa Troupe at the National Theatre this evening. The season of six nights will no doubt be eminently successful, as it is some months since our people have had an opportunity of listening to such delightful music. Santley is among the additions to this superior troupe, and "Zampa" and the "Water-Carrier," two new operas that will be produced during the engagement.

We shall probably have Parepa Rosa in San Francisco during the Summer season, and hope she will bring Santley with her. She may, if our rich people will engage to pay for the two first rows of seats a little more than they do for admission to a circus.

M'lle Aimee opened at New Orleans on the 26th of February, in "La Perichole," in which she created as great a sensation as she aroused in New York and Boston. During the week she also performed in "Barbe Bleue," "La Grande Duchesse," and "Fleur de The."

At the Varieties Theatre, New Orleans, Miss Fanny Davenport commenced her second week in the role of Fanny Ten Eyck, in Mr. Daly's drama of "Divorce," supported by Mr. George Clarke as Alfred Adriance, and Stuart Robson as Templeton Jitt.

Col. Wood, proprietor of the Globe Theatre, at Chicago, has sued Mr. Wachtel's agent for $10,000 for breach of contract.

Miss Charlotte Cushman is to read a poem in Boston soon, which is being translated for her by the poet Longfellow. It will have a musical accompaniment, performed by an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Carl Zerrahn.

At the St. Charles Theatre Mr. J. W. Wallack made his first appearance in New Orleans since the war in his great character of Leon de Bourbon, in "The Man with the Iron Mask."

Caroline Richings has been a great success with H. Drayton, in musical dramas. Through her agent, Col. Brown, she has been kept playing engagements since the 1st of January, and her time is all filled up to the middle of April. She opened in Boston on the 4th, thence she goes to Chicago, and will propably come to San Francisco during the Summer

One of the New York papers describes the apartments of Kate Santley, of Niblo's. She is said to live in Thompson street, in the same rooms once occupied and furnished by Louisa Moore and husband. They are exceedingly rich, and the paintings are expensive. A $1,200 piano and a $500 music box are part of the furniture. Three poodles and a maid servant, who is cook, hairdresser and chaperon, comprise the young lady's family. Among her visiting admirers a rich young fellow from Brooklyn, a newspaper man and an Englishman, are quoted. The latter is said to have followed her from England. Miss Santley is spoken of as a varied linguist, a good talker, and a woman of the world.

Sothern was in Baltimore on the 26th, drawing splendidly at Ford's Opera House as Dundreary, and was to do "David Garrick" the following week.....At the Holliday, "Not Guilty," with stock, including additions of C. R. Bishop, Chas. Rogers and Olivia Rand, to good business.

Watts Phillipe's "On the Jury" was produced for the first time in America on the 4th, at the Walnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia.

A New York paper says:

"Rebecca," dramatized by J. W. McCloskey and W. Wallace Austin, will shortly be produced either in this city or Brooklyn, with brilliant effects. They will include those displayed during the late long run of another version at Drury Lane, London, together with others entirely new. Horses and the tilting of knights on the stage will be introduced on the stage, as in London.

That means, we suppose, that the points of the English dramatists have been pirated and his dialogue translated into McCloskey English, which is none of the best. Better have sent for the original and paid for it.

Messrs. Painter and Durand have finished their tour in South America, and are once more in the United States. They and Zadie Zelmar were announced to appear at the Baltimore Opera House on the 4th. Otto Burbank and other old Californians are at this house.

Ella Wesner now makes Charles Vivian's "One Thousand Miles Away" a feature in her programme.

The Hyers Sisters sang at a fair in Providence, R. I., on Feb. 28th and 29th.

The fifth anniversary of the marriage of Carl Rosa to Mme. Parepa was celebrated at the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, on the evening of the 26th ult.

McKean Buchanan is announced as almost hopelessly ill, and has indefinitely postponed showing.

The New York Dispatch of the 3d, speaking of the Thirty-fourth Street Theatre, has the following about a California favorite:

To-morrow evening the very popular favorite, Mr. Lew Rattler, will make his first appearance. This gentleman's merits have already been detailed at length in these columns during his connection with other places of amusement in this city, and there is little fear of his failing to secure the appreciation of the patrons of the new theatre. He is a very good negro comedian, entirely free from vulgarity or coarseness, and possesses very extended powers of mimicry. His imitations of popular actors are very amusing, and there are few in the profession better able to successfully entertain an audience.

The New York Mercury has the following concerning musical arrangements for next year:

Max Maretzek and Henry Jarrett, the present confidential agent of Miss Nilsson, have leased the Academy, in this city, for a year from next September, and will present Pauline Lucca as their operatic star. They have also engaged Arabel a Goddard, the noted pianist, for concertizing. The husband of the former is Baron Von Raden, a noted banker of Berlin, and that of the latter is J. W. Davison, musical critic of the London Times and the London Musical World. Max Strakosch will concertize Carlotta Patti through the country soon after the departure of Nilsson and the company for Europe in the Spring.

Tamberlik, the tenor, is to visit this country next fall, under De Vivo.

Joe Murphy opened at Seventh-street Theatre, Philadelphia, March 4th, having been unable through sickness to open Feb. 26th.

At Fox's American Theatre, Philadelphia, Miss Annie Adams is the star. A correspondent of a New York paper says:

Her new songs hit the taste of the public exactly, her chorus scene of "Koup la Ahh," which is, with her wonderfully spirited rendering, the most exciting, fascinating and sensational piece of vocalism acting of the kind ever enjoyed there. Imitation is said to be the sincerest flattery. In this respect Miss Adams is flattered hugely, for her would-be imitators are legion, most notably of her original song, "When the Band Begins to Play." The favorite song has been heard or heard of nearly everywere. It forms a staple of polkas and quadrilles as well as of variety theatres, and is hummed in every street, and sold at every music warehouse in the country. It is also now figuring in the form of an injunction in the law courts, Jennie Engel, who had been singing Miss Adam's songs at this establishment, ceased her engagement on the 17th, after two weeks, although she was to have remained four weeks. Miss Adams advertises that she sings solely her own compositions, which are all copyrighted.

We shall probably have the pleasure of hearing Miss Adams in San Francisco during the Summer.

Maryland Fire King at Comique, Baltimore, Feb. 26th. Apparently eats fire and handles it without injury. Ella Wesner, Blanche Stanley, Belle Celeste on arial trapeze, and Charles Mathews, acrobat, opened same date.

Jean Hosmer is giving costume lectures in Iowa. She announces herself as the niece of Stokes who killed Fisk, and consequently excites curiosity. She is reported to have have said she would make sufficient money by her lectures to defray the expenses of her uncle's trial.

We hope she'll die.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he has determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, and spend a year among its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the past previous his practice as a SPECIALIST resulted in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

CHALLENGE

Emollient Ferruginous Soap!

THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the skin.

Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.

The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In London, at Covent Garden the pantomime season closed on Feb 27.....At the Pavilion the pantomime had been withdrawn and "A Quarter of a Million of Money" had been revived.....At the Adelphi Charles Fechter is announced to play an engagement of twenty-four nights' duration, but the date of his first appearance is not given.....At the Strand, "Meg's Diversion" had been produced.....At the Court a new farce entitled "Browne the Martyr" had been produced.....At Sadler's Wells, Miss Marriott was announced to commence a twelve nights engagement on March 4th .....The Royalty was to have been reopened Feb. 26th, under the management of W. H. O. Nation, with "Greenleaf the Graceful; or the Palace of Vengeance," as the opening piece.

A jubilee is to be celebrated in Russia this year in honor of Peter the Great. It will be universal throughout the Empire, and preparations are being already made at St. Petersburgh. The French company there have in rehearsal for the occasion a new piece by Belmontet entitled "Pierre le Grand."

Madame Patti is about to sing at Vienna, with M. Morelli's company from St. Petersburg, consisting, beside herself, of MM. Nicolin, Graziana, Mariana, and Zucchini, with Arditi as the conductor of the orchestra. She is to receive $1,000 for each performance.

The violinist, Vieuxtemps, has been playing at Verviers, in Belgium. After a grand concert to the most distinguished society in the town, he gave the next day a morning entertainment to the workingmen of the town at low prices, and the hall was crowded to excess.

Madame Patey and Edith Wynne, of the late Dolby Troupe, sang at one of the London ballad concerts, Feb. 8th, after their return from this country, and are now concertizing in the Provinces. Arthur Chappell of London was the speculator who sent Dolby over here with the troupe. He lost over $25,000 by his venture.

Celine Montaland, of opera bouffe fame, is playing Cephise, in the Wandering Jew, at the Chatalet Theatre, Paris.

The Gymnase Theatre, of Marseilles, lately produced a piece called "The Siege of Paris," which obtained a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams have left Nice for Rome and Naples. They will probably return to Paris in the Summer. Mr. Williams has considerably improved in health.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Miss Dean, Chas. Vincent and a variety comprising Edgar and Ethel Stanley and some dozen of others, opened at Piper's Opera House on Thursday evening of last week to a $600 house, and since then have been doing a good business. Miss Maggie Knight, the juvenile character vocalist, will join the company next week.

OAKLAND.—The Oakland Theatre is not flourishing. On Monday, "Gertrude" and "Nan, the Good-for-Nothing," were performed to a very moderate house. On Wednesday, "The Rough Diamond" and "The Swiss Cottage" were played. A matinee is announced for to-day, and another performance this evening. Sig. Bianchi's Italian Opera Troupe are advertised to give "Il Trovatore" on Tuesday of next week, and a subscription has been raised. Miss McKenzie, of this city, will appear as Leonora. F. M. Campbell had a complimentary benefit—readings, tableaux, music, etc., at Brayton's Hall last night. A. C. Garrett lectures on "Darwin's Descent of Man" at Brayton Hall on Thursday. Captain Badger will shortly open his beautiful gardens to the public, under the title of the Grand Central Park.

SALT LAKE.—Theatre closed for the Winter season.

YREKA.—Mrs. E. Carroll, who has established a singing school, is to give a concert at Turn Verein Hall on Tuesday, the 19th inst.

VALLEJO.—Farragut Hall, says the Vallejo Chronicle, is having a new stage and scenery put in. The stage will be 36 feet deep from the foot-lights, and 47 feet from wall to wall. The flats, comprising sixteen sets, are 14x22 feet.

PLACERVILLE.—The Philharmonic Society, under the direction of A. L. Frost, will give a concert for the benefit of Confidence Engine Co., No. 1, at their Pavilion, on March 19th. Miss Carrie Moore the roller skater, gave an exhibition at Sierra Hall on Monday evening.

SACRAMENTO.—The business for the week at the Metropolitan Theatre with Proctor's company has been as follows: Monday, benefit of W. J. Coggswell, "Captain Kyd," and farce of the "Mysterious Baby;" Tuesday, "Captain Kyd," Charley Rhodes in song "The Days of '49," and farce; Wednesday "East Lynn," and Charley Rhodes; Thursday, benefit of Walter Leman, when he appeared as Sir John Falstaff in "Henry IV.;" this evening is set apart for the benefit of W. C. Crosbie, "Irish Honesty," "Buried Alive," and "The two Indians" are the star lines on the bill for the occasion.

SAN JOSE.—The Guide now merged into the Mercury utters the following pitiful moan over no amusements:

A few irresponsible managers in San Francisco who have favored San Jose with visits, bringing with them one-horse shows, and leaving without paying their bills, are prejudicing theatrical people in San Francisco, against our city, and one reason why we have not been favored more this Winter in the line of amusements, is on that account.

Get up that subscription for an opera season and we will give you credit for appreciation of good entertainments, and send you a dramatic company

RENO.—The Reno Minstrels gave a show lately but they were horribly drunk, as the Crescent says, and won't perform again.

MARYSVILLE.—The Star Minstrels (amateurs), are to give an entertainment at the theatre this evening. The German amateurs will perform shortly.

OMAHA, NEV.—The Nathan Troupe gave two performances at Simpson's Hall on the 1st and 2d.

DENVER, COL.—Purdy, Scott & Fostelle's Minstrels performed six nights at Cutler's Hall closing on the 9th. The Cricket Varieties was open with Miss Ettie Barker, Add Weaver and others.

NEVADA.—The Grass Valley Minstrels performed at the theatre on Thursday.

PORTLAND, O.—G. B. Waldron's dramatic company produced "The Pearl of Savoy" on the 16th. Business has been pretty good. Professor McGibany has been producing the operetta of Laila at the Congregational Church without taking out a license and was arrested. These church shows should have to pay license as well as the theatres.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Goat Island Grant!

MASS MEETING

....AT....

PLATT'S HALL,

THIS EVENING,

SATURDAY.....MARCH 16th

At 7 1-2 o'clock.

THE CITIZENS OF SAN FRANCISCO ARE earnestly requested to assemble en masse, at Platt's Hall, THIS EVENING, March 16th, at 7½ o'clock, to consider the question of the cession of Goat Island to the Central Pacific Railroad Company for a Railroad Terminus.

This appeal should be responded to by every Property-holder, Merchant, Mechanic and Laborer in this great city. Let there be an expression of sentiment that shall convince National and State Legislatures that San Francisco sets her seal of condemnation upon this attempt to rob her of her property rights, her trade, and her prosperity. We cannot afford to consent to the establishment of a rival city on the opposite shore at the expense of the destruction of the present value of every home in our midst. Come one! Come all! Able speakers will be present and address the meeting.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Robert Craig, the eccentric comedian, who brings with him a splendid reputation gained in the Eastern States will make his first appearance The performance will commence with Broughan's drama of "Temptation: or, the Irish Emigrant," in which Mr. Craig will appear as O'Bryan and will sing "The Irish Emigrant's Lament." After this the comedy of "The Widow's Victim" will be presented with Robert Craig as Jerry Clip. In the course of the play he will give his famous imitations of Barney Williams, James Wallack and others, and life-like portraiture of Charles Dickens reading the Trial from the Pickwick Papers.

Alhambra Theatre.

Ever since the arrival of the new artistes the Alhambra Theatre has been crammed full every evening. The management are determined to keep up this state of things by constantly producing novelties. To-night Miss Louie Milburn, serio comic vocalist and character actress, will appear with J.H. Milburn, in the sketch of "Two Servants on a Spree," introducing imitations of London street ballad singers and other features. Previous to this J. H. Milburn will present an entirely new olio comprising a new and original song, by W. H. Ashton of this city, entitled "Judge not a Man by the Coat he Wears." Harry Stanwood will present new specialties and tell new stories and appear with Fayette Welch in the Ethiopian farce "Not to be Shaken;" Billy Emerson will present the ever-popular song and dance entitled "Sally Come Up;" Heywood will sing sweet ballads; "Sweet Cider," which has made a great hit will be retained on the bill, and the entertainment will conclude with the laughable act entitled "Examination Day."

California Theatre.

To-night Watts Phillips' drama of "On The Jury," the right to play which in California Charles Wheatleigh has obtained through the kindness of Edwin Booth, will be presented for the first time. We give the plot in another column, and the cast may be seen on our first page.

Bella Union.

A great feature of the performance given at this popular theatre on Saturday evening and last night was a tight-rope ascension by Miss Ella La Rue on a rope stretched from the stage to the boxes. This was gracefully performed and drew loud applause. The beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable," by the Parisian danseuse, M'lle Marie Gaugain and corps de ballet, which has proved such a great attraction will be presented every evening during the week. Among many other pleasing features in the bill to-night are the Crystal Pyramids by E. Montague; ballads by Misses Minnie Fillmore and Fanny Garretson; a pretty clog dance by Marie Zoel, and an amusing act by Lon McCarthy, Tommy Bree and Samwells. The melodrama of "The Forty Thieves" was well received on Saturday night and will be played every evening during the week.

Theatre Comique.

Kelly and Stuart are great favorites; Ned Ward shines in Dutch colicalities and Ethiopian acts; Sally Thayer causes much amusement by her comic songs; Mike Quinn and his banjo make all laugh, and the farce of the "Limerick Boy" winds up an attractive melange of songs, dances and negro acts.

Pacific Hall.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Library Fund of the Demosthenic Literary Society comes off at Pacific Hall to-morrow evening. Joaquin Miller will deliver his last lecture in California and a musical olio will be given by a artistes specified in another column."

Mere Blunders.

We suppose the public are pretty well aware that FIGARO is the only dramatic authority on the Pacific Coast. Those who depend on the commercial newspapers to learn what is going on, or what a performance is like, are very likely to go astray. Yesterday's Call informed them "On The Jury" "proved very successful in New York," when it has not yet been produced there, and that Add Ryman would appear to-night at the Alhambra, when he is not yet in town, and this morning's Alta also announces his first appearance this evening. Moral read your FIGARO, believe only in it, and be satisfied that amusements of any kind not advertised in its columns, are not worth going to see.

Add Ryman.

This famous minstrel will arrive in San Francisco to-night. He will commence an engagement at the Alhambra Theatre on Monday evening.

"ON THE JURY."

This play, the latest and best production of Watts Phillips, one of the most successful dramatists of the day, was produced for the first time at the Princess' Theatre, London, on Dec. 16th, with Benjamin Webbster and Mr. Phelps in the leading roles. It has been for weeks past in rehearsal at the California Theatre, under the immediate supervision of Charles Wheatleigh, and will be presented for the first time on Moday. The plot is as follows:

The first of the four acts into which the piece is divided takes place at Kelvin Grove Academy for Young Ladies, where Miss Edith Ferrers and Miss Rosanna Sanderson are fellow pupils and bosom friends. As the intimacy of the girls seems likely to be increased by a visit during the holidays, and as Robert, the brother of Rosa, has passionately declared his affection for Edith, it happens naturally enough that the father, Dexter Sanderson, Esq., a member of Parliament for his native place, Atholl Brose, North Britain, should take some interest in Miss Edith's antecedents. The stately schoolmistress has, however, little to divulge. Edith, who is now seventeen, has been her pupil for twelve years. Her father is understood to be one of the merchant princes of New Orleans, and the quarterly remittances for her education have heretofore been made with unwavering punctuality by his confidential agent, Mr. Tibbetts. A very strong motive for the inquiry of Mr. Dexter Sanderson is the desire that his son shall not only wed into a good family, but that his wife should possess a fortune helping to his future advancement. When Mr. Tibbetts arrives it is evident that something is wrong. His shabby gentility on other occasions seems to have undergone some slight improvement, but he is no longer cheerful, and he at last reveals to the schoolmistress that the payments cannot be maintained for another year, that Esther's father is ruined, and that the girl must leave. Asking only to be taken home, the proud Edith discovers that her home is of the humblest kind, and that Tibbetts is really her father, who, at considerable self-sacrifice, has given her an education far beyond her real position in society. The entrance of Dexter Sanderson leads to another recognition. In the features of Tibbetts he recognizes the face of a banker's clerk who, under the name of Abel Ferrers, was tried and convicted of forgery and embezzlement. In mercy to the girl, the revelation is not publicly proclaimed, but it is evident that Dexter Sanderson will not now give his sanction to his son's marriage, and the act drop falls on a strong situation, inspiring considerable curiosity as to the disclosures that are to follow. Through the second act we find Robert, her lover, earnestly pressing his suit; but Dexter Sanderson, after trying every possible expedient to prevent what he reasonably judges an indiscreet union, is compelled to avow his objections more openly, and called upon for the proof of his knowledge of the father of Edith being a returned convict, he briefly refers to the trial, and adds the crushing words: "I was on the jury." In the third act the noble disinterestedness and self-reliance of Edith have exercised a strong influence over the mind of the elder Sanderson, whose purely worldly considerations have a counterbalancing weight in the deep affection he bears his son; and he persuades Tibbetts to accept an appointment at St. Petersburg, so that in a foreign land the memory of his crime may be obliterated. The old clerk, who has persistently affirmed the injustice of the sentence by which he suffered, reluctantly consents, to secure the happiness of his daughter. Edith, strong in her devotion to her father, no sooner learns that he is about to depart that night by the Hamburg steamer than she hastens to the place to which she hears he had obtained a conveyance. Sanderson's Wharf, on the Surrey side of London Bridge, was the direction he gave the cabman. It is the scene so named which constitutes the great pictorial effect of the piece. The arches of London Bridge appear diminishing in perspective towards the Middlesex shore. The lamps gleam on the parapet; red lights in perspective denote the barges drifting with the tide. Edith eagerly secures a waterman to ferry her across to the Hamburg packet opposite, and she is hardly seated in the boat before there is a warning shout of excited spectators; the Woolwich steamer dashes past from under the nearest arch, regardless of the smaller craft, and Robert Sanderson, who happens to see the occurrence whilst watching on his father's wharf, plunges into the river and rescues the apparently drowning girl. Regarded merely as a sensation scene, nothing could have been better managed; but its introduction must be looked upon rather as a concession to popular taste than as a necessary element of the dramatic interest of the play. When the excitement of the audience has been sufficiently subdued, the act-drop rises on the sumptuously furnished drawing room of the wealthy Mr. Dexter Sanderson's mansion in Portland Place. The innocence of old Tibbetts, alias Abel Ferrers, is here completely established by the confession of one Mathew Curlett, the son of the banker who was defrauded, and the tardily penitent Mathew in his dying moments now avows that he committed the crimes for which the old clerk had been convicted. The result may be easily anticipated. Abel Ferrers can proudly acknowledge his daughter, Edith can without a pause obey the dictates of her heart, and in bestowing a benediction on the happy couple, Dexter Sanderson has only to remind his daughter-in-law that when married she will be on her trial, and that her friends and children will be "on the jury."

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. G

VENUS OF THE NEEDLE.

BY WILLIAM ALLINGHAM.

Maryanne, you pretty girl,
Intent on silky labor,
Of sempstresses the pink and pearl,
Excuse a peeping neighbor!

Those eyes, forever drooping, give
The long brown lashes rarely;
But violets in the shadows live—
For once unveil them fairly.

Hast thou not lent that flounce enough
Of looks so long and earnest?
Lo! here's more "penetrable stuff!"
To which thou never turnest.

Ye graceful fingers, deftly sped!
How slender and how nimble!
Oh! might I wind their skeins of thread,
Or but pick up their thimble!

How blest the youth whom love shall bring,
And happy stars embolden,
To change the dome into a ring,
The silver into golden!

Who'll steal some morning to her side,
To take her finger's measure,
While Maryanne pretends to chide,
And blushes deep with pleasure!

Who'll watch her sew her wedding-gown,
Well conscious that it is hers;
Who'll glean a tress, without a frown,
With those so ready scissors!

Who'll taste these ripenings of the south,
The fragrant and delicious—
Don't put the pins into your mouth,
O Maryanne, my precious!

I almost wish it were my trust
To teach how shocking that is;
I wish I had not, as I must,
To quit this tempting lattice.

Sure aim takes Cupid, fluttering foe,
Across a street so narrow;
A thread of silk to string his bow,
A [illegible] for his arrow!

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 837 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Hanke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any, private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

New Dry Goods Firm.

W. G. Doane and T. R. Heushelwood, both formerly with Kerby, Byrne & Co., have associated themselves together as importers and dealers in dry goods, at No. 1 Montgomery street, corner of Post, where they have an entire new stock of the latest styles of goods. P

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. O

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred?"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

Snow Bound.

Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, and the other artistes newly engaged at the Alhambra Theatre, were delighted when they were thawed out on the plains. It is pleasant to be thawed out. Everyone thaws out at McMahon's Saloon, 318 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra. Old Cutter whisky, Bumgardner whisky and Chicken Cock, are splendid to thaw out on. P. J. McMahon, formerly proprietor of the Russ House Saloon, is a connoisseur in whiskies. Q

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

113 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles finest quality, and at the lowest prices. X

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 726 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Robert Craig, the eccentric comedian, who brings with him a splendid reputation gained in the Eastern States will make his first appearance The performance will commence with Broughams drama of "Temptation: or, the Irish Emigrant," in which Mr. Craig will appear as O'Bryan and will sing "The Irish Emigrant's Lament." After this the comedy of "The Widow's Victim" will be presented with Robert Craig as Jerry Clip. In the course of the play he will give his famous imitations of Barney Williams, James Wallack and others, and life-like portraiture of Charles Dickens reading the Trial from the Pickwick Papers.

Alhambra Theatre.

Ever since the arrival of the new artistes the Alhambra Theatre has been crammed full every evening. The management are determined to keep up this state of things by constantly producing novelties. To-night Miss Louie Milburn, serio comic vocalist and character actress, will appear with J.H. Milburn, in the sketch of "Two Servants on a Spree," introducing imitations of London street ballad singers and other features. Previous to this J. H. Milburn will present an entirely new olio comprising a new and original song, by W. H. Ashton of this city, entitled "Judge not a Man by the Coat he Wears." Harry Stanwood will present new specialties and tell new stories and appear with Fayette Welch in the Ethiopian farce "Not to be Shaken;" Billy Emerson will present the ever-popular song and dance entitled "Sally Come Up;" Heywood will sing sweet ballads; "Sweet Cider," which has made a great hit will be retained on the bill, and the entertainment will conclude with the laughable act entitled "Examination Day."

California Theatre.

To-night Watts Phillips' drama of "On The Jury," the right to play which in California Charles Wheatleigh has obtained through the kindness of Edwin Booth, will be presented for the first time. We give the plot in another column, and the cast may be seen on our first page.

Bella Union.

A great feature of the performance given at this popular theatre on Saturday evening and last night was a tight-rope ascension by Miss Ella La Rue on a rope stretched from the stage to the boxes. This was gracefully performed and drew loud applause. The beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable," by the Parisian danseuse, M'lle Marie Gaugain and corps de ballet, which has proved such a great attraction will be presented every evening during the week. Among many other pleasing features in the bill to-night are the Crystal Pyramids by E. Montague; ballads by Misses Minnie Fillmore and Fanny Garretson; a pretty clog dance by Marie Zoel, and an amusing act by Lon McCarthy, Tommy Bree and Sam wells. The melodrama of "The Forty Thieves" was well received on Saturday night and will be played every evening during the week.

Theatre Comique.

Kelly and Stuart are great favorites; Ned Ward shines in Dutch cohicalities and Ethiopian acts; Sally Thayer causes much amusement by her comic songs; Mike Quinn and his banjo make all laugh, and the farce of the "Limerick Boy" winds up an attractive melange of songs, dances and negro acts.

Pacific Hall.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Library Fund of the Demosthenic Literary Society comes off at Pacific Hall to-morrow evening. Joaquin Miller will deliver his last lecture in California and a musical olio will be given by a artistes specified in another column."

More Blunders.

We suppose the public are pretty well aware that FIGARO is the only dramatic authority on the Pacific Coast. Those who depend on the commercial newspapers to learn what is going on, or what a performance is like, are very likely to go astray. Yesterday's Call informed them "On The Jury" "proved very successful in New York," when it has not yet been produced there, and that Add Ryman would appear to-night at the Alhambra, when he is not yet in town, and this morning's Alta also announce his first appearance this evening. Moral read your FIGARO, believe only in it, and be satisfied that amusements of any kind not advertised in its columns, are not worth going to see.

Add Ryman.

This famous minstrel will arrive in San Francisco to-night. He will commence an engagement at the Alhambra Theatre on Monday evening.

"ON THE JURY."

This play, the latest and best production of Watts Phillips, one of the most successful dramatists of the day, was produced for the first time at the Princess' Theatre, London, on Dec. 16th, with Benjamin Webbster and Mr. Phelps in the leading roles. It has been for weeks past in rehearsal at the California Theatre, under the immediate supervision of Charles Wheatleigh, and will be presented for the first time on Moday. The plot is as follows:

The first of the four acts into which the piece is divided takes place at Kelvin Grove Academy for Young Ladies, where Miss Edith Ferrers and Miss Rosanna Sanderson are fellow pupils and bosom friends. As the intimacy of the girls seems likely to be increased by a visit during the holidays, and as Robert, the brother of Rosa, has passionately declared his affection for Edith, it happens naturally enough that the father, Dexter Sanderson, Esq., a member of Parliament for his native place, Athol Brose, North Britain, should take some interest in Miss Edith's antecedents. The stately schoolmistress has, however, little to divulge. Edith, who is now seventeen, has been her pupil for twelve years. Her father is understood to be one of the merchant princes of New Orleans, and the quarterly remittances for her education have heretofore been made with unwavering punctuality by his confidential agent, Mr. Tibbetts. A very strong motive for the inquiry of Mr. Dexter Sanderson is the desire that his son shall not only wed into a good family, but that his wife should possess a fortune helping to his future advancement. When Mr. Tibbetts arrives it is evident that something is wrong. His shabby gentility on other occasions seems to have undergone some slight improvement. but he is no longer cheerful, and he at last reveals to the schoolmistress that the payments cannot be maintained for another year, that Esther's father is ruined, and that the girl must leave. Asking only to be taken home, the proud Edith discovers that her home is of the humblest kind, and that Tibbetts is really her father, who, at considerable self-sacrifice, has given her an education far beyond her real position in society. The entrance of Dexter Sanderson leads to another recognition. In the features of Tibbetts he recognizes the face of a banker's clerk who, under the name of Abel Ferrers, was tried and convicted of forgery and embezzlement. In mercy to the girl, the revelation is not publicly proclaimed, but it is evident that Dexter Sanderson will not now give his sanction to his son's marriage, and the act drop falls on a strong situation, inspiring considerable curiosity as to the disclosures that are to follow. Through the second act we find Robert, her lover, earnestly pressing his suit; but Dexter Sanderson, after trying every possible expedient to prevent what he reasonably judges an indiscreet union, is compelled to avow his objections more openly, and called upon for the proof of his knowledge of the father of Edith being a returned convict, he briefly refers to the trial, and adds the crushing words: "I was on the jury." In the third act the noble disinterestedness and self-reliance of Edith have exercised a strong influence over the mind of the elder Sanderson, whose purely worldly considerations have a counterbalancing weight in the deep affection he bears his son; and he persuades Tibbetts to accept an appointment at St. Petersburg, so that in a foreign land the memory of his crime may be obliterated. The old clerk, who has persistently affirmed the injustice of the sentence by which he suffered, reluctantly consents, to secure the happiness of his daughter. Edith, strong in her devotion to her father, no sooner learns that he is about to depart that night by the Hamburg steamer than she hastens to the place to which she bears he had obtained a conveyance. Sanderson's Wharf, on the Surrey side of London Bridge, was the direction he gave the cabman. It is the scene so named which constitutes the great pictorial effect of the piece. The arches of London Bridge appear diminishing in perspective towards the Middlesex shore. The lamps gleam on the parapet; red lights in perspective denote the barges drifting with the tide. Edith eagerly secures a waterman to ferry her across to the Hamburg packet opposite, and she is hardly seated in the boat before there is a warning shout of excited spectators; the Woolwich steamer dashes past from under the nearest arch, regardless of the smaller craft, and Robert Sanderson, who happens to see the occurrence whilst watching on his father's wharf, plunges into the river and rescues the apparently drowning girl. Regarded merely as a sensation scene, nothing could have been better managed; but its introduction must be looked upon rather as a concession to popular taste than as a necessary element of the dramatic interest of the play. When the excitement of the audience has been sufficiently subdued, the act-drop rises on the sumptuously furnished drawing room of the wealthy Mr. Dexter Sanderson's mansion in Portland Place. The innocence of old Tibbetts, alias Abel Ferrers, is here completely established by the confession of one Mathew Curlett, the son of the banker who was defrauded, and the tardily penitent Mathew in his dying moments now avows that he committed the crimes for which the old clerk had been convicted. The result may be easily anticipated. Abel Ferrers can proudly acknowledge his daughter, Edith can without a pause obey the dictates of her heart, and in bestowing a benediction on the happy couple, Dexter Sanderson has only to remind his daughter-in-law that when married she will be on her trial, and that her friends and children will be "on the jury."

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager, G

VENUS OF THE NEEDLE.

BY WILLIAM ALLINGHAM.

Maryanne, you pretty girl,
Intent on silky labor,
Of sempstresses the pink and pearl,
Excuse a peeping neighbor!

Those eyes, forever drooping, give
The long brown lashes rarely;
But violets in the shadows live—
For once unveil them fairly.

Hast thou not lent that flounce enough
Of looks so long and earnest?
Lo! here's more "penetrable stuff!"
To which thou never turnest.

Ye graceful fingers, deftly sped!
How slender and how nimble!
Oh! might I wind their skeins of thread,
Or but pick up their thimble!

How blest the youth whom love shall bring,
And happy stars embolden,
To change the dome into a ring,
The silver into golden!

Who'll steal some morning to her side,
To take her finger's measure,
While Maryanne pretends to chide,
And blushes deep with pleasure!

Who'll watch her sew her wedding-gown,
Well conscious that it is here;
Who'll glean a tress, without a frown,
With those so ready scissors!

Who'll taste these ripenings of the south,
The fragrant and delicious—
Don't put the pins into your mouth,
O Maryanne, my precious!

I almost wish it were my trust
To teach how shocking that is;
I wish I had not, as I must,
To quit this tempting lattice.

Sure aim takes Cupid, flattering foe,
Across a street so narrow;
A thread of silk to string his bow,
A needle for his arrow!

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 837 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any, private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and specially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

Lotta.

The New Orleans correspondent of the Mercury has the following about Lotta, who will shortly be here once more: "Lotta, last year while here, was baptized, taken into the church and received a present of a bible. This year she was made a member of the Lotta Base Ball Club, and given a medal; she also received many other beautiful presents. The Grand Duke made her a present of a beautiful bracelet set with pearls and diamonds. The little lady does not let her church membership interfere with playing on Sunday nights.

Stick to It.

A philosopher and moralist wisely says: "Let young men remember that their chief happiness in life depends upon their faith in women." Now young men, do not lose your faith in women, even if you behold the one who has vowed to be "thine and thine only" reclining upon the bosom of another fellow. Have faith, young men, and you may possibly live to have some other fellow's beloved make a comforter for your neck with her arms. Faith is bound to be rewarded in the end.

Conscientious Dog.

A storekeeper at Quincy, Mich, having a a pup which habitually upset the paint cans in the rear end of the store, rubbed the dog's nose in the spilled paint as a reminder that he must not do so again. Last week the animal again spilled the paint, and, observing that his master was engaged in waiting on a customer, the docile pup rubbed his own nose in the mixture, and ran howling out the back way.

A Blast at Blanket Sheets.

The New York Mail says: "We are glad to get hold of a New Orleans paper that can be handled with comfort by one that has no pretensions to being an athlete. The National Republican of that city has learned that brevity is the "soul of wit," and appears in a single sheet of moderate size. If anything happens in New Orleans now we have some hopes of finding it.

A Thoroughbred.

Josh Billings defined a "thurrer-dred bizziness man" as "wun that knows enuff about stealing, so that ther kant ennybody steal from him, and enuf about law so that he can do his stealin' legally."

Buffles remarked to a friend, the other day, that he would not like to make a voyage in a coalbarge, on account of the liability of the cargo to be scuttled.

The Educated Goat.

The New York Citizen of the 27th ult. gives the following description of an educated goat:

"Alexis Ibis," the educated goat, made his first appearance at Niblo's Garden on Monday last. His manner is that of the best bred and most highly cultured continental goats. His bow is a model of grace, and he draws off his kid gloves with the indolent grace of Gottschalk. As for riding, there is nothing in that line which Alexis cannot do He can stick on any horse that has yet been discovered, and leaps through hoops and paper balloons with the ease of the best circus rider Mr. Lent ever engaged. Through all his performances he maintains a calm, dignified demeanor which is characteristic of his aristocratic rank, and the beauty of his smile and the fullness of his beard have already made him a favorite with the female part of his audience. Alexis is understood to be an English artist, and there is already an outcry against the want of patriotism which has permitted Mr. Palmer to import a foreign goat instead of employing available American talent. Now this is exceedingly unreasonable. No one who has the true interests of our stage at heart can object to the presence of Alexis. He can serve as a model to American actors, and in that way will be of immense service to the stage. His freedom from affectation, his dignity, and the sincere love of art which he evinces, might well be copied by many of our prominent actors. Alexis may not be as great a genius, all things considered, as Mr. Fechter, but he will doubtless prove a more popular artiste, and will certainly exert a great influence for good upon those members of the profession with whom he may be brought in contact.

How many full-blooded American goats have fallen victims to the butcher's knife in San Francisco lately, with perhaps talents as great as those of Alexis Ibis undeveloped! We have always thought that there were many goats in San Francisco capable of great things if they were only educated. But, alas! we have eaten nearly all of them up and have not enjoyed them.

Los Angeles News.

By the Evening Express of the 8th, we have the following news which we give chiefly for the benefit of our Eastern exchanges. A drunken man fell in the Zanja on Thursday....Bain fell on the Tejunga mountains....Jesus Bair a vaquero on La Puente rancho got his hand caught in a riato whilst lassoing a broncho....There was a remolino de viento on Thursday evening, but no one was hurt....The alise from which Aliso street takes its name, was sold by the city in 1835 to Jean Louis Vigues for $20....A stray Burro was taken to the pound on Wednesday.

Delicate Compliment.

Our Irish fellow citizens could not fail to appreciate the compliment paid to them on Saturday (St. Patrick's Eve) by Frederick Marriott, publisher of the News Letter, the supplement to that sheet being printed in emerald green. Though far from the ould sod, Mr. Marriott cannot forget his home. (His real name is Morriarty.)

Bright Santa Cruz.

An exchange says:

Santa Cruz had 41 rainbows the other day and it was not a good day for rainbows at that.

Santa Cruz must be the Land of Promise.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started The Bivalve oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became the fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. Spreen is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. The Bivalve is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shloss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The Sensation Dramatist.

The Fifth Avenue Journal a very pretty looking paper just started in New York by two actresses who have left the stage to become publishers—Miss Emma Webb Nivert and Miss Laura Keene, has in its first number the following flattering notice of McCloskey the sensation dramatist. "He is a very popular manager, a good actor, an able business man, and in every way a perfect gentleman. His popularity with the press and in the private circles where he is best known does much for the success of the enterprise in which he is engaged. His wife, the talented leading lady of the theatre, is also a prime favorite. Mr. McCloskey has the management of the stage. Everybody knows him. He is what the Sun would call "Our Later Shakespeare." McCloskey is the best of the modern sensational playwrights who perfer to tell their dramatic story with the carpenter's hammer and the painter's brush rather than with the goose-quill and ink-horn of olden time. He has written more plays and better ones of the kind (mind, we do not indorse the kind!) than any living man of his years. His latest inspiration is a temperance trifle, now almost ready to go to the carpenter-shop and paint-room, in six acts and a prologue, entitled "Rum." Its plot is replete with startling fruits of the wine-cup, and "Mac" sees in its suggestive title such a host of felicitous advertising possibilities as never even dawned upon Daly in the wildest hour of three-sheet-poster enthusiasm.

A Gentleman.

Manager Saville, of Washington, says that Sothern is the only man who could have hobnobbed with dukes and earls without feeling stuck up over it.

This is explained by the fact that Sothern is a gentleman as well as an artiste, and a simple gentleman feels himself as good as a lord, but no better than anyone else.

Comfort for Dramatists.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

That the fame of Robert Craig, the eccentric comedian, had reached California before him, was proved by the more than ordinarily enthusiastic greeting which he received at the hands of the audience on making his first appearance last night. The petite comedy of "The Widow's Victim," with any amount of new business introduced in it, was capitally performed. Mr. Craig is a very neat and finished actor, and the quiet manner in which he made his points was heartily relished by the audience. He is genuine and never descends to clap-trap, and will therefore be a great favorite. His imitations were perfect, and drew great applause. That of Charles Dickens, as far as the make-up went, was perfectly marvellous; he presented the peculiarities of accentuation faithfully, but the voice was not exactly that of Dickens. Those who wish to see Dickens as he was should visit the Metropolitan Theatre to-night, and it will require but little stretch of the imagination to fancy that the great novelist himself stands before them. Miss Henrietta Osborne as Mrs. Rattleton played her part well, and so did Miss Fanny Young that of Mrs. Twitter; Miss Maggie Moore as Jane Chatterly fairly divided the honors with the star, and brought down the house by her spirited acting and laughable imitations of Miss Alice Harrison; T. E. Jackson was wonderfully amusing as Tremaine Pelham Podge, and kept the audience in a roar while he was on the stage; Harry Colton in the character of Mr. Twitter developed a talent for eccentric comedy which surprised those who have only seen him in the character of a hardened villain or per contra that of a virtuous, slow young man; he played it capitally. Mr. Craig in the character of O'Bryan in "Temptation; or, the Irish Emigrant," proved himself an Irish comedian of much ability. Altogether Robert Craig is a decided success and has fully come up to the expectations of the public, though he has not yet played his "strongest suit," which is burlesque. "Don Juan" will be the first burlesque presented. "The Widow's Victim" and "Temptation" will be played to-night and at the matinee to-morrow.

Alhambra Theatre.

This house was thronged last night, standing room being unobtainable after 8 o'clock. Harry Stanwood was brighter and more original than ever and was encored again and again; J. H. Milburn sang several new songs, all of which were loudly applauded, and W. H. Ashton's new motto song "Judge not a Man by the Coat that he Wears," was quite a success, the sentiment being good and the music pretty; Fayette Welch and Harry Stanwood made a hit in the act "Not to be Shaken;" Billy Emerson gave "Sally Come Up" in a delightfully neat and artistic style, "Dandy Jim" in response to an encore, and being again encored gave "Wearing of the Green," in honor of the day, and of course was much applauded. Heywood appeared in a perfectly magnificent new dress of yellow satin with black underskirt trimmed with marabout feathers, and sang "I Dwelt in Marble Halls," charmingly; After this Miss Louie Milburn made her debut appearing in the very lively song and dance entitled "Servants on a Spree." Miss Milburn has a pretty voice and dances very neatly. For an encore she and J. H. gave an amusing imitation of London street ballad singers; "Sweet Cider," by Emerson, Stanwood, and the Reynolds Brother, followed, and the laughable act of "Examination Day" concluded this rich feast of fun, sweet music and popular minstrelsy—which will be spread again this evening for the thousands at the Alhambra Theatre.

California Theatre.

"On the Jury" was produced last night to a fine house. We gave the full plot of this play in yesterday's issue; we have therefore only to deal with it on its merits as a dramatic composition, and say how it was acted. "On the Jury" is a drama of intense interest, is admirably written, and was played splendidly. Charles Wheatleigh as Tibbits gave one of the very best bits of character acting ever seen; Miss Evans played the part of Edith Ferrers splendidly, and Henry Edwards gave a most perfect representation of Dexter Sanderson, the man of business. J. C. Williamson had a chance in the character of Professor Schmidt to represent a gentlemanly German—a relief after the buffoons of that nationality presented by some actors; he availed himself of it, and his Professor Schmidt was a most finished piece of acting, and caused much amusement. Fred Franks did some excellent acting as Mr. Curlett; W. A. Mestayer acted Robert Sanderson, the lover of the piece, well; Miss Ellie Wilton as Miss Rose was pretty, interesting and affectionate, as the part required her to be; Mrs. Judah was excellent as the susceptible Miss Nippingale, Mrs. C. R. Saunder, very amusing as Tilda, and the other characters were well filled. The scene representing the Thames at London Bridge was a perfect marvel of scenic art, and most faithful to nature. The row boats and steamboats passing up the river were effectively represented, but the steamer which runs down the boat in which Edith Ferrers is, is not the most real steamer we have seen on the stage. The "sensation," however, is a most thrilling one, and the thunders of applause which followed proved that it was a decided hit. "On the Jury" will be produced until further notice. It is a great success, and must afford pleasure to all who witness it.

Bella Union.

Among the numerous attractive features in the capital bill presented at this house, are the ballet of "Robert le Diable" by M'lle Gaugain and corps de ballet; rope-walking by Miss Ella La Rue; song and dance by Chris Mathews; ballads by Maggie Brewer and Fanny Garretson; clog dance by Marie Zoel, and the exciting melodrama of "The Forty Thieves," in which all the company appear.

Theatre Comique.

Ballads, comic songs, negro acts, character acts Dutch specialties, double song and dance, gymnastic performances and a variety of other entertainments are presented by Frank Mortimer, Ned Ward, Mike Quinn, Sally Thayer, Carrie Willis, Miss Blanche, and numbers of others, making up a strong company.

Pacific Hall.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Library Fund of the Demosthenic Literary Society comes off at Pacific Hall this evening. Joaquin Miller will deliver his last lecture in California and a musical olio will be given by artistes specified in another column.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

"Jukes."

For the past week the town has been flooded with cards and pieces of paper bearing on them the single word "Jukes." They were everywhere, in the saloons, in the theatres, and even in the Churches. Of course everyone was puzzled. All knew it must be intended to advertise something or somebody, but what or who? This was the question. The majority of people decided that these cards were issued by the spirited management of the Metropolitan Theatre and that "Jukes" was the name of the first character in which Robert Craig was to make his appearance. Others said "Jukes" was the name of another new play by Col. W. H. L. Barnes, but none guessed right. Now the mystery is explained and "Jukes" are for sale at all the drug stores, cigar stores, and variety stores in the city. "Jukes are diminutive squares of black aromatic paste highly recommended by the London doctors for the use of singers and public speakers and also used to destroy the smell of tobacco and liquors, and renders the breath sweet. "Jukes" have been so cleverly introduced and are really so desirable in many cases that they are sure to find a ready sale. *

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 437 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. G

TENDER AND TRUE.

He stole from its nest in my golden hair
A knot of ribband blue;
He placed on my hand a jewell rare,
And whispered soft as he held it there—
Tender and true—adieu, adieu!

The almond was bending with blossoms white,
The roses blushed through the dew;
The violet smiled in the glowing light,
And life was happy, and hope was bright,
Tender and true—adieu, adieu!

They brought my soldier home to me,
And my knot of ribband blue;
But the cruel wound on the brow was hid
By the flag dropped over the coffin-lid.
Tender and true—adieu, adieu!

The almond flowers in the breezes shake,
The roses still blush through the dew;
But the Springtime of hope will never awake,
And the lone, lone heart will wait till it break,
Tender and true—adieu, adieu!

The Second Reason.

A lady of whom ill-natured things have been said, but who gives pleasant little parties to which gentleman are always glad to go, invited her doctor the other evening. The doctor is married and naturally went alone. "Why did your wife not come with you doctor?" asked the lady. "For two reasons, my dear madam," replied the doctor, "the second is she has a bad cold."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. C

"Tell Me, Where Is Fancy Bred!"

The poet who asked the above question, would have been delighted with the fancy displayed in the beautiful stock of A. Kline, 60 Third street, "A small store well filled, quick returns and small profits," are his two leading mottoes. All the ladies of the Southern portion of the city, go their for their fancy goods and trimmings.

Snow Bound.

Fayette Welch, J. H. Milburn, and the other artistes newly engaged at the Alhambra Theatre, were delighted when they were thawed out on the plains. It is pleasant to be thawed out. Everyone thaws out at McMahon's Saloon, 318 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra. Old Cutter whisky, Baugardner whisky and Chicken Cock, are splendid to thaw out on. P. J. McMahon, formerly proprietor of the Russ House Saloon, is a connoisseur in whiskies. Q

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Stylish Hat Store.

The reason why the establishment at No. 647 Washington street is called "THE" HAT STORE is because, for the style of its hats and the moderation of its charges, it stands without a rival. Go to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street (the second hat store below Kearny), and examine the large stock of the latest styles of hats. K

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUT

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from ... suffering everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, and spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 16 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST result... in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "Honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

Good Gracious!

Our Society, a New York journal, has the following:

Mr. Austin, who was recently the dramatic editor of the London Echo, an acknowledged authority in theatrical matters in the British metropolis, has been engaged as critic for Our Society, which position he now fills.

Mr. Austin, "recently dramatic editor of the London Echo," starts in on his labors with the following paragraph:

It is good to laugh—and doubly good when the subject matter of merriment be of a high-toned nature.

If we were proprietor of Our Society, those three lines would be enough to make us say to Mr. Austin, "Stop right there; that's enough. We want no more 'subject matter' from you. Git! you high-toned Echo critic."

Disappointed Hopes.

A handsome young gentleman walked into the Adams Express office the other day and desired to express a package of letters to a lady to whom he desired to return them. "What are they worth?" asked the clerk, who in making out his accounts desired to know what was the risk. The young gentleman hesitated a moment, then clearing his throat from a slight huskiness replied, "Well, I can't say exactly, but a few days ago I thought they were worth about four hundred thousand dollars."

Danger Everywhere.

A Blacksmith's bellows exploded recently at Louisville on account of gas being drawn into it from the fire, and then igniting. It went off with a report like a cannon, and was torn to pieces, but no one was injured. And here is another: A sweet potato has exploded in Indiana, and seriously scalded a child. First it was mince pie, then lager beer, and now a blacksmith's bellows and a sweet potato have turned to engines of destruction. Next!

Sick Diet.

Sick brother: "Harry, I want to whisper! Pa has given me sixpence for taking my medicine. On your way from school buy me a pennyworth of hardbake, a pennyworth of taffy, a pennyworth of almond rock, a penn'worth of honey drops, and a penny stick of Spanish licorice, and we'll keep the other penny for to-morrow."

Another Victim.

Augustus, having caught a furtive glimpse of Angelina's pretty pedals, has become an enthusiastic believer in woman's rights and lefts.

Spinal meningitis, in travelling through the West, has assumed the form of "spiral maginnis."

Married Men.

There's an expression in the face of a good married man who has a good wife that bachelors cannot have. It is indescribable. He is a little nearer the angels than the prettiest young fellow living. You can see that his bread breast is a pillow for somebody's head and that little fingers pull his whiskers. It is only erratic ones that leave you in doubt. The good one can protect all the unprotected females and make himself generally agreeable to the ladies, and yet never leave a doubt on any mind that there is a precious little woman at home worth all the world to him.—Echange.

Very true. And there's an expression on the face of a man that has a bad wife, and sometimes there are scratches. It is indescribable. He's just a little nearer hell than any man living, and knows how it is himself. You can see that his wife's hands have been in his hair, and the traces of fingernails are on his cheeks. He has a cast down, forlorn countenance, and when he goes in to get a drink to cheer him up, he looks fearfully around, imagining his wife is somewhere in the vicinity with a broomstick. There's no mistaking him. The only time he is happy is when he is drunk; then he feels valiant, and he says he "has to get drunk to keep anywhere near even with his wife." Then there are other married men who have wives who are a great deal too good for them. They are careless, selfish fellows who take no interest whatever in their wives, but frequent bars and billiard saloons as much as they did before they were married. These men ought never to have married at all; they were intended for old bachelors. On the whole, we agree with our contemporary that a good married man with a good wife is about as happy as a man can well be.

No Funerals Allowed.

A gray-haired old man tried to get a room on Kearny street the other day. He asked the woman who answered the bell, "Have you a room to let?"

"Yes," she replied, "but——"

"But what?"

"You cannot have it."

"Why not?" asked the old gentleman.

"You are more than sixty years old, are you not?"

"I am sixty-five. What of that?"

"The landlady won't allow any funerals from her house."

The Fatal Hairpin.

When you can't think of what your wife charged you to bring home, get hair-pins. They are always handy in the house. Get them out of your pocket without breaking the package. A stray hair-pin may sometimes wreck a household. A young man of this city took home one hair-pin, last week, to his wife. He presented it to her as a birthday gift. She was delighted, until she found a long hair attached to it. His doctor thinks he may possibly recover the use of his eye.

Unpleasant Girls.

The Southern Californian in Anaheim publishes the article describing the various manners in which girls in different parts of the United States behave when they are kissed, and closes thus:

We deem it our duty to add to the above, that when it is even attempted to kiss an Anaheim girl, she hits you a bat over the eyes that makes you see stars for a week.

Missionaries ought to be sent to those benighted Anaheim girls.

Religious Progress.

Orthodox piety is making rapid headway in Japan. We are certain of this, because after hundreds of years of amity her religious leaders are fighting among themselves. Hurry up the missionary contributions, beloved brethren!

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. SHLOSS's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 KEARNY STREET. IN MARCH.

Welcome sweet wind; you bring
A soul of Spring
From some far fragrant rose,
That blows
In some dear coming May, or half forgotten Spring.
Welcome, sweet Dream; you bear
Your wings of air
From some far isle of love—
A dove,
Flying with gentle bough from some far, lovelier air.
What though the sweet Wind knows
A vanished rose—
My dream the Past, alone,
Has known.
Bloom from my heart, sweet dream; climb from my dream, sweet rose.

Julian Cold Mining Company.

[Incorporated under the laws of California, March 15th, 1871.]

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000 IN 10,000 Shares, of $100 each, placed to subscribers at 10 per cent. on par value, $40,000 to remain in the treasury to develop the Mine and defray the cost of erecting a new Twenty-stamp Mill and Steam Hoisting Works. PAYMENTS—On application, $1 per share; on allotment, $1 50 per share; within 60 days, $7 50 per share, or upon issuance of stock. Deposits to be returned in full in event of no allotment. DIRECTORS FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS—J. W. Mather, George D. Roberts, Moritz Maybium, George W. Beaver and Thomas J. Poulterer. TREASURER—Alexander Forbes. SECRETARY—T. F. Cronise. Applications will be received on the 21st and 22d instant. Offices of the Company, 409 California street, San Francisco.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purchase and working of the Julian Gold Mine, situated near Newcastle, on the Central Pacific Railroad. The vendors, instead of giving voluminous reports from professional experts, prefer that parties proposing to subscribe should make a personal examination of the property, which can be readily done. Leaving the city in the morning and returning next day, will afford ample time for an examination of the property, and every facility will be extended those desiring to do so. The following facts are respectfully submitted: LENGTH OF VEIN, 2,500 feet. ALTITUDE, 970 feet above the level of the sea. LOCATION—One mile from the C. P. R. R., Station, at Newcastle, and 113 miles from San Francisco, via Vallejo, in the semi-foothills, and on the main gold-bearing belt extending in a Southerly direction from Nevada to Mariposa county. GEOLOGICAL FORMATION OF THE BELT—Hornblendic, feldspathic and micaceous granite; porphyry; trap, (diorite), and metaphorphic slates. COURSE OF LODE—Northerly and Southerly; dip, easterly 80 degrees; traceable for 5,000 feet. PAY CHUTE—Continuous for 1,384 feet, as proved by workings (mill tests). STRENGTH OF ODE—From three to eight feet; average thickness, three feet six inches. GANGUE—Laminated quartz. METALS—Galena blende, Iron pyrites, gold and silver. TITLE—Perfect; Government Patent applied for. WATER—Ample for steam and milling purposes, or for motive power, if desired at 10 cents per inch miner's measurement. TIMBER—Black and Live Oak for fuel, cost $3,50 per cord; Nut Pine, suitable for timber, etc., abundant. HISTORY—This mine was located in 1859; has been worked continuously and profitably since 1864, with a rude five-stamp mill and imperfect amalgamation, the ore yielding from $8 to $20 per ton. Recent and thorough mill tests assures an average value of $12 50 per ton. PRESENT DEVELOPMENTS.—(See plan of mine). From the first, or fifty-foot level, workings have been extended 1,064 feet. The second, or 150 foot level has been driven northerly and southerly 520 feet. Down to this level, three shafts have been sunk, and a fourth will soon be completed, thus affording thorough ventilation and great facilities for the cheap extraction of large quantities of ore. The main shaft is now down 240 feet, and drifts commenced northerly and southerly on this lode. The developments in depth give assurance of greatly increased values in quality of ores upon further prosecution of the work. By tunnels and levels, the vein is proved to the extent of 1,100 feet; and inclusive of shafts, 1,920 feet in length. MILL—A first-class twenty-stamp mill, with all modern improvements and appliances for saving gold, is now under contract and will be immediately erected. Its crushing capacity will exceed 1,000 tons per month. FINANCES OF THE COMPANY—With the exception of $5,500 payable April 20th, and $30,000 within six months thereafter, the company is free from debt. The large reserve in the Treasurer's hands of $40,000, precludes the possibility of an assessment, and assures the payment of DIVIDENDS, within sixty days after the completion of the new mill, which it is safe to predict will amount to at least ten per cent. per month upon the valuation at which the mine is placed to subscribers. This, in connection with the certain rapid appreciation in the value of shares, makes the investment a peculiarly and exceptionally desirable one. ESTIMATE OF THE ORE RESERVES—We find in the 150-foot level estimating 13 cubic feet in place per ton (see map):

South from Main Shaft	5,169 tons
Between South and Main Shaft	861 tons
Between Main and North Air Shaft	3,742 tons
Between North Air and North Shaft	7,030 tons
Between North Shaft and Mexican	3,980 tons
On the 230-foot Level	19,600 tons
Total	40,382 tons

We can safely estimate in the mine an additional 80 foot lift, extending northerly and southerly below the 230-foot level, which is not counted in the following estimate of values:

Aggregating 40,382 tons, say at $12 per ton	$484,344 00
Cost to mine and raise to the surface, inclusive of dead work, say $2 50 per ton; cost of milling, $1 50 per ton; total, $4	161,448 00
Net profit	$322,896 00

Owing to the fact that the vein carries a good clay seam (gouge), and that scarcely anything but vein matter is extracted, and that drifts can be driven by contract for $4 per lineal foot, the development of the mine is singularly rapid, and will give ample supply for more ore than present and contemplated milling capacity will reduce. Plans of mills, maps, and additional information can be obtained by calling at the office of the Company. mar19 3t

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

First part, interlude and afterpiece are all alike entertaining and popular. In the first part Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch cause much fun on the ends, and the sweet ballads of Harry Norman and S. Holdsworth are very popular. In the interlude Harry Stanwood does wonderful things with the banjo and cracks the driest of jokes; J. H. Milburn's new selections from his repertoire draw immense applause; the comical act "Not to be Shaken," by Fayette Welch and Harry Stanwood, is a hit; Billy Emerson does some of the neatest song and dance acts imaginable, including his original "Patchouli;" Heywood's new ballads please everyone; Miss Louie Milburn and J. H. Milburn give the frolicsome act of "Two Servants on a Spree;" "Sweet Cider" is continued on the bill, and the sketch entitled "Examination Day" concludes the performance. To-morrow evening the famous Add Ryman, one of the most talented members of the minstrel profession, and great in stump speeches and local characterizations, will make his first appearance, and will assume the position of stage manager of the Alhambra Theatre.

Metropolitan Theatre.

A more enjoyable entertainment than that now given at this theatre by the eccentric comedian, Robert Craig, and the stock company, cannot well be imagined, and the shouts of laughter and applause prove how thoroughly it is appreciated. Mr. Craig's imitation of a reading by the late Charles Dickens should be seen by all before it is withdrawn. A burlesque of "Don Juan" reconstructed to bear upon local topics and events of the day, is in active preparation. "The Widow's Victim" and the Irish drama of "Temptation; or, the Irish Emigrant," will be played at the matinee today and again this evening.

California Theatre.

"On the Jury," now being performed at this house, is one of the best of modern plays: the plot is interesting, the characters are well drawn and the dialogue is bright and sparkling. The scenery is very fine and the sensation an entirely novel one. "On the Jury" drew a large house last night and should have a run equal to that gained by "After Dark," "Under the Gaslight," and other popular plays of the day.

Bella Union.

Everything in the programme presented at this popular variety theatre is bright, sparkling and attractive. The beautiful ballet by M'lle Marie Gaugain and others; the tight-rope ascension by Miss Ella La Rue; Miss Fanny Garretson's ballads; Ed Montague's gymnastics; Marie Zoel's neat and artistic clog dance, and other acts keep the audience continually amused. The melodrama of "The Forty Thieves" concludes the entertainment.

Theatre Comique.

After a first part in which Kelly and Ward on the ends, and Frank Mortimer in the middle, cause much amusement, and many pleasing ballads are sung, an interlude is given in which side splitting negro farces are performed; Mike Quinn amuses with his banjo; Miss Blanche performs fancy dances; Sally Thayer sings comic songs; M'lle La Forest presents popular ballads, and many others appear in pleasing specialties. The farce of "The Mysterious Restaurant" concludes the evening's fun.

Handel and Haydn Concert.

The Handel and Haydn Society, assisted by a grand orchestra, will give a concert on Friday evening, March 22d, when Mendelssohn's masterpiece, "Elijah," will be presented with a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices. The solos will be sung by some of our best vocalists. George T. Evans will be director. Tickets are being sold so rapidly that the chance of getting a seat is very small, unless immediate application is made at the music store of Sherman & Ayde.

The Great Billiard Match.

Those who wish to see the great billiard match for the silver cue, $500, and the championship of the Pacific Coast, and have not yet secured seats should lose no time in doing so as the tickets are selling rapidly. This match between the present champion, J. F. B. McCleery, and W. B. Waite, a talented billiard player who has made some wonderful runs, is attracting much interest. It will come off at Platt's Hall to-morrow evening, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Italian Opera.

The next opera to be given by the Bianchi Italian Opera Troupe is "Norma," which will be presented with M'lle Adelina Frenchel as Norma, Signorina Bianchi as Adelgisa, and a strong cast throughout.

The Testing Season.

We call the attention of showmen having the intention to travel with a tent to an advertisement in another column, which sets forth that a tent of very convenient size is to be sold at auction to-morrow at 10 A.M., by Lamson and Chamberlain, 539 California street.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Elegant Jewelry.

Hirschman, at 133 Kearny street, is attracting particular attention to his windows by the elegant display of jewelry therein. Hirschman is an artist in his line, and should be Court Jeweler.

Dr. Abernethy.

The delicious Green Ginger Brandy invented by the famous Dr. Abernethy of England is the best, most agreeable and safest tonic. Chenery, Souther & Co. are the sole agents for San Francisco. All first-class saloons keep it. G

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

An Incongruity.

A young divinity student cannot understand why old Father Time should carry a scythe, when the Bible distinctly says that "Time shall be no mower."

Actress Publishers.

The Washington Critic has the following:

Two rather notable ventures, all things considered, have just appeared upon the sea of journalism in New York. Miss Laura Keene, famed as an actress, has actually made true the rumor that she was about to become a journalist, and, aided by Miss Emma Webb Nivert, has issued the first number of Fine Arts—A Journal of the Polite World. For the present this newcomer will visit its readers once a month. Its title explains its purpose. The other is the Fifth Avenue Journal, a weekly "devoted to society and fiction," and, like Fine Arts, is illustrated. No sponsor is named for it. Apropos to this it should be stated that the managing editor of Our Society announces that publication is again meeting with success. Of Fine Arts, Miss Keene's bantling, the chances are that its career will be brilliant, though not, we fear, very long. This lady can, if she chooses, enliven its pages with much that is of interest from her experience. The three papers mentioned must depend in no small degree upon the support of what we call society—a somewhat weak and doubtful staff.

Personal Journalism.

Certain of the widely read Paris journals have taken to publishing daily lists of the notable people present at the opera and the atres on the evening previous to their issue. As these lists include the stars of the demimonde, as well as the descendents of the Crusaders and their virtuous families it is not strange that they have excited some indignation We should think that Madame Thiers, after reading her name side by side with that of the Anonyma or the Skittles of the day, would be apt to agree with us that this, the latest features of what may be called personal journalism is the worst.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 127 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." G

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

IN THE VALLEY OF SHADOWS.

BY H. B. WARNER.

Who is that there at the foot of my bed?
And there on the mantle! click! click! click—
I wonder if I've been sick?
I don't feel anything like pain,
But, now I remember the other day
A windmill got in my head some way
And its fans wheel round and round in my brain.

Why what have I done? You needn't smile!
I take queer notions once-in-a-while,
But you see I'm perfectly sane;
And, come to think of it again,
It wasn't a windmill after all;
Only some sand got into my blood;
It's been rushing along my veins for hours,
And it grates and grinds, and rubs and scours,
'Till now, it would not be strange to find
It had worn some holes in my mind.
How did it get there? sure enough!
But its very volatile stuff,
And I think it got in my food.
Why yes! of course! the other day
They gave me a piece of toasted brick;
And for hours and hours, I should think it lay
In my stomach, and felt so hard and rough,
'Twould have made a well man sick.

Just look at those awkward curtain-strings,
They hang to one side, and the curtain's awry
Couldn't you fix them if you should try?
What makes them so careless about such things

"Some laudanum for me to take!"
Ha! ha! But that is an odd mistake,
The sick man's there at the foot of the bed;
And he groans, and tosses, and tumbles about—
I really wish you would take him out;
For, you see, he is out of his head,
And when a man's head is a little light,
It's queer what silly speeches he'll make;
And with this and that he has kept me awake
For more than half of the night.

And another thing, let me tell you, I—
Stoop, and let me speak in your ear,
I wouldn't for anything have him hear—
That man is going to die.

I could sleep perhaps, but that terrible clock
Rings like a wood-chopper's axe in the wood;
And the blood in my veins pounds with a shock
Like sea-waves breaking against the rock.

I don't understand you; what did you say?
I can't any longer see your face,
And your eyes seem a million miles away,
I think I am going—to sleep—
Call—at five—in that case.

* * * * * *

What wonderful speeches, heavy and deep,
Spin round each other and crawl and creep!
They vanish and gather, they pause and glide,
And dash into mist as they break on me,
Widening out in quivering rings,
While low and lower, I slip and slide
In the fathomless depths of an unknown sea—
A region of shapeless, nebulous things,
A boundless, soundless ocean of air,
I lose the notion of change and place,
My body becomes a point in space,
While I—I seem to be everywhere.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

CHALLENGE
Emollient Ferruginous Soap!
THIS IS A NEW FAMILY SOAP—A TRUE Soap of Health—which has been carefully prepared according to the recipe of the celebrated DR. NELATON, of Paris. The homogeneous and sanitary substances that compose this Soap render it invaluable for general family use, and especially for children troubled with any Eruption of the Skin.
Its soothing properties make it indispensable for Ladies; in warm weather it allays the baneful effects of perspiration, and imparts a delightful softness and coolness to the skin.
The Ferruginous properties of this Soap of Health will strengthen the pores and remove Freckles and Pimples, and prevent in winter the face and hands from Chapping. It will do all that we claim for it, and has only to be tried to be appreciated. Sole Agents and Manufacturers,

Cheap Amusements for San Jose.

They are sadly in want of amusement in in San Jose. They don't mind much what it is so long as it's cheap. The Mercury says:

Brohaska has failed to make satisfactory arrangements with the Bianchi Italian Opera Troupe, for two performances at his opera house. The troupe demanded $600 per night, and would not soil the dust of San Jose with their feet (or vice versa) unless the above sum was guaranteed to them. These high-toned warble s have too high an opinion of their worth, and if the houses they received in San Francisco are any criterion, then four bits a night per singer would be about right We guess we don't want any $600 opera at present.

The houses these "high-toned warblers" have had in San Francisco have amounted to about $1,200 a night rain or shine. As soon as we come across an Italian Opera Troupe that can be hired for four bits a night per singer, we will send it down to San Jose, but even then we are afraid there will be a risk of not getting enough to pay expenses. Better stick to your tea-parties and Lycoume. Some picnic parties are coming up your way from San Francisco soon, and then you can climb over the fence of the gardens and get in for nothing.

The Course of True Love.

The Inndianapolis News says: A Lafayette lover seated himself on a barrel turned on its side, while serenading his heart's mistress. In his ecstacy he rolled the barrel over, slammed his guitar against a shutter in his efforts to regain his balance, and disappeared in the cistern. The bubbling cry of the strong swimmer in his agony, brought out the entire family, including the bull-dog, in various brief and picturesque costumes, ranging all the way from an elaborate robe de nuit and curl papers worn by the innocent cause of it all, to a simple yet serviceable collar, ornamented with spikes, worn by the bull-dog.

P. S.—He was fished out.

A Bone to Pick.

An Eastern man locked his wife up in a room and sent his son to her with a bone. The youth said: "Mother, father sent this up and says here is a bone for you to pick." The gentle mother replied: "Take it back and tell him I say he is not your father and that is a bone for him to pick."

Eating as a Fine Art.

Some one, advocating good dinners, says that eating is a pursuit to which many years of existence are devoted, it is worth while giving attention to it, so that one can dine delicately and well, and convert a vulgar necessity into one of the fine arts."

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. x

Two Nice Little Bills.

While the public bear with equanimity taxes on whisky, cigars, jewelry and other luxuries they become restive when it is proposed to take such legal action as shall increase the price of what they eat. We are glad to see that the Chronicle and the Bulletin have called attention to two nice little bills which it is intended shall be smuggled through during the present session of the Legislature. One is to grant a monopoly of the breeding of eels and lobsters to certain parties offering to introduce them, the other to grant to James Brennan, the exclusive right for two years to plant oysters in the Salinas river and in Monterey Bay. The coolness of this request is absolutely refreshing. Mr. Brennan intends to plant about half an acre of Monterey Bay with oysters and wishes a law passed prohibiting any persons from using any other portion of the bay for the same purpose. He cannot claim that he gives the public anything in return for the privilege which he asks for, private enterprise has already, without any assistance from the State, established beds of Eastern oysters. This system of granting to any person or persons a monopoly in raising any kind of food in any part of the State is utterly wrong and we trust the present Legislature will no disgrace temselves for ever by inagurating it.

A Tough Cat.

In a divorce case pending in Ohio, the grounds of the husband's application are that his wife insists that he shall kill the old cat that has been with them for ten years. He says "it is not because he hates to part with the animal, but the job is too much to ask of him while he is in feeble health, as at present. He has drowned her twice, shot fourteen rifle balls through her vitals, given her half a pound of strychnine, committed hari-kari on her with a pitchfork, and the only effect perceptible is a trifle more tone to her voice and a bay-window over one eye." This is one of the most peculiar concatenations of fortuitous circumstances on record.

Mark Twain's New Book.

"Roughing It," by Mark Twain, is to make its appearance on the 1st of April. This is what he says in his preface:

Yes, take it all all around, there is quite a good deal of information in the book. I regret this, but really it couldn't be helped; information appears to slew out of me naturally, like the precious otter of roses out of the otter. Sometimes it has seemed to me that I would give worlds if I could retain my facts; but it cannot be. The more I calk up the sources, and the tighter I get, the more I leak wisdom. Therefore, I can only claim indulgence at the hands of the reader—not justification.

Enterprise.

Young men for war, and old men for council. Young men of enterprise, who keep honesty as a watch-word in their business, cannot fail of succeeding in whatever undertaking they engage in, if in addition, they furnish the public with an assortment from which to select. Keep the goods people want, sell them at a decent profit, advertise liberally, always have what you advertise, and you must, inevitably, succeed.—Hudson Sun.

A Feathered Performer.

The Sacramento Bee chronicling a robbery of a number of chickens says:

Among the females was the whits theatrical pullet that used to essay so successfully the character of the chicken in Fanchon, when Alice Kingsbury used to play it at the Metropolitan. From being cooped up it has now been illegitimately scooped up and in course of time will surely be souped up. It must be right smart tough by this time.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started The Bivalve oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became the fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. Spreen is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. The Bivalve is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. Shloss's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 Kearny street. THE Julian Gold Mining Company.

[Incorporated under the laws of California, March 15th, 1872.]

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000 IN 10,000 Shares, of $100 each, placed to subscriber at 10 per cent. on par value, $40,000 to remain in the treasury to develop the Mine and defray the cost of erecting a new Twenty-stamp Mill and Steam Hoisting Works. PAYMENTS—On application, $1 per share; on allotment, $1 50 per share; within 60 days, $7 50 per share, or upon issuance of stock. Deposits to be returned in full in event of no allotment. DIRECTORS FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS—J. W. Mather, George D. Roberts, Moritz Mayblum, George W. Beaver and Thomas J. Poulterer. TREASURER—Alexander Forbes. SECRETARY—T. F. Cronise. Applications will be received on the 21st and 22d instant Offices of the Company, 409 California street, San Francisco.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purchase and working of the Julian Gold Mine, situated near Newcastle, on the Central Pacific Railroad. The vendors, instead of giving voluminous reports from professional experts, prefer that parties proposing to subscribe should make a personal examination of the property, which can be readily done. Leaving the city in the morning and returning next day, will afford ample time for an examination of the property, and every facility will be extended those desiring to do so. The following facts are respectfully submitted: LENGTH OF VEIN, 2,500 feet. ALTITUDE, 970 feet above the level of the sea. LOCATION—One mile from the O. P. R. R., Station, at Newcastle, and 113 miles from San Francisco, via Vallejo, in the semi-foothills, and on the main gold-bearing belt extending in a Southerly direction from Nevada to Mariposa county. GEOLOGICAL FORMATION OF THE BELT—Hornblendic, feldspathic and micaceous granite; porphyry; trap, (diorite), and metaphorphic slates. COURSE OF LODE—Northerly and Southerly; dip, easterly 80 degrees; traceable for 5,000 feet. PAY CHUTE—Continuous for 1,334 feet, as proved by workings (mill tests). STRENGTH OF LODE—From three to eight feet; average thickness, three feet six inches. GANGUE—Laminated quartz. METALS—Galena blende, Iron pyrites, gold and silver. TITLE—Perfect; Government Patent applied for. WATER—Ample for steam and milling purposes, or for motive power, if desired at 10 cents per inch miner's measurement. TIMBER—Black and Live Oak for fuel, cost $3,50 per cord; Nut Pine, suitable for timber, etc., abundant. HISTORY—This mine was located in 1859; has been worked continuously and profitably since 1864, with a rude five-stamp mill and imperfect amalgamation, the ore yielding from $8 to $20 per ton. Recent and thorough mill tests assures an average value of $12 50 per ton. PRESENT DEVELOPMENTS.—(See plan of mine). From the first, or fifty-foot level, workings have been extended 1,064 feet. The second, or 150 foot level has been driven northerly and southerly 520 feet. Down to this level, three shafts have been sunk, and a fourth will soon be completed, thus affording thorough ventilation and great facilities for the cheap extraction of large quantities of ore. The main shaft is now down 240 feet, and drifts commenced northerly and southerly on the lode. The developments in depth give assurance of greatly increased values in quality of ores upon further prosecution of the work. By tunnels and levels, the vein is proved to the extent of 1,100 feet; and inclusive of shafts, 1,920 feet in length MILL—A first-class twenty-stamp Mill, with all modern improvements and appliances for saving gold, is now under contract and will be immediately erected. Its crushing capacity will exceed 1,000 tons per month. FINANCES OF THE COMPANY—With the exception of $5,500 payable April 20th, and $ 0,000 within six months thereafter, the company is free from debt. The large reserve in the Treasurer's hands of $40,000, precludes the possibility of an assessment, and assures the payment of DIVIDENDS, within sixty days after the completion of the new mill, which it is safe to predict will amount to at least ten per cent per month upon the valuation at which the mine is placed to subscribers. This, in connection with the certain rapid appreciation in the value of shares, makes the investment peculiarly and exceptionally desirable one. ESTIMATE OF THE ORE RESERVES—We find in the 150-foot level estimating 13 cubic feet in place per ton (see map):

South from Main Shaft	5,169 tons
Between South and Main Shaft	861 tons
Between Main and North Air Shaft	3,724 tons
Between North Air and North Shaft	7,030 tons
Between North Shaft and Mexican	3,969 tons
On the 220-foot Level	19,609 tons
Total	40,362 tons

We can safely estimate in the mine an additional 80 foot lift, extending northerly and southerly below the 220-foot level, which is not counted in the following estimate of values:

Aggregating 40,362 tons, say at $12 per ton	$484,344 00
Cost to mine and raise to the surface, inclusive of dead work, say $2 50 per ton; cost of milling, $1 50 per ton; total, $4	161,448 00
Net profit	$322,896 00

Owing to the fact that the vein carries a good clay seam (gouge), and that scarcely anything but vein matter is extracted, and that drifts can be driven by contract for $5 per lineal foot, the development of the mine is singularly rapid, and will give ample supply for more ore than present and contemplated milling capacity will reduce. Plans of mills, maps, and additional information can be obtained by calling at the office of the Company. mar19 3t

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

We have "the finest climate in the world," as everyone knows, but strangers when they first arrive here don't always find it delightful in its effects. Robert Craig is suffering so much from severe cold and sore throat that he will have to lay off for a day or two, and the management announce for this evening—one night only—the domestic drama of "Bertha," with Miss Henrietta Osborne in the title role. James M. Hardie in his capital impersonation of Jack Eversan, and the original cast. To-morrow evening and Saturday afternoon and evening the popular play of "The Red Pocket Book" will be presented with all the original effects.

Alhambra Theatre.

To-night in addition to the immense attractions offered by Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Harry Stanwood, Fayette Welch, Heywood, the Reynolds Brothers, and the other bright stars making up the great constellation known as the Emerson Minstrels, Add Ryman, of whom we hear great things as a stump speaker and most talented and original Ethiopian comedian, will make his first appearance at the Alhambra Theatre. We advise all who wish to see the best variety show ever given to go to the Alhambra this evening and try to get in.

California Theatre.

"On the Jury" is such a good play and is so admirably acted by Charles Wheatleigh, Miss Rose Evans, Harry Edwards, J. C. Williamson, Mrs. G. R. Saunders, Mrs. Judah, and others engaged in its representation that it cannot fail to please all who witness it. The sensation of the running down of a small boat by a steamer is a thrilling one and the scenery is beautiful.

Bella Union.

At this theatre the beautiful ballet of "Robert le Diable," by M'lle Marie Gaugain and corps de ballet, is a great attraction; the tight rope ascension by Miss Ella La Rue is a feature in the performance; the negro act of "The Siamese Twins" causes much amusement; Eugenia Gerretta performs a song and dance; Maggie Brewer and Miss Fanny Garretson sing popular ballads; Chris Mathews does a very neat song and dance, and Miss Marie Zoel an artistic clog dance. "The Forty Thieves" concludes the entertainment.

Theatre Comique.

There is so much variety in the entertainment at this place of amusement for the million, that all who visit it find an hour or two pass pleasantly away. Songs, dances, acts gymnastic, banjo playing and other features make up a good programme, in which Mike Quinn, Frank Mortimer, J. Kelly, Eva Silva, and a host of others appear to good advantage.

The Great Billiard Match.

This evening the great match game of billiards between J. F. B. McCleery, champion, and William W. Wait, for the silver cue, $500, and the championship of the Pacific Coast, will come off at Platt's Hall. Playing will commence at 8 o'clock. This match excites great interest among billiard players; all believe that each of the players will do his very best to win, and considerable money will change hands on the event. There will be a very large attendance, therefore those who have not already secured reserved seats should go early.

Handel and Haydn Concert.

Mendelsohn's grand oratorio of "Elijah" will be performed to-morrow night by the Handel and Haydn Society, assisted by the best vocal and instrumental talent in the city, under the direction of Prof. Geo. T. Evans.

Oriental Talent.

The Great Republic, due to-day, will bring a very large company of Japanese performers, acrobats and jugglers, known as "The Great Tycoon Troupe." Marshall & Co., are the managers, and propose to exhibit them in this city, and travel generally through the United States.

cEvey's Hibernican.

This panoramic exhibition has arrived and will exhibit in few days.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Parlor Magic.

In a few days a novel establishment will be opened under the title of "Hartz' Conjuring Repository," where every trick performed by all the great "Prestidigitateurs" will be offered for sale. It will be under the superintendence of Mr. Gus. Hartz, brother to the celebrated Hartz who so astonished your citizens with his magical entertainments some three years ago. The Brothers Hartz have a large Repository on Broadway, New York, where their business has succeeded far beyond their anticipations, and so strong is the attraction that their store is crowded from morning till night with purchasers anxious to procure these entertaining novelties. Mr. Hartz will only remain in our city about six weeks, and as soon as he procures a suitable store, will send out his announcement.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 419 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

What Cheer Laundry

"The Marriage of Figaro."

The Washington Critic says of an opera which we wonder has never been played in San Francisco:

It has always been a popular opera in this country, and never more so than since its adoption and presentation by Mme. Rosa and her troupe. "The Marriage of Figaro" is based upon the same general story as that of "The Barber of Seville," although it is of an earlier date than the familiar work of Rossini—the married life of the Count Almiviva being made the subject of Mozart's work, as the young nobleman's difficult and ingenious wooing is the theme of Rossini's chef d'œuvre. In the work before us, however, the lively, shrewd and inventive genius of Figaro, transplanted from the barber's shop to the office of the Count's major-dome, is devoted to punishing the roving gallantry of the master, instead of helping him to win a wife. The endless complications which result from the susceptibility of the Count, the coquettishness of Susanna, (Figaro's betrothed), the jealousy of the Countess, the amorous disposition of the page Cherubina, and, above all, from the fertile expedients of the brilliant ex-barber himself, to say nothing of the intrigues of the venerable Marcellina, to whom he had promised himself—all these make make up the plot of the opera, and afford scope and opportunity for the wonderful affluence of Mozart's genius.

Knew it Well.

A publishing house in Boston had recently employed an Irishman as porter, and one day one of the firm wanted to send him to Berkeley street. "Jim," said he, "do you know where Berkeley street is?" "Yi—yi—yis sir. Oh! yis, sur, sure an' I know." Jim's manner was too hesitating, and his answer did not satisfy his employer. So he asked again, "Are you right sure that you know where Berkeley street is?" "Oh! yis, sur. I know well enough where Berkeley strate is, but I don't just knew it by that name."

An Evasion.

Young ladies who are married according to the old-fashioned ceremony, falter a little now when they come to the word "obey." The latest dodge, however, is to repeat in distinct tones and rapid manner, "Love, honor and be gay." Many a guileless youth gets fooled in this manner these days, but he finds it out too late.

Parepa hams are advertised in Cincinnati. They are very large.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 317 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." G

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. C

BEAR AND FORBEAR.

Be careful, ye, whose wedded hearts
Are lovingly united;
Be heedful, least an enemy
Steal on you uninvited!
A little, wily, serpent form,
With graceful, luring poses—
Or coming in a different guise,
As thorn among the roses!

Be careful, ye, whose marriage bells
Now merrily are ringing;
Be heedful of the bitter word,
The answer keen and stinging—
The sharp retort, the angry eye
Its vivid lightning flashing—
The rock on which so many hopes
Are daily, hourly dashing!

"Bear and forbear"—the only way
To tread life's paths together,
Then come, and welcome, shining sun,
Or come, dark, cloudy weather;
Two wedded hearts, conjoined in one
That cannot live asunder,
Have put Love's golden armor on—
O world, look on and wonder!

The Dolly Vardon.

We have received an inquiry, says the New York Mail, as to who Dolly Varden is, or was. Dolly Varden was the charming daughter of a London locksmith, Gabriel Varden by name and lived in the reign of George the Third. She afterwards become Mrs. Joe Willett. For further information we would refer our inquirer to a certain book reference called "Barnaby Rudge," written of by one Charles Dickens, an author of some local reputation. Whether the lady in question was given to wearing materiales of a startling loud character in color and pattern this deponent has no knowledge nor information sufficient to form a belief. About a year ago, however, some inspired modiste rechristened what were then known as "cretonnes," and called them "Dolly Vardens." The name was at first confined to chintzes, but it spread to other materials. At a late dry goods exposition "Dolly Varden" silks were exhibited, and now whole costumes, whose like was never seen on sea or shore, are named after the charming coquettish little daughter of a London locksmith.

Little Things.

A little hole in a ship sinks it; a small breach in a sea-bank carries all away before; a little stab in the heart kills a man; and a little sin, as it is often improperly called, tends to his final destruction. A little drop has been many a man's ruin—every drunkard began with a single glass.

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITU

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny s

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, after years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is needless to name, has determined to retire from his profession, and enjoy the remainder of his days to quiet-life retirement; but the constant applications from those suffering everywhere, to come to their relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs. Look Here! To spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, 787 Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 15 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST resulted in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and speedy treatment and moderate charges to all."

Leap Year Privileges.

It is remarkable how ladies keep leap year here. The usual form is gone through with on the streets as well as in the parlor. On Saturday I attended the matinee at the New Varieties Theatre, and was amused at the witty freaks of the ladies. Several who had invited gentlemen to accompany them, stepped up to the ticket office, purchased tickets, offered their arm to their company, and seated them in their proper places. The performance over, the lady offered her arm, and after a promenade along Canal street, the usual courtesy would be extended by the lady paying the fare in the street cars. The other evening in one of the Baronne street cars, just about the time there is a great rush and the cars crowded, an elderly gentleman entered the car. Every seat was occupied, and as he turned to leave, a lady left her seat, and taking the venerable gentleman by the arm, said in a low, sweet voice: "Pray be seated, sir; take my place." As he was about to decline, she said: "No, sir; I insist upon your taking it. This is Leap Year, you know." This little action caused many a compliment to pass from the lips of the male passengers.—New Orleans Correspondence.

A Travelled Man.

The Alta's dramatic critic shows his knowledge of London in his notice of the play of "On the Jury:"

Both the Garden scene in the second act and the London Bridge scene, depicting the Thames river, with passing boats, and Nelson's column, St. Paul's tower, and other well-known London features, are beautifully represented.

It will be news to most Londoners that Nelson's column has been removed from Charing Cross to the City of London and placed near London Bridge; also that the dome of St. Paul's has been replaced by a tower. This is enough to astonish a New Zealander.

A Bad Place.

The Chicago Hotel Register says:

Wm. M. Tweed, Jr., the son of his father, also one of his father's bondsmen, joint proprietor of the Metropolitan, etc., arrived at the Sherman Saturday.

We wonder that the Boss allowed the boy to go to such a bad place as Chicago. He may get his morals corrupted there and forget all his father's good teachings.

Very Unsafe.

A Philadelphia woman, persuaded of the truth of the saying, "In the midst of life we are in death," keeps a coffin in her bedroom, in which she sleeps at night, greatly to the disgust of her spouse. She'll find herself boxed up some night. The disgusted spouse will put the lid on.

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. x

A Remarkable Story.

The amateur dramatic critic of the Bulletin, though the story of the drama of "On the Jury" had been printed in good English in FIGARO the day before must needs give his own version of it in Tuesday's issue. This is the way in which he starts in:

The story is this: Abel Ferrers is trusted in an American firm, who marries a beautiful girl without the consent of her wealthy parent and is cast off without a dollar.

Of course from this beginning one would suppose that the "American firm who marries a beautiful girl without the consent of her wealthy parent and is cast off without a dollar," is the hero of the story, but it isn't. That youth will learn to write English in course of time, but his "compositions" in the Bulletin are distressing to read.

A Success.

The I X L Auction Store, 616 Kearny street is a notable success. From a small store with a small stock of desirable fancy goods, such as it was three months ago, it has grown to be one of the largest stores on Kearny street, stocked with an excellent variety of fancy articles, clothing, housekeeping and furnishing goods. The clerks are kept busy night and day, and the run of business is immense. This is a happy result, but it isn't everyone who can do likewise. Flavin is a sharp, shrewd business man, thoroughly posted in the variety and fancy-goods trade, and withal doesn't hide his light under a bushel, for he has advertised liberally in FIGARO, and we are glad to see that he has profited thereby.

Typos' Blunders.

Printers sometimes make queer blunders in setting up MSS. The poets suffer most deeply. Nothing could be worse, for instance, than the bard who asserted in his copy, that "he kissed her under the silent stars," only to find that the compositor compelled him to "kick her under the cellar stars." Those things are peculiarly unpleasant when they occur in remarks upon death; as in the case of the editor, who while writing a paragraph, observed that "Mr Smith could hardly bear the loss of a wife," only to find that the printer had made it "Mr. Smith could hardly bear such a boss of a wife."

The Tichborne Case.

We are to have the Tichborne trial all over again, Robert Orton the claimant to the estates and baronetcy being now in Newgate charged with perjury. Of course they know more about the case in England than we can in California, but we wonder if it has occurred to anyone there that though Robert Orton is not Roger Tichborne, he may still have Tichborne blood in his veins. His likeness to the family is confessed to be remarkable. His mother resided on the Tichborne estate. It is not certain by any means that Robert Orton is the son of a butcher, and perhaps something startling may come out in the new trial.

Enough Grandfathers.

A short time ago an infant was baptized at Molis, in Switzerland, who will be able by and by to boast that he entered life under remarkable circumstances. He is the son of a father aged 19 years. His two grandfathers are 50 and 71; two great-grandfathers 73 and 78, and his great-great-grandfather, 88.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up Mrs. E. SHLOSS's new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 KEARNY STREET. The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to THE HAT STORE, 649 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at THE HAT STORE.

Julian Gold Mining Company.

[Incorporated under the laws of California, March 15th, 1872.]

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000 IN 10,000 Shares, of $100 each, placed to subscribers at 10 per cent. on par value, $40,000 to remain in the treasury to develop the Mine and defray the cost of erecting a new Twenty-stamp Mill and Steam Hoisting Works. PAYMENTS—On application, $1 per share; on allotment, $1 50 per share; within 60 days, $7 50 per share, or upon issuance of stock. Deposits to be returned in full in event of no allotment. DIRECTORS FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS—J. W. Mather, George D. Roberts, Moritz Mayblum, George W. Beaver and Thomas J. Poulterer. TREASURER—Alexander Forbes. SECRETARY—T. F. Cronise. Applications will be received on the 21st and 22d instant. Offices of the Company, 409 California street, San Francisco.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purchase and working of the Julian Gold Mine, situated near Newcastle, on the Central Pacific Railroad. The vendorr, instead of giving voluminous reports from professional experts, prefer that parties proposing to subscribe should make a personal examination of the property, which can be readily done. Leaving the city in the morning and returning next day, will afford ample time for an examination of the property, and every facility will be extended those desiring to do so. The following facts are respectfully submitted: LENGTH OF VEIN, 2,500 feet. ALTITUDE, 970 feet above the level of the sea. LOCATION—One mile from the C. P. R. R., Station, at Newcastle, and 112 miles from San Francisco, via Vallejo, in the semi-foothills, and on the main gold-bearing belt extending in a Southerly direction from Nevada to Mariposa county. GEOLOGICAL FORMATION OF THE BELT—Hornblendic, feldspathic and micaceous granite; porphyry; trap, (diorite), and metaphorhic slates. COURSE OF LODE—Northerly and Southerly; dip, easterly 80 degrees; traceable for 5,000 feet. PAY CHUTE—Continuous for 1,384 feet, as proved by workings (mill tests). STRENGTH OF LODE—From three to eight feet; average thickness, three feet six inches. GANGUE—Laminated quartz. METALS—Galena blende, Iron pyrites, gold and silver. TITLE—Perfect; Government Patent applied for. WATER—Ample for steam and milling purposes, or for motive power, if desired at 10 cents per inch miner's measurement. TIMBER—Black and Live Oak for fuel, cost $3,50 per cord; Nut Pine, suitable for timber, etc., abundant. HISTORY—This mine was located in 1859; has been worked continuously and profitably since 1864, with a rude five-stamp mill and imperfect amalgamation, the ore yielding from $8 to $20 per ton. Recent and thorough mill tests assures an average value of $12 50 per ton. PRESENT DEVELOPMENTS.—(See plan of mine). From the first, or fifty-foot level, workings have been extended 1,064 feet. The second, or 150-foot level has been driven northerly and southerly 520 feet. Down to this level, three shafts have been sunk, and a fourth will soon be completed, thus affording thorough ventilation and great facilities for the cheap extraction of large quantities of ore. The main shaft is now down 250 feet, and drifts commenced northerly and southerly on the lode. The developments in depth give assurance of greatly increased values in quality of ores upon further prosecution of the work. By tunnels and levels, the vein is proved to the extent of 1,100 feet; and inclusive of shafts, 1,920 feet in length. MILL—A first-class twenty-stamp Mill, with all modern improvements and appliances for saving gold, is now under contract and will be immediately erected. Its crushing capacity will exceed 1,600 tons per month. FINANCES OF THE COMPANY—With the exception of $5,500 payable April 20th, and $10,000 within six months thereafter, the company is free from debt. The large reserve in the Treasurer's hands of $40,000, precludes the possibility of an assessment, and assures the payment of DIVIDENDS, within sixty days after the completion of the new mill, which it is safe to predict will amount to at least ten per cent. per month upon the valuation at which the mine is placed to subscribers. This, in connection with the certain rapid appreciation in the value of shares, makes the investment a peculiarly and exceptionally desirable one. ESTIMATE OF THE ORE RESERVES—We find in the 150-foot level estimating 13 cubic feet in place per ton (see map):

South from Main Shaft	5,169 tons
Between South and Main Shaft	861 tons
Between Main and North Air Shaft	3,722 tons
Between North Air and North Shaft	7,030 tons
Between North Shaft and Mexican	3,984 tons
On the 230-foot Level	19,600 tons
Total	40,362 tons

We can safely estimate in the mine an additional 80 foot lift, extending northerly and southerly below the 230-foot level, which is not counted in the following estimate of values:

Aggregating 40,362 tons, say at $12 per ton	$484,344 00
Cost to mine and raise to the surface, inclusive of dead work and waste, $1 70 per ton; cost of milling, $1 50 per ton; total, $4	161,448 00
Net profit	$322,896 00

Owing to the fact that the vein carries a good clay seam (gouge), and that scarcely anything but vein matter is extracted, and that drifts can be driven by contract for $5 per lineal foot, the development of the mine is singularly rapid, and will give ample supply for more ore than present and contemplated milling capacity will reduce. Plans of mills, maps, and additional information can be obtained by calling at the office of the Company. mar19 2t

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"On the Jury" will be played this evening, at the matinee to-morrow, and to-morrow evening for the last time. The engagement of Charles Wheatleigh closes with the present week. Next week will be devoted to benefits of various members of the California Theatre Company.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night the very popular play of "The Red Pocket Book" will be revived with all its original scenery and effects. It will be played at the matinee to-morrow and to-morrow evening. Many who did not see this capital play when it was first produced will avail themselves of this opportunity and others will be glad to see it again.

Alhambra Theatre.

Add Ryman, the famous stump speaker, made his first appearance last night and made a great hit in a speech on the condition of the country. On being recalled Mr. Ryman said he hoped in the course of a day or two to have ready a stump speech treating on local topics entirely. Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Harry Stanwood, Fayette Welch, Heywood, and the Reynolds Brothers appeared in a varied programme. This excellent bill will be presented this evening and at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

The grand ballet of "Robert le Diable" in which M'lle Marie Gaugain is ably supported by Miss Carrie Chapman and corps de ballet will be performed for the last time to-night. The act of "The Siamese Twins" by Lon McCarthy, Tommy Bree, Mat Kelly, and Samwells, is received nightly with roars of laughter; Miss Ella La Rue gains great applause for her tight rope ascension, and a varied and attractive entertainment is given. An entirely new bill will be presented to-morrow night.

Theatre Comique.

There is so much variety in the entertainment at this place of amusement for the million, that all who visit it find an hour or two pass pleasantly away. Songs, dances, acts, gymnastics, banjo playing and other features make up a good programme, in which Mike Quinn, Frank Mortimer, J. Kelly, Eva Silva, and a host of others appear to good advantage.

Handel and Haydn Concert.

To-night Mendelssohn's grand oratorio of "Elijah" will be produced with a full orchestra and chorus of one hundred and fifty voices, directed by Prof. Geo. T. Evans. Every seat in the house has been taken, and there will be a grand gathering together of the lovers of clasical music. The names of the soloists appear on our first page. A full rehearsal held yesterday was most satisfactory and guarranteed the success of the performance to be given this evening.

The Great Billiard Match.

The match for the silver cue between J. B. F. McCleery and Wm. W. Wait resulted in a victory for the former, Mr. Wait being beaten by 600 points.

A Rubber at Whist.

Whist is the fashionable amusement at the London Club houses, and it is being introduced by degrees in San Francisco. A rubber game between Messrs. Campbell and Sheppard and Grant and Evans came off at the Charing Cross on Tuesday evening, the former winning by the following score: 1st game, 16—9; 2d game, 8—11; 3d game 10—6. A return game will be played next Wednesday evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Arrivals from Watsonville.

Among the arrivals from Watsonville this week we have to chronicle that of a number of lively individuals who will receive a most hearty welcome from epicures. For some weeks there has not been a terrapin in the city; even Jack Combes ran out of these delicious little animals. The Watsonville terrapin have come consigned to him, and will be served up in artistically prepared stews at the "Terrapin Lunch," corner of Second and Tahama streets. For what we are going to receive let us be thankful. We are opposed to monopolies, but as Jack Combes can cook a terrapin better than anyone else, we don't object to his having the only ones in the city.

Correct Again.

A Scientific writer says: "It is not generally known that water in a pistol, at short range, is a more destructive charge than any bullet of lead. We always said so. We knew from our earliest infancy that water was a dangerous liquid—hence our temperate use of it internally. It's bully to wash in.

Puffing and blowing are often considered as synonymous terms. You will discover a difference, however, if, instead of puffing a man up, you should blow him up.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 903 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Scuther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Irish Actors and Actresses.

The Irish have been extremely prolific in actors of superior excellence. Quin and Macklin stood in the front rank of the histrionic art, and were excelled only by Garrick Both Mossop and Spranger Barry were actors whose talents were honored with marked applause. Of famous and beautiful actresses, from the days of the brilliant Woffington, Ireland can boast several. Mrs. Clive and Mrs. Abington were Irish; Miss Farren (afterwards Countess of Derby) was the daughter of a Cork apothecary, who dwelt in those Groves of the Pool, celebrated by the facetious Milliken; Mrs. Glover, that most accomplished actress, whose humor is thoroughly racy of the soil, was an Irishwoman. It is asserted that Charles Kean was a native of Waterford; and it is believed that Ireland has a claim to one of his parents, as likewise in the case of Macready, whose father was an Irishman. The rarity of finding persons who unite muscular strength with mercurial volatility, is the reason why there have been so few great actors. The great actor and the great orator must each be strong and sensitive; and sturdiness is seldom united with sensibility. Garrick had both qualities to a high degree; so had Mrs. Siddons and Miss O'Neil. In the Irish people generally there is a certain physical union of these opposite qualities of strength and susceptibility; and in this respect they are not unlike the ancient Greeks, to whom divers writers have assimilated their psychological as well as physiological character. Hence results the number of eminent Irish actors and actresses: and to a similar cause might be assigned the number of Irish orators.

Cause for Divorce.

A fourteen-year-old girl was a witness in a recent Indiana divorce case, and a portion of her evidence was as follows:

Father got mad because mother starched his stockings; mother picked up the stockings and hit father on the head with them and it sounded as though they were sticks of wood. Father then stuffed a hot wheat, cake down mother's throat, and mother set the dog on father and twisted the dog's tail to make him bite harder.

"To What Base Uses," Etc.

The Sacramento Bee says:

The queues of Chinese convicts are cut off when they get to San Quentin, and said queues are afterward made up—a la Mexican style—into horse-bridles. We suppose a Democratic mustang would "buck against" having one of these bridles placed on him.

A Boston paper contains the following cheering news for the poor: "The price of diamonds will be lower next season."

Make Your Home Beautiful

By adorning its walls with pleasant pictures in beautiful frames. W. A. KOLLMYER, dealer in pictures, and mirror and picture frame maker, 640 Washington street, just below Kearny, will, at a wonderfully small cost, transform the dullest looking room into a bright, cheerful budoir. A

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. O

DOLLY VARDEN.

BY SALLIE J. BATTEY.

Jaunty, "nobby" Dolly revels
In her modern resume
Of the English Dolly's costume,
Told about in "Barnaby."

'Tis a polonaise of roses,
Looped above a skirt of grey,
Ruffled, belted, draped and buttoned,
In a style quite recherche.

Vines and stripes, half-open posies
Folded leaves of arabesque;
Square of neck and short of shoulder—
Dolly looks quite Dickens-esque.

Standing where the road and river
Cross upon life's thoroughfare;
Light of heart and gay of spirit,
With an air quite debonnaire.

Ah! these lovely out-door costumes,
With a Louis XIV. vest,
Made up in the latest fashion,
A la Madame Demorest!

Attentive Young Men.

Down in Wilmington, some time ago, an old man who was very feeble was helped across a crowded street by a youth of twenty. A month afterwards the old man died, and as an expression of his gratitude he left the youth forty thousand dollars. And now no old man's life is safe in Wilmington. All the young fellows have had their ambition excited, and as soon as any venerable man appears on the sidewalk a dozen chaps rush at him, grab him by the coat and the collar, and the back hair, and try to carry him across the street whether he wants to go or not. When he gets there a lot more fasten on to him and present their cards. So the old men in Wilmington are having a lively time now; and they have to tackle up the street whenever they go out for a walk.

Hartford is happy over a greyhound that sings. If he is a star performer his name should be Sirius.

William Shakespeare lives in Alabama and at the grocery store he is celebrated as a mellow-drammer.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand, Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he has determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet life; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their aid, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs. Look Monument, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the previous his practice as a SPECIALIST results in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

Amusements in the Interior

The Vallejo Chronicle urges the people to support dramatic entertainments, and says:

There is no reason why Vallejo should not support a first-class theatrical or concert troupe, at least for a few nights in the month, and the completion of Farragut Hall will, it is hoped, remove an objection that has been long urged by some of the better class of play-goers. It should be so that every star who visits San Francisco will feel it necessary and profitable to play a short engagement at Vallejo before returning to the East. Oakland has recently built a theatre, and the profits of the manager for three nights were over $300, and the attendance is increasing rather than diminishing. This year San Francisco will be visited professionally by John S. Clarke, John E. Owens, Lawrence Barrett, Edwin Adams, Lotta, Parepa-Rosa, and perhaps Clara Louise Kellogg, and there is no reason why all these eminent artistes should not appear in Vallejo. As we soon will have a passable theatre, and as we expect livelier and better times, it is hoped that Vallejo will not be altogether slighted by the gifted ones of the stage. The new hall will, we presume, be dedicated by Joseph Proctor and troupe, and the company is capable of producing in good style all the plays in the list. If Messrs. McCullough and Lyster, of the California Theatre, will only make it an object of inquiry they can furnish legitimate amusement to the people here without running any great financial risk. When San Jose, Oakland and Petaluma can afford to support theatres, there is no excuse for Vallejo remaining in the background.

Not Exact Enough.

The Bulletin of Wednesday had the following:

Last evening a fair audience assembled in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association to hear some vocal singing from a blind artist, for whose benefit the entertainment was planned. After waiting for some time the blind man did not appear, and the disgusted audience filed out of the hall into the street, and toward home.

The writer should have been more exact and said that the "vocal singing was by a blind artist who had lost his sight." Then he might have said the audience "filed out of the hall into the street, into the open air, out of doors," etc.

The Great Moral Show.

Barnum advertises for three hundred men to travel with his great moral show. They must abstain from spirituous liquors and profane language. There is no injunction against lying. It would be impossible to carry on a great show without it. See Barnum's autobiography.

The philosopher is sound who says that it is very nice to make love to a young and blooming maiden; but when it comes to stating the financial condition to a father-in-law who can't be fooled by pretty speeches, the bravest man sinks into mere nothingness.

An exchange says: "The real author of "Beautiful Snow" is now driving a fish-cart in Brattleboro, Vermont." So he has exchanged his pegasus for a donkey, and instead of scaling the empyrean heights, he scales fish.

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies knew from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. The Overland Monthly.

The Overland Monthly for April is out and for sale everywhere. The first paper is entitled "Sea Studies," a labored piece of word-painting, pretty well done but without any breeziness or salt water flavor about it. "A Ride Through Oregon" is capitally written; the author takes his reader with him on a most pleasant trip, and gives him useful information. Joaquin Miller is generally credited with the article. The constant allusions to England when the author seeks a comparison show that Joaquin turns with fond affection and grateful remembrance towards the land that adopted him when she found him, as it were, left on her doorstep a sort of poetic foundling in need of adoption. "Sea Bubbles" is some pretty doggrel (it isn't poetry or even good verse) by Charles Warren Stoddard. "Three Days of Sanctuary" is a well-told story by some one who has read "heaps of novels," and can write good English. "The Northern California Indians, No. I," is a photographic sketch of a race rapidly dwindling away, very truthful, not very pleasant; the story about the coyote is the best part of it. "Exhumed" is a strange story briefly told. "Evelyn" is poetry; we speak advisedly; the last verse is the weakest. "Wants and Advantages of California" contains an immense amount of valuable information compressed into small compass, and those having friends in other States desirous of knowing something about California cannot do better than to send them the April number of the Overland Monthly containing an article which will tell them nearly all they need know. "Juanita" isn't a bad story (there's no real trash in this number until we come to the end, but of that we shall speak hereafter), but it is spun out a page or two too much. The same sort of criticism will apply to "Abigal Ray's Vision," of which we have only Part I in this number. There is a little too much description of the heroine, which, though well written, is somewhat tedious. It would have been much better if the whole story could have been given in one number, though Abigail Ray is "described" sufficiently to make her last through a three-volume novel. "In the Shadow of St. Helena" is written in a very free and pleasing style, and is in this particular very unlike "Yosemite Valley in Flood," which is full of attempts at fine writing which are very unpleasant. "Sam Rice's Romance" is a good story, with plenty of character in it. We want one such story in each number of the Overland Monthly; the author or authoress (we haven't an idea who it is) may consider himself or herself engaged. The first two or three papers under the head of "Etc." are pleasant enough and well-written. One on "The Bohemian Club" is very warm and genial. This department winds up with three bits of utter bosh, so coarse, silly and idiotic that it seems as if they must have been "made up" in the form of the Overland by some error, having been set for some dime jest book in process of manufacture in the same office. The first is an anecdote which tells of an ex-army blackguard who for fun cut an Indian's pet dog in half instead of trimming its ears and tail. This is called an "amusing anecdote." Then comes some of the most silly, drivelling doggrel about a girl whose name was Fan, and when you saw her you could "Fan-see," and when she lived in an attic she was "Fan-atic." Ough! The third idiocy is a story to the effect that some one one day said he wondered why some preacher didn't preach on real estate speculation and take for his text, "Remember Lot's ——" We are sorry to find such stuff as this in an otherwise good number. The book-notices are good; that on Robert Dale Owen's latest work, "The Debatable Land between This World and the Next," is particularly well written, and the writer expresses his opinion of the work as freely and in as unprejudiced a spirit as we have ours of the Overland Monthly for April.

Plain Talk Best.

One of the most powerful instruments of vice, the most fatal of all its poisoned weapons, is the abuse of words, by which good and bad feeling are blended together, and its deformity concealed, from an apparent alliance to some proximate virtue. Prodigality and dissipation are liberality and high spirit. Covetousness—frugality. Flattery—good breeding. As society advances in civilization, the power of this engine does not diminish. To give harsh deeds soft names is one of the evils of refinement. In preventing this confusion; in preventing the abuse of words; in sustaining a high tone of moral feeling, on giving harsh names to harsh deeds, the preservation of the boundries between virtue and vice mainly depends.

That's What We Want.

The local items of the Bulletin speaking of a "Historic Presidential chart," says:

A brief study of this ingenious work indelibly impresses a skeleton of the American Republic upon the memory.

That must be nice. We just long to have a skeleton of the American Republic impressed on our memory if it will do us any good, though we hardly like to consider the Republic in that bony light. However, we must have it, and we hope that the Bulletin's localitems will get some other work which will impress a skeleton of Lindley Murray on his memory.

Julian Gold Mining Company.

[Incorporated under the laws of California, March 15th, 1872.]

Capital stock, $1,000,000 in 10,000 Shares, of $100 each, placed to subscribers at 10 per cent. on par value, $40,000 to remain in the treasury to develop the Mine and defray the cost of erecting a new Twenty-stamp Mill and Steam Hoisting Works. PAYMENTS—On application, $1 per share; on allotment, $1 50 per share: within 60 days, $7 50 per share, or upon issuance of stock. Deposits to be returned in full in event of no allotment. DIRECTORS FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS—J. W. Mather, George D. Roberts, Moritz Mayblum, George W. Beaver and Thomas J. Poulterer. TREASURER—Alexander Forbes. SECRETARY—T. F. Cronise. Applications will be received on the 21st and 22d instant Offices of the Company, 409 California street, San Francisco.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purchase and working of the Julian Gold Mine, situated near Newcastle, on the Central Pacific Railroad. The vendors, instead of giving voluminous reports from professional experts, prefer that parties proposing to subscribe should make a personal examination of the property, which can be readily done. Leaving the city in the morning and returning next day, will afford ample time for an examination of the property, and every facility will be extended those desiring to do so. The following facts are respectfully submitted: Length of Vein, 2,500 feet. Altitude, 970 feet above the level of the sea. Location—One mile from the C. P. R. R., Station, at Newcastle, and 113 miles from San Francisco, via Vallejo, in the semi-foothills, and on the main gold-bearing belt extending in a Southerly direction from Nevada to Mariposa county. Geological Formation of the Belt—Hornblendic, feldspathic and micaceous granite; porphyry; trap, (diorite), and metaphorphic slates. Course of Lode—Northerly and Southerly; dip, easterly 80 degrees; traceable for 5,000 feet. Pay Chute—Continuous for 1,384 feet, as proved by workings (mill tests). Strength of Lode—From three to eight feet; average thickness, three feet six inches. Gangue—Laminated quartz. Metals—Galena blende, Iron pyrites, gold and silver. Title—Perfect; Government Patent applied for. Water—Ample for steam and milling purposes, or for motive power, if desired at 10 cents per inch miner's measurement. Timber—Black and Live Oak for fuel, cost $3,50 per cord; Nut Pine, suitable for timber, etc., abundant. History—This mine was located in 1859; has been worked continuously and profitably since 1864, with a rude five-stamp mill and imperfect amalgamation, the ore yielding from $8 to $20 per ton. Recent and thorough mill tests assures an average value of $12 50 per ton. Present Developments.—(See plan of mine). From the first, or fifty-foot level, workings have been extended 1,064 feet. The second, or 150-foot level has been driven northerly and southerly 520 feet. Down to this level, three shafts have been sunk, and a fourth will soon be completed, thus affording thorough ventilation and great facilities for the cheap extraction of large quantities of ore. The main shaft is now down 230 feet, and drifts commenced northerly and southerly on the lode. The developments in depth give assurance of greatly increased values in quality of ores upon further prosecution of the work. By tunnels and levels, the vein is proved to the extent of 1,100 feet; and inclusive of shafts, 1,920 feet in length. Mill—A first-class twenty-stamp Mill, with all modern improvements and appliances for saving gold, is now under contract and will be immediately erected. Its crushing capacity will exceed 1,000 tons per month. Finances of the Company—With the exception of $5,500 payable April 20th, and $5,000 within six months thereafter, the company is free from debt. The large reserve in the Treasurer's hands of $40,000, precludes the possibility of an assessment, and assures the payment of DIVIDENDS, within sixty days after the completion of the new mill, which it is safe to predict will amount to at least ten per cent per month upon the valuation at which the mine is placed to subscribers. This, in connection with the certain rapid appreciation in the value of shares, makes the investment a peculiarly and exceptionally desirable one. Estimate of the Ore Reserves—We find in the 150-foot level estimating 13 cubic feet in place per ton (see map):

South from Main Shaft	5,159 tons
Between South and Main Shaft	861 tons
Between Main and North Air Shaft	3,771 tons
Between North Air and North Shaft	7,030 tons
Between North Shaft and Mexican	3,992 tons
On the 230-foot Level	19,600 tons
Total	40,363 tons

We can safely estimate in the mine an additional 80 foot lift, extending northerly and southerly below the 230-foot level, which is not counted in the following estimate of values:

Aggregating 40,362 tons, say at $12 per ton	$484,344 00
Cost to mine and raise to the surface, inclusive of dead work, say $2 50 per ton; cost of milling, $1 50 per ton; total, $4	161,448 00
Net profit	$322,896 00

Owing to the fact that the vein carries a good clay seam (gouge), and that scarcely anything but vein matter is extracted, and that drifts can be driven by contract for $3 per lineal foot, the development of the mine is singularly rapid, and will give ample supply for more ore than present and contemplated milling capacity will reduce. Plans of mills, maps, and additional information can be obtained by calling at the office of the Company. mar19 2t

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Crowded houses, a dress circle blooming nightly with fashionably dressed ladies, and everybody satisfied has been the record of the Alhambra's business for weeks past. The present bill will be given for the matinee to-day, this evening and to-morrow evening for the last time. On Monday a new programme will be presented, consisting of acts by Emerson, Milburn, Hyman, Welch, Stanwood, Heywood, and the Reynolds Brothers, and ballads by Norman and Holdsworth. It would seem as if Manager Maguire had talent enough to draw yet for months to come, but he thinks different, and announces to-day two new people under engagement to appear shortly. Mr. J. C. Russell, from the Philadelphia theatres, said to be one of the very best baritones on the stage, and Sam Rickey, from Butler's New Theatre, New York, an excellent Ethiopian and Irish comedian.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE. "The Red Pocket Book" with its original mechanical effects, fine scenery, and thrilling plot, will be presented at the matinee to-day, this evening and to-morrow night. "The Red Pocket Book" is splendidly mounted, the ship scene is the finest marine stage effect ever put on the American stage and should be seen by every theatre-goer before its withdrawal.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—Watts Phillips's sterling drama of "On the Jury" will be performed at the matinee to-day, and this evening for the last time. On Monday the performance will consist of the drama entitled "An Irishman's Heart" and the farce of "Jones's Baby."

BELLA UNION.—In addition to the usual excellent first part and variety interlude given nightly at this popular bijou theatre, the extravaganza of the "Forty Thieves," embracing the full strength of the company in the cast, will be given to-night; the whole concluding with the ballet "La Fete d'Asnieres," for the first time, with M'lle Marie Gaugain and full corps de ballet. The same bill to-morrow.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—An unusually good variety entertainment will be given here to-night Mr. George L. Wallace, from the Eastern Theatres, and the Mayfield Sisters, song and dance performers, will make their first appearance. The programme for this evening and to-morrow evening will be found on the first page.

HANDEL AND HAYDN SOCIETY.—A splendid audience was present last night at Platt's Hall last night, when the Handel and Haydn Society gave the first part of the oratorio of "Elijah." It was an ambitious undertaking, and was a complete success, financially and musically. The orchestra and chorus occupied the full capacity of the stage, and showed a thorough mastery of the music, under the careful drilling of the popular conductor, Geo. Mr T. Evans. The solos and recitatives were well given. The success of our home talent musicians in oratorio demands a repetition at the hands of the public.

CLIFF HOUSE.—The Summer has fairly commenced and the bright sunny days we are enjoying will send everyone out on the road to the Cliff House, where they will find the best of cheer provided by Captain Foster, the most genial of hosts.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE IMPROVEMENTS.—The California Theatre is being pulled down and rebuilt by the newspapers, and elaborate plans—all different—on which the theatre is to be improved, have been published. One paper raises the dress circle, another lowers it, and so on. The fact is these amateur architects know nothing about the matter. No plans have been adopted nor can any until John McCullough returns from the East where he has inspected the chief theatres. When anything is decided on, the public will find full particulars in the columns of FIGARO, the only authority on dramatic matters.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—This pioneer temple of the drama is undergoing a thorough renovation. Carpenters, whitewashers and fresco artists are hard at work making it as bright as a new pin and ready for the prospective French and Italian opera seasons

JOHN MCCULLOUGH, who has been East in search of novelties, is expected back on Tuesday. He has secured the wonderful Majiltons and other Eastern stars, whom he will shortly introduce at the California Theatre.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—They have had lively times in theatricals in Sacramento. On Monday, St. Patrick's Day, was celebrated by the production of "St. Patrick's Eve" at the Metropolitan Theatre by Proctor's company. On Tuesday evening a performance was given for the benefit of the Orphanage, under the charge of the Sisters of Mercy, when in addition to "St. Patrick's Eve," Mrs. W. R. Williams the successful debutante, recited "The Maniac;" the performance concluded with "Handy Andy." On Tuesday Evening, E. A. Fisher, a mechanic employed in the Central Pacific workshops, made his first appearance on any stage in "Hamlet," and drew a very poor house; the papers say he played it well, but they evidently thought the "horny-handed son of toil" didn't deserve much encouragement. Now mark the difference. On the following night, Hon. W. W. Pendergast, the brilliant senator from Napa county, appeared in "Richelieu" for the benefit of the Howard Benevolent Society. The Record says:

Decidedly the largest and most fashionable audience ever assembled within the walls of this theatre was present last night in honor of the benefit given for the Howard Benevolent Society of this city. For the first time since this theatre was built, every seat in the house had been secured by noon yesterday, and chairs and stools were sold at a premium. When the hour of performance had arrived the theatre was filled to overflowing—orchestra, dress circle, gallery and private boxes, crowded with the elite and beauty of the city.

Of Mr. Pendegast's acting it says:

The rendition of the character was praiseworthy in every particular, and although not fully up to the standard of those in the profession who have made the impersonation a specialty, it must be allowed that the portrayal was a great success. There was no break or mishap throughout the entire play. The gentleman was perfect in the text, and showed a fine appreciation of the character essayed. Mr. Pendegast was warmly welcomed on his first appearance, and justly complimented by calls before the curtain at the end of the first, fourth and fifth acts. At the close of the play he was called upon for a speech, and in response, he begged to assure the audience that he had undertaken the part with considerable fear as to the result, but he himself felt pleased now, and desired to thank Mr. Proctor and the members of his company for the courtesies to him extended.

The Union says:

Mr Pendegast's representation of the wily cardinal was a success—a decided success—as an amateur performance, and that of course is the stand-point from whence to judge it, for there are none who can essay with such slight experience a character so trying in competition with the performance of a professional artiste. Notwithstanding many defects apparent, the debutante rendered the part with such intelligence and honesty that the audience were, unexpectedly, well entertained.

All of which means, as we, practised in the ways of critics, can plainly understand, that Mr. Pendegast's Richelieu was rather an amateurish performance. It was repeated however on Friday evening. To-night the performance will be for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds. Mrs. Edmonds is better known as Miss Frank Grass, and made her first appearance on the stage in Sacramento. On Wednesday evening Mrs. F. M. Bates had a complimentary benefit at Turn Verein Hall for which Mrs. W. A. Anderson, Mrs. George Chapman, Charley Rhoades and others volunteered, "The Married Rake" and "A Conjugal Lesson" were performed, and an olio of song and recitations was given.

OAKLAND.—"St. Patrick's Eve" was performed on Monday, and again on Wednesday evening at the Academy of Music. Last night was opera night, and "Il Trovatore" was to have been presented by Miss McKenzie and Signor Bianchi's Italian Opera Troupe. The reason why the performance did not take place, is as follows: Signor Bianchi on the representations made by John Maguire of the difficulties, under which he labored in getting up a subscription list, reduced his charge for the services of his troupe for one night, rather than disappoint those of the people of Oakland who had subscribed. At the last moment, another appeal was made to him, and having been advertised to appear, he agreed to give the performance on Mr. Maguire handing over to him out of the money he had collected, a sufficient sum to pay the artists orchestra and chorus under engagement to him, charging nothing for his own services and those of Signor Bianchi. Mr. Maguire told him $200 was all he could possibly give him. "Then," said Signora Bianchi, "You shall have your opera for $200." On this the ambitious young manager who is evidently not strong enough for the position he assumes to fill, with a great flourish presented Signor Bianchi with his check for that amount! Now the name of John Maguire is not so well known in commercial circles that his paper is as good as gold, and Signor Bianchi, very naturally, objected to receive the check. No one could be found to convert the paper into money; no stage fairy was there to turn John Maguire's paper into gold therefore there was no opera. The Oakland people who subscribed for the opera must look to John Maguire for their money. Signor Bianchi did his best to fulfil his part of the contract and must be held blameless in this matter.

MARYSVILLE.—The Amateurs gave a performance at the theatre on Wednesday evening. "The Hunchback" was performed and Miss Mary Watson made her appearance in the character of Julia. Her performance of the part is highly praised by the Marysville papers. The theatre was well filled and the affair altogether a success.

ANAHEIM.—Professor Hermen gave an entertainment of legerdemain and Ethiopian character sketches on Thursday and Friday evenings last week.

GRASS VALLEY.—The Ellerton Troupe gave a dramatic performance at Hamilton Hall on last Thursday night and will give another at the same place this evening. The Union says:

The minstrels will soon give another performance here, and they are rehearsing a new play entitled "A Trip to Nevada City. The play has been been written by a distinguished literary gentleman of his city, and those who have seen the rehearsal pronounce the comedy to be one of the best which has yet been given by the disciples of burnt cork.

PETALUMA.—The Lancashire Bell Ringers assisted by George Fane, J. H. Campbell and others, were announced to perform at the Petalnma Theatre last night and to-night.

SAN JOSE.—San Jose has made an effort, and is to have a night of opera. Bianchi's Opera Troupe will present "Il Trovatore" with Miss McKenzie in the leading role on Tuesday evening.

LOS ANGELES.—Signorina Adelina Frenchel and Signor Albert Frenchel, assisted by local talent gave a concert at Merced Theatre on Wednesday.

NEVADA.—The Grass Valley Union of the 20th says:

Ellerton's Dramatic Troupe will perform at Nevada City Thursday evening next. The Troupe is composed of Ellerton, Ward, Everett, and the Misses Griffin. All are good performers. The two young ladies have just started in the theatrical profession and they will attain success. They are most deserving young ladies in every way.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Piper's Opera House is open with Amelia Dean's Female Minstrels, comprising Charles Vincent, Little Maggie Knight, Edgar and Ethel Stanley, and many others. Business is good. A ladies' night is given once a week and a matinee on Saturday.

PORTLAND, O.—"Griffith Gaunt" was produced by G. B. Waldron and company at the Oro Fino Theatre on the 14th and ran two nights. "The Colleen Bawn" was produced on the 16th. Aline Le Favre, Johnny Manning, Lew Parker, Johnny Ewers and others were at the Theatre Comique up to the 16th, but Le Favre, Manning and May Leroy came back to San Francisco on the last steamer leaving the Theatre Comique company rather thin, and, we presume, houses to match. The Daily Dramatic Chronicle has dropped the "Dramatic" portion of its title and is now the Daily Chronicle, it is a bright, well edited little sheet.

DENVER, Col.—Purdy, Scott and Fostelle's California Minstrels occupied the Denver Theatre up to the 10th, and were doing well. Ettie Barker, Add Weaver, Martin Weaver and others were at the Cricket Varieties.

OMAHA, Neb.—T. S. Riggs, the Irish comedian, commenced an engagement at the Academy of Music on the 13th in "Shin Fane; or, Shamrock Green"; he was to play three night. Harry Spriggs, Miss Ella Martel, M'lle Cecille and others were at the Atlantic Hall Varieties.

BLACK HAWK, Col.—By the Black Hawk Bugle we learn that the Alhambra Varieties is open with a company comprising Miss Carrie Duval and other artists.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

See Silberstein's new styles. O

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." O

The Bon vivant's Resort.

Gourmets have a wonderful knack of finding out a place where their cultivated tastes are sure to be gratified. It is not long ago that Jones' Oyster Palace, next door to the California Theatre, was started, yet it is the favorite resort of epicures who there enjoy delicious suppers and oysters in style. The handsomely furnished private rooms for dinner and supper parties, are generally admired. Frank Dumont, Jones' first lieutenant, is celebrated as a manager. O

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

We have no later advices from New York than those of March 11th. At the Academy of Music the first week of the farewell season of Italian Opera by the Nilsson troupe was unprecedentedly successful. Four performances were given during the week with the following financial results: Monday, "Mignon," $4,017; Wednesday, "Martha," $4,468; Friday, "Il Trovatore," $5,16.; and the matinee of "Mignon," on Saturday, $4,78.; making a total of $18,430 for the week....Niblo's Garden with Mrs. John Wood in "La Belle Sauvage" is doing only a fair business. The New York Atlas says:

Mrs. Wood has not changed in appearance since her departure from New York six years ago, and if there is a change it is not perceptible through the glare of the footlights. She is as handsome, as sprightly, as winning as ever. Her acting is thoroughly satisfactory. There seems to be nothing lacking when the glamour of her presence and the charm of her voice are brought to bear upon the observers; and subsequent reflection suggests little, if anything, in her method, that requires improvement. G. W. Anson is a burlesque actor of the approved English kind, and his John Smith brings out artistic tints and features abundantly and in strong relief. A protracted stay on this side of the ocean, and continuous acting to ore-Atlantic audiences, will add to Mr. Anson's method artistic polish, the sheen of which is not often observed in newly-arrived English male actors.

The bill at Booth's Theatre was the "Iron Chest" and "The Fool's Revenge," with Edwin Booth in the leading role, played on alternate evenings..... "Monaldi" was revived at the St. James Theatre. The San Francisco Minstrels have leased the house from the 1st of April.....The final performance of "Divorce"—the two hundredth—was given on the 18th. Manager Daly announces the revival of "Old Heads and Young Hearts," "Fernande," "Provoked Husband," "London Assurance," and "Frou Frou," and on Easter Monday will be produced an adaptation of the last Parisian sensation "Article 47." Miss Fany Davenport has returned from her brief engagement in New Orleans..... "The Veteran" was running to good houses at Wallack's, giving no chance for the use of the quotation, "superfluous lags the veteran on the stage.

Miss Annie Adams, serio-comic vocalist, continued a great favorite at Fox's American Theatre, Philadelphia. On the 11th, T. E. Davies, the ventriloquist, with his Little Fraud, at a salary of $250 a week, opened, as also the Lisa Weber Burlesque Troupe.

The Sporting Times says:

The production of Foster's spectacle of "Lalla Rookh" at the Grand Opera House has again been postponed, but as positively announced for the 18th inst. The scenery will comprise the Temple of the Sun, and the Horse of Fire, the City of Delhi by Sunlight, the Palace of the Emperor, Grove of Palms by Moonlight, Lake of Pearls by Moonlight, Panorama and View of Sinking City, and a closing transformation scene called "The Rose Pearl; or, Bucharia's Gem." The ballet will be large and include Mlles. DeRosa, Albertina, and Lusnardi, and under the direction of Mons. Von Hamme. We cannot however conceive what such characters as the Crier of Delhi and his sister, or the scenes of the Horse of Fire, or a transformation scene have to do with Moore's enchanting story of the journey of Lalla Rookh from Delhi to the Vale of Cashmere and City of Bucharia. The magnificent word painting with which Tom Moore has invested this description of oriental splendors does not admit of the introduction of such extraneous trash as the above cast and description of scenes foreshadows, and we do not think that Mr. Foster is capable of improving upon Moore.

The performance of French plays at Robinson's Hall, Sixteenth street and Fifth-avenue, every Thursday evening, has become quite popular and the attendance has been good....At the Theatre Comique the burlesque of Ixion," with the Worrell Sisters in the leading parts, is still retained upon the bills. A new drama entitled the "New York Mechanics; or, Wealth and Work' was produced....Orville Pitcher was the star at Tony Pastor's. The Dispatch says:

He sings well, dances nimbly, and delivers stump speeches with much humor, though the latter were by no means original. He is likely to be a great favorite here, as his manner is very comical and his business very amusing.

Bryant's Mintrels have a new burlesque by John Poole entitled "Julius Sneezer"....At the San Francisco Minstrel Hall, Charley Backus is doing his pictures of great artistes and Billy Birch Bobby Newcomb, Bernard and others appear in acts...."Humpty Dumpty" still runs at the Olympic....The Fiji Islanders who were on exhibition here for some time are the reigning attraction at Wood's Museum. "A Bull in a China Shop" and the burlesque of "Luna," by Miss Belle Howitt, Pauline Markham, and others, forms the dramatic portion of the entertainment...."Buffalo Bill" was to be played at the Bowery for the last time on the 16th....At Union Square Theatre Hugby Dougherty appears in stump speeches....The celebrated Vokes Family close their engagement at Drury Lane Theatre, London, in a few days; they will appear at Union Square Theatre early in April....Lina Edwin's Theatre was reopened on the 11th by Albert W. Aiken, who appeared in his own sensational drama entitled "The Witches of New York"....Lew Rattler is a favorite at the Thirty-fourth Street Theatre, where also Messrs. Hogan and Sheppard, comedians, vocalists and dancers, appear.

Boston, 4th.—At the Globe, Carlotta Leclercq in her fifth and last week, in the "Scrap of Paper," a comedy in three acts, adapted by Palgrave Simpson from Victorien Sardou's "Les Pattes des Mouches." 9th, farewell benefit and last appearance of Miss Leclercq. "Little Em'ly" was revived on the 10th, and was to be followed by a revival of "Eileen Oge"....At the Boston Theatre, the "Black Crook," from Niblo's to large business..... At the Museum, "A Scrap of Paper," with Kate Reignold's as heroine. "Magnolia," a spectacle to be presented on the 11th. Business good. Miss Clarke, of this theatre, was injured severely of late, but not seriously, by the falling of sundry properties upon her.....At the St. James, the Richings-Bernard Dramatic-Musical Troupe in the "Enchantress" to very fair business.....The Matthews Family, Fattie Stewart, the Barlow Brothers and Eph Horn, Jr., are added to the already large company at the Howard Athenæum.

Philadelphia, 4th.—At the Walnut "On the Jury," will run two weeks longer.....At the Arch, stock in sundries through the week, to very poor business. Josephine Laurens, Adam Everly, and Edmund Coles were to take benefits close of next week. Latter 9th. Charles Mathews to come on the 11th.....At the Chesnut, legitimate, with E. L. Davenport and a subsequent farce or drama, to small audiences. "A Dream of Life; or, the Lost One Reclaimed," a temperance drama, underlined. .....At the Seventh Street Theatre, comedietta on the 4th to a $10 house, and dismissal of the audience. Advertisements recalled for remainder of week. House to have been reopened on the 8th for benefit of W. H. Smith, the manager, when somebody was to give him a testimonial.....At Wood's Museum, Robert Frazer's Pantomime Company each afternoon, and the scriptural drama of "Joseph and his Brethren" in the evening.....Many variety entertainments, including the learned pig, Wicked Ben, at both entertainments. Wild Australian Children were to come on the 11th.

Max Maretzek is taking active steps toward organizing an opera troupe, and his prima donna is to be Lucca, the queen of Berlin, who is to have $100,000 for an engagement of six months. The Emperor has been hitherto opposed to her leaving Berlin, but he has finally given his consent, although reluctantly, and Lucca may therefore be expected. The troupe will only perform in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago and Havana.

The Mathews Family and Miss Annie Adams [illegible] at the New American Theatre, Philadelphia.

"The Mute Singer" is the title of a new play in five acts which has been adapted by Robert Jones from the late Mrs. Anna Cora Mowatt's novel of that name, expressly for Mrs. Caroline Hickings-Bernard.

Edwin Forrest is making a successful tour through the Southern States. During his recent visit to Houston, Texas, he drew a very large audience, and the tickets sold at five dollars in gold.

Over eight thousand singers have offered their services for the choruses of the Boston Jubilee this Summer.

Harrigan and Hart are with Arlington, Cotton and Kemble's, in Chicago.

Miss Phillis Glover, niece of Mr. John Brougham, and daughter of the late Edmund Glover manager of the Theatre Royal, Glasgow, Scotland will shortly appear at the Pittsburg Opera House.

Mr. Lawrence Barrett appeared at his own theatre in New Orleans, in the plays of "Hamlet," "Money," "The Marble Heart," and the "Merchant of Venice."

John Brougham talks of taking a company to London next season with his "John Garth" and "Red Light."

Ella Wesner, Pittsburgh, 11th, two weeks; Cincinnati, 25th, two weeks.

Mrs. Sydney Franks, a singer, well known in the variety profession as Emma Alford, died in Philadelphia, 3d, aged 25. She was born in England.

The New York Mercury says: "The Freeman Sisters go soon to California, and leave overland in a few weeks."

A minstrel company comprising Billy Carter, Canfield, Beker, Mackin, and Wilson, was at Syracuse on the 2d. N. B. Shiner, in that city sings a dialogue between a Grecian bond female and a male swell, having his back dressed as a woman with a mask, and his front as a man. He turns and presents the respective characters as he sings them.

Sergeant J. E. Burke, Zouave drill man, Washington Gardens, Providence, 4th.

A charter of incorporation has been granted to Chicago Opera-house company, and the subscription books to the stocks will be speedily opened. It is intended to complete the edifice next fall.

The Hamlin Brothers have bought of T. B. Bryant the site of the late Hooley Opera-House, Chicago, for $130,000. They will build a block upon it containing opera-house and stores.

Neil Warner and Grace Rawlinson, in readings, Charleston, 5th.

Mrs. Add Weaver was granted a divorce from her husband at Covington, Ind., on February 27th we are informed.

The New York Clipper of the 16th says:

The Seventh Street Theatre, Philadelphia, was "closed for repairs" after the evening of the 5th inst., the poor attendance not warranting any longer continuance of the dramatic season. This week a German dramatic company from New York city is announced for the re-opening of this ill-fated establishment. W. H. Smith, formerly of the Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco, is lessee.

A new play by J. W. Watson, entitled "Blanch Vavasour; or, The Taint of Blood," was recently produced at the Capital Theatre, Albany, by Miss Clara Morris.

Wrecked; or, Americans at Sea, is the title of a new comedy recently produced at Rankin's Theatre, St. Louis. It is an adaptation from the French, by William Holsten, a member of the company.

The Boston Courier says:

Lydia Thompson plays at Augusta, 21st, 22d, and 23d; Savannah, 25th, one week; Charleston, April 1, one week; Richmond, April 8, one week.

Wachtel and German Opera Troupe, Cincinnati, March 11, one week; Philadelphia, 18th, one week; New York, 25th, Wachtel will appear in Italian opera, with Parepa and Santley. In connection with the suit by Col. Wood of the Chicago Globe against De Vivo, Wachtel's manager, for $10,000 on account of the latter's hoarseness and inability to sing, De Vivo is reported to have said that Wachtel's share of the receipts was forty per cent. gross for the trip. Wood was to receive twenty per cent. gross, and De Vivo was to pay the Company and himself from the remaining forty per cent. He says that Wood took, like himself, the risk of Wachtel's ability to sing.

Kate and Susan Denin, Rome, N. Y., April 25, 26, and 27.

"Black Crook" Company, from Niblo's, Boston, March 5; Baltimore, April 29th. The equestrian goat, which had a fall from his horse on the 2d, and fractured his leg, is fast recovering.

Joe Jefferson, Louisville, April 2, four nights.

Lester Wallack is announced as likely to cross to England in his yacht next summer, and play a short engagement at the London Haymarket before returning

It is given out here that Mrs. Macready is the only woman who has ever played Shylock. The London Era, however, states that "several actresses have appeared as Hamlet in London, and also as Shylock." The only instance we can call to mind of a female Othello was that of Mrs. Selby, who appeared as the Moor at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin, in March, 1863."

Charlotte Crampton played Shylock capitally at Maguire's Opera House some years ago, before Mrs. Macready ever attempted the character.

The dramatic critic of the nineteenth century has turned up in Memphis, and The Appeal is the happy possessor of his invaluable services. Lotta has recently visited the just mentioned city, and of her appearance in "Little Nell" and The Marchioness, the western Hazlitt says:

The play is nominally a dramatization of Dickens story of the Old Curiosity Shop; but Lotta was the Curiosity and the Shop, the latter developing more wonders and curious fancies and queer ways, and that wonderful suicide which never fails to attract wondering delighted throngs, who gather up the waves with insatiate avidity. An actor is ordinarily a borrower of ideas, which he presents with more or less perfectness as conceived by the playwright; but Lotta borrows nothing, and lends everything to the author. Even Dickens is debtor to Lotta as she peasonate the creation of his fancy.....She was frequently and loudly applauded, and, we think, deservedly so. Lotta, in this line of characters, discovers something of talent beyond the clap-trap upon which she has been elevated in public esteem, and proves, by a delineation almost complete, that she has the promise of a future as bright as that upon which she can look back as upon lengthened sunshine on rippling water. Lotta will come to us in years to come a teacher, as she is now a very child of Momus.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

This house is crowded to suffocation every night This evening there will be an entire change of programme. Harry Stanwood will sing new songs and tell new stories: J. H. Milburn will make new drafts on his inexhaustible repertoire of character songs: Add Ryman will deliver a new stump speech; Billy Emerson will sing original Dutch songs; Heywood will present new operatic selections; Fayette Welch has a number of new stories to tell, and will appear with Add Ryman in the new sketch entitled "Grip Sack;" "Sweet Cider," which has proved a great hit, will be continued on the bill, and the Reynolds Brothers will do their wonderful grotesque dance, and the act entitled "School Reconstructed" will terminate the performance. G. C. Russell, the eminent baritone, and Sam Rickey, Ethiopian and Irish comedian, will shortly appear.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night and to-morrow evening are announced as positively the two last occasions on which the exciting drama of "The Red Pocket Book," with its thrilling sensation of the sinking ship can be presented; therefore those who wish to see it before it is finally removed from the stage, should avail themselves of these two last opportunities

California Theatre.

To-night a new drama entitled "An Irishman's Heart," by De Walden, author of "Sam" and other successful pieces, will be produced with Charles Wheatleigh in the character of Phelim. The performance will conclude with W. F. Luter's farce of "Jones' Baby," in which J. C. Williamson will play Jones. This week is the last of the engagement of Mr. Wheatleigh. His benefit is set for Monday next.

Bella Union.

The great feature of the performance on Saturday and Sunday evenings, was the production of the very pretty ballet entitled "La Fete D'Asnieres," in which M'lle Marie Gaugain danced with charming grace. She was ably supported by Misses Carrie Chapman, Minnie Fillmore, Marie Zoel, Eugenia Gerretta, Clara Starr and Maggie Brewer. Samwells and Montague appeared during the ballet in some perfectly wonderful gymnastic feats, which they performed with a grace and agility which drew immense applause. This very attractive ballet will be repeated to-night in conjunction with the melodrama of "The Forty Thieves," banjo solos by Miss Ella La Rue, ballads by Miss Fanny Garretson, and other entertainments specified on our first page.

Theatre Comique.

At this house Frank Mortimer is a great favorite in character songs; Mike Quinn and his banjo afford much amusement; Miss Josie Mayfield made her reappearance on Saturday night and received a hearty welcome; George Wallace, Ethiopian comedian and banjoist, at once became a favorite with the audience. A great bill will be presented to-night. It appears in full on our first page.

Change of Management.

In consequence of his services being needed on the stage, John Woodard, who has performed the duties of business manager of the Metropolitan Theatre, to the infinite satisfaction of both the management and all who have been in contact with him, retires from that position, and is succeeded by Frank B. Oilley, formerly business manager of the California Theatre. Mr. Oilley brings tact and experience to the position and will be unhampered with stage duties.

The Tycoon Troupe.

Next Monday the Tycoon Troupe, a company of Japanese gymnasts, wire-walkers, dancing girls and variety performers from the Tycoon Theatre, Osaca, will make their first appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre.

T. E. Jackson.

On Wednesday evening, T. E. Jackson, to whom the patrons of the Metropolitan Theatre are indebted for many a hearty laugh will take his benefit, and will, we are sure, have a good house if the many friends he has made by his talents on the stage, and his genial manners in private life can be relied upon.

Returned.

Walter Rogers, formerly manager of the old Olympic, returned from Shanghai, where he has been managing the Lusteno Theatre, on the Great Republic on Saturday.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

We have advices from London up to Feb. 24th. At the Royal Alfred Theatre, on Feb 19th, was produced a new and original drama, in three acts, by Miss Evelyn, under the title of "A Life Race," the features of which are a storm at sea and sinking of a vessel as in the "Red Pocket Book."....The Olympic closed its doors on the 24th.....Saddler's Wells closed abruptly on the 20th .... At Drury Lane "Amy Robsart" with Mrs. Herman Vezin in the chief character was announced to have been produced on the 26th, and the opening of the pantomime without the burlequinade as an afterpiece. The season is to terminate on March 23d..... At the Adelphi, "Notre Dame" and "Little Snow White" were to have been withdrawn March 1st and Charles Fechter was to have commenced an engagement of twenty-four nights, opening in "Ruy Blas."....At the Strand, the burlesque entitled "Pygmalion; or, the Statue Fair," as revived on the 24th, in which the Misses Emily Pitt, Maria Jones and Maggie Zimmer made their first appearances at that theatre.....The Royalty was to have reopened under the management of W. H. C. Nation, with a farce called the "Lame Lover,' after which a new comedy, by Sutherland Edwards called "The late Ralph Johnson," concluding with a new musical extravaganza, entitled "Greenleaf the Graceful; or, the Palace of Vengeance."..... At the National Standard Theatre the Company from the Adelphi were to have commenced a season, acting in "Notre Dame," with all the original scenery and effects.....Mr. Herman Vezin was to have reappeared in the "Man o' Airlie" at the Alfred on the 28th .....There had been no change at any of the other theatres.....A new play, by Mr. Richard Lee, entitled "Ordeal by Touch," will be produced during the coming season at the Queen's Theatre, Mrs. Scott-Siddons enacting the heroine. It is the first original play in which Mrs. Siddons will have appeared in London.

The Coven Garden Theatre, London, is being reconstructed by Dion Boucicault, who is to manage it on what is called the American plan. The prices are to be reduced, the admission to the pit to be only fifty cents, no fees or gratuities to be allowed, and "no restrictions to be imposed regarding bonnets." The opening piece is to combine the elements of pantomime, spectacle and burlesque, the drama to be written by Boucicault, and the music by Offenbach.

The Directors of the London Philharmonic Society have presented Mme. Lemmens-Sherrington with the Beethoven gold medal.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons is acting in Edinburg.

Mr. Falconer is playing in his "Eileen Oge," at Liverpool.

M'lle Daiszet has lately given successful performances at Turin.

Mr. Siddons, brother of Mrs. Scott-Siddons, is about to adopt the stage as a profession, and will make his debut in Bristol, Eng.

The Theatre at Metz has been let to the Prussian Government at an annual rent of $2,000.

The Old Opera House at Vienna has been sold, and dwelling houses are to be erected on its site.

The Theatre Italien, at Nice, is open. M'lle Carlotta Patti sang there, at a concert, on the 3d ult.

The Comedie Francaise will soon revisit London performing during the months of June, July and August.

Ash Wednesday and the Theatres.

In England all theatres are closed on Ash-Wednesday or given up to concerts, panoramas, etc. In the House of Commons on Feb. 15th, Mr. Melly gave notice that on the 19th he would ask the Home Secetary whether theatres were closed by authority on Ash-Wednesday, while dancing and singing saloons were allowed to remain open, and on what grounds such restrictions were enforced. The London Orchestra in connection with the usage said:

The empty farce of closing the theatres on Ash Wednesday by authority of the Crown was enacted again this year. By one of the Lord Chamberlain's fictions, 5,000 people of both sexes in London were this week deprived of a day's earnings, in order to insure a barren homage to a fast day which in other respects the authorities openly disregard. Thus, while Lytton and Wilkie Collins and Erckmann-Chatrian may not open their mouths on that day, the house of Cole throws open the Albert Hall, with all the sanctity of its State traditions, for a hotch-potch concert. At the same time, Mr. Webster at the Adelphi, to whom Victor Hugo is tabooed invites the Christy Minstrels to disport themselves there; Mr. Chatterton opens Drury Lane to singers and music players though he may not to actors; and the Crystal Palace and Surrey-side music-halls may revel to their heart's content.

High Minded Men!

We are told that over two-thirds of the Nantucket police force have signed a petition for velvet collars. And they are right. How a policeman can discharge the duties of his office or preserve his self-respect without a velvet collar to his coat is more than we can conceive.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

A MORAL INDICATOR.

BY BRET HARTE.

If Mr. Jones, Lycurgus B.,
Had one peculiar quality,
'Twas his severe advocacy
Of conjugal fidelity.

His views of Heaven were very free;
His views of life were painfully
Ridiculous; but fervently
He dwelt on marriage sanctity.

He frequently went on a spree;
But in his wildest revelry,
On this especial subject he
Betrayed no ambiguity.

And though at times Lycurgus B.
Did lay his hands not lovingly
Upon his wife, the sanctity
Of wedlock was his guaranty.

But Mrs. Jones declined to see
Affairs in the same light as he,
And quitely got a decree
Divorcing her from that L. B.

And what did Jones, Lycurgus B.,
With his known idiosyncrasy?
He smiled—a bitter smile to see,—
And drew the weapon of Bowie,

He did what Sickles did to Key,—
What Cole on Hiscock wrought, did he;
In fact, on persons twenty-three
He proved the marriage sanctity.

The counsellor who took the fee,
The witnesses and referee,
The Judge who granted the decree,
Died in that wholesale butchery.

And then when Jones, Lycurgus B.,
Had wiped the weapon of Bowie,
Twelve jurymen did instantly
Acquit and set Lycurgus free,

Farewell to Nilsson.

The Chicago Sun thus bids farewell to Nilsson: "Nilsson, the renowned singist, is about to give a brief series of concerts in New York, after which she will return to Europe. She will be followed by the good wishes of countless thousands of Americans who have greatly enjoyed hearing her handsome voice warble sweet songs, and seeing her melodious little feet kick over piano stools. Good-bye, Christina! The Sun wishes you bon voyage."

Suicides.

An Englishman has written a book on New York society, in which he says that a singular method of committing suicide prevails among our respectable people. When they are tired of life they go down into the Fourth Ward and vote the Republican ticket. If that doesn't fetch 'em they take a ride on a Brooklyn horse car after dark.

Nebraska has an editor so lazy that he spells wife, yf.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and nineteen years in San Francisco. HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs. Look Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the past previous his practice as a SPECIALIST resulted in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and success treatment and moderate charges to all."

A Regular Cardiff Beet.

California soil produces giant vegetables as well as trees. A story is told of a beet recently pulled which weighed 52 pounds—and it wasn't a fair weigh, either, for a ground squirrel has gnawed several pounds out of it. —Washington Critic;

That is nothing. E. E. Moor, seedman, at 425 Washington street, has had a specimen beet standing at his door for the last month past that turns the scale at 112 pounds. It is an imposing looking vegetable about the average size of an U. S. Senator, and Mr. Moor has seed for sale which is guarranteed to produce similar specimens. Shall we send you some?

A Cheyenne Theatre.

A Western correspondent of the Boston Transcript says: Monday night we visit the theatre. The entrance is through the largest bar-room in town, which is saying a great deal for it, for the competition is strong in Cheyenne. The theatre is a branch of the saloon, as are also a museum and faro bank. If one can judge from the size of the crowd, the latter must do a smashing business. We are entertained for a while by the minstrel performance. During the entertainment one of the actors jumps over the front of the stage, goes to the bar and gets a drink, then climbs back, takes his place, and the play proceeds.

Explained.

The feat of Herr Holtum, "the Prussian Hercules," who is astonishing the British by catching a ball fired from a cannon, is said to be neither novel nor difficult. The fact is, about two ounces of powder are placed in the gun, then the ball is rammed home and the balance of the charge is put in. When the gun is fired all the powder is ignited, and the flash, smoke and report are orthodox, but the ball receives propulsion only from the small amount of powder behind it, and it is thrown but a few feet.

Maggie Knight.

The Gold Hill News says of Miss Maggie Knight, at present performing at Piper's Opera House, Virginia City:

All who have seen the wonderful doings of the little fairy singer and dancer, Miss Maggie Knight, will agree with us in pronouncing her unequaled by any one of her age ever appearing upon any theatrical stage this side of the big mountains. She is only twelve years of age, yet she is a perfect prodigy in her line, decidedly excelling Lotta when she was of that age.

The Reason.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohn, of Hartord, Conn., have applied for a divorce. Mrs. Kohn was a Christian girl who renounced her religion in order to marry Mr. Kohn, who is an Israelite. It is probable that they discovered their feelings did not Kohnoide after all.

Mr. Swar, of Ripley, Ind., has wedded Miss Mary Golly. Swar to Golly!

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Old Theatrical Times in California.

In an old Sacramento Union we find the following interesting reminiscences:

"Upon the ground of the fire this morning there stood, fifteen years ago, fronting on M street, seventy-five feet from the corner, the Pacific Theatre, completed in April, 1850, at a cost of over $36,000; opened on the first of May as an amphitheatre by J. A. Rowe; tickets of admission, $2 and $3. This was followed by the 'chaste and classical' exhibition of the 'Model Artists,' by Dr. Collyer, to crowded and enthusiastic houses, for two weeks; admission, $5 and $3; rent, $100 per night. On the 25th of July, 1850, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Thorne and James Stark made their first appearance in California at this theatre, and continued for several months; tickets $3 and $2. This company was followed by the Chapman family, who continued in posession until the theatre was destroyed by the great fire of 1852. The theatre proper was leased to J. A Rowe and the Thornes for $1,500 per month. On the corner of M and Front was erected a three-story building, 42½ by 70 feet, at a cost of $28,000. The first floor was occupied by auction and commission stores, at a monthly rent of $1,000. The second floor was in one grand hall used for concerts, balls etc., with the exception of Sundays, when it was occupied by the Episcopal Church Society, of which Rev. Mr. Moorehead was pastor. The third story was divided in o rooms, which rented for $50 per month. This building was also destroyed by the fire of 1852. These buildings were erected and owned by James Queen. A. P. Petit, architect, superintended the erection."

News from Abroad.

We find the following in an Eastern paper: "A San Francisco demoiselle who was beset by too many lovers, offered her hand to the billiard player who was her superior, on condition that those who competed and failed should withdraw their pretensions. Anticipating easy victory, all were eager to try their skill, but the feminine expert in the king of games successively foiled them all, and only in the champion of the State could be found a foeman worthy of her cue."

"Must."

Somebody has said that "but" is the blessedest word in the English language, but he had not read the new California Code. If it were not for the word must we should have no Code, judging from the frequency of its use. There is scarcely a chapter in the Revenue Law that does not contain this valuable and powerful word.

We take the above from the Sacramento Bee. There is a good deal of "must" about our laws. Some of them have grown musty from want of use.

A Critic in Danger.

The San Francisco News Letter criticises the Pacific poets thusly:

If poetry was potatoes, Joaquin Miller would own a patch, Bret Harte would be peeling them for the pot, and John Hay would be pelting them at the hogs.

The Portland Chronicle says:

In that case, the critc would very likely be hit with a potato.

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John O. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter treet.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

An Ower True Tale.

We were certain of it, says Max Ad. First we had the explosion of a grindstone, followed by the immersion of half the grindstones in the country in water, to prevent such accidents. Then we had explosions of lager beer, of doughnuts, and of mince pie. We expected soon to learn that some other unsuspicious article possessed the same dangerous property; and here at last we have the information that a sweet potato has exploded in Indiana has exploded and scalded a boy. It is a treacherous vegetable—sweet potato. Probably our readers have heard the story of the misery which was brought on our friend P. T. Bumm, by one of them. Mr. Bumm preempted an island in the Pacific Ocean, and went to live upon it. It was a small island with a volcano in the middle of it. Mr. Bumm planted a few acres of his farm in sweet potatoes; but they all died but one. The soil was very rich; and this particular potato grew, and grew until its monstrous size alarmed Mr. Bumm. But it continued to increase and get heavier until the island began gradually to sink under its weight. The encroaching water finally drove Bumm up the side of the volcano. As he went up the potato grew, the waves crept after him, and one day they poured into the crater of that volcano, generated an apalling mass of steam, and Bumm the volcano, the sweet potato, and the island, were blown into microscopic atoms. Bumm floated about in the Pacific Ocean in fragments for nearly a year as bait; but he never recovered from the shock. It was too much for him; his nervous system was hopelessly unstrung.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The performance last night commenced with the drama of "An Irishman's Heart," by DeWalden, author of "Sam" and other popular plays. Generally when an Irish drama is produced, there is nothing to say but "it is the same old story of a virtuous peasantry, avaricious landlords and cruel middlemen without any particular plot." This cannot be said of "An Irishman's Heart," for there is plot enough and a most intricate one which cannot be seen through by the audience, and we are not going to tell anything about it, but advise the public to go and see the piece for themselves. Phelim, a broth of a boy, was splendidly played by Charles Wheatleigh; Miss Rose Evans played the part of Milly with admirable spirit, and a very pretty brogue; Henry Edwards was excellent as farmer Nolan; E. J. Buckley all that could be desired as the high-toned Desmond, and W. A. Mestayer made a good villian as Shamus Rha, though his brogue was a mixture of Chaldiac, Chinook, Swiss, German and Piute. Edmund Leathes did a good piece of acting as the cowardly Fitzgerald, and the rest of the characters were well filled. In the farce of "Jones Baby," J. C. Williamson was immensely funny, and made a capital character out of the unfortunate Mr. William Jones; he was well supported by Mrs. C. R. Saunders, Miss Ellie Wilton and others.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The thrilling drama of the "Red Pocket Book" was performed in excellent style last night. James Hardie gained much applause for his acting in the trying role of Maurice, and Miss Henrietta Osborne gained the sympathies of the audience for the constant Helene. The play with its various scenes of sea and land and grand shipwreck sensation will be performed to-night for the last time. To morrow night the talented and popular comedian, T. E. Jackson, will take a benefit and should have, as he deserves, an overflowing house.

Alhambra Theatre.

Crammed, rammed and jammed full as usual last night, people "craning" over others shoulders to gain a peep of the stage. Everything was applauded: Fayette Welch's jokes, Harry Stanwood's dry stories, J. H. Milburn's inimitable character sketches, Add Ryman's wonderful stump speech, Billy Emerson's audaciously original Dutch specialties, Heywood's beautiful ballads, the new act of "Grip Sack," the latest sensation, "Sweet Cider," in which the Reynolds Brothers shine: and a merrier crowd was never seen than that assembled in the Alhambra Theatre last night. Same bill all the week.

Bella Union.

A capital first part, the amusing farce of "Those Twins;" ballads by Misses Fanny Garretson and Maggie Brewer; banjo solos by Miss Ella La Rue; the sterling old melodrama of "The Forty Thieves;" song and dance by Eugenia Gerretta;" "Magic Globes" by Samwells and Montague; clog dance by Marie Zoel, and the ballet of "La Fete D'Amitieres," by Mlle Marie Gougain, Carrie Chapman and others make up the bill for to-night.

Theatre Comique.

"New acts and new faces" seems to be the motto of the management of this place of amusement. George Wallace is a lively performer; Josie Mayfield quite a favorite, and to-night the very attractive and popular Miss May Leroy, who has just returned from filling a most successful engagement in Portland, Oregon, will make her first appearance at the Theatre Comique.

The New York Circus.

This great combination of equestrian talent having returned from an extended tour in Mexico and the Sandwich Islands during the winter months, have arrived at San Diego. Here they have been strengthened by an entirely new company sent by John Wilson from New York. The New York Circus thus reorganized will give performances in Los Angeles of a character far surpassing anything ever before seen in the arena, and also in the towns intervening between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The stud of horses in connection with this establishment is said to surpass any other in the world. The New York Circus will open in this city on or about the 26th of April.

Personals.

John McCullough, manager of the California Theatre, will arrive on the Overland train this evening.

Mrs. Mary Watson, the authoress, and writer of a play produced at the California Theatre some months since, will make her debut at the Metropolitan Theatre as Julia in "The Hunchback" on Friday evening next.

John T. Raymond has made a great hit in Boston as Micawber in "Little Em'ly." The Boston press speak in the highest terms of his impersonation of the character.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

A Tragedy.

How many acts are there in a tragedy? Five, I believe:

Act I.—Young man starting from home. Parents and sisters weeping to have him go. Wagon passing over the hill. Farewell kiss thrown back. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act II.—Marriage altar. Bright lights. Full organ. White veil trailing through the aisle. Prayer and congratulations and exclamations of "How well she looks!" Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act III.—Midnight. Woman waiting for staggering steps. Old garments stuck into the broken window pane. Many marks of hardships on the face. Biting of lips and bloodless fingers. Neglect and cruelty. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act IV.—Three graves in a very dark place. Grave of child who died for want of medicine. Grave of wife who died of a broken heart. Grave of husband and father who died of dissipation. Plenty of weeds but no flowers. O what a blasted heath with three graves! Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act V.—Destroyed soul's eternity. No light; no music; no hope! Despair coiling around the heart with unutterable anguish. Blackness of darkness forever. Woe! woe! woe! I cannot bear longer to to look. I close my eyes at the last act of the tragedy. Quick! quick! Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Kindly Considerate.

Susan B. Anthony, it is said, has no husband, and, although she is stern she is merciful. Various desperate and devoted men ensnared by her girlish charms, have essayed to plunge headlong into the maelstorm of matrimony; but with firm though gentle hand she has withheld them from the fatal leap, nobly refusing to accept the sacrifice. Susan B. Anthony is stern and she's turned forty now, so there are not so many wooers.

Men and Women.

"Jim, de men don't make such fools ob demselves about women as de women do about men. If dey look at de moon, dey see a man in it; if dey hear a mouse nibbling, it's a man; and dey all look under de bad last thing at night to find a man. Why I nebber looks under my bed to find a woman, does you?"

The Only Way.

Discerning child, who has heard some remarks made by papa: "Are you our new nurse?" Nurse—"Yes, dear." Child—"Well then, I'm one of those boys who can only be managed by kindness; so you had better get some sponge-cake and oranges at once."

Jesse Meyers leaned against a shaft revolving three hundred times per minute, in a slaughter house, in Muncy, Indiana. He undressed in about ten seconds, but, strange to say, he was not at all injured. Not a stitch of clothing remained upon him.

We Concur.

Mrs. Abe Lincoln is attending spiritual seances in Boston, and hopes through them to find the way by which she can return to "Abraham's bosom."

Here is an awful warning. A Philadelphian was arrested and held to bail in $600 for stealing two umbrellas.

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has leased and thoroughly refitted the saloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charles Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

HEINZ VON STEIN.

BY CHARLES G. LELAND.

Out rode from wild, dark castle
The terrible Heinz von Stein;
He came to the door of a tavern,
And gazed at the swinging sign.

He sat himself down at a table,
And growled for a bottle of wine;
Up came with a flask and a corkscrew
A maiden of beauty divine.

Then seized with a deep love-longing,
He uttered "O damosell mine,
Suppose you just give a few kisses
To the valorous Ritter von Stein."

But she answerd, "The kissing business
Is entirely out of my line;
And I certainly will not begin it
On a countenance ugly as thine."

Oh, then the bold knight was angry
And he cursed both cearse and fine;
And asked, "How much is the swindle
For you and your cursed wine?"

And fiercely he rode to the castle,
And sat himself down to dine:
And this is the terrible legend
Of the terrible Heinz von Stein.

Another Altaism.

The Alta says that about ten thousand people visited Woodward's Gardens on Sunday. "Lord! how the world is given to lying!" One person out of every ten of the population of San Francisco—men, women and children, colored and Chinese included, at Woodward's on Sunday last. That's a nice statement!

Matt Morgan, Frank Leslie's cartoonist, was formerly a scene-painter at Drury Lane Theatre.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving then a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

See Silberstein's new styles. O

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Waru's shirt store)." G

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and nearly ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in the celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the previous to his practice as a SPECIALIST result in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The performances last night commenced with the drama of "An Irishman's Heart," by De Walden, author of "Ours" and other popular plays. Generally when an Irish drama is produced there is nothing in any part of it to the name and story of a virtuous peasantry overcoming landlords and other misfortunes without any particular pain. This cannot be said of "An Irishman's Heart," for there is pain enough and a most miserable one without cause to meet through by the audience, and we are not going to let anything about it but advise the public to go and see the piece for themselves. Phelim, a lively of a boy, was agreeably played by Jeffreys Wheelwright. Miss Rose Evans played the part of Kitty with admirable spirit and a very pretty brogue. Henry Edwards was excellent as farmer Adam. E. J. Buckley as that quiet to control as the high-spirited Desmond, and W. A. Mestayer made a good villain as Shamus Kirk, though his brogue was a mixture of Canada, Cumbrick, Swiss, German and Prime. Edmund Lenthal cut a good figure at acting as the unlucky Fitzgerald, and the rest of the characters were well filled. In the farce of "Jones Baby" J. W. Williamson was immensely funny and made a capital character out of the unfortunate Mr. William Jones. He was well supported by Mrs. C. R. Saunders, Miss Ellie Walker and others.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The opening drama of the "Red Pocket Book" was performed in excellent style last night. James Barrow gained much applause for his acting in the trying role of Maurice, and Miss Emmeline Osborne gained the sympathies of the audience for the troubled Helene. The play with its various scenes of sea and land and grand shipwreck sensation will be performed to-night for the last time. To-morrow night the learned and popular comedian, T. D. Jackson, will take a benefit and should have, as he deserves, an overflowing house.

Alhambra Theatre.

Crammed, jammed and jammed full as usual last night, people "coming" over others shoulders to get a peep of the stage. Everything was appreciated. Fayette White's jokes, Harry Stanwood's dry stories, J. H. Wilbur's inimitable character sketches, Add Rymer's wonderful step dancing, Lily Langtry's astonishing singing and Lotta Gladstone's Englishy ballads—the new actual "Lady Sarah." The latest novelty, "Seven Colors" in which the Reynolds Brothers shine, and a thirsty crowd was never seen than last night in the Alhambra Theatre this week. Same bill all the week.

Bella Unsom.

A capital farce, the amusing farce of "Three Twins" written by Messrs Fenny Germon and Maggie Brown, being done by Miss Bella Le Rue, the starring bit mendacious of "The Forty Thieves" sung and danced by Eugenia Gerrelli; "Maid Landers" by Sam Wells and Monaghan sing Annie in Sally Lou, and the knight of "La Petite Duchesse" by Miss Maria Gerrelli. Carrie Chapman and others make up the bill for to-night.

Theatre Comique.

"Live Jews and Live Jokes" seems to be the motto of the management of this place of entertainment. George Wilson is a very performer. Some May-flies quite a favorite, and to-night the very attractive act popular Miss Kay Lacey will be presented from being a most successful engagement in Portland, Oregon, will make her first appearance on the Theatre Comique.

The New York Circus.

The great combination of equestrian talent having returned from an extended tour in Mexico and the Southern islands during the winter months have arrived at San Diego. Here they have been strengthened by an entirely new company sent by John Wilson from New York. The New York Circus will no longer (will give performances at Los Angeles to a character for surpassing anything ever before seen in the state, and last at the hotels intervening between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The ride of horses as combination with this establishment is said to surpass any other in the world. The New York Circus will open in this city on or about the 15th of April.

Personals.

John Middlebrook, manager of the California Theatre, will arrive on the Overland train this evening.

Mrs Mary Watson, the authoress, and writer of a play produced at the California Theatre some months since, will make her debut at the Metropolitan Theatre as Julia in "The Hunchback" on Friday evening next.

John T. Raymond has made a great hit in Boston as Major Jack Downing.

Miss Lotta is in Boston as Miss Nobody in "Little Em'ly." The Boston press speak in the highest terms of her impersonation and of the character.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of curiosities and wonders was opened to day for view to gentlemen only at the Museum on Montgomery street. As hours may be procured open here.

Theatrical Costumes.

A Tragedy.

How many acts are there in a tragedy? Five, I believe.

Act I.—Young man starting from home. Parents and sweet weeping to have him go. Wagon passing over the hill. Farewell kiss thrown back. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act II.—Marriage altar. Bright lights. Full organ. White veil trailing through the aisle. Prayer and congratulations and exclamations of "How well she looks!" Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act III.—Midnight. Woman waiting for staggering steps. Old garments stuck into the broken window pane. Many marks of hardships on the face. Biting of lips and moodless fingers. Neglect and cruelty. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act IV.—Three graves in a very dark place. Grave of child who died for want of medicine. Grave of wife who died of a broken heart. Grave of husband and father who died of dissipation. Plenty of weeds but no flowers. O what a blasted heath with three graves! Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act V.—Destroyed soul's eternity. No light, no music: no hope! Despair coiling around the heart with unbearable anguish. Blackness of darkness forever. Woe! woe! woe! I cannot bear longer to look. I close my eyes at the last act of the tragedy. Quick! quick! Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Kindly Considerate.

Susan B. Anthony, it is said, has no husband, and although she is stern she is merciful. Various desperate and devoted men enamored by her girlish charms, have essayed to plunge headlong into the maelstrom of matrimony; but with firm though gentle hand she has withheld them from the fatal leap, nobly refusing to accept the sacrifice. Susan B. Anthony is stern and she's turned forty now, so there are not so many fooled.

Men and Women.

"Jim, de men don't make such fools ob demselves about women as de women do about men. If dey look at de moon, dey see a man in it; if dey hear a mouse nibbling it's a man; and dey all look under de bed last thing at night to find a man. Why I nebber looks under my bed to find a woman, does you?"

The Only Way.

Discerning child who has heard some remarks made by papa: "Are you our new nurse?" Nurse—"Yes, dear." Child—"Well then, I'm one of those boys who can only be managed by kindness: so you had better get some sponge-cake and oranges at once."

Jesse Meyers heated against a shaft revolving three hundred times per minute, at a slaughter house, in Muncy, Indiana. He remained it about ten seconds but, strange to say, he was not at all injured. Not a stitch of clothing remained upon him.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "planted" or half grown Eastern oysters. Prompt and now fat grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 27 Bush street above the Alhambra, where A. Wurmit one of the pioneers in the oyster business and Charley Blake formerly of the Astor House and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anybody does.

McDowell, Show Card Writer,

REINZ VON STEIN.

BY CHARLES G. LELAND.

Out rode from wild, dark castle
The terrible Heinz von Stein:
He came to the door of a tavern,
And gazed at the swinging sign.

He sat himself down at a table,
And growled for a bottle of wine;
Up came with a flask and a cockscrew
A maiden of beauty divine.

Then roused with a deep love-longing,
He uttered "O damosell mine,
Suppose you just give a few kisses
To the valorous Ritter von Stein."

But she answered, "The kissing business
Is entirely out of my line;
And I certainly will not begin it
On a countenance ugly as thine."

Oh, then the bold knight was angry
And he cursed both coarse and fine;
And asked, "How much is the swindle
For you and your cursed wine?"

And fiercely he rode to the castle,
And sat himself down to dine:
And this is the terrible legend
Of the terrible Heinz von Stein.

Another Altaism.

The Alta says that about ten thousand people visited Woodward's Gardens on Sunday. "Lord! how the world is given to lying!" One person out of every ten of the population of San Francisco—men, women and children, colored and Chinese included, at Woodward's on Sunday last. That's a nice statement!

Woman's Rights.

Woman is getting on very well in this "land of the free and home of the brave." She is no longer the poor ser-r-lave she once was. In every State of the Union she is being granted new privileges. A dispatch from Chicago dated March 23d says:

The cause of woman's rights has gained a point by the passage of the Legislative bill to secure to all persons freedom in selecting any occupation, profession or employment. The Governor has approved the bill and it becomes a law on the 1st of July next. Under its provisions women can be elected or appointed to any office, and may practice as lawyers.

"Can be elected or appointed to any office." That is broad enough. We may ere long hear of a Governess of Illinois. New York, too, is trying to make the dear creatures more comfortable, as we learn by a dispatch from Albany of the same date:

Among the reports made to the Senate was a bill to increase the causes of divorces. It makes among the causes such conduct on the part of the husband toward the wife as shall, without justice, deprive her of the society of her relatives or friends, or of attendance on public worship, or shall designedly render her life unhappy or uncomfortable.

No woman can complain of a lack of liberality in the provisions of that bill. It virtually brings marriage down to a temporary arrangement from being what it was before—a life-long obligation. As soon as a husband makes his wife "uncomfortable," she may get a divorce from him. There will be no more unhappy marriages in the State of New York when this bill is passed. Now it seems that all woman needs to make her perfectly happy is a vote. Better let her have it. Let her have all she wants.

The hart, he loves the lowlands,
The doe loves best the hill;
The knight he loves his good broadsword,
The lady loves her will.

She is in a fair way of getting it in the United States.

After the Funeral.

A gentleman in the vicinity of Philadelphia recently lost his wife, and a correspondent states that a young miss of six, who came to the funeral, said to his little daughter of about the same age. "Your pa will marry again, won't he?" "Oh! yes," was the reply; "but not until after the funeral."

Love's Sacrifice.

A young lady in Massachusetts has taken hold of dentistry for a living. All the young gentlemen patronize, and one young man has become hopelessly infatuated. Consequently he hasn't a tooth in his head. She has pulled every blessed one of them, and is now at work on his father's jaws.

Changing Base.

The well known dramatic publisher, Mr. Samuel French, is to reside hereafter in London, to conduct the business of Thos. H. Lacy, whom he has bought out, and his son T. H. French will conduct the business in New York.

Dimes and Salvation.

In the Christian Herald, published at Nashville, Tenn., ("one of our most valued exchanges,") two columns are given up to a department entitled "Uncle John's Desk." Uncle John is a fragrant old man who devotes his energies to getting children to send him dimes, which are devoted to paying for sending the Herald to widows and orphans who have nothing to eat. We make the following extracts to aid the immaculate old gentleman in his work:

A dime well used. May the God of all grace make you instrumental in pointing many—very many—poor lost sinners to the Lamb! Oh! the sinners that are pouring down to hell! Momentous thought! Stupendous work! Incalculable responsibility!

Turner Stetson, South Florence, Ala.—Your letter to hand, with a dime for yourself and one for your sister Dell. See Mrs. Jackson's school children about it, Turner, and get up 18 more dimes if you can. Dell will help you—won't you, Dell?....Little Dell must now write me a letter. Send some dimes for Mollie and her post-office.

Mr. J. C. Herring.—A dime is a little thing, but 20 will pay for the Herald one year.

A. W. Van Hoose.—Your dimes gathered up in Murfreesboro will cheer the hearts of orphans.

Miss Eugene Mangrem.—You make a fine agent. Be assured I will remember you as my friend—as well for your nice letter as the dollar's worth of dimes.

Here is a libel on California:

Nancy E. Sellers.—The papers say that intoxicating liquors cost the half million people of California no less than $40,000,000 a year! Oh! shocking!—the drunken sons, brothers, husbands, fathers! Never keep the company of a young man who drinks.

Mrs. Sarah Wiseman, Austin, Tennessee, might make a fine agent to collect dimes for the purpose of having the Herald sent to orphan children and widowed mothers. What do you say, my friend?

Come on children, and fathers and mothers, with your dimes, quarters, halves and dollars.

Thomas Hays sent 5 cents. So he had something to do, and did it. And something to love—the orphans.

If this old man keeps up his lick it won't be long before every orphan in the United States has a Christian Herald. Just think of that! Oh, joy unspeakable! Oh, heavenly blessing! Think of the widows and orphans who have never seen a Christian Herald published in Nashville, Tennessee, subscription $2 per annum. Think of Mark Twain; he's an orphan. Send in your dimes and you'll go to heaven. Boys and girls who spend their money on candy and chewing gum instead of giving it to Uncle John to pay for the Christian Herald to send to starving orphans and blind widows go to the pit. Send some dimes.

Bosh!

The Vallejo Recorder, speaking of birds, says:

The world is full of beauty, and nothing created contributes so much toward it as the innocent songsters who sing their morning anthems to their Creator and charm our evening twilight with their sweet warblings.

There is no twilight in California, booby. When night comes it just lets right down on us without any shilly-shallying.

Dead! Dead! Dead!

All They Said.

Some mean fellow has recently taken down the entire conversation between two ladies during a fashionable call, and reports verbatim all that was said, as follows:

"How do you do my dear?"
"Putty well, I thank you." [They kiss.]
"How have you been this age?"
"Putty well; how have you been?"
"Very well, thank you."
"Pleasant, to-day."
"Yes, very bright, but we had a shower yesterday."
"Are your people well?"
"Quite well, thank you; how are yours?"
"Very well, I'm obliged to you?"
"Have you seen Mary B—— lately?"
"No, but I've seen Susan C——."
"You don't say so! Is she well?"
"Very, I believe." [Rising.]
"Must you go?"
"Yes, indeed; I have seven calls to make."
"Do call again soon."
"Thank you; but you don't call on me once in an age."
"Oh! you should not say so; I'm sure I'm very good."
"Good bye."

An Experienced Parson.!

The Rev. Mr. Mallalieu, of Worchester, Massachusetts, announces that the lowest brothels in Boston, "are more decent than the most decent theatres." Of course a divine with a strict regard for truth would not express so decided an opinion without having had wide personal experience of both classes of amusements.

Goats.

The Baltimore Telegram of the 17th says: "Wilmington ate five goats the past week; the number of dogs and cats is not stated."

We are glad other cities have been fed on goat as well as San Francisco. We don't eat much goat now, as lamb, real lamb, is coming into the market. There is still a good deal of mule meat sold for beef.

A Bad Precedent.

A man in this city who killed his father-in-law has been acquitted on the grounds that he acted in self-defense. This seems to us a bad precedent. Now, if it had been his mother-in-law——

Fair Parisiennes are beginning to smoke cigarettes extensively while promenading the streets and parks.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles.

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

Woman's Rights.

Woman is getting on very well in this "land of the free and home of the brave." She is no longer the poor ser-r-lave she once was. In every State of the Union she is being granted new privileges. A dispatch from Chicago dated March 23d says:

The cause of woman's rights has gained a point by the passage of the Legislative bill to secure to all persons freedom in selecting any occupation, profession or employment. The Governor has approved the bill and it becomes a law on the 1st of July next. Under its provisions women can be elected or appointed to any office, and may practice as lawyers.

"Can be elected or appointed to any office." That is broad enough. We may ere long hear of a Governess of Illinois. New York, too, is trying to make the dear creatures more comfortable, as we learn by a dispatch from Albany of the same date:

Among the reports made to the Senate was a bill to increase the causes of divorces. It makes among the causes such conduct on the part of the husband toward the wife as shall, without justice, deprive her of the society of her relatives or friends, or of attendance on public worship, or shall designedly render her life unhappy or uncomfortable.

No woman can complain of a lack of liberality in the provisions of that bill. It virtually brings marriage down to a temporary arrangement from being what it was before—a life-long obligation. As soon as a husband makes his wife "uncomfortable," she may get a divorce from him. There will be no more unhappy marriages in the State of New York when this bill is passed. Now it seems that all woman needs to make her perfectly happy is a vote. Better let her have it. Let her have all she wants.

> The hart, he loves the lowlands,
> The doe loves best the hill;
> The knight he loves his good broadsword,
> The lady loves her will.

She is in a fair way of getting it in the United States.

After the Funeral.

A gentleman in the vicinity of Philadelphia recently lost his wife, and a correspondent states that a young miss of six, who came to the funeral, said to his little daughter of about the same age. "Your pa will marry again, won't he?" "Oh! yes," was the reply; "but not until after the funeral."

Love's Sacrifice.

A young lady in Massachusetts has taken hold of dentistry for a living. All the young gentlemen patronize, and one young man has become hopelessly infatuated. Consequently he hasn't a tooth in his head. She has pulled every blessed one of them, and is now at work on his father's jaws.

Changing Base.

The well known dramatic publisher, Mr. Samuel French, is to reside hereafter in London, to conduct the business of Thos. H. Lacy, whom he has bought out, and his son T. H. French will conduct the business in New York.

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season. To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Dimes and Salvation.

In the Christian Herald, published at Nashville, Tenn., ("one of our most valued exchanges,") two columns are given up to a department entitled "Uncle John's Desk." Uncle John is a fragrant old man who devotes his energies to getting children to send him dimes, which are devoted to paying for sending the Herald to widows and orphans who have nothing to eat. We make the following extracts to aid the immaculate old gentleman in his work:

A dime well used. May the God of all grace make you instrumental in pointing many—very many—poor lost sinners to the Lamb! Oh! the sinners that are pouring down to hell! Momentous thought! Stupendous work! Incalculable responsibility!

Turner Stetson, South Florence, Ala.—Your letter to hand, with a dime for yourself and one for your sister Dell. See Mrs. Jackson's school children about it, Turner, and get up 18 more dimes if you can. Dell will help you—won't you, Dell?....Little Dell must now write me a letter. Send some dimes for Mollie and her post-office.

Mr. J. C. Herring.—A dime is a little thing, but 20 will pay for the Herald one year.

A. W. Van Hoose.—Your dimes gathered up in Murfreesboro will cheer the hearts of orphans.

Miss Eugene Mangrem.—You make a fine agent. Be assured I will remember you as my friend—as well for your nice letter as the dollar's worth of dimes.

Here is a libel on California:

Nancy E. Sellers.—The papers say that intoxicating liquors cost the half million people of California no less than $40,000,000 a year! Oh! shocking!—the drunken sons, brothers, husbands, fathers! Never keep the company of a young man who drinks.

Mrs. Sarah Wiseman, Austin, Tennessee, might make a fine agent to collect dimes for the purpose of having the Herald sent to orphan children and widowed mothers. What do you say, my friend?

Come on children, and fathers and mothers, with your dimes, quarters, halves and dollars.

Thomas Hays sent 5 cents. So he had something to do, and did it. And something to love—the orphans.

If this old man keeps up his lick it won't be long before every orphan in the United States has a Christian Herald. Just think of that! Oh, joy unspeakable! Oh, heavenly blessing! Think of the widows and orphans who have never seen a Christian Herald published in Nashville, Tennessee, subscription $2 per annum. Think of Mark Twain; he's an orphan. Send in your dimes and you'll go to heaven. Boys and girls who spend their money on candy and chewing gum instead of giving it to Uncle John to pay for the Christian Herald to send to starving orphans and blind widows go to the pit. Send some dimes.

Bosh!

The Vallejo Recorder, speaking of birds, says:

The world is full of beauty, and nothing created contributes so much toward it as the innocent songsters who sing their morning anthems to their Creator and charm our evening twilight with their sweet warblings.

There is no twilight in California, booby. When night comes it just lets right down on us without any shilly-shallying.

Dead! Dead! Dead!

One of the alligators at Woodward's Gardens is dead, and the others are shedding crocodile tears. The deceased was a scaly fellow at best. The youngest of the pretty beasts has a bad sore throat, and wears a mustard plaster, which seems to give him no relief.

Wearing Off the Green.

The Irishman in his own country glories in wearing of the Green. As soon as he comes to the United States, he sets to work wearing off the green as soon as possible.

Eleven editors have sunk from a life of honest poverty to Congress.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Elegant Jewelry.

Hirschman, at 133 Kearny street, is attracting particular attention to his windows by the elegant display of jewelry therein. Hirschman is an artist in his line, and should be Court Jeweler.

Elegant Millinery Establishment.

The elegance and taste displayed in fitting up MRS. E. SHLOSS'S new millinery establishment, 406 Kearny street, near Pine, is the talk of the town. The extent and variety of the stock, and the beauty of the new style of hats just received overland, are the admiration of the ladies, who know that the best styles and lowest prices are to be found at 406 KEARNY STREET. BI

Select Employment Office.

It is a well-known fact that Haste & Paddock are doing the largest Employment Business in this city, and the secret of their succe lies in their prompt attention to the requirements of their Applicants. All They Said.

Some mean fellow has recently taken down the entire conversation between two ladies during a fashionable call, and reports verbatim all that was said, as follows:

"How do you do my dear?"
"Putty well, I thank you." [They kiss.]
"How have you been this age?"
"Putty well; how have you been?"
"Very well, thank you."
"Pleasant, to-day."
"Yes, very bright, but we had a shower yesterday."
"Are your people well?"
"Quite well, thank you; how are yours?"
"Very well, I'm obliged to you?"
"Have you seen Mary B—— lately?"
"No, but I've seen Susan C——."
"You don't say so! Is she well?"
"Very, I believe." [Rising.]
"Must you go?"
"Yes, indeed; I have seven calls to make."
"Do call again soon."
"Thank you; but you don't call on me once in an age."
"Oh! you should not say so; I'm sure I'm very good."
"Good bye."

An Experienced Parson.

The Rev. Mr. Mallalieu, of Worchester, Massachusetts, announces that the lowest brothels in Boston, "are more decent than the most decent theatres." Of course a divine with a strict regard for truth would not express so decided an opinion without having had wide personal experience of both classes of amusements.

Goats.

The Baltimore Telegram of the 17th says: "Wilmington ate five goats the past week; the number of dogs and cats is not stated."

We are glad other cities have been fed on goat as well as San Francisco. We don't eat much goat now, as lamb, real lamb, is coming into the market. There is still a good deal of mule meat sold for beef.

A Bad Precedent.

A man in this city who killed his father-in-law has been acquitted on the grounds that he acted in self-defense. This seems to us a bad precedent. Now, if it had been his mother-in-law——

Fair Parisiennes are beginning to smoke cigarettes extensively while promenading the streets and parks.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles.

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night T. E. Jackson, the talented and popular low comedian of the Metropolitan Theatre company, and the bright and pretty Miss Josie Langley will take a joint benefit. The performance will commence with the sterling play of "All that Glitters is not Gold;" after this Pierpont Thayer, W. Simms, and Les Petites Darlings, and the ever popular Miss Maggie Moore, will appear in an olio of recitations, songs, and dances; the entertainment will conclude with the drama of "Lost at Sea; or, the Snow Bird." Mr. Jackson has made a hit in every character which he has undertaken during his engagement, and both he and Miss Josie Langley are such favorites that they should have a bumper benefit. On Friday evening Miss Mary Watson will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit and appear as Julia in "The Hunchback."

Alhambra Theatre.

No standing room after eight o'clock is still the rule at this establishment, and the performance gives the greatest satisfaction to all. Milburn's new songs; Harry Stanwood's banjo solos; Add Eymans's stump speech; Billy Emerson's Dutch songs; Heywood's sweet ballads, and numerous acts in which Fayette Welch, the Reynolds Bros. and others appear, are received with shouts of applause and laughter. There can be no falling off in the attendance while such an entertainment is given.

California Theatre.

The drama of "An Irishman's Heart" draws much applause and the farce of "Jones' Baby," causes uproarious merriment. These plays will constitute the entertainment again this evening. Chas. Wheatleigh will take his benefit on Monday.

Bella Union.

There will be great attractions at this popular theatre this evening. After the ballet of "La Fete D'Asnieres," by M'lle Marie Gaugain and corps de ballet, and a variety of other performances, the extravaganza entitled "Fortunio and his Seven Wonderful Servants," will be presented for the first time, with Miss Ella La Rue, Miss Marie Roel, R. G. Marsh, Lon McCarthy, Miss Minnie Fillmore, Mat Kelly, Tommy Bree, and many others in amusing characters.

Theatre Comique.

Good music, artistic dancing, amusing sets, character impersonations, etc., by Frank Mortimer, Kelly and Stuart, May Leroy, George L. Wallace, and others, make up a pleasing entertainment at this house. The sweet singing of Miss Eva Silva and Carrie Willis in duets, is quite a feature in the performance.

The Olympic Club Benefit.

The annual benefit of the Olympic Club is always a great event. It will again take place this year at the Metropolitan Theatre on Saturday, 30th. A gymnastic and theatrical entertainment will be given and without a doubt one of the largest audiences of the season will witness it.

California Theatre Projects.

Manager McCullough returned last night safe and sound from his Eastern trip, having secured many novelties for the spectacular piece to be produced shortly. Among them will be M'lle Erminie Venturoli, and the Majilton Troupe. The name of the piece is "The Palace of Truth." Porter has been hard at work preparing scenery for it for some time past and among other beautiful effects will introduce a prismatic fountain. Among the engagements made by Manager McCullough may be mentioned the very popular Miss Carlotta Leclercq, who supported Fechter during his Boston engagement. Lawrence Barrett will follow Miss Leclercq, and during his engagement "Julius Cæsar" will be produced in magnificent style. Mr. Barrett will bring with him three ladies and two new pieces: "Divorce" and "Saratoga." The next engagement after Barrett is the Aimee Opera Bouffe Troupe who will play until the theatre closes, which will be about the middle of July, or the purpose of being remodeled as regards the interior. A new proscenium will be put in, the unsightly and uncomfortable seats now in use will be replaced by comfortable and attractive looking iron seats like those in the Grand Opera House, New York, the boxes will be brought forward and a wooden ceiling will be put in which will improve the acoustics.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful WAX models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Make Your Home Beautiful

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Western Journalists.

Western papers surpass all papers printed in the English language in the use of terse expressions and forcible words. If they have occasion to speak in terms of disapprobation of any one, the reader gets a description of some striking peculiarity of the person spoken of, together with a slight biography. In one of them recently we noticed that a rival editor was called a "bandy-legged, red-headed puke, and a whisky-hoisting idiot," which was, no doubt an accurate though not complimentary portraiture. In the Indianapolis Evening Journal, of a recent date, allusion was made to a Missouri editor as a "diabolical slayer of steamboat clerks, a hump-backed, hollow eyed, hammer-headed hog, and a miserable, mangy, bench-legged coyote." We have not learned whether or not that Missourian went off and committed suicide. A Kansas paper, speaking of a politician of that State, says that he "is mean enough to rob his grandmother of her silver spectacles and then replace them with plated metal, and so contemptible in every way that his shadow even is ashamed of him, and gets invariably on the shady side, so as to be as little noticed as posible. For Judas Iscariot we may have some admiration as a great criminal, but for this wretch, who would rob the nest of a cockroach of its eggs, we have no feeling but that of loathing." The foregoing will do to put in the next edition which shall be published of "Elegant Extracts."

The Serpent Dance.

The New York correspondent of the Missouri Republican thus describes the latest variation of the "Black Crook," as revived at Niblo's, New York:

M'lle Sassi, of the "Crook," is doing the nastiest thing on the stage yet heard of. To a slimy, creeping tune, she slides up to an urn of flowers and draws therefrom a hideous, cussed snake. She shakes the torpid wretch until he slowly unfolds himself, runs his forked tongue out, and wags his scaly tail in long metre fashion. Then M'lle Sassi dances and winds the clammy worm around her neck; and if there's a man in the audience who wants to make her acquaintance after that exhibition, it's some man that owns an anaconda and wants to have it educated. I'm happy to add that Saturday the snake bit her hand, and it was red and inflamed at night. As the serpent's fangs have been unfortunately drawn, it is not likely to prove dangerous.

How Nice!

A traveller in Polynesia gives this description of the women of Tahiti:

The most bashful and coy will never pass you without a greeting, a glance of the eyes and a slight gathering of her dress with the elbows, to exhibit her buxom figure to full perfection. Or else, perhaps, she will come up coquettishly, ask you for the loan of your cigar, take a few puffs at it, and hand it back again gracefully to the rather astonished owner; and then, with a parting compliment which you most likely don't understand, let you go your way in peace—or not. The proper way to talk to your lady-love in Tahiti is as follows: You put your arm around her neck, and she hers around your waist, hanging on your breast in a limpy, affectionate manner. It is as much selon les regles as walking arm-in-arm, and much prettier to look at.

No wonder Charles Warren Stoddard was anxious to get back to Tahiti.

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has leased and thoroughly refitted the saloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 327 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know now to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

SWEET-HEART.

I cannot answer why I love,
I look into my heart, and there
I see her image shine above
All other forms and figures fair.

She sits with love's true homage crown'd
With beauty's largesse on her strewn;
A queen whose subjects kneel around
The shrine that is her fitting throne.

All purest thoughts and warmest prayers,
And highest hopes together throng,
And each best thing its tribute bears,
And breathes her name from lips to song.

That precious name is graven oft
Upon my heart, in fadeless lines,
And from its walls her beauty soft
In glowing pictures smiles and shines.

Through all its chambers thrills her voice,
So witching soft, so loving low;
Its tender music makes rejoice
All places where its accents flow.

My heart were silent should the strain
Her voice awakes, in measures sweet,
Of love's own cadence, e'er again
Dissolve in echoes faint and fleet.

My heart were dark except her eyes
Its spaces strew'd with flowers of light,
And drear except, in changeless dyes.
Her name's inscription filled it quite.

Happy the heart her influence fills,
And bright the heart her favor warms,
Entranc'd the heart her music thrills,
And rich the heart her beauty charms.

Brightest and best the heart that grows
Her own true heart to image true;
Where all her flow'rs of grace shall blow,
And all her beauty bloom anew!

Intelligent.

The dramatic critic of the Bulletin—or the young man who is trying to learn to be a critic by practising in the columns of that paper—calls the play of "An Irishman's Heart" a "comedy," and spells banjo with a g—bango.

A Scarecrow.

The Bulletin publishes a map with an imaginary city on the other side of the Bay—"Central City"—represented about ten times as big as San Francisco. Of course this is is not done with the object of scaring San Francisco into giving the railroad people all they ask. We know it isn't, because the Bulletin says they ought not to have anything more than they have already.

Curious Misprint.

One of our papers the other day, intending to print "pilotage," had it "pillage." This is a very curious misprint because there is nothing like pillage in our pilotage system, as everyone knows.

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. Y

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

See Silberstein's new styles. C

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." G

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and the last ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the special treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from the suffering everywhere, to come to their aid, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in that celebrated institution, and then give a few more years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST resulted in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

"FIGARO."

Published daily, except Sunday, by

WEDNESDAY.....MARCH 27, 1872

EXTRA EDITION.

FIGARO is here, there and everywhere. An extra edition of 1000 copies was printed yesterday for distribution in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and other cities in the southern portion of the state as avant couriers of the New York Circus.

Not Their Style.

The Marin County Journal says:

It is a burning and lasting shame, a blot upon the female portion of our little town, that the poor Indian woman who was sentenced to the State Prison had no female friend in her hour of trial to whom she could look for sympathy; no member of the Woman Suffrage Society upon whose breast she might lay her head and confide her sorrows. Alas! we have no Pitts-Stevens or Lisle Lesters here who would step up manfully to the front and cheer a sister—although her skin be dark and she feeds on grasshoppers—in her hour of distress. "Alas for the rarity of human charity, under the sun."

The Journal is mistaken. Lisle Lester and Pitts-Stevens only go to see "big Injins" of the Anglo-Saxon race. Laura A. Fair hasn't a dark skin and doesn't eat grasshoppers, and she had about $40,000. Injins are low and the Woman Suffrage Society would'nt let them vote anyhow. As to laying her head upon the breast of a Woman Suffragist, it would only give the poor thing a headache.

That Cherry-tree Story.

Washington's parents were very particular as to little Georgie's playfellow, never allowing any but his little cousins or nephews to visit him. One of these playfellows, and in some way connected, was one of the Custis boys. Among other cognomens bestowed upon this youth at his christening was that of Isaac. Well, Isaac and Georgie were playing together in the orchard on the day when the historic cherry-tree was disfigured. The parental Washington came along and was very much enraged to see his favorite tree cut and hacked in a very bungling manner. So he said to Georgie, "Come here, you rascal! Who cut this cherry-tree of mine?" Georgie gazed for a moment at the riding-whip in the old gentleman's hand, and then replied: "Father, I can not tell a lie—Ike cut it with my little hatchet."

Almost Sorry.

The cities in the interior were badly shaken up by the late earthquake. Their inhabitants, as soon as they recovered from the scare, began to lament over poor San Francisco, which they pictured to themselves as in ruins. It seemed impossible to them that there should be an earthquake in California without San Francisco bearing the brunt of it. They were so surprised that they felt half sorry when they learned that all San Francisco experienced was a little bit of an earthquake, so tame and gentle that one might pat it. It really isn't safe to travel just at present. We mean to stay in San Francisco, because we are afraid of those dreadful earthquakes in Sacramento, Stockton and all the other towns.

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season. To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. ♥

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Poor Pauline Markham.

A very few years ago there flashed upon the American stage, says the Philadelphia Press, a woman of marvellous beauty and of perfect form—a form, too, not jealously concealed. She was acknowledged to be the handsomest player of the day. She turned the heads of all the young men who saw her and addled the brains of not a few of the old ones. She was the lion of the day. The newspapers teemed with her praises, and even dignified magazines bowed the knee before her. Her voice, we are told, was like unto vocal "velvet," her appearance majestic, her limbs indescribable, yet modestly and minuteiy described, and unrivalled. If the reader has ever entered a theatre he knows we mean the Queen of the Blondes and the charming Stalacta of "The Black Crook," Pauline Markham. Recently we visited New York, and to put in a dull afternoon wandered to Wood's Museum. We found that Miss Markham was a member of the company. Though surprised that we had heard nothing of her through the newspapers, and that she should be an actress at the afternoon performance of a museum, we fully expected not exactly to see her as deshing as ever, but certainly to find her still in some respects the Markham of memory. To say that we were astonished when she came on fails to express our feelings. The curtain rose, and, in theatrical parlance, a lady seated was discovered. In her we recognized not a feature of Pauline Markham; yet it was her. She was pale, wan, and weak, so much so, indeed, that it was evident she went through her part with the greatest pain. It was not a momentary illness; what we beheld was the utter wreck of this once magnificent being. A harsh, deep cough told sadly and emphatically enough of consumption, and of consumption not just commenced. To us the sight was painful. A year ago this woman lived like a princess; wealth was poured into her lap. Now she was not worthy to grace even the programme of a place of amusement unrecognized as a theatre, and literally tottered afternoon after afternoon about the stage that she might earn enough to keep her yet awhile longer the little life still left her. Several times she sought the support of the scenery, when compelled to stand a moment or two. A burlesque followed the comedy—just such a burlesque as she was wont of old to dash through in the gayest of gay spirits. She was allotted the second, not the first part. A cough had replaced the ringing laugh, a sickly smile the bright glances of her eyes. The career of this woman is only out of the common order in that it has been so short. She triumphed scarcely quarter the average length of time. Like thousands before, she thought her beauty and her talents everlasting, and neglected the warnings which must have come to her, until too late. How gladly now would she take a third of what an hour's shopping has time and again cost her.

The Bohemian Club.

The Bohemians have done well. The Bohemian Club is already an institution and numbers fifty members. A meeting was held on Monday at the club-rooms, corner of Webb and Sacramento streets, when the following regular ticket was presented by the nominating committee: President, Thomas Newcombe; Vice-President, Henry Edwards; Secretary, Sands W. Forman; Treasurer, Arpad Harasthy; Trustees, D. T. Belknap, R. C. Rogers, S. M. Brookes, Fred. Whymper, and Henry George. The Press, the Law, and the Stage are well represented in the ticket. The election will come off on Monday April 1st. The next meeting will be held on Friday afternoon at half past 3 o'clock.

A Sensitive Bear.

The Calistoga Tribune tells us that Alex. Badlam saw a bear, blazed away at it with a rifle, and the bear fell dead, but not a sign of a wound could be found on him anywhere—not a hair being disturbed. No inquest was held; had there been one, the verdict no doubt would have been, "died of disease of the heart, accelerated by sudden fright." We didn't think bears were so easily scared to death.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

T. E Jackson and Miss Josie Langley had a good house last night on the occasion of their benefit, though not so large a one as their merits and the efforts they have made to please the public should have called forth. The performance was a capital one. T. E. Jackson was admirable in the character of Toby Twink'e in the drama of "All that Glitters is not Gold," and as Sloppy Sam in the afterpiece of "Lost at Sea," in which Miss Josie Langley played the character of Jenny Foster in a very naive and pleasant manner. The olio was varied and attractive. "All That Glitters is not Gold" and "Lost at Sea" to-night. To-morrow night "The Hunchback" will be performed for the benefit of Mrs. Mary Watson.

Alhambra Theatre.

There never was a more popular or more talented company of minstrels than that now performing at the Alhambra Theatre. The public, aware that in six weeks or so they must leave to achieve new triumphs in the Eastern States, cannot see enough of them. Thus it is that the Alhambra is thronged nightly.

California Theatre.

The drama of "An Irishman's Heart," with its puzzling plot, exciting situations and interesting characters admirably played by Chas Wheatleigh, Miss Rose Evans, and others, and the screaming farce of "Jones' Baby," in which J. C. Williamson as the father driven to desperation by his troubles, will be played for the last time to-night. To-morrow evening "The Lancashire Lass."

Bella Union.

The extravaganza of "Fortunio and his Seven Gifted Servants" was produced last night, and proved one of the most attractive pieces presented at this house in some time. Miss Carrie Chapman played the part of Miss Myrtina with much spirit; E. G. Marsh was very amusing as as King All-four-ite; Miss Minnie Fillmore looked charming as Fairy Favorable; Ella La Rue was very good as Princess Vindicta, and the piece was generally well performed. The ballet of "La Fete D'Asneres" and other entertainments make up a capital bill, which will be repeated to-night.

Theatre Comique.

A very varied and popular entertainment is given here nightly by Mike Quinn, Frank Mortimer, George L. Wallace, May Leroy, Josie Mayfield, Sally Thayer, and a host of others. It comprises many lively negro acts, popular songs, dances, and other performances.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

A Funny Scene.

There was considerable fun at a representation of "Romeo and Juliet" in a wretched little theatre during the first French revolution. Madame Deharme, the Juliet of the occasion, was lying dead on a tombstone. It was raining torrents; a drop came through the roof and fell on Juliet's nose; she made a face; another drop fell on her eyelids; she winked. It was a facial expression not taught by Delsarte. Finally she took to watching the drops and dodging them. The audience caught the idea and sympathized with her. "Look out, Mrs. Juliet," said one fellow; "there's a whopper a-comin'—I sees it!" "Mind your eye!" said another. "Madame," said a third, rising, "will you accept the use of my umbrella?". Of course the tragedy ended in a farce.

Getting Even on Delilah.

A Cincinnati woman lately bailed her husband out of the station house—where too much indulgence in the flowing bowl had sent him—with the proceeds of the sale of her hair, which was unusually long and beautiful. He, on his part, grieved so much at his wife's surrendering her chief beauty for his sake, that he procured a divorce, and is going to marry another woman at an early day.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Make Your Home Beautiful

By adorning its walls with pleasant pictures in beautiful frames. W. A. KOLLMYER, dealer in pictures, and mirror and picture frame maker, 640 Washington street, just below Kearny, will, at a wonderfully small cost, transform the dullest looking room into a bright, cheerful budoir. A

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Waltzing.

I have done a great deal of looking on while waltzing was in progress. I have noted three varieties of waltzers. First, those to whom the business is a hard and painful necessity, to which they were pre-ordained and commanded, and which must be fulfilled. About nineteen out twenty of the waltzing couples I have seen served their generation in this variety of service—sad, serious and sorry, but brave. Secondly—There are those to whom the dance is a fine art, who enter upon it as artists, glad to carry out perfectly a system of invention which, because it is existing in society, it is well for them to sustain absolutely well. These people do not have the agonized look of the first class; they are pleased with themselves, which is something, and they are worth study as illustrating one more form of harmony cast in action. The third variety—mostly Germans by nationality—are people who are thoroughly happy, unconscious and at ease as they dance. They dance as the thistle-down floats, which we boys used to call a zephyr. When you see their unconsciousness and really childish simplicity in the matter, it is hard to frown at waltzing, or to find any harm in it.—Old and New.

Artless Criminal.

It is terrible to think of the agonies of a woman of culture and refinement when suffering under an attack of that dread disease, kleptomania. An instance of heart-rending intensity took place the other day in Boston. An elegantly-dressed woman was detected in the very act of plagiarizing a pair of silk stockings. She started, turned pale, and burst into tears, suddenly conscious of her guilt, and then in the most agonized manner besought the proprietor to release her and offered him a twenty-dollar note for the stockings. The gentleman kindly reasoned with the afflicted woman, and taking the price of the stockings, returned her the change from the twenty-dollar note. The poor woman then disappeared and was heard of no mere, although her bank note was, as it was counterfeit.

Agricultural.

Horace Greeley says the rutabagas are not indigenous to Western farms. A Durham pig can root a bags in about two minutes. They grow best on a sandy loam, especially the red-haired ruta, which is accustomed to sea-weed and intense cold. In mountainous countries they grow fast, and are used to fatten peafowls and domestic quadrumana. In planting, a Singer sewing machine is as good as any, though an iron-toothed rake will be found serviceable. Plant in rows and prune once a month with a broad-axe. Be careful that you don't make a mistake and get turnip seed.

Query.

If the Legislature gives Marriott, or Moriarty, $25,000 to complete his aviter, will he go up in it? He ought to, and thus have a chance of getting a little nearer heaven than he can possibly hope to otherwise.

W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

I MET MY LOVE.

BY J. P. W.

I met my love at morning
When birds began to sing,
And buttercups gave warning
'Twas now the new-born Spring;
And then I cried, "How brightly
Young life would speed along,
With love to guide it lightly
'Mid bloom of flower and song."

I met my love at noontide,
'Twas in a sylvan bower,
And warm the sun, that June tide,
Lay on each bright-hued flower;
And then I said, "My fairest,
Beneath love's genial light
The brightest things and rarest
Grow still more rare and bright."

I met my love at nightfall
Beside the lattice pane,
And mute we watched the light fall,
And heard the wint'ry rain.
I sighed, "True love will cheer thee
When morn and noon are past"—
I drew her gently near me,
And won my love at last.

Albany Hotel Fare.

A couple of Uticans stopped for breakfast at one of the frugal Albany hotels, lately, and one of them, well acquainted with the ways of the place, ordered everything on the bill of fare and managed to make a very fair meal, taking everything into consideration. But number two was less fortunate. Ignorant of the ways of the place, he ordered only his cup of coffee and "ham and eggs."

After he had nibbled awhile on his hot rolls and sipped his coffee, the waiter came tip-toeing in, with a large platter having in the centre a solitary egg. Number two looked up at the waiter: "Didn't I order ham and eggs?" "Yes sir." "Well, where is the ham?" "Under the egg, sir, under the egg." And the waiter went on with the further rountine of his occupation.

Acme Minstrels.

We had the pleasure of being present at a private entertainment given by some of the members of the Acme Minstrels. Phil. Winthrop favored us with some of his best sketches of Ethiopian eccentricities. This gentleman is capable of great things, and, although an amateur, shows greater talent than the majority of professionals in the burnt-cork business. He would undoubtedly be a great accession to any first-class minstrel troupe, and ought no longer to remain in the background. *

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter treet. Health and Pleasure.

The Painter's Quietus.

An artist in Nashua, N. H., not long ago, was doing his best at a sunset on the Rhine. A magnificent old castle occupied a prominent position in the picture, behind which, it is supposed, the glorious oro of day had just disappeared, giving the rocks, hills and dales that picturesque twilight which is so much admired by lovers of nature. As its rays fell upon the placid sheen of the Rhine its reflection sparkled like molten silver. The artist surveyed his work in general outline in blending and shading, laid down his pallet and brush, and was congratulating himself on the success of his masterpiese, when a countryman, who, unnoticed, had been reviewing the picture from behind, remarked, with a measured tone:

"Well, I swan, that looks nat'ral."

"Ah, indeed!" replied the artist, looking at the speaker, who certainly had not the appearance of having travelled a great distance beyond the barnyard. "Do you recognize it?"

"Recognize it? I guess I do. Been there more'n fifty times. It's just up to the edge of Leominster. That buildin' there [the castle] is Squire Jones's soap house, and this shiny stuff [the shimmering Rhine] is the soapsuds that comes from it."

There was an artist's studio to rent next day, and Raphael lost a talented follower, but the world in general and Nashua in particular found an excellent sign and carriage painter.

Blame the Right Man.

The Oakland News of yesterday has the following:

The opera will be given at the Oakland Theatre next week. Manager Maguire has had a rough time of it, but now seems likely to become firmly established here. Bianchi seems to have treated not only Maguire, but the Oakland people in a very shabby manner, but these musical people are very peculiar, and there is no accounting for their whims.

Bianchi was most liberal and accommodating in his terms with Maguire, but the latter failed utterly in keeping his engagements. Signor Bianchi could have given the opera on the evening advertised only by becoming personally responsible for the money necessary to pay the troupe, in addition to giving his own services for nothing. "Manager John Maguire" has undertaken a task too heavy for him; he is not strong enough for the place.

Idiotic.

The following is one of the stupid paragraphs going the rounds of the press:

Some one says: "There is but one way to be happy, but there are a thousand ways to be wretched."

This only proves that "some one" is a donkey.

Nothing New.

After all, mammoth concerts are not a Gilmorean invention for at the building of Solomon's Temple there was a concert given with 200,000 singers, 200,000 trumpeters, 40,000 harpists, and 40,000 players on golden Tithers.

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

The Inspiration of Wine.

Noah is generally accredited by the commentators of the Bible as having been the inventor of distillation, and the first man who drank wine to excess. Noah could not plead youth in extenuation of his fault, for he was six hundred years of age when he came forth from the ark, and he certainly, if there is so much harm in drinking, has not added to his good character by introducing to the world an article which "men put into their stomachs to steal away their brains." The philosopher Frankland, however, in a letter to Abbe Morellet, would seem rather inferentially to commend Noah's patent, for he writes: "Before Noah, men could not arrive at the truth, because they had nothing else but water to drink; so they went astray, deteriorated most abominably, and thus were justly exterminated by the very water they loved to drink." The austere Cato lends the weight of his influence to good cheer, for he frequently resorted to wine 'to fire his virtue." Hippocrates assures us that it does a man good to get drunk once a month, which opinion is fully supported by the celebrated physician, Armand de Vilnerive; and a late philosopher, going to a still greater extent, insists that it is well to get drunk daily for the medicinal effect, and his theory has met with the most popular success of any. Horace also tells us that no poet who drinks water can write good verses; and Athœus that Alcaeus and Aristophanes wrote poems only when they were intoxicated. Anacreon wrote but of grapes and wine, while Pindar is redolent of the exhilarating liquor. It is well known that Ovid's worst poems were written in Scythia, where no wine was made. Byron fired his muse with gin, and Poe wrote many of his poems when drunk. Flaccus believed that wine made men eloquent; so did Sheridan. Kotzebue assures us that the fishes are mute solely because they drink nothing but water.

One Way of Putting It.

The Courier de San Francisco, describing the effect of the earthquake in Sacramento, has the following: "A correspondent of the Alta—on the part of a journalist the action was not surprising—in his anxiety to get out in search of news, threw himself from a second story window into the street. The manuscript of a half finished article which he had in his pocket luckily broke his fall." We suppose it was soft enough if it was intended for publication in the Alta.

Rival Instruments.

The Los Angeles Express says:

An engine of torture called the "devil's fiddle," invented by some infernal fiend whose genius ought to have been directed to some worthier purpose, has marched in triumph from Boston to the Pacific, scattering confusion and terror in its path, and finally invaded the sanctified seclusion of the City of Angels.

The angels ought to tune up their harps and drive the devil's fiddles out of their city.

The Dickens Family.

Charles Dickens, jr., has been rushing into print lately to deny relationship with two young theatrical ladies named Long. This consanguininity was alleged to exist by a provincial journal, and Mr. Dickens denial is brusque as the soul of Dr. Greeley could desire. The correspondent reiterates, however, and the London public hangs breathless on the the result of the important dispute.

Lost Pets.

In yesterday's Call there appeared an advertisement offering ten dollars reward for a Prince Charles slut, another offering the same for the return of "A small bull terrier blue and white, one side of head blue, the other, white; answers to the name of Jimmy," and —oh! how small that child must feel—exactly the same sum for a dear little boy with straight hair!

NEVER SAY FAIL.

Keep pushing—'tis wiser
Than setting aside,
And dreaming and sighing
And waiting the tide.

In life's earnest battle
They only prevail,
Who daily march onward
And never say fail.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

J. H. Milburn's character songs, Add Eyman's stump speeches, Billy Emerson's amusing burlesques, Fayette Welch's funny jokes, Harry Stanwood's highly original performances on the banjo, Heywood's sweet ballads, and the Reynolds Brothers' clever dances, are alike popular, and the thousands who have thronged the Alhambra during the week were all well pleased. The full bill will be presented this evening, and again at the matinee to-morrow.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night the play of "The Hunchback" will be performed, and Mrs. Mary Watson, author of the play of "Lady Clare," produced at the Metropolitan Theatre some time ago, will make her appearance as Julia. J. H. Vinson will play Master Walter, J. H. Hardie, Sir Thomas Clifford, and the other parts will be in good hands. The performance will be for the benefit of the debutante

California Theatre.

The performance this evening will consist of "The Lancashire Lass," (not an "Irishman's Heart," as erroneously stated by the Alta this morning.) The same play will be given at the matinee to-morrow and again in the evening.

Bella Union.

The very attractive extravaganza of "Fortunio and his Seven Gifted Servants," "La Fete d'Asnieres," by M'lle Marie Gaugain and corps de ballet, and a variety of songs, dances and acts, will be given to-night.

Theatre Comique.

The management of this house are ever on the alert to secure new talent. George L. Wallace, Miss Josie Mayfield, and Miss May Leroy, are the latest additions to the company, and are all favorites.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Advice to Amateur Showmen.

The New York Mercury says:

The Washington church which the Japanese were to attend the other Sunday was crowded. After the collection had been taken up the preacher announced that the celestials were not coming. If Barnum should advertise his cannibals, and then fail to show them without returning the admission fees, we should exorcise the wickedness that could prompt the old showman to such a scurvy trick; and the conduct of this Washington preacher-manager is equally reprehensible. If he desires to enter the show business, we are not disposed to debar him on account of his previous career or character; but really he must drop the tricks and traps of his ministerial calling if he would be respected as a manager.

Toys.

Fanny Fern writes with reference to the expensive toys now in vogue: The doll of my bib days was a crooked-necked squash, with a towel for a dress and a numerous progeny of little cucumbers for babies; and I was a great deal better contented than the little girl of to-day with a $100 Paris doll.

A Western editor says that fresh water has tasted strong of sinners ever since the universal deluge, and that's why he has to flavor it.

Queen Elizabeth always displayed her worst temper in her best clothes. She was dreadfully ruffled then.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. Home, Sweet Home.

In reference to the authorship of this popular ballad, "Home, Sweet Home," the following anecdote may be interesting to your musical readers: I was residing at Milan with my family at the time of the production of the opera of "Anna Bolena." We were very intimate with Mme. Pasta. I well remember her calling one day, and telling us she was very much discontented with her share in the partition of the last scene of the opera, and she added, "You English have so many beautiful airs which you sing among yourselves, that I am sure you could help me." My mother, who was a very fine musician, mentioned "Home, Sweet Home!" as a song, which its own air and words, and Miss Paton's singing had made very popular in England. She sang it, and Madame Pasta, sitting down at the piano-forte, said, "It will do; I am sure it will do." Donizetti adopted it accordingly, and thanked us for having got him out of his difficulty. As to the authorship, not having any musical books about me, I can only express a vague remembrance that it appeared first in a collection of foreign songs, with English words. The music, I believe, was arranged by Bishop, and the words were either by Baily or Thomas Moore. The air was Sicilian, and I particularly remember saying to Mme. Pasta, that it was curious an Italian air should get back to its home through an English medium.—[The Athenæum.]

How Stupid.

A French paper says that there is great excitement in San Francisco, the capital city of North Carolina, situated on the Hudson river, because a party of capitalists have petitioned Grant to give them Goat Island. The citizens of San Francisco represent that Goat Island has been the main support of the city for some time past, and that if the capitalists are allowed to have the island for manufacturing purposes (it is required for a wooden nutmeg manufactory), the immense herds of goats will probably be destroyed. Our contemporary further states that the inhabitants are about to start a vigilance committee, which it is expected will put matters right.

Repented.

Bishop E——, of Massachusetts, visiting one of the churches of his diocese on a certain occasion, requested that the Sunday-school children should be assembled to be catechised. The good bishop put this question rather suddenly to the little boy who stood trembling at the head of his class: "Who made the world?"

The little fellow, with quavering voice, replied, "I didn't."

The bishop, astonished at the answer, demanded, "What do you mean, sir?"

Still more frightened, the lad replied, "I—I—did—I—won't—do—it—again!"

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE EAGLE AND THE WREN.

The birds once met—an ancient story reads—
To choose a monarch. So they each agreed
Whoever highest soared by wit or wing,
Should be proclaimed henceforth their sovereign king.

Up sprang they then with one accord and through
Their native element like arrows flew;
But highest rose the eagle, who did soar
Until his wearied wings could beat no more;
Nor waiting to be told in better words.
Proclaimed himself the sovereign of the birds.

Between his shoulders, unperceived till then,
Sat perched in quiet ease the little wren,
Who, as the eagle ceased to mount, quick rose
On tiny pinion far above her foes,
And twittered forth the victory at length
Of wit and intellect o'er bulk and strength.

Silence Gives Consent.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has declared that the mutuality of an engagement may be proved against a young lady "by showing that she demeaned herself as if she concurred in or approved the young man's promises or offer." It is not neccessary that there should be an express promise on either side. In fact it is only necessary for a lady to "look as if she liked it," to render herself liable to a suit for breach of promise. If the same rule works with men the Kentucky bachelors must be very circumspect in their behavior. This decision virtually puts a stop to flirtation, which is a pity.

Horse Marines.

This memorable corps of nondescript warriors, which was rendered ridiculous by the exploits of its leader, Captain Jinks, has at last got into the United States navy, thanks to the watchful care of Secretary Robeson. The Naval Appropriation bill, now pending in the House of Congress, sets apart $16,000 for horses and horse equipments for the Marine Corps. Verily, we are a great country, and the officials make us feel prouder still, for they propose to achieve that hitherto impossible feat of sending our marines to sea on—horseback, to make them "ride over the billows of the ocean."

Another Man.

The General Trochu who sues our Parisian namesake for libel must not be confounded with Bronchial Trochee; he is another man altogether. Figaro, it appears, accused General Trochu of deserting the Empress Eugenie after promising to support her; and the General, feeling that if he is believed capable of such ungallant treatment of a lady (putting the Empress aside) he might as well cut his throat, seeks to have his character cleared by the Courts.

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." G

FRIDAY..... .....MARCH 29, 1872

A Rap at Joaquin Miller.

Joaquin Miller in an article in the last Overland Monthly drew a not very flattering picture of the "Pike"—not the fish, but the biped Pike—and the Petaluma Crescent thus comes back at him:

But now comes some puny and degenerate scribbler, fresh from the glare and enervating dissipation of the city, and affects to look down with disdain upon the sturdy Piker who has subdued the wilds of Nature that this scoffing, modern hybrid between humanity and a tailor's cut, may trust his precious carcass outside the protecting guardianship of the Metropolitan police. But the honest Piker need feel no abasement at the sneer, for he in his native manliness is worth a whole generation of these puny, emasculated, lily-fingered, dainty-livered sconners.

A "Goniff."

Abraham Levy called John Black a "goniff," and John Black sues him for $10,000 for thus slandering him. "Goniff" is a pet name much in use among London Jews, but it hurt Mr. Black's feelings so much that nothing less than $10,000 will satisfy him. It is very foolish when you wish to abuse a man to use terms which will render you liable to a suit for slander. Why not use one that sounds bad, but will not bring you within the clutches of the law? If we haven't a good opinion of a man, we call him a "wallapus." He can't sue us for that.

The Reason.

One of the country papers speaking of the earthquake says:

It was felt quite sensibly in San Francisco though no accounts are contained in the papers.

The earthquake came very sensibly and disturbed no one. No account of it was necessary, as it was a no-account earthquake.

Out of Place.

Things ought to be conducted appropriately and in order. We cannot express the grief that afflicted us, one day, when a man with but one leg and the same amount of eye and arm hobbled at the head of a temperance procession, bearing on his hat the legend, "See what the temperance cause has done for me!"

The Earthquake Again.

This is all the correspondent of the Marysville Appeal had to say about the earthquake at Clipper Mills:

EDITOR APPEAL:—The most severe earthquake ever felt here came off at half-past two this morning. Men left their wives and rushed frantically to the woods.

That tells the story.

Very Shocking.

A teacher in a school not a hundred miles from Augusta gave out the word "eucharist" in the spelling exercise, and then asked one of the pupils to give the definition of the word. Fancy the feelings of the teacher when he asked: "Doesn't it mean a first-class euchre player?"

Mother and Baby.

A Frenchman, but recently arrived in America, bought a cow and calf from a neighboring farmer, and as they were not sent at the time promised, he wrote thus: "Monsieur, suppose you send me my she beef and his baby?"

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season. To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. X

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

Oh, Dreadful!

We fear that the editor of the Boston Courier, albeit his paper is entertaining and pleasing to the intellect, hath not the saving grace which is above all else. How could he speak as he does of a holy man, a laborer in the vineyard, who simply supplied the wants of his poor, perishable body, the casket of an immortal soul, and left in payment a word in season. This is what he says:

We are great admirers of true piety, but we heartily despise the cant which Dickens has so admirably depicted in Chadband and other pretentious humbugs. One of these sniffing nuisances, a tall, able-bodied, well-dressed man, entered a restaurant on Second street the other day, and after helping himself to various eatables and calling for a glass of water, presented the lady behind the counter with a tract headed: Do You Love Jesus? and departed without paying his bill. This sanctimonious loafer should read George McDonald's poem of the Carpenter, wherein he says:

O Lord, at Joseph's humble bench,
Thy hands did handle saw and plane;
Thy hammer nails did drive and clench,
Avoiding knot and humoring grain.

We would suggest that George McDonald is not inspired, and that he has not the slightest warranty for the statement he makes. Every dinner of which we find mention made in Holy Writ—and they are numerous—was free. As to calling a missionary a sanctimonious loafer, it's shocking.

Advice Gratis.

Spurgeon sententiously expresses a number of "thoughts" worth remembering, in the following appropriate sentences, which he publishes as "advice gratis:"

Nobody is more like an honest man than a thorough rogue.

When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he keeps a very small stock of it within.

Do not choose your friend by his looks; handsome shoes often pinch the feet.

Drink nothing without seeing it; sing nothing without reading it; and make sure that it means no more than it says.

Don't go to law unless you have nothing to lose; lawyer's houses are built on fools' heads.

Put no dependence on the label of a bag, and count money after your own kind.

In any business never wade into water where you cannot see the bottom.

See the sack open before you buy what is in it, for he who trades in the dark asks to be cheated.

Keep clear of a man who does not value his own character.

Who's Ahead!

A gentleman asked the girls the following pointed questions: "Could you love a man who wore false hair on his head, when he had enough of his own? Who painted his face and improved his form as you improve (?) yours? Who pinched his feet with small shoes, his hands with small gloves, his waist with corsets; and then, as if he had not already deformed himself enough, tied a huge bustle to his back, and thrust tiny mountains of wire into his bosom?" To which, a lady responds, "Could you love a girl who defiled her mouth with tobacco and loaded the air with fumes of cigars? Who swaggered home several times a week the worse for liquor? Who indulged in fast horses, and swaggered around the streets with questionable companions?" "Which picture wears the most alluring colors?" Mrs. Van Gott says if she had all the money ever paid for liquor she could buy every foot of land in the world. Very likely.

Cupid in Petaluma.

The Crescent says: "Love is on duty as special policeman from midnight until noon." Love is on duty as special policeman in San Francisco night and day, and is constantly taking people to the calaboose of matrimony, whence they escape by the interposition of either Death or Divorce.

The Difference.

Josh Billings says that the difference between a blunder and a mistake is this: When a man puts down a bad umbrella and takes up a good one, he makes a mistake; but when he puts down a good one and takes up a bad one, he makes a blunder.

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays. E

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Jumping a Newspaper Office.

W. H. Clipperton, proprietor of the Gilroy Telegram, having obtained an appointment in the San Francisco Mint, left Mr. Shaw to edit and publish the paper during his absence. Shaw thought he'd make a few changes to suit himself, and commenced by calling the paper the Union instead of the Telegram. When Clipperton returned Shaw ordered him out of the office as he didn't want him round. On this Clipperton had Shaw arrested for larceny in stealing his newspaper. We fancy that a civil suit will have to be brought to settle this matter. Shaw can scarcely be found guilty of more than a breach of trust; Clipperton left Shaw in possession of his office, with authority to act, and in order to regain it must bring a replevin suit.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles.

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—Quite a large and fashionable audience assembled last night to witness the debut of Mrs. Mary Watson in the character of Julia in "The Hunchback." Mrs. Watson has no particular natural qualifications for the stage, and her weak, thin voice would preclude the possibility of her making a success. She read and acted the part intelligently, showing that she understood how it should be done, but fell short in the execution. J. H. Vinson acted well as Master Walter, and J. B. Hardie was particularly good as Sir Thomas Clifford; E. T. Jackson's Fathom was wonderfully amusing, and a good bit of acting. "All that Glitters is Not Gold," and "Lost at Sea," will be played at the matinee to-day. To-night the S. F. Olympic Club take possession of the theatre and have their annual benefit. Not even on an opera night could the Metropolitan Theatre present a more brilliant appearance than it will to-night, thronged with the beauty, wealth and fashion of the city. The performance will commence with the comedietta of "Who Speaks First?" by J. M. Hardie, Miss Henrietta Osborne and others, and after this the members of the Olympic Club will appear in a programme of muscular sports which may be found on our first page. The theatre will be closed to-morrow night to make preparations for the appearance of the Tycoon Troupe of Japanese.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"The Lancashire Lass" as played at this theatre last night, was a most enjoyable performance. Charles Wheatleigh's Patty by the name of Johnson, was a fine bit of character acting, and the hearty applause which rewarded him, proved to Mr. Wheatleigh how thoroughly our public appreciate genuine acting. Miss Rose Evans played Ruth in a delightfully, earnest and natural manner; J. C. Williamson did some amusing acting as Spotty; Henry Edwards was very good as Ned Clayton; Edmund Leathes as Mr. Danville was excellent, his simulation of age was perfect, and his attitudes were particularly telling; W. A. Mestayer acted the part of Robert Redburn very effectively; E. J. Buckley did a splendid bit of acting as Sergeant Donovan; J. W. Leach gave a perfect impersonation of the faithful Mr. Jellick, and the other characters were well filled. This thrilling play with its strong cast, beautiful scenery and sensational effects will be played at the matinee to-day and again this evening.

BELLA UNION.—The performance nightly given at this pioneer theatre is lively and varied, suits all tastes and attracts all classes. After a capital first part comes an interlude of acts, songs and dances, and the very pretty ballet of "La Fete d'Asnieres," produced under the direction of M'lle Marie Gaugain. Miss Ella La Rue follows with her banjo and never fails to gain three and four encores. The extravaganza of "Fortunio and His Seven Gifted Servants," with Miss Carrie Chapman as Fortunio, and the whole company in the cast, closes the entertainment.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—A great Saturday night bill has been prepared for the entertainment of the patrons of this house, and quite a number of favorite performers are engaged here. Eva Silva, Frank Mortimer, Mike Quinn, Sally Thayer, May Leroy, Josie Mayfield, and a number of others will take part in the performance to-night.

THE ROYAL TYCOON TROUPE.—The Royal Tycoon Troupe of Japanese performers, who are to appear at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday, are said to be the very cream of the profession, and were brought here by Mr. Marshall, the well-known circus manager, who went to Japan for the express purpose of engaging them. Their repertoire of tricks and gymnastic feats is a very extensive one.

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH CONCERT.—A concert in aid of the building fund of St. Alban's Church, will be given at Platt's Hall, on Friday April 5th. The full list of names of the artists who will take part in it appears on our first page. It comprises Signora Bianchi, Mrs. Marriner, Signor E. Bianchi, Charles Vivian, and many others. An orchestra of thirty pieces will perform under the direction of Geo. T. Evans.

MCEVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—This famous panorama of scenes in Ireland, and entertainment consisting of music, songs, stories and dialogue illustrative of Irish Life, will open at Platt's Hall on Monday, April 8th. An imitation of the Original Hibernicon was on exhibition here two years ago, and even that drew immense houses for a period of four weeks. When we have the Original Hibernicon, thousands will flock to see it.

THE ORPHEUS SINGING CLUB.—A concert and ball by the Orpheus Singing Club of Scandinavians, assisted by the best talent to be obtained will be given at Platt's Hall on Saturday evening, April 6th. The proceeds will be devoted to creating a fund for the benefit of the widows and orphans of members of the Scandinavian Society. The full programme will appear in FIGARO on Monday.

MRS. LOTTIE WILLIAMS.—Mrs. Lottie Williams is Sacramento's successful debutante having made quite a success, according to the papers, when she appeared with Proctor's company at the Metropolitan Theatre, in "Frou-frou." Mrs. Williams will make her first appearance at the California Theatre, in this city, in the same character, on Tuesday evening.

"THE PALACE OF TRUTH."—Next week at the California Theatre will be nearly all taken up by benefits. On Monday, April 8th, the grand spectacular play of "The Palace of Truth" will be produced, and M'lle Venturoli, the famous dansense will make her first appearance. The Majiltons will shortly arrive and will appear in the same piece.

"THE RED POCKET BOOK."—This highly successful California-made play has been secured by Mr. Barrill for Australia, and sent there with models and sketches. James Proctor has bought the right of producing it in all the states in the Union outside of California, and will shortly make arrangements for its representation in New Orleans.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS. The alligators and iguanas. Performance and skating this evening and to-morrow afternoon. On Monday, annual festival of the San Francisco Mannerchor, grand concert and ball.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—The rush to this most popular of theatres continues unabated. The entertainment which has delighted thousands during the present week will be given in full at the matinee to-day and again this evening. J. H. Milburn, Billy Emerson, Harry Stanwood, Fayette Welch, Haywood, Add Ryman, the Reynolds Brothers, Harry Norman, S. Holdsworth and others will all appear in the varied programme set forth on our first page. A great feature in the entertainment at this house, is the delightful music by the orchestra under the direction of Prof. Geo. T. Evans. The orchestra comprises those famous cornet players, The Kohler Brothers, and other accomplished musicians.

BENEFIT OF CHARLES WHEATLEIGH.—On Monday, Charles Wheatleigh, one of the most finished actors in certain lines of character on the American stage, will at the close of a long engagement take a benefit at the California Theatre. No one better deserves a benefit than Charles Wheatleigh; with him acting is hard earnest work; every movement, every gesture is well studied, and all evince that greatest of all arts, the art that conceals art. Mr Wheatleigh has chosen the play of "The Marble Heart" for his benefit. He will appear as the Bohemian Volage, and John McCullough will make his first appearance in seven weeks and play Rafael.

CHIARINI'S CIRCUS.—Mr. Astrdro, of Washington street, has received a letter from Chiarini, in which he states that he was at the time of his writing off St. Thomas, in the West Indies, en route for Havana, where he expected to exhibit his magnificent circus on or about the 15th of next month. The Orrin Family were with him; all well. Chiarini missed the services of his active and talented agent, Signor Agrati, and begged him to join him at Havana. Whether or not Signor Agrati will be content after his long connection with French and Italian opera, to go back to horse opera, splendid as it is when given by Chiarini, we do not know. Perhaps he may as it pays the best.

JOHN WILSON.—John Wilson, one of the very best villains on the stage, will after the 1st of May resume his old position in the California Theatre company, when Miss Leclerq commences an engagement. We are glad of this, W. A. Mestayer has played some parts very well, but he really is too fat to be a villain any longer. When people become corpulent they are supposed to give up villainy, therefore, sweet William, we wish you joy of the prospect of being relieved of that class of characters.

BENEFIT OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.—On Thursday evening the National Guard, Co. C, First Regiment, will take a benefit at the California Theatre. "Money" will be played. The National Guard is composed of some of the most popular gentlemen in town, and their large circle of friends will be sufficient alone to crowd the house. The public however can obtain seats by making application at the box office on Monday.

BENEFIT OF HENRY EDWARDS.—On Wednesday night Henry Edwards, one of the most popular members of the dramatic profession, a good actor and whole-souled gentleman, will take a benefit, and if we understand the public of San Francisco, we think we may safely prophesy that there will not be a vacant seat on this occasion. "The Jealous Wife" will be played.

W. J. COGOSWELL.—This actor, who has a great reputation in New Orleans, where he was engaged at the Academy of Music, will support Lotta during her engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre.

CLIFF HOUSE.—This is the season to enjoy a ride to the Cliff House, and afterwards partake of the best of dinners served up in Captain Foster's famous style.

IN SEARCH OF TALENT.—John Wilson, the prince of circus managers, leaves to-morrow for the East, to engage the latest equestrian novelties for the New York Circus, about to commence the Summer season in this State.

BENEFIT OF MISS MAY HOWARD.—Miss May Howard of the California Theatre will take a benefit Friday night. "Romeo and Juliet" will be played with the beneficiary as Romeo, and Miss Rose Evans as Juliet.

LOTTA.—This pet of the public East, West, North and South, whom California is proud to claim as her daughter, will arrive on Thursday, and on the following Monday will make her first appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Sta gaway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Morton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all liquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. Y

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. X

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Make Your Home Beautiful

By adorning its walls with pleasant pictures in beautiful frames. W. A. KOLLMYER, dealer in pictures, and mirror and picture frame maker, 640 Washington street, just below Kearny, will, at a wonderfully small cost, transform the dullest looking room into a bright, cheerful budoir. A Theatre, Lew Rattler, Alice Drayton and others.....Olympic, "Humpty Dumpty" .....Miss Charlotte Leclerq commenced an engagement at Booth's on the 25th, as Rosaland in "As You Like It." The Lydia Thompson Troupe will appear at Wallack's for the Summer season. "Buffalo Bill" is running at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn, as we learn from bill courteously forwarded by manager J. O. McCloskey.

Miss Leclerq's greatest success at the Boston Theatre was in "Plot and Passion."

Frank Drew has been organizing a Comedy Combination in Cleveland.

At Tony Pastor's Opera House, New York, ladies are admitted free on Friday.

Miss Charlotte Cushman will be in Philadelphia April the 4th, and in Baltimore the week succeeding.

Robert Jones has written for Mrs. Caroline Richings Bernard a musical drama, styled "The Mute Singer," taken from Anna Cora Mowatt's novel of that name. The period is the French Revolution of 1848, and the heroine does some flag waving and singing on a cannon.

The Lydia Thompson troupe are meeting with great success in the South, in the various cities and towns of which they are invariably well received. It is confidently asserted that since the commencement of the season the fair burlesquer has, after paying all expenses, netted the handsome sum of $60,000. Mr. Henderson left for Europe early to engage new members for the company, prior to their appearance at Wallack's on June 3d, when the new burlesque, "Joan of Arc," will be played with Miss Thompson in the title role, in which she will introduce her celebrated cornet solos.

The New York Mercury says E. T. Stetson returns to California in September.

Marble's Comedy Company with Kitty Wilson and others, were in Iowa at last accounts.

A. M. Hernandez and Troupe have been secured by Bidwell and Spaulding for a season of three months for the South, commencing April 1, at New Orleans. Young America, formerly of San Francisco, is a permanent member of the troupe.

A. J. Ferguson, in search of novelties for Van Amburgh & Co.'s Golden Menagerie, has purchased two grown giraffes, a cage of serpents, and has engaged a party of Egyptian snake-charmers. He offered $10,000 in gold in England for the two-horned rhinoceros, but it had been previously sold to the Cologne Gardens, Germany.

Mrs. Charles W. Nesbitt, known as Fanny Prestige, was divorced at Cincinnati on the 7th.

Johnny Allen, Alice Harrison, and Little Mac, Louisville, 18th, one week.

Ella Weaner, Cincinnati, 25th, two weeks.

The Lingard Troupe were billed for Montgomery, Ala., April 1st, 2d and 3d.

"Black Crook" company, from Niblo's, Boston March 4th to April 6th. Will then transfer the company to Meech Brothers, of Buffalo, who will run it for three months, going to Washington, Chicago (at Wood's), Syracuse, and Rochester among other places.

In Chicago Miss Susan Denin was playing Bob Brierly in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man" at the Academy of Music. "Divorce" was running at the Michigan Avenue Theatre. The Wallace Sisters were at the Globe on the 23d. Arlington's Minstrel troupe have the West Side Opera House. Prof. Macallister, the magician, was showing at Central Hall.

The Parepa Rosa English Opera Troupe, appeared at the Grand Opera House, Wilmington, Del., on the 18th, for one night only, in "Martha."

The arrangements for the production of comic English opera in Brooklyn have been completed under the direction of Mortimer Shelley and John Clark. During Easter week they will produce "The Pearl of Bagdad," the libretto of which was written by Edward F. DeNyse. Among those appearing in it will be Emma Howson, Minnie Treadway, John Clare and Eugene Clarke.

Neil Warner and Grace Rawlinson, who are now engaged giving reading and parlor presentations in South Carolina and Georgia, are both engaged at Philadelphia after the 24th.

Louisa Arnot has been secured for a travelling tour to support Susan Denin. She will play Pauline and Juliet to Miss Denin's Claude and Romeo.

W. E. Roberts, an actor connected with Jenny Wilmore's company, attempted to commit suicide on the 5th. His mind has been affected by regrets at the loss of his voice. He gave himself over thirty wounds in the breast and stomach with a pocket knife, but none were fatal. After this he can stand being cut up by a critic with the greatest ease.

Augustin Daly has leased the Grand Opera-house from John F. Cole, from Sept. 1st, for five years. The Opera-house is the property of the Jay Gould and Fisk estate, and is valued at $1,000,000. The Erie Railroad company has a lease of the upper part which expires in five years.

G. L. Fox and "Humpty Dumpty," with all the present features will be transferred to the Globe Theatre, Boston, for the Summer season.

"The Black Crook" will be produced in Chicago early in April. Col. T. Allston Brown has already secured most of the performers, including Bonfanti, and the Laurent sisters, and a large corps de ballet.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers is travelling with J. C. McCollom, C. B. Bishop, F. Woodhull, H. C. Curley Rosa and Olivia Rand and others, under John T. Ford.

Purdy, Scott and Fostelle's Minstrels are making their way across the continent by easy stages. They were billed for Kansas City, Mo., on the 25th.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snowblockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 327 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. x

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. o

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."o

New York Dry Goods Store.

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has leased and thoroughly refitted the saloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

OAKLAND.—John Maguire has changed his base of operations from the Academy of Music to Brayton Hall, and will take a benefit there on Monday. To-night Harry Sinclair, a clever comedian and a hard-working member of the profession will have a benefit at the Academy of Music. The performance will consist of "Lady Audley's Secret," a musical olio, and "Cool as a Cucumber." Miss Sallie Hinckley, Owen Marlowe, Pierpont Thayer, and others have volunteered and will appear.

SACRAMENTO.—The Metropolitan Theatre is closed for the season. On Thursday evening Mrs. W. A. Anderson, having adopted the stage as a profession, received a complimentary benefit and played Fily O'Connor, in "The Colleen Bawn." Miss Grace Greenwood had a farewell benefit on Wednesday and lectured in the Assembly Chamber. Jas. Proctor will reopen the Metropolitan Theatre Wednesday with Charles Wheatleigh as star.

SAN JOSE.—Bianchi's Opera Troupe performed at Brohaska's Opera House on Tuesday, and this is what the editor of the Mercury said about it in Wednesday's paper:

The Bianchis were greeted by a large and fashionable audience last night, and the general verdict is that "Il Trovatore" as produced by them was a grand success. The writer is no opera sharp, and therefore an elaborate criticism cannot be expected. We must commend the acting and singing of Signor Contini, who assumed the role of Conte di Luna; Sig. Bianchi and his wife were good in their respective characters, and Miss McKenzie, last though not least, gave a pleasing rendition of Leonora, and was repeatedly applauded. Her singing in the "Miserere" was especially fine. The audience were well satisfied with the treat offered them, and Signor Bianchi may consider that he has pleased the good people of San Jose.

This is well enough, and pretty good for a man who is not "an opera sharp." It seems, however, that the editor was subsequently interviewed by some one who professed to be "an opera sharp," and was induced to take back in Thursday's paper all the favorable things he said the day before. He howls. He expected new scenery for the opera, and there was none. Why doesn't Brohaska paint some scenery fit for the production of an opera like "Il Trovatore"? it should be part of the stock of every theatre. He complains that there was not a full chorus, and has the consummate cheek to publish the following:

The scenery was not adapted for any one scene in the opera, and though the few opera singers gave fair satisfaction, yet the whole affair was a stupendous bilk, and a gross imposition on the good people of San Jose, who took Bianchi at his word and patronized him to the tune of $800, expecting to witness an unusual musical treat.

This after saying "the general verdict is that 'Il Trovatore' as produced was a grand success": We verily believe that the editor of the Mercury considers that $800 of San Jose money would be enough to pay Nilsson or Patti with a full opera troupe. He winds up as follows:

This we have to say in conclusion. The great hue and cry against San Jose has been caused by managers who come here with second-rate shows, and failing to make expenses, have cursed and denounced our city as a failure in a dramatic point of view. They take us for bucolic grumblers with hair on our teeth, when the real truth is, we are just as sensible, well posted and appreciative as the people of San Francisco, and we want a performance to be equal in all respects to those given in that city, or else we will not patronize it. Managers take notice. Give us good shows and you will not be the losers.

The trouble is that the San Jose people want too much for their money. There is a very little margin of profit left after paying the expenses of even a dramatic troupe out of $800, and this is an extraordinary sum to be taken in San Jose. There are not a sufficient number of people there willing to pay a dollar admission to a good show, and therefore good shows must stay away or lose money .....The Mercury says:

Manager Bert, of the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco, has written to Brohaska that he will be in San Jose next week with the Mikado Japanese troupe of jugglers, recently arrived from their native country. Proctor has also notified Brohaska that he will favor us with a visit on the 15th of April, continuing until the 17th, inclusive.

So, after all their growling and grumbling, the San Jose people are to have some amusements. We hope they will patronize them.

DENVER, COL.—At the Denver Theatre, under the management of Ralph Phelps and Dr. Allen, "Under the Gaslight" was produced on the 29th, with Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps as Laura Courtland and Miss Gabrielle McKean (daughter of McKean Buchanan) as Pearl. "The Sea of Ice" was announced as in preparation.....The Cricket Varieties was open with Miss Ettie Barker, Miss Nellie Belmont, Miss Jennie Wilson and others. .....The Denver Tribune of the 15th had the following concerning Purdy, Scott & Fostelle's Minstrels:

A feeling of regret creeps upon us as we begin to realize the fact that the Purdy, Scott & Fostelle Minstrel Troupe are about to close their engagement here and journey eastward. Full houses and happy faces have greeted this excellent troupe from first to last, and the week would be unchanged were the performances continued a month longer. The success of this troupe demonstrates the liberality of our citizens, and their willingness to patronize first-class amusements.

VALLEJO.—Farragut Hall will open as a first-class theatre on or about the 10th or 15th of April under the management of Joseph Proctor, with a good dramatic troupe. Charles Wheatleigh will be the first star.....The Recorder has the following sensible remarks on the subject of the desirability of supporting amusements:

The near approach to the completion of Farragut Theatre reminds us that during the past winter there has been a dearth of public amusements in Vallejo. The truth is, the public should encourage in a substantial way, lectures, concerts, and theatrical entertainments, and the public of Vallejo has been somewhat indifferent in these matters. The impression has gained ground that we do not support public entertainments, and actors singers and speakers have been led, not altogether without cause, to believe it to be a correct one. Joseph Proctor, himself an actor of considerable reputation, lost money during the week that his troupe were on the boards in this city, although his performances commenced immediately after pay-day. We do not believe that this will continue, for with good weather, a comfortable theatre and better times, our people will feel like patronizing good entertainments if they do not come in too rapid succession. If the people of Vallejo evince a desire and a determination to patronize the theatre and the lecture room, we will have at least a few first-class entertainments. We can afford as much as the people of Oakland or Marysville, and we hope the better class of our citizens, while just to themselves, will also be liberal in patronizing those who deserve to be patronized. It is a bad sign for the prosperity of any city when there are but few public amusements, for people must have some recreation, mental as well as physical, and the legitimate drama and instructive lectures are among the best means for furnishing it.

GRASS VALLEY.—A matinee performance is to be given to-day at Hamilton Hall by by the Ellerton Burlesque Troupe, comprising Ellerton, Tony Ward, Sam Everett, and the Misses Griffin. The California Overland Star Minstrels (amateurs from Marysville) will play at Hamilton Hall on Monday.

STOCKTON.—The Lancashire Bell Ringers, with George Fane, character vocalist, and others, gave an entertainment at Mozart Hall; on Tuesday evening, the bell-ringers gave a concert and ball. Grace Greenwood is to deliver her farewell lecture at Hickman's Hall this evening.

SUCKER FLAT.—Amateur Minstrel companies are being formed all over the country. The Marysville Appeal says:

The young men of Smartsville and Sucker Flat have organized a minstrel troupe and will shortly give an entertainment at Cram's Opera House, Sucker Flat. Go ahead boys, we have two troupes in this city, therefore we will not be jealous.

MARYSVILLE.—The Appeal says:

The Marysville Amateur Minstrels will soon start out on a professional tour, beginning at Grass Valley. The company is composed of the picked performers from the two troupes, who are capable of offering a very superior entertainment

EUREKA.—The Union has a good notice of a concert given by Mrs. Carroll last week at Turn Verein Hall and concludes as follows:

The house was filled with ladies and a more appreciative audience is not often got together. We hope to see more entertainments of this kind, unsuitable as the hall is. A growing desire for such refined amusements may stimulate the enterprise of building a public hall fit for a city whose people are so fond of musical and dramatic entertainments.

LOS ANGELES.—Signorina Adelina Frenchel and Signor Albert Frenchel, gave their last grand concert at Merced Theatre on the 23d.

ANAHEIM.—A. Montary's exhibition of Living Wonders, consisting of a Bearded Lady, Circassian Girl, and one-armed violinist, showed at Enterprise Hall on the 23d.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Piper's Opera House is doing a flourishing business with Amelia Dean's Female Minstrels. Charley Vincent, Miss Amelia Dean, Miss Maggie Knight, the Stanleys and others. Aline Le Favre and Johnny Manning went up yesterday and will commence an engagement next week.

RENO.—The new theatre is rapidly approaching completion. The curtain must be a very light and pleasing work of art judging from the description in the Crescent:

Mr. O'Connor's advertising enterprise in the shape of a theatrical drop curtain is finished. Its size is 12x22 feet, and contains advertisements painted in figures of various colors, stating the different wares, etc., that our various merchants deal in. The border is an imitation of brick work.

That brick-work border must be cheerful.

CENTRAL CITY.—Add Weaver, Miss Nellie Whitney, and Master Weaver made their first appearance at the Alhambra Varieties on the 25th.

SALT LAKE.—The theatre is closed for the Winter season, but occasional performances are given. On the 23d, "Camilla's Husband," was given with D. McKenzie as Maurice Warner and P. Margetts as Dogbriar. The Footlights is "down on" Mat Leland, agent of Purdy, Scott and Fostelle's Minstrels, for his animadversions on the lessee of the Salt Lake Theatre, and requests us to give space to long editorials on the subject which are really of not sufficient public interest for us to print. It denies that that there were any complications in the box-office returns, as the troupe had their own check takers. We rather fancy what troubled Mat was the number of persons who had to be admitted free, so that when the house was full it did not pan out as rich as he expected it to. We respectfully decline to publish libellous matter concerning Mr. Leland, whom we found a very pleasant fellow, and straightforward in his dealings with us.

PORTLAND, OREGON.—Our correspondent, W. M C., under date of March 26th, writes:

Geo. Waldron, who has played a remarkably successful season here of three months, closed on Saturday with the drama of "The Lone House; or, the Bridge of Notre Dame." Opened last night in Salem and I am certain his success will be commensurate with his abilities. He proposes to remain here three or four days to inaugurate a Spring season. The Theatre Comique reopened February 19th, with Aline Le Favre, as the star and attraction, and has been doing a paying business. Aline Le Favre, Stay Leroy, Miss Coleman, a sensation actress, and Johnny Manning, closed on the 16th and returned to the Bay. The weather during their stay was exceedingly unpropitious—that is it was a webfoot atmosphere—raining only 99 consecutive days; but the day they departed it all changed, and finer weather than we have had for the past ten days I never witnessed on the Coast. In the Spring and Summer season there is no better place on the Coast to play than Portland, and a redeeming feature is that Mr. Hochgurtel, the Manager, bears the reputation of being square, and no performer ever played for him who did not receive his share in full, and the best possible treatment—a thing that cannot be said of every manager in the country. Mr. Hochgurtel is to go to Victoria for two weeks with his entire party, to return to reopen with some of the best talent to be procured at the Bay for money. Negociations are now pending. The troupe he takes with him consists of Carrie Armstrong, Miss Ida Fisk, J. H. Larkin, Jake Wallace, Lew Parker, Prof. Hendel, Prof. Roberts, Charley Nickeson, manager, Item. Johnny Tuers, who has closed a most successful engagement of six weeks, returns to the Bay to-day. Good luck attend him.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

With the exception of "Sweet Cider," which the public can never weary of, an entirely new programme will be presented this week by the Emerson Minstrels. Hayetre Welch will sing Jim the Carter Lad," in the first part, and appear in the new sketch entitled "The West Point Cadet," with Add Ryman, Charles Heywood, J. Robinson and company; J. H. Milburn will present new and original character songs and sketches; Harry Stanwood will perform on the banjo and give a little fiddle solo; Billy Emerson will sing his latest burlesque song, 'Ven my Fant Begins to Bay;" Add Ryman will deliver his lecture on Education; Charles Heywood will sing "Il Bacio," and Emerson, Ryman, and George Reynolds will appear in the act entitled "The Actor's Studio." As a matter of course there will be no standing room after 8 o'clock.

Metropolitan Theatre.

As we prophesied would be the case, one of the largest and most fashionable audiences of the season was present at the Metropolitan Theatre last night on the occasion of the benefit of the Olympic Club. The performance commenced with the comedietta of "Who Speaks First," in which Miss Maggie Moore was charmingly piquante as a smart, the chambermaid, and Miss Henrietta Osborne and J. M. Hardie were far too stiff in the characters of Mrs. Militant and Captain Charles, and the same may be said of S. Piercy, as Militant. The gymnastic performances by the members of the club were excellent. P. Jacoby perfectly astonished the audience by his wonderful lifting feats; Messrs. Buckingham, Harlan, Livingston, Jacoby, Starr, and Germain performed some graceful feats on the horizontal bar. R. W. Sears gained much applause for his performance on the monkey perch; the tumbling and vaulting by all the members of the club, was very good, and the whole performance was interesting and pleasing. To-night the management announce the first appearance of Marshall & Co's. Great Tycoon Troupe of Japanese, comprising male and female jugglers, balancers, rope-walkers and other performers, who will present a programme quite different from that of other troupes. It appears in full on our first page. This troupe is said to be composed of the very best artists in Japan, and Mr. Marshall is too old a showman to engage and bring them such a distance unless they were sure to suit the American public.

California Theatre.

To-night Charles Wheatleigh, who has done his very best to amuse the public during the very dullest portion of the theatrical season and has given thorough satisfaction to all who attended the theatre, will take his benefit and the occasion will be signalized by the first appearance in seven weeks of John McCullough as Raphael Duchalet, and Mr. Wheatleigh as Volage, one of the Bohemians of Paris. Suter's farce of "Jones' Baby," which, with J. C. Williamson as Jones, is one of the funniest pieces ever seen will conclude the entertainment. Mrs. Lottie Williams, of Sacramento, will make her first appearance to-morrow night in "Fron-fron."

Italian Opera Season.

A combination of all the operatic artistes in the city has been made by Mr. Biesse, and a season of Italian opera will be given at Maguire's Opera House, which has been newly painted, redecorated and upholstered until it looks like a new theatre. The season will commence on Monday next, and twelve operas will be performed. Season opera nights will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and Saturdays will be extra nights. The following artistes compose the combination troupe: Signorina Ad. Speranza, Signora Ad. Frenchel, Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, Miss A. McKenzie, Signora Luigia Eerterdi, Signorina Giovanna Bianchi, Mrs. Evans, Signor Eugenio Bianchi, Signor G. Mancusi, Signor L. Cortesi, Mr. Charles and Signor Roncovieri. The orchestra will be under the direction of Prof. Albert Frenchel and Maestro D. Speranza. Tickets for the season may be obtained at the music store of Sherman & Hyde, corner of Kearny and Sutter streets, from Tuesday, April 23 to Friday 5th. The management have sensibly placed the prices of admission at $1 50 to dress circle and orchestra, reserved seats fifty cents extra, parquet $1, and gallery 50 cents. A ticket for the whole season will cost only $20, the price of a buggy ride and a dinner. Now, if the public of San Francisco are in earnest in their wish to have an opera season, this is the time to show it. At least all the seats in the dress circle and orchestra should be engaged before the opening night.

Bella Union.

The programme nightly given at this theatre gives the greatest satisfaction. Eugenia Gerretta appears in song and dance; Mat Kelly, Harry Thompson and Lon McCarthy in the laughable act of the "Intelligence Office;" Miss Fanny Garretson never fails to gain an encore for the sweet ballad, "Wanting;" the ballet by Mlle Marie Gargain, Miss Carrie Chapman, Marie Zoel, Minnie Fillmore, Maggie Brewer, and others, is much applauded; Miss Ella La Rue's banjo solos are a feature in the performance, and R. G. Marsh, L. Samwells, E. Montague, Tommy Bree, Hughey Robinson, and all the rest of the company shine in the afterpiece of "Fortunio."

McEvoy's Original Hibernicon.

On Monday next we shall be able to take a trip to Ireland at small expense. McEvoy's original Hibernicon: beautiful paintings of scenes in the Emerald Isle, songs, stories, and illustrations of Irish History, will be on exhibition at Platt' Hall on and after the 8th inst.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Our London advices are up to March 2d.

Fechter was to appear as Roy Blas at the Adelphi, March 2 and play a round of characters for twenty-four nights .....Mrs. Scott-Siddons was shortly to play at the Queen's, in a new drama by Richard Lee, called "Ordeal by Touch."..... At the Royal Alfred, a new play, styled "The Life Race," was produced Feb. 19, with good success. Harman Vezin, T. Swinburne, and Miss Evelyn were engaged for the principal characters. The scene is at Cadiz during the time of Cromwell.....Prof. Egerton's performing dogs were a novelty at the London Pavilion. The swell comic was represented by the jolly dog, who strutted; another performance was by the "Cure" dog, dressed in stripes, and given to jumping. Acrobats were represented by dogs which leaped five-barred gates, played at leap-frog, skipped with a rope, and performed the tub-walking trick, and the "Clown" dog mimicked everything done by his compeers. Leybourne had introduced a new song, "Mother, Says I Mustn't."

Drury Lane has added Amy Roberart to its Tom Thumb and King Arthur pantomime.

"Notre Dame" at the Adelphi, has reached its 550th night on the 26th, and was to be withdrawn after five more representations.

The Royalty Theatre reopened on February 26th, under W. H. C. Nation, with a new three-act comedy entitled "The Late Ralph Johnson," by S. Edwards.

The Royal Surrey Zoological Gardens, near the Walworth road, which flourished some years ago, are about to be restored and reopened on a most extensive scale by Frederick Strange. He designs to combine with amusements some of the educational features of the Crystal Palace, the Botanical Gardens, and the "Zoo," presenting the best and most attractive points of each. The extensive grounds lend themselves readily to plans for public enjoyment. A large lake will be partly surrounded by an Oriental picture of great magnificence by Grieve. The Gardens will be open at 12 for promenade, croquet, archery, swings, for visiting the menagerie, practicing in a gymnasium, and band will play at 1 o'clock. In a theatre, dramatic performances, concerts, and musical entertainments will be given. At the close of the day a display of fireworks will take place on and about the lake.

In view of the fact that the Prince of Wales has always been an eminent patron of the London theatres, the principal actors have drawn up and had beautifully embossed on vellum an address to the Prince, congratulating him upon his recovery from his recent illness.

Mr. Justice Blackburn, Court of the Queen's Bench, in a recent case remarked that "there can be no doubt that an actor is open to fair and legitimate criticism, and it is equally certain that it must not be exceeded, or an action for libel will lie."

Mr. Alberry's new comedy is called "Forgiven." It was presented on the 8th February, for the first time, at the London Globe Theatre, Miss Louisa Moore appearing in it.

Mr. John S. Clarke reappeared in London at the Strand Theatre on the 9th, playing Dr. Ollapod in "The Poor Gentleman."

It is reported that Mario is actually to return to the London stage this season.

Patti gets one thousand dollars for each performance in Vienna.

"Across the Continent" has been produced at the Surrey, London.

Mme. Camilla Urso is in London.

A Scotch Roodlum.

A wee laddie was brought before one of the Glasgow bailies, who, after reading him a lecture, asked "Where did you learn so much wickedness?" "D'ye ken the pump in Glassford street?" asked the lad. "No," replied the bailie. "Weel, then, d'ye ken the pump at Briggate?" "Yes, sure," was the reply. "Weel, then, ye may gang there and pump as lang as ye like, for I'm hanged if ye pump me."

Amuse the Children.

Two children of Mrs. Maulake, of Detroit, left alone by their mother, found a pair of scissors and six $10 greenbacks in a bureau drawer, and had great amusement for an hour.

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Stageway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Morton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all liquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and draws to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his wareroom, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. THINGS THAT NEVER DIE.

The pure, the bright, the beautiful,
That stirred our hearts in youth;
The impulse of a worthless prayer,
The dream of love and truth;
The longings after something lost;
The spirit's yearning cry;
The striving after better hopes;
These things shall never die.

The timid hand stretched forth to aid
A brother in his need;
The kindly word in grief's dark hour
That proves the friend indeed;
The plea for mercy softly breathed,
When justice threatens nigh,
The sorrows of a contrite heart;
These things shall never die.

The memory of a clasping hand,
The pressure of a kiss,
The kindly word in grief's dark hour
That make up love's first bliss;
If with a firm, unchanging faith,
And holy trust on high,
These hands have clasped, those lips have met,
These things shall never die.

The cruel and the bitter word
That wounded as it fell,
The chilling want of sympathy,
We feel, but cannot tell;
The hard repulse that chills the heart
Whose hopes were bounding high
In an unfading record kept,
These things shall never die.

Let nothing pass, for every hand
Must find some work to do;
Lose not a chance to waken love,
Be firm, and just, and true;
So shall a light that cannot fade
Beam on thee from on high;
And angel voices say thee,
These things shall never die.

Amusements in Lynn.

We receive as an exchange the Little Giant, from Lynn, Mass. We don't find many amusement notices in its columns. We fancy Lynn must be something like San Jose. The last number of the Little Giant has the following announcement of a free lecture:

Mr. Robert J. Doe, a reformed drunkard and gambler, will address the citizens of this city at Knox's Hall, Munroe street, on Sunday afternoon next at 2½ o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. Seats free. The speaker is thoroughly conversant with his subject, having formerly drained the intoxicating cup to the bitter dregs. Young men and ladies are especially invited to be present.

We hope the young ladies of Lynn derived much benefit from this reformed lushington and retired sport. Something of that kind (free) would draw a house in San Jose, only we'd make it a little stronger. "Lecture by Barabbas Bummington a reformed drunkard, burglar, drunkard, and horse-thief. Young ladies especially invited to be present." That might draw.

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITU

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPEC COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hos London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETUR TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years life to professional practice, and the since treatment of those CHRONIC DISEA which it is here needless to name, he mined to retire from his profession, and the remainder of his days to quiet-life meet; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their finally determined him to visit once more scenes of his early triumphs. Look How spend a year within its wards, and inform self of all the new methods of treatment in celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering manity. He is again located at his old office cor Jackson and Kearny streets, where for previous his practice as a SPECIALIST re in the cure of all cases brought under his The Doctor's motto is "honorable and succe treatment and moderate charges to all."

MONDAY.....APRIL 30, 1872

Rose from the Dead.

Powell, a celebrated English actor, on leaving the stage one night during the performance of Rowe's "Fair Penitent," had occasion for the services of his dresser, a fellow by the name of Warren. He sought for him everywhere, and began shouting for him loudly and angrily. Now it appears that Warren, who was deplorably stage-struck, had determined to make his appearance that evening, and had taken it into his head to play the corpse Lothario, and and was then lying in his coffin on the stage in view of the audience. He heard Powell roaring from behind the scenes, and getting angrier at every moment's delay.

"Where are you, rascal?" shouted his master.

"Here, sir," said poor Warren, popping up his head.

"Where?" yelled Powell, not guessing where the voice came from. "If you don't come here this minute, I'll break every bone in your body."

Warren, knowing he was capable of executing his threat, jumped out of his coffin, dragging his grave clothes after him, and rushed across the stage, knocking down the lady who played Calista, midst the roars of the entire audience.

A Sabbath-breaking Idiot.

Another fearful warning. A chap living out in Illinois went duck-shooting on a recent Sunday. He was brought home head formost with the top of his cabesa blown off. According to the old-fashioned Sunday school literature, that was the natural and almost inevitable consequence of his violating the Sabbath day. We think it quite probable that if he had refrained from blowing into the muzzle of his gun, the top of his head would have remained, for the time, in its normal position, so that he could have taken himself home on his two legs, instead of being conveyed to his family in the disagreeable and even disgusting position described at the outset of this paragraph.

Captain Badger's Central Park.

San Francisco rejoices in Woodward's Gardens. Oakland is to have a similar resort. Captain Badger has a whole army of workmen at work converting his beautiful grounds into a public pleasure garden to be called the Central Park. The Pavilion is nearly completed, and the grounds will be opened in the course of a couple of weeks. The Central Park will be the scene of the most fashionable picnics during the present season. Committees having the management of these delightful out door gatherings are referred to advertisement in another column, where they will find the advantages offered at Captain Badger's Grand Central Park enumerated

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has leased and thoroughly refitted the saloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

It is Perfectly Astonishing

How beautifully and quickly they do washing at the What Cheer Laundry. Clothes received before 8 A.M. returned the same evening if desired. X

Benefits and Especial Privileges.

The Olympic Club, admirably managed as their benefit was on Saturday, made one mistake which might have easily been avoided by a little reflection on the part of the managers. The entertainment was an excellent one, and gave satisfaction in every point. The mistake we allude to, was simply in allowing a business firm the exclusive privilege of advertising its goods before their audience, by circulating its advertising handbill printed in red ink—with a programme on the back of it "for that occasion only." Others in the same line of business who had purchased tickets in good faith for the occasion, out of real good will to the club, were naturally a little piqued at this, and expressed some dissatisfaction at the arrangement. The Olympic Club in this committed an error, but doubtless, unintentionlly; and we have not the least idea that anything of the kind will ever be allowed to happen at their benefits again. Most of the Olympians are young men engaged in merchantile persuits, with sufficient business experience to see that in allowing a particular firm the exclusive privilege of advertising its wares before the patrons of the club, assembled in a benefit night, they have done an act of injustice to all others in the same business, and more especially to those who bought tickets of them for that benefit. The moral of all this is, for application at future benefits, that the managers of other societies may avoid making the same blunder.

Too Far Back.

The various mercantile agencies are obliged to employ men in the large cities to look up and report business changes. It is customary to divide this labor, one man being authority on the shoe trade, while another knows all about dry goods. One genius named June, represents Bradstreet's Agency in New York, was lately sent to find if anything was the matter with a certain Beekman street firm, paper dealers. As is usual in such cases, he sought out an established house in the same line to commence inquiries, and as it chanced, found only the senior partner in the office, an old man of four-score years, who seemed to know all about the firm in question, began telling of their circumstances in the year 1812, all June could do to bring him back to the present time proving ineffectual. Finally the old man seemed electrified with an idea, "My pardner," said he, "has known them longer than I have, and tottered toward a basement door and called out, "A-d-a-m! A-d-a-m!" "Hold on," cried the enquirer, "1812 is as far back as I want to go—don't, for God's sake, call up Adam."

A man out West, who offered bail for a friend, was asked by the Judge if he had any incumbrance on his farm. "Oh, yes; my old woman," said he.

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

The Best Farm Wagon.

The Mitchell Thimble Skein Farm Wagon is the best; over 500 sold on this coast. Mills & Evans, Agents, 508 Market street. BH

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

The Place to Buy.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)." o

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody. •

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Soutber, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. o

Economical Board.

The hunters of Siberia, when pressed by hunger, take two pieces of board, and placing one on the pit of the stomach and the other on the back, gradually draw together the extremities, and thus allay in some degree the cravings of the appetite. This is said ito be a very economical kind of board.

Jackson Montgomery Skinflint of this city since he read the above makes his wife tighten her corsets about dinner time and finds that has the same effect—it stays her stomach.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to F. A. Reilly, Agents. M

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This theatre was crowded last night on the occasion of the first appearance of Marshall & Co's Royal Tycoon Troupe of Japanese performer. The dress-circle was brilliant with fashionably dressed ladies and the theatre looked bright and handsome; the painters and kalsominers having been at work renovating the interior. The Great Tycoon Troupe came, saw and conquered the public of San Francisco. All who saw them last night became at once aware of their superiority over all predecessors. Their performance throughout was so wonderful, bewildering, and so thoroughly artistic, that it is hard to particularize any acts as the best. The audience, however, were especially delighted with the bending, tumbling and somersault throwing by the wonderful little prodigies, Uni Moska and Tako Ketchie; the balancing feats of Toro Moski, and the flying bamboo evolutions of To Go Zo. The fire-eater Orzawam; Una Ketchie also came in for his full share of the applause. The great feat in the first part of the performance was, however, the leap through a basket in which were lighted candles by a performer who was lithe as a snake. This brought down the house in thunders of applause. The performance is so thoroughly good, so original, and in many respects so unlike and so superior to those given by other Japanese troupes, that crowds will doubtless flock every night to the Metropolitan Theatre during the engagement of these famous artistes, which can last but this week, as Lotta is already billed for Monday next. A family matinee will be given to-morrow and another on Saturday.

California Theatre.

Charles Wheatleigh last night did not have half such a good house as he deserved on the occasion of his benefit, but this fact did not prevent his playing Volage in "The Marble Heart" in the same admirably artistic manner that he acts every part that he assumes. John McCullough received a hearty welcome on making his appearance on the stage, and won frequent applause in the character of Raphael Dachalet; Miss May Howard made an admirable Marco, Miss Rose Evans, a charming Marie, and the other characters were well played. To-night Miss Lotta Williams, of Sacramento, will appear at this theatre in the character of Frou-frou, in which she gained the good opinion of the press of the City of the Plains,

Alhambra Theatre.

Rammed, crammed jammed full. Everyone will celebrate the Easter holidays by going to the Alhambra, the temple of Momus, the home of mirth and minstrelsy. The new bill is an excellent one, Milburn's new songs all capital; Harry Stanwood's new stories very funny; Fayette Welch great in "Sweet Cider," and in the new act "West Point Cadet;" Billy Emerson in his songs and dances including "Josephus Orange Blossum," immense; Charles Heywood's ballads encored again and again, and Add Hyman's burlesque lecture making the audience roar with laughter. The same bill will delight another crowded house to-night.

Bella Union.

There is a little of everything in the performance at this house and that is why it is so taking The first part consists of comic and sentimental songs, jokes and stories, add ends with a walk-around, then come ballads, negro acts, a very pretty ballet, banjo solos, gymnastic feats, and an attractive extravaganza. There is variety enough to please everybody at this popular little theatre.

Skating Carnival.

The Grand Masquerading Skating Carnival will take place at the Pavilion Skating Rink to-morrow. The contest for the the prizes will come off at 10 o'clock. Miss Carrie Moore and Professor Lovett will give exhibitions during the evening. Masks removed and dancing commences at 11:30 Tickets can be had at the box-office, or at the music store of C. S. Eaton, 138 Montgomery street.

Fair and Festival.

A Fair and Festival in aid of the Ladies' Furnishing Fund of the First Congregational Church, opened in the basement of the new edifice at the corner of Post and Mason streets, on Monday evening, and will continue day and evening during the week. There will be tableaux vivants recitations, music, etc. The programme for each evening appears in another column.

J. C. Williamson.

This very clever actor, who works so hard to please the public, will take a benefit on Monday next, when the play of "Leap Year" will be presented.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An our may be profitably spent here

Unnecessary.

There was once an elder who, during a revival, prayed for several consecutive nights for the conversion of a party of young men noted for their wild ways, calling each by name. After a time one of them experienced religion. This fact the elder forgot the next night when making his usual petition for the party, and mentioned his name with the rest. Noticing it, however, as soon as the name had passed his lips, he opened his eyes, and in an ordinary tone of voice said: "I beg your pardon, John Brown—I forgot you had been converted," shut his eyes and went on with his prayer as if nothing had happened.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It an be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

The Lotus Club.

"Walsingham", the New York correspondent of the Baltimore Bulletin has something to say about the Lotus Club which is the Bohemian Club of New York;

They have been having lively times at the Lotus Club. Electioneering is prone to raise a commotion anywhere, but with such impressionable material the results are fearful to contemplate and too vast to describe. Some clever caricaturist has executed a very sick infant on the lap of a very stout matron, in whose features a trace of the countenance of a well-known Siberian traveler can easily be detected. Above is the following jeu d' esprit:

I am sick, Mother Knox, Lotus cried,
And my strength is fast ebbing away,
Take some tea, Mother Hagar replied;
It's only the Bohea-mian way.

Very Sad!

In Sonoma county Rachel T. Lamb has brought suit for divorce against Joshua E, Lamb, on the ground of extreme cruelty and neglect to provide for his little Lambs.

Oh Joshua, oh Josh-u-a!
You make your Rachel weep
To think her Lamb should prove to be,
A cruel, bad black sheep.

Curious Revenge.

A romantic young Frenchman reproached the girl who refused him by stealing her bell-rope and hanging himself to the bannisters of the stairs, opposite her door.

He stole the bell-rope because he couldn't ring the belle.

Retribution.

Take warning! A grocery dealer of Fort Dodge, Iowa, withdrew his advertisements from the papers, and in just one week after was obliged to sell out.

"Does any gentleman say pudden?" Precise guest—"No, sir. No gentleman says pudden."

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Sisgaway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Morton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all liquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. Practical Boy.

Dr. Guthrie, in a recent address, told a very suggestive story to this effect: A friend of his questioning a little boy, said: "When your father and mother forsake you, Johnny, do you know who will take you up?" "Yes, sir," said he. "And who?" said the friend. "The police," was Johnny's answer.

Some one speaking of the red nose of an intemperate man, said "it was a very expensive painting."

The less a man knows the wider he keeps his mouth open. It is as impossible for a fool too keep mum as it is for a sick oyster to keep his shell closed.

TUESDAY.....APRIL 2, 1872

A Terrible Libel.

That clever little sheet, the Sancelito Herald, had the following paragraph in its issue of last Saturday:

A BOHEMIAN VISIT.—J. F. Bowman, the characteristic Bohemian of San Francisco, who lives on spice and imparts it to his readers in a concentrated extract, paid our town a visit on Wednesday last. He came for a town crier inspiration and will probably out-Bierce Bierce in the next number of the News Letter.

We suspect that the editor of the Herald is out in his reckoning for once. It is scarcely just to credit Bowman with the labored imitations of Bierce that have filled the Town Crier for the last three weeks. There have been a few paragraphs for which he may be responsible; but we feel confident that the bulk of the weekly two columns is furnished by other pens—and not "practised pens" at that.

The Gusher.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle has a dramatic critic who is deliciously poetic and incomprehensible. Here's the way in which he does up the business: "I saw the sunshine of unclouded delight lighting up the faceship, while gurgles of enjoyment, like murmurs of a Summer brook, meandered through the time devoted to the play—gurgles broken only by the rushes of laughter tumbling over obstructions of jokes or peals of applause, like cascades leaping over happy or thrilling situations.

Trouble Ahead.

A Wisconsin hen laid an egg on which was the inscription, "War with England, 1872."

We hope the egg was broken so that the hen might not hatch mischief.

Annoying Error.

It is annoying to a dramatic company when they are advertised as "a stick company," instead of a stock company.

Stark Mad.

An Illinois clergyman has petitioned for a reduction of his salary, and his friends propose to place him in an insane asylum.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has leased and thoroughly refitted the aloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

New York Dry Goods Store.

813 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. *

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

It's Perfectly Astonishing

[illegible] beautifully and quickly they do washing at the What Cheer Laundry. Clothes received before 8 A.M. returned the same evening if desired. X

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

Jake Hubbles on the Goat Island Grab.

Blast the railroad company! Want Goat Island, do they? Give 'em that, and they'll want San Francisco next. I'm in for giving 'em nothing, and taking back what we've give 'em already. If they don't like it they can pick up their plagney rails and travel. They've just ruined San Francisco with their railroad, importing Eastern goods and Eastern notions. Used to be able to strike a man for a twenty in '49, didn't have no railroads then, after that it came down to five dollars, then two-and-a-half, next a dollar, then four bits, and now darn my skin, if a fellow won't offer you a ten cent piece if you tell him you want to get a square meal with. Railroads shouldn't be encouraged. I'm opposed to monopolies. Times will never be no more what they was before the railroads was built. Give 'em Goat Island! Not much we won't. I say let 'em take up their darned railroad, and a good job if they do.

Evidently a Chinaman.

The following advertisement appears in the Alta: "A steady "sit" wanted—By a practical hand pressman, or news or book Compositor; no object to wages. Address Typo, Alta office." This must be a Chinaman "he no object to wages, likee sit." Perhaps, however, Typo isn't to blame for the bad English, having trusted one of the Alta's notists to write his advertisement for him.

Humpty Dumpty Party.

Two hunchbacks celebrated their nuptials in Paris, the other day, in the presence of thirty invited guests, also hunchbacks, as was every dancer. Dibbs says that must have been a very pleasant party for a quarrelsome man, as so many had "got their backs up."

Back From Sacramento.

The present session of the Legislature will shortly close and many who went to to Sacramento to attend it will return to San Francisco. Those in search of lodgings will find convenient apartments at the Alhambra Lodging House on Bush street. *

Col. G. was very fat, and being a bankrupt, was met by one of his creditors with a "How do you do, Colonel?" "Pretty well; you see I hold my own yet." "Yes," said the other, "and mine, too, to my sorrow."

SAN FRANCISCO STALL.—Nos. 60 and 61 California Market, sell fine meats at cash less than any other place in the city. S

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of HUG & SCHMIDT. 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents. M

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

The Best Farm Wagon.

The Mitchell Thimble Skein Farm Wagon is the best; over 500 sold on this coast. Mills & Evans, Agents, 508 Market street. BH

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody. *

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. *

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. O

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

Last night Miss Lotta Williams, who made a successful debut in Sacramento at the Metropolitan Theatre a short time ago in the character of Frou-Frou, appeared in the same part before a San Francisco audience, and made a decided success. Miss Williams has a thorough understanding of the part, possesses a pleasing voice and has talent for the stage. She read and acted remarkably well for an amateur and with the exception of a few mistakes in accentuation and in the pronunciation of certain words, "Yes," for instance for which she always opened her mouth too wide instead of letting it slip out edgeways, gave a very pleasing performance of the character. John McCullough performed the part of Henry de Sartorys excellently; Miss May Howard made an admirable Louise, and Miss Marie Wilton did a very nice little bit of acting in the soubrette part of Pauline; W. A. Mestayer was all that could be desired as De Valreas; J. C. Williamson was very amusing as De Cambri, and the other parts were well filled. To-night an extraordinary bill will be given on the occasion of the benefit of Henry Edwards. The evening's entertainment will commence with Robertson's comedy of "School," with a strong cast. After this Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, will recite a poem; this will be followed by a ballad by Miss Fanny Gibson, a character song by the ever-popular Vivian, a popular melody by that charming song bird, Miss Helen C. Dingson, and a recitation by Miss Grace Greenwood. The whole performance will conclude with the comedy of "The Jealous Wife." If there is an inch of standing room after 8 o'clock we shall set down the public of San Francisco as lacking in appreciation of a good actor and a first-class entertainment.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Another large house assembled on the occasion of the second appearance of the wonderful Great Tycoon Troupe of Japanese, and all present were delighted and amazed at the wonderful feats performed for their amusement. The great basket performance is the talk of the town, and Ume Ketchie is pronounced the most wonderful of leapers; he would make a fortune by engaging himself as harlequin at a London Theatre during pantomime season. The screen performance is very graceful, daring and astonishing, and the infant prodigies are great pets with the public. As these wonderful performers can stay at the Metropolitan Theatre but a few nights all should see them as soon as possible. There will be a matinee performance to-day for ladies and children, and a fine programme will be presented this evening.

Alhambra Theatre.

And still the rush to the Alhambra Theatre continues, and the merriest crowd ever seen assemble there every night, and laugh until the walls ring again. J. H. Milburn's new songs are very popular: Billy Emerson is bright, comical and sparkling as ever; Fayette Welch's jokes cause many a laugh; "Sweet Cider" is a decided hit; Heywood's ballads are always encored, and Harry Stanwood's performances on the banjo and little fiddle are wonderfully popular. The comical act of "The West Point Cadet" terminates the evening's fun.

Bella Union.

The extravaganza of "Fortunio and the Seven Gifted Servants" is full of fun, good music and clever puns causing much amusement. The ballet of "La Fete D'Asnieres" by Mlle Gougain, the Parisian danseuse, Miss Carrie Chapman, Fanny Garretson, Sowells and Montague, Minnie Fillmore, Maggie Brewer and others is a decided hit. The banjo playing of Miss Ella La Rue, is a popular feature, and ballads, sots and other performances make up a very lively variety entertainment.

Fair and Festival.

The Fair and Festival held by the ladies of the First Congregational Church, for the benefit of their furnishing fund is a grand success, and the basement of the new church on Post at the corner of Mason street, is daily and nightly crowded with the fashion of the city. Among the attractions, are an Art Gallery of valuable paintings, a beautiful flower garden, and a miniature skating rink, all of which have many visitors and excite much admiration. This evening there will be music, tableaux vivants, and other amusements.

Skating Carnival.

The Grand Masquerading Skating Carnival will take place at the Pavilion Skating Rink to-night. The contest for the the prizes will come off at 10 o'clock. Miss Carrie Moore and Professor Lovett will give exhibitions during the evening. Masks removed and dancing commences at 11:30. Tickets can be had at the box-office, or at the music store of C. S. Eaton, 138 Montgomery street.

St Alban's Church Concert.

The concert in aid of the Building Fund of St. Alban's Church, to be given at Platt's Hall on Friday evening, promises to be a brilliant affair both as regards excellence of performance and large and fashionable attendance. The names of the artistes who will take part in it, appear on our first page.

Benefit of the National Guard.

This crack company will take a benefit at the California Theatre to-morrow evening, and a large and fashionable audience will doubtless be present to witness the play of "Money."

The Original Hibernicon.

Charles McEvoy's Original Hibernicon will be on exhibiton at Platt's Hall on and after Monday next. Dan Morris (Barney the Guide) and Miss Marie McEvoy will appear at each entertainment.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An our may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

A Lesson in Politeness.

A friend of Dean Swift one day sent him a turbot as a present, by a servant lad who had frequently been on similar errands, but had never received anything for his trouble. Having gained admission, he opened the study door and putting the fish on the floor, cried out rudely, "Master has sent you a turbot!"

"Young man, is that the way you deliver a message?" said the dean, rising from his easy chair; "let me teach you better manners. Sit down in my chair, we will change places, and I will show you how to behave!"

The boy sat down, and the dean going out, came up to the door, and making a low bow, said, "Sir, Master presents his kind compliments, hopes you are well, and requests your acceptance of a small present."

"Does he?" replied the boy, "return him my best thanks, and there's half a crown for yourself!"

The Dean thus caught in his own trap, laughed heartily, and gave the boy a crown for his ready wit.

Objected.

A young lady on being asked some evenings ago to sing "I'd be a Butterfly," refused on the grounds that she didn't like the sentiment. "I'm sure I shouldn't like to be a butterfly to have Henry Edwards running after me with a net, catch me, stick a pin through me, and label me papilio Edwardsensis, or something of that kind." Butterflies don't have such a nice time of it in these scientific days.

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Stegaway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Merton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all jiquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

Miss Lotta's Suit of Rooms.

Miss Lotta, California's great favorite, is about to arrive. Mr. Bert, the prince of caterers of California, has engaged John C. Bell to adorn and decorate her suit of rooms. The rooms are to be plaited with rose silk, and drawn to represent panels. The drapery and trimmings are profuse, and of the most costly kind. The furniture is of laurel, and trimmed with black walnut, most elaborately carved—all from his warerooms, and manufactured to order—nearly opposite the Grand Hotel, on Market street, and the Occidental, on Sutter street. LOVE'S BELIEF.

I believe if I should die,
And you should kiss my eyelids when I lie
Cold, dumb, and dead to all the world contains,
The faded orbs would open at thy breath,
And from its exile in the aisle of death
Life would come gladly back along my veins.

I believe if I were dead,
And you upon my lifeless heart should tread,
Not knowing what the poor, cold clod might be,
It would find sudden pulse beneath the touch
Of him in life it ever loved so much,
And throb again, warm, tender, true to thee.

I believe if on my grave,
Hidden in woody depths or by the wave,
Your eyes should drop some warm tears of regret,
From every salt seed of your dearest grief
Some fair, sweet blossom would leap up in leaf,
To prove death could not make my love forget.

I believe if I should fade
Into those mystic realms where light is made,
And you should long once more my face to see,
I would come forth upon the hills of night,
And gather stars like faggots till my sight,
Led by the beacon blaze, fell full on me.

I believe my love for thee,
Strong as my life, so nobly placed to be,
It would as soon expect to see the sun
Fall like a dead king from his height sublime,
His glory stricken from the throne of time,
As unworthy worship thou hast won.

I believe who has not loved
Hath half the pleasures of this life unproved;
Like one who hath the grape within his grasp
Drops it with all its crimson grapes unpressed,
And all its luscious sweetness unguessed,
Out from his careless and unheeding grasp.

I believe love pure and true
Is to the soul but sweet immortal dew
That geme life's petals in its hours of dusk;
The waiting angels see and recognize
The rich, crown-jeweled love of Paradise,
When life falls from us like a withered husk.

Work it Up.

The last sensation in reference to the musical jubilee in Boston is the report that several prominent electricians have applied for the opportunity to fire the guns, an accompaniment to the national music of the festival. It is proposed to ask the use of the cable for a short time to fire the guns in London during the singing of God Save the Queen. We would suggest to Gilmore that he hire the river Jordan for the occasion of Jordan is hard road to Travel, and engage two or three thousand Turks to illustrate the song. He might lease Greenland, bring it to Boston on a canal boat, and dump it into the Common, which is nearly as large as Africa, so that when the inspiring strains of Greenland's Icy Mountains were being howled out by his chorus of ten thousand, the stunned auditors could turn their wearied eyes to the icy mountains, whose quietude and solemn stillness were never broken by a Gilmore. He should also take possession of the Atlantic Ocean, so that when "The Ship on Fire" was sung he could exhibit a real ship struggling with the ever tireless sea, her hull and masts in flames, and four or five hundred poor wretches battling with the fire and water for their lives. A ship-load of coolies could easily be procured, and it wouldn't be much loss to the poor devils if they were all burned to death. When a man goes in for realizing the ideal—giving the substance as well as the shadow, as it were—we want him to go the whole grunter.

A Petaluma Joke.

The Crescent says:

A prominent dairyman of this vicinity was seen attempting to open the money-drawer of a grocery firm. He was much plagued when he found that he was not in the store he thought. "The joke cost him cigars all around."

Such a "joke" as that in San Francico might put him where the dogs couldn't bite him for a year or two.

Looking Out for the Animals.

A southern paper says: "A negro and two young mules were drowned in the river yesterday. The mules were remarkably fine animals and cannot easily be replaced." Bergh should subscribe for that journal at once.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from hi own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Re-Opening Night.

Mr. F. G. Wentworth takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, hat he has leased and thoroughly refitted the aloon on the N. W. corner of Sacramento and Kearney streets, and will open the same on Monday evening, March 25th, with a full supply of good things, both liquids and solids, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. N. B.—Large reading, club, and social rooms annexed. W

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. ALTA POETRY.

The Alta has of late published several strong, well-written editorials, and there seemed some hopes that the title of "Granny" might in course of time grow to be inapplicable to the leading commercial paper of San Francisco. On Monday the leading commercial paper of San Francisco proved that these hopes were without foundation by publishing nearly two columns of baby-talk by "Swallow" (Charles Warren Stoddard, who, when he writes for the Alta, drivels in a style he supposes best suited to its columns), and on the last page had the following:

BIRTHDAY STANZA.

[For Franklin Webster Hadsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hadsell, Suncl Valley, Alameda County, California, March 31st, 1872.]

BY A FRIEND.

'Tis only once a year
Our birthday comes around;
It glides by so swiftly
We hardly hear its sound;
And now we have occasion
On this especial day
To greet our little Frankie
Three years on his way.

He'll soon be tall and vigorous
And quite a spry young man,
The girls will fall in love with him,
And catch him if they can;
But he won't pay attention,
He'll take his own good choice,
And then—the day he marries,
We'll hear a great rejoice.

This world of woe and sorrow
Is not to live in long,
For there's an eternal Kingdom
Above—where we belong.
Oh, may our little Frankie
Live a hundred years more,
And with a crown of glory
Shall enter th' heavenly door.

We reproduce the above as a literary curiosity. "A Friend" is evidently one of the Alta's able-bodied notists. We recognize his English in

We'll hear a great rejoice,

And in the lines—

Oh, may our little Frankie
Live a hundred years more,
And with a crown of glory
Shall enter th' heavenly door.

The Alta claims to be "the leading commercial paper of San Francisco" and it actually publishes such stuff as this. The sooner a commission de lunatico inquirendo sits on the editorial corps of that paper, the better.

The Bohemian Club.

At the first annual election of the Bohemian Club, held on Monday, the following-named officers were elected; President, Thomas Newcomb; Vice-President, Henry Edwards; Secretary, Sands W. Forman; Treasurer, Arpad Haraszthy; Trustees, D. P. Belknap, Henry George, Fred. Whymper, Rupert C. Rodgers, B. F. Napthaly. At the first general meeting, held yesterday, it was determined to have the rooms open for the reception of guests on Saturday from 12 till 6, and to have a regular jollification in the evening—songs, speeches, toasts, readings, etc. The club has adopted as a coat of arms an owl seated between two elk horns.

A Negative No.

A marriage ceremony in Detroit was recently interrupted by profuse hemorrhage from the happy man's nasal organ, and the bride-elect is naturally indignant that just when he was expected to make an affirmative reply, he should burst out with his "bloody nose."

Explained.

A Western editor's editorial statement, "We are living at this moment under absolute despotism," is explained by his contemporaries by the fact that he has lately been married.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can e ill be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 37 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins saked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ware's shirt store)."G

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco.

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. O

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

A large and brilliantly fashionable audience assembled at this theatre last night to laugh at the comical songs and original jokes of Billy Emerson; enjoy the sweet singing of Heywood, Norman and Holdsworth; gain instruction and amusement from the lecture by Add Ryman, and marvel at the lightning changes and skillful character impersonations of the famous J. H. Milburn; Fayette Welch in first part, and interlude caused shouts of applause and laughter, and the whole programme was excellent. The same bill will be performed to-night.

California Theatre.

We have nothing to say against the San Francisco public with reference to their behavior on the occasion of the benefit of Henry Edwards last night. They proved that they do appreciate a good actor by thronging the theatre and besieging the doors after all the standing room was occupied. Some hundreds were unable to get in, but those who obtained admission thoroughly enjoyed the capital entertainment prepared for their amusement. "School" was admirably performed, and Mr. Edwards on being called out at its close made a neat little speech. The rest of the entertainment was quite satisfactory. Joaquin Miller was unable to be present and sent an apology. To-night the sterling play of "Money" will be performed for the benefit of the National Guard, one of the most popular military companies in the city, and of course there will be another crowded house.

Metropolitan Theatre.

It won't do to put off going to see the wonderful Japs too long, they must close their engagement this week. Those who have seen other troupes should not on that account neglect seeing this. They never in their lives saw such a performer as Ume Ketchie, who does the basket feat, and the prodigies, Uni Noski and Toko Ketchie, far surpass little All Right in their feats. Seats can be reserved without extra charge.

Bella Union.

There will be a change in the performance at this popular variety theatre this evening, but the ballet of "La Fete D'asnieres," and the extravaganza of "Fortunio and his Seven Wonderful Servants," which have proved so very popular, will be retained on the bill. Minnie Fillmore will sing a new ballad; Eugenia Gerretta will appear for the the first time in the song and dance entitled "Pachouli;" the act of "Tricks Upon the Doctor" will be presented; Miss Ella La Rue will sing new comic songs and other performances will be given. To-morrow night the melodrama entitled "The King, the Inn-keeper, and the Deserter" will be produced.

The Original Hibernicon.

In addition to the beautiful paintings of Ireland, Mr. McEvoy has quite a comedy company of performers, who with the panorama make up the entertainment entitled "The Original Hibernican." It comprises Dan Morris, of whom we hear great thing as an Irish comedian, Miss Marie McEvoy, Charles McEvoy, Miss Kate Halpine, J. Dougherty and E. T. Babbage. The exhibition of the Original Hibernicon will commence on Monday next at Platt's Hall.

Benefit of Miss May Howard.

Miss May Howard, a most pleasing actress and great favorite with the public, announces that her farewell benefit will take place at the California Theatre to-morrow evening, when she will appear for the first time as Romeo, with Miss Rose Evans as Juliet, and John McCullough as Mercutio. Chas. Vivian has volunteered for the occasion and will appear in some of his best specialties.

J. C. Williamson.

This favorite actor takes his benefit at the California Theatre on Monday next, when he promises heaps of fun. Tickets are in great demand, and those who wish to attend must secure them before they are at a premium.

French Performance.

On Sunday next a dramatic performance for the benefit of the Fund for the Ransom of France will be given at Maguire's Opera House by a French dramatic company comprising Mmes. Reiter, Nathalie, Masson, Leontine, M'lle Gaugain, MM. Bonnet, Deligne, Roncovieri and others. The comedy of "Le Vicompte de Letorieres," and the farce of "Un Tigre du Bengall" will constitute the entertainment. All wish to see La Belle France once more free; all can assist her to the amount of one dollar.

Fair and Festival.

The basement of the First Congregational Church, at the corner of Post and Mason streets, is daily and nightly the scene of a fashionable gathering drawn thither by the Fair and Festival in aid of the Ladies Fund. The programme of amusements for this evening comprises the always-popular "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works," "The Turkish Dwarf," music and singing.

Skating Carnival.

There was a merry assemblage at the Stockton street Skating Rink last night, and all present enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The galleries were filled with spectators and the floor was bright with masquers in gay dresses. The skating by Professor Lovett, and velocipede performances of Miss Carrie Moore were the subject of general admiration. The Rink is ably conducted by the new manager and is deserving of the extensive public patronage which it is receiving.

Benefit of the Ushers and Attaches of the California Theatre.

The public must appreciate the pleasant, obliging and skilful manner in which the ushers of the California Theatre perform their duties, which are not always easy, and when they with the other attaches of the Theatre whose work is done in the front of the house take a benefit once in the year the public respond. They will we are sure crowd the house on Saturday night, when these obliging gentlemen take their benefit. "School," which proved such a success last night will be played, and the very popular farce of "Jones's Baby" will be given as an after-piece.

St Alban's Church Concert.

Tickets for the concert at Platt's Hall to-morrow evening in aid of the Building Fund of St. Alban's Church, are selling rapidly, and there will be a very large and fashionable attendance. A feature in the programme will be a new and original song entitled "Be a Man," words by William H. Ashton, music by George T. Evans, which will be sung by Charles Vivian.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An our may be profitably spent here

Lotta.

This charming actress will arrive this evening, and will commence her engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday.

M'lle Venturoli.

This famous danseuse arrived last night, and is staying at the Occidental Hotel. She will appear next week at the California Theatre.

Very Sad.

We feel that a great blow has been struck at the cause of morality by an incident that lately occurred. We all have heard of the soldier who went into battle with a copy of the Bible hastily thrust into the breast of his coat, and whose life was saved by the bul let that was aimed at his heart being intercepted by the sacred book. We have all heard how the soldier, who had been a profane and reckless sinner, saw the evils of his ways, and became ever after one of the most exemplary of Christians. This pleasing legend has travelled into all lands, and has been translated into all tongues. Sinners of every degree who were subjected to the chances of war, placed Bibles in their breasts and lives innumerable have been saved thereby. But what shall we say to the burglar who was discovered in the pursuit of his unhallowed calling and was shot at, and whose life was saved by a photographic album which he thrust into his breast while plundering the house? This is a new phase of the pleasing tradition, and may create no small consternation in the ranks of the fatalists. If a photographic album is to be as efficacious as a Bible, all of the moral and romance of the affair will be gone. It will appear that it is the mere vulgar opposition of matter to matter that is the secret of the affair after all, and not the direct interposition of Providence. We trust the story will be proved a mere canard for it is painful to have our most cherished beliefs trifled with in this manner.

Dignity of the Court.

A young man was before Justice Hartman of New York, as a witness, and in the course of his examination said something offensive, whereat his honor retorted: "Young man, if you speak in that way again this court will forget its dignity and punch you in the snoot."

Anti-Temperance Associations are forming in Ohio with the object of forcing the teetotal minority to drink by law.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It an be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

SCENE IN SCHOOL.

A District School not far away,
'Mid Berkshire hills, one winter day,
Was humming with its wonted noise
Of threescore mingled girls and boys—
Some few upon their task intent
But more on furtive mischief bent;
The while the master's downward look
Was fastened on a copy-book;
When suddenly, behind his back,
Rose sharp and clear a rousing smack!
As 'twere a heavy battery of bliss
Let off in one tremendous kiss,
"What's that?" the startled master cries.
"That, thir," a little imp replies,
"Wath William Willith, if you pleathe—
I thaw him kith Thuthannah Peathe."
With frown to make a statue thrill,
The master thundered, "Hither Will!"
Like wretch o'er taken in his track,
Will hung his head in fear and shame,
And to the awful presence came;
A great, green, bashful simpleton,
The butt of all good-natured fun.
With smile suppressed and birch upraised,
The threatener faltered, "I'm amazed
That you, my biggest pupil, should
Be guilty of an act so rude!
Before the whole set school to boot,
What evil genius set you to't?
"'Twas she herself, sir," sobbed the lad,
"I didn't mean to be so bad;
And when Susannah shook her curls,
And whispered, I was 'fraid of girls,
And dursn't kiss a baby's doll,
I couldn't stand it, sir, at all
But up and kissed her on the spot!
I know—boo hoo—I ought to not,
But somehow, from her looks—boo hoo—
I thought she kind o' wished me to!"

A Corpse Apologizes.

Mrs. Farrel on one occasion played Zara in the "Mourning Bride" so unacceptably that there were a good many hisses, particularly in the dying scene. After she had expired as well as she knew how, a thought struck her, and coming to life, she advanced to the footlights, made a courtesy and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I extremely regret that my efforts to please you have been unsuccessful; I owe it to myself, however, to state that I did not solicit this part, but accepted it at the earnest request of the manager, and to oblige him. I trust, ladies and gentlemen, that after this explanation, you will excuse my shortcomings." At the conclusion of this speech, she laid herself down died a second time, and the funeral vail was thrown over her face by the attendant.

The Anaconda Dance.

The last Boston Gazette, in commenting on the performance of "The Black Crook" at the Boston Theatre, says:

A new feature has been introduced this week in the shape of an anaconda, which has been made to perform its share in a dance with M'lle Sassi. We cannot say that the effect produced is a pleasant one, but we suppose there is a feature of poetical justice in the humiliation of a snake by a daughter of Eve. Our first mother was made to appear in a very indifferent light through the wiles of the primitive serpent, but we doubt if in anywise to be compared to that occupied by his snakeship in a "Black Crook" ballet. We would suggest the propriety of hanging a string of dried apples around the neck of the humbled ophidian, by way of allegorical allusion. We think a Ballet de Pommes would be a very happy suggestion in this connection, and if it could be terminated by M'lle Sassi, arrayed as Eve, making the serpent swallow an apple, it would have a very fine effect.

The Prompter.

An actor who was playing Claude Melnotte lost his memory to such an extent in the scene where he makes love to Pauline and describes the imaginary splendors of his villa on the Lake of Come, that the prompter was compelled to come to his relief and recite the whole of the passage with a loud voice. Claude was cool enough, however, to do his part by saying, "Tell me, dearest, do you like the picture (turning to the prompter) which this gentleman has been kind enough to submit to your consideration?"

One of the principal actors of the Comedie Francaise stopped short in this passage of a tragedy: "When I was in Rome——" He repeated this two or three times, but could not get on. Seeing that the prompter was neglecting his duty, he turned angrily to him and called out: "Well, you rascal, what was I doing when I was in Rome?"

The Comet.

The San Jose Mercury doesn't care so much about Plantamour's comet knocking the earth into flinders next August, but it does bewail the possibilty of its not being able to give a full account of the affair next morning.

"Patty," called a lady to a little girl who was in the parlor, "did you tell your mamma that I was here?" "Yes'em," answered Patty. "And what did she say?" "She said, 'Oh, that dreadful woman again!'"

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 508 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. See Silberstein's new styles. C

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from hi own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

A Printer's Proverbs.

Never send thou an article for publication without giving the editor thy name, for thy name oftentimes secures publication to worthless articles.

Though should'st not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that answereth the rap sneereth in his sleeve and loseth time.

Neither do thou loaf about, ask questions, or knock down type, or the boys will love thee like they do shade trees—when thou leavest.

Thou should'st never read the copy on the printer's case, or the sharp and hooked container thereof, or he may knock thee down.

Never inquire thou of the editor for the the news, for behold it is his business at the appointed time to give it thee without asking.

It is not right that thou shouldst ask him who is the author of an article, for his duty requireth him to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter into his office, take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may be lying open and concerneth thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proof sheet, for it is not ready to meet thine eye that thou mayst understand.

Be Economical.

Look most to your spending. No matter what comes in, if more goes out, you will always be poor. The art is not in making money, but in keeping it; little expenses are like mice in a barn—when they get many, make a great waste. Hair by hair, heads get bald; straw by straw, the thatch goes off the cottage, and drop by drop the rain comes in the chamber. A barrel is soon empty if the tap leaks but a drop a minute. When you mean to save, begin with your mouth; many thieves pass down the red lane. The ale jug is a great waste. In all other things keep within compass. Never stretch your legs further than the blankets will reach, or you will soon be cold. For clothes, choose suitable and lasting stuff, and not tawdry finery. To be warm is the main thing; never mind the looks. A fool may make money, but it takes a wise man to spend it. Remember, it is easier to build two chimneys than to keep one going. If you give all to back and board, nothing is left for the savings bank. Fare hard and work hard while you are young, and you will have a chance to rest when you are old.

Too Bad.

The Louisville Journal, referring to the fact that somebody is going to build a hotel in Rhode Island ninety-two feet long and sixty feet wide, expresses astonishment that the authorities should "permit anybody to put the State all under one roof in that way."

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Stogaway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Morton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all jiquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. Y

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Baake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."G

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

MORSE.

He's dead, who chained the lightning fierce,
And made it slave to man,
To bear his thoughts from zone to zone
In one brief moment's span.
We call him dead, but still he lives,
And in a higher sphere
He may do deeds to equal those
Which he accomplished here.
He joined the Old World with the New;
Now from our minds perplexed
Will he move doubts by linking fast
This world with that comes next?

SPIRITIST.

San Francisco, April 4th.

Advertising.

A distinguished and successful merchant of New York writes: "I watch the papers of the locality of my customers, and when I find one who is too stingy to advertise, or if he has withdrawn his advertisement, I immediately close my account with him. The man who cannot appreciate the benefits of advertising will never make a successful merchant, and is unsafe to trust."

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

But a very few more chances of seeing the wonderful Japs remain. Ume Ketchie, Uki Koski, and all the rest of them will appear to-night in a programme of thrilling feats. To-morrow there will be a matinee performance for ladies and children when those who have not yet seen this original troupe of artists should attend.

California Theatre.

The National Guard had a splendid benefit last night, the theatre being perfectly full. "Money" was played in excellent style. To-night a novel entertainment will be given for the benefit of Miss May Heward, who is too soon to leave us. "Romeo and Juliet" will be performed with Miss May Howard as Romeo, Miss Rose Evans as Juliet, and a strong cast. To-morrow there will be a matinee.

Alhambra Theatre.

The performance given by Emerson's Minstrels at this theatre is hard to beat. In the first part the singing by H. Norman and S. Holdsworth is much admired, and the admirable orchestra, under the direction of George T. Evans discourses delightful music. After that, a perfect carnival of fun ensues in which Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Fayette Welch, Harry Stanwood and Add Ryman, play their parts nobly. The full performance will be given at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon for the accomodation of ladies and children.

Bella Union.

To-night the thrilling melodrama of "The King, the Inn keeper, and the Deserter," will be produced with Harry Thompson as Frederick, King of Prussia; Carrie Chapman as Adelbert, the deserter, and R. G. March as Morosco, the banditti-inn-keeper. The part of Rosalie, the heroine, will be played by Miss Marie Zoel. A good variety performance proceeds the play.

St Alban's Church Concert.

Tickets for the concert at Platt's Hall this evening in aid of the Building Fund of St Alban's Church, are selling rapidly, and there will be a very large and fashionable attendance. A feature in the programme will be a new and original song entitled "Be a Man," words by William R. Ashton, music by George T. Evans, which will be sung by Charles Vivian.

Fair and Festival.

Great attractions are offered every evening at the Fair in aid of the First Congregational Church opened in the basement of the new edifice at the corner of Post and Mason streets. To-night the entertainment will consist of "John Brown" and 'Ten Little Injin Boys;" singing by Miss Mitchell and illustrations of the sign language by Rev. A. L. Stone.

Lotta.

This popular young California actress arrived last night. Manager Bert is making great preparations for her coming season at the Metropolitan Theatre. Mr. Robert Craig and Mr. Wm. J. Coggswell have been engaged to support her, in addition to the regular company.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

An Old Adage.

Sir John Duke Coleridge, in the course of his speech in the Tichborne case, after quoting the familiar passage in Macbeth—

Letting I dare not, wait upon I would,
Like the poor cat in the adage,

Said, "I have never been able to make out what that adage was." A correspondent tells him that a solution of the difficulty is to be found in Staunton's Shakspeare, vol. iii., p. 480, where the note on the passage is as follows: "Catus amat pisces, sed non vult tingere plantas:" or, as it is rendered in Heywood's Proverbs, "The cat would eate fishe and would not wet her feete."

Spare the Rod, etc.

The following advertisement appears in the Call: "Smart Lad Wanted—Who can cane-bottom chairs. 1302 Powell street." It was answered by a boy who said he thought he could do the work. He had been caned o ften enough to make him smart, and understand all about it.

Dutiful Son.

A young man who attended a lecture on the subject, "Are we better than our fathers? started for home, saying, "I'm goin to get the better of mine somehow any way."

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Swallowed by an Elephant.

Among the many features and curiosities produced in "Humpty Dumpty," at the Olympic Theatre, New York, is a working Trick Elephant, which displays a vast deal more than the ordinary intelligence of the elephantine species, and is in many respects an extraordinary animal.

Among other interesting and hereditary qualifications, he is gifted with an enormous "swallow." Give him time enough, he would swallow the greater part of New York.

As it is, he "takes in the flats" and scares the ladies of the corps de ballet (very tender hearted creatures, by the way) almost out of their wits.

On the first night of its production, the elephant was put through its usual course of tricks. At the grand finale he opened his ponderous jaws, and gave a yell, upon which the Sprite of the piece, Imre Kiralfy, made made a leap into the mouth of the African monster and disappeared from view.

The interesting young females who constitute the ballet, forgetting that his elephantship, was a "bogus" one, in fact, a creature born and educated in the property room, yelled uproariously, while the audience roared with laughter.

The scene closed, and the supposed victim of elephantine appetite retired to his dressing room to refresh himself after his arduous labors, with liquid comforts.

We must not forget to mention that the victim still lives, and the elephant goes the same performance nightly. The ballet have become more familiar with "The Elephant," and "the band continues to play."

Deary.

A family living in the country hired a new coachman, and his name was William. As both the gentlemen of the house and his eldest son were named William, it was thought advisable, to avoid confusion, to to call the coachman by his last name.

William had no objection to this plan, and was asked to state his surname.

"Deary," said he with a diabolical grin.

The family shuddered. Think of it! How would this sort of thing sound:

"Deary, come here a minute." "Cut me me some flowers for a bouquet, Deary." "How long I have been waiting for you, Deary!"

The family resolved to stand by William.

A Sweet Girl.

The following advertisement appears in a city paper:

"Situation wanted by a young lady, in a candy or baker shop. M. E. L.

M. E. L. has a sweet tooth we'll be bound, and should be a sweet girl. "Mel" is the Latin for honey.

A Good Reason.

"Why, Ichabod, I though you got married more'n a year ago?" "Well, Aunt Jerusha, it was talked of but I found out that the girl and all her folks were opposed to it, and so I jest give'em all the mitten and let the thing drop."
